CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

DEMAND THE ATTENTION OF HEALTH AUTHORITIES.

Flagrant Violations of the Law Discovered by Officer Lewis in Morris Court - Funeral Announcements, Thomas H. Dale Will Speak Before the West Side Republican Club on March 14 - Y. W. C. A. Reception and Other Matters of Interest. Personal Items.

A case of gross neglect of the laws of health was unearthed yesterday in Morris court by Health Officer Thomas Y. Lewis. When he went to fumigate the premises at Nos. 150 and 152, Mrs. Agnes Zellmertrish died Thursday after a protracted illness from diphtheria, and several children in the house are now severely afflicted with the disease.

The health officer learned that arrangements had been made for a public funeral this morning and a wake was to have been held in the house last night. Lewis tackled up a sign on the house, and ordered all the people away from the house. After doing this he fumigated the premises, and left to confer with Dr. Allen relative to the case.

The latter instructed Lewis to enforce the law, and sent Captain Burke to assist him. When the two officers reached the house the second time they found the sign tacked on the adjoining house, where several additional cases of diphtheria were discovered. Zellmertrish's house was again placarded, and then Lewis required the case to Lieutenant Williams.

At 9 o'clock last night Lewis and Williams visited the house and found the corpse surrounded with women, and in an adjoining room a number of men were assembled, regardless of the prohibitions placed on the premises. The place was again cleared out, and the occupants threatened with arrest, which seemed to have the desired effect.

The people are all foreigners and do not seem to understand the restrictions placed by law on contagious diseases. The funeral of Mrs. Zellmertrish was to have been public this morning, but Lewis prevented this and will be on hand to enforce the law.

Will Make an Address. The committee recently appointed by the West Side Central Republican club

The people who are obliged to travel Cherry street, between Pittston and Cedar avenues, are justly indignant at the course of the authorities responsible for the condition of this street. It is safe to say that in 800 in three years has been spent by the authorities in making repairs to this street, which is so much used by the people of South Scranton. And to this, Cherry street is the only street crossing Pittston avenue for many blocks each way which has no street light. In all endeavor this street should not be discriminated against.

TO VICTIMS OF COUGHS, CATARRH AND CONSUMPTION.

Sensible Advice Which if Followed Will Save Their Lives.

Small pox killed less than one thousand persons in this country during 1906. Consumption and Pneumonia destroyed one hundred and seventy-eight thousand, six hundred and ninety-five during the same period.

One case of small pox will frighten thousands into adopting the advice of their physicians or the rules of the Health Board, yet those afflicted with Coughs, Catarrh and Consumption utterly ignore such advice, do not heed the reports published by the Bureau of Vital Statistics but instead, spend their time and money trying to cure themselves with treatments and remedies which are not recognized by regular physicians, never mentioned in health reports, and cannot possibly reach the persons causing the disease.

Now if these people would investigate every remedy manufactured, study the construction of the air passages, and be guided by the reports of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, they will soon find there is but one remedy and one method by which Consumption can be cured.

To be sure, stomach medicines may give strength and flesh to many, and vapors and sprays of strong drugs clear the cough, but the reports of the Bureau of Vital Statistics prove how utterly worthless those treatments have been in stopping the progress of Catarrh and Consumption.

HYOMEI, the Dry-Air Germicide was discovered in 1894, but did not come into general use until 1896. Now, however, it is being used by thousands of new remedies, we ask you to turn to the yearly reports of deaths and their causes published by the government in 1896, and you will find the increase in deaths from Consumption and Pneumonia stopped; that in 1897 they were further reduced, and that this reduction was due to the use of HYOMEI, which is the starting point of Consumption, cannot exist without HYOMEI is used. It is easily understood.

HYOMEI is the only cure for Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis and Consumption because it is the only germicide which can be inhaled in the air we breathe.

HYOMEI is the only cure because it is through the air we breathe alone, that the germs of this disease can be reached and destroyed.

Five days' treatment is sent free to any address on receipt of 25c stamp.

HYOMEI is sold by all druggists or sent by mail. Complete Outfit $1.00. Trial Outfit 25c. Hyomei Balm, (a wonderful Healer), 25c.

GREEN RIDGE. Mrs. J. S. Miller, of Penn avenue, spent yesterday in Carlisle.

OBITUARY.

Isaac Brown. Peacefully and quietly Isaac Brown passed away from this world last night. After two months of painful illness peace came, and at 8:35 o'clock last night the young man, who was everyone's friend and who went through life with a smile and kindly nod to the highest and lowest, expired. His life ebbed away five minutes after he had passed into a peaceful, restful sleep.

He spent an excellent day yesterday, and for the first time during the last week hopes of recovery were entertained. A sudden change took place, however, and surrounded by members of his family the end came. Increased was first lieutenant of Company K, Thirtieth regiment, and served in the guard during the late war.

He was 29 years of age, being born in this city Nov. 29, 1877, and was educated in the city public schools. After leaving them he was identified with his father, M. Brown, in the management of Brown's Ice Mine for many years, and showed excellent business ability.

About eight years ago he joined Company D of the Thirtieth regiment, and then rapidly advanced from the ranks to a non-commissioned officer. When the war broke out, he was on the staff of Colonel H. A. Corson, and performed the functions of quartermaster for the regiment. He contracted a serious illness in camp, but his rugged, sturdy physique stood him in good stead, and he passed safely through the critical stages.

At the conclusion of the war and mustering out of the regiment he returned to private life, but in July, 1903, was unanimously chosen lieutenant of Company K, of the regiment, and continued to serve in that capacity until he was advanced to first lieutenant, but never had the opportunity of enjoying the honor.

It was two months ago that he first suffered any illness and after being treated for some time for the grip left his bed apparently cured. He soon found it necessary, however, to continue receiving treatment, and during the last few weeks was confined to his bed, with what was pronounced an unusually severe case of the grippe. Blood poisoning also set in, and despite all that the best medical aid and advice could do, he sank rapidly and towards the middle of this week his life was despaired of. An operation was yesterday performed, as was marked a change for the better that hopes were again revived. Before he awoke from the sleep from which he was doomed never to awake, generous chances of his recovery were pronounced.

During the last two years deceased acted as local agent for a number of insurance agencies. He was a member of the Protestant and Catholic Order of Elks, the Masons, and also an official of the Spanish-American War Veterans association. His father and mother and two brothers, Gustave and Leon, survive him.

The news of his death will bring a chill to the heart of every one who ever knew Isaac Brown. He is doubtful if there is a young man in the city better known or more popular than he. None who knew him could resist his frank, open manner. He brought sunshine with him wherever he went and left smiles and good humor ever behind him.
