AVOCA.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Avoca, Feb. 20.-Tuesday's election was one of the hottest contests that have taken place in this town in several years. In the First ward there was no opposition, but in the Second and Third wards there was a split in Democratic circles and every Republican came out hoping to get a few representatives, but they were again doomed to disappointment. Several claimants appeared for her hand. No one having the right to give her away, a council was held among the medicine men, and the young braves were told they must show by their deeds of valor who was most worthy. All kinds of self-torture was indulged in by the copper-colored love sick swain. One powerful young chief outdid all the test and was rewarded with the hand of Go Won to Mohawk. After the wedding teast and other nuptials were over she was led to her tepes by no old squaws, who were to guard her for the night, as is the Indian custom. A disappointed tivel stealthily cut his way in and carried her away. He in turn was captured and killed by the Pawnees and Mohawk claimed for a wife by the chief who led the Pawnee band. On the day of the performance a grand street parade will be given by the Indian brass band.

Al Reeves' Big Company.

The Al. Reeves Famous Big Double company of nearly fifty people will begin a three days engagement at the New Galety commencing with matinge today. Al. Reeves has always been identified as the foremest manager of his particular line of amusement and this season is no exception to his golden rule, for he points with pardonable pride to the personnel of his mainmoth organization, headed as it is, with Miss fnez Mecusker, the highest salaried prima donna ever connected with an organization of the same ature as the Al. Reeves company.

Mr. Reeves has an organization which stands prominently away from all others, and cleanli-ness is his trade mark. Were the conditions otherwise no amount of money could have in duced Miss Mecusker to accept an engagement which would in the slightest degree impair her reputation. A singer whose services are constantly a condition according to the law of supply and demand, makes her salary a figure which sends the expense of an amusement enterprise being the beneficiary of his liberality. Therein lies his phenomenal success. The secret of his thoroughly meritorious performances is that life company is composed of artists who are not alone individually competent as specialty performers, but who are selected with a view to general ensemble, and the peculiar tone of his entertainments is such that he stands alone in his chosen line as did the immertal Barnum, Matinee daily at 2.50; evening at 8.15.

Lonely Jeff De Angelis.

Jefferson De Angelis is lonely, in that he now has the comic opera field in this country almost to himself. All of his tormer associates have deserted the field, and left Jeff to gather all the money and fame. De Wolf Hopper and Lillian Russell have become members of the stock com-pany at Weber and Fields' Music Hall in New York. Digby Bell and Pauline Hall have gone into vaudeville and Camille D'Arville has married and retired. Jeff De Angelia, Instead of going successfully. "His new opera, "A Royal Rogue," is said to be the brightest and funniest he has ever had, and his supporting company the best engaged in light opera work. At the Lyceum famourous

"A Young Wife," which recently had a long run at the Fourteenth street theater in New York, will be presented here Saturday, Feb. 23, matinee and night. This play, which was one of the few solid successes of the past season, was written by J. R. Tillotson, who is well known to theater-goers, being the author of "The Planter's Wife," which was a great success for a number of years. The story of the new play hinges on the murder of an old New York banker. The young wife suspects her own husband, the son of the murdered man. Nearly all the rest of the characters believe the young wife to be the murderest. In the end it is clearly shown that another son o the murdered man did the deed. The play is full of exciting and thrilling incidents, and the story is well connected and shrewdly told. It deals with high and low life in the metropolis and has been termed "a moving panorama of New York life."

The company presenting this play is an ex eptionally strong one, and is headed by the wel-nows comedian, Frank Tannehill, fr., A specia burgain day matinee at 2.30 o'clock. Ladies and children, 25 and 50 cents; children to any part the house, 15 cents.

Holden Comedy Company.

The Holden Comedy company opens a week's engagement at the Academy of Music next Mon-day evening, presenting the big sensational molodrams, "The Diamond Breaker." The Holcertainly left an impression on Academy patrons as to the manner in which they staged their different productions. This year they carry all their own scenery, all newly painted; elegant electrical apparatus for fine light effects, which is a practical necessity for the proper condition of several of Mr. Holden's productions.

"The Diamond Breaker" has never before been produced in Scranton at cheap prices of admis-sion. A big inducement to ladles is the fact that usual attractions. An orchestra will any lady desirous of witnessing the Monday evening performance of the Holden Comedy comone provision, that is, she must secure her ticket before 5 p. m. or that day. The specialties introduced are also a big feature of the perform ance, all of which have appeared in the vandeville theaters throughout the country.

STAGE NOTES.

That merry include, "The Burgomaster," that is announced for an early appearance here, is the original organization and production that ran in Chicago for one hundred and fifty-one performances. This statement is most significant, inasmuch as this folly jingle, which was pre-sented in New York recently for a run, was the No. 2 company, and we are to be honored with the original and No. 1 company.

W. H. MacDonald, the stalwart baritone of the Bostonians, and one of the directors in this oper-atic enterprise, is still singing with the same vigor as when he first impressed opera-goers in grand opera and the Emma Abbott Opera company. Mr. McDenald is admirably equipped for operatic work, for in addition to being a magnotic singer, he is also an excellent actor, and his graceful personality long since classed him as a matinee idol. Among his greatest successes bare been Littlejohn in "Robin Hood." Al-varado in "The Serenade." and Corleone in "The Vicercy," During the engagement of the Bestenlans here Mr. MacDonald will be heard in one of his original roles.
