FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

A Pleasant Social Affair at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin R. Capwell, of Tunnel, Pa.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Factoryville, Feb. 21.—The 20th day of February, 1901, will be a pleasant occasion in the memory of those who participated in the events of that date at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin R. Capwell, at their commodious home at Tunnel, Pa. The event was the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. It will also go down in the history of one of the most pleasant events of their long and happy married life. It was a good-natured and jolly crowd that poured into their happy home during the afternoon of the above date, and many were the congratulations and kindly words of esteem that were bestowed upon the aged couple, who have fought with the storms and trials of over three score years and ten, the allotted time of man. Although somewhat afflicted by the weight of these many years, they were reminded by the event of their youthful years and still made their presence felt among their guests and proved very able entertainers. During the afternoon, tables were spread and laden with beautiful viands that were calculated to tickle the palate of a modern epicure. The menu was headed with roast turkey and was followed by the usual delicacies and was served by an able corps of waiters. Mr. L. B. Green was toastmaster and entertained in his usual way. At 7 o'clock those who were present during the afternoon departed for their respective homes, after wishing the aged couple much happiness and many more years of prosperity and good health. The guests who were invited for the evening began to arrive shortly after 7 and by 9 o'clock the home was well filled again, but this time by mostly younger people, who proceeded at once to entertain the occasion with their merry laughter and witty sayings. Music was furnished during the evening by the Mandolin club, of Factoryville, who discoursed some up-to-date music, which was much appreciated and enjoyed by the host and hostess. Miss Nellie Miller sang in her charming manner several vocal selections, with guitar accompaniment. Refreshments were served during the evening. The Masonic lodge, of this place, and of which Mr. Capwell is the oldest living member, were present, and fraternally entertained their brother. Among the presents given was an elegant Morris chair, which will perhaps be enjoyed by Mr. Capwell as much as any other thing.

Those present were as follows: Dr. John Courtright, Clark's Green; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shippey, Clark's Summit; Fred Smeed, Misses Clara, Hazel and Anna Smeed, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moser, all of Scranton; Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Capwell, Misses Florence, Bonita and Marion Capwell, of Forest City; Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Mrs. Oliver Coyle is very ill at her home on North Main street. A board of trade is in process of formation, which, it is hoped, will be a great benefit to the town. At a preliminary meeting held on Wednesday night, T. P. McCormick was made chairman, and F. M. Carpenter, secretary. A committee is now enrolling members, and the next meeting will be held in the council rooms on Friday night of next week.

The clerks have under way a movement to close all stores at 6:30 each night except pay-days, Saturdays and Sunday. A committee is now enrolling members, and the next meeting will be held in the council rooms on Friday night of next week. Most of the towns roundabout Forest City are already enjoying the system.

THEATRICAL.

ATTRACTIONS TODAY.

LYCEUM—Jefferson De Angellis in "A Royal Rogue."
ACADEMY—"The Flaming Arrow," "Natchez and Night."
GAIETY—Al Reeves' burlesque company. Matinee and night.
Indian Actress at the Academy.
The production of the "Flaming Arrow" at the Academy of Music last night was a big surprise to the many people who witnessed the performance, expecting to see a blood-curdling melodrama such as the title of the piece may suggest. The clasp-trap of the ordinary drama is left entirely out and the excessive use of five-act and heroic knives in lots for the imagination. Only one act is free of the ordinary dramatic production. Miss Go Wan Go Mahowik, the Indian actress, playing the part of White Eagle, is an actress of excellent ability and from an artistic point of view would eclipse many of her white sister actresses of today. Several thoroughbred Indian appear in difficult roles and interpret them in a capable manner. The scenery is handsome, all being carried by the company. The Indian camp and war dance is both weird and sensational. The first act is a scene of an Indian camp near Fort Union, where the Indians are in a state of excitement. The scene is set in a forest and camp dance; act third, Fort Union, a mountain retreat; act fifth, the fort at night.

Al Reeves' Company.
Al Reeves and his great company entered upon a three days' engagement at the Gaiety theater yesterday and as usual were greeted with large audiences afternoon and evening. The company contains some excellent talent, including Emma Fern Thater, the well known soprano; Kelly and Reno, the comedy acrobats, who introduced some very novel features; Mitchell and Cain and Leroy and Woodford. The leading feature of the olio was undoubtedly furnished by Inez Meischer, the prima donna, who gave several selections with characteristic excellence and artistic finish that excited enthusiastic applause. Miss Louise Aubie also rendered vocal numbers in a pleasing way. The programme closes with an up-to-date love farce by Al Reeves which is culled by bright music, graceful dances and humor of the burlesque order.

Jefferson de Angellis' Big Hit.
There does not seem to be any doubt that Jeff de Angellis has scored a big hit in his new musical production, "A Royal Rogue." The praise given in New York and elsewhere to this really clever and genuinely funny comic opera comedian in his latest piece has hardly been equalled in an operative way in a long time. He seems to have scored an even greater success than "The Jolly Musketeer," in which he starred for the past two years. He will present "A Royal Rogue" here tonight at the Lyceum theater and it goes without saying he will be warmly welcomed.

Holden Comedy Company.
Monday night the famous Holden Comedy company, the most colossal and complete popular attraction traveling, will open their week's engagement at the Academy, presenting a line of standard dramas, which have never been seen here at regular prices.

Wall Street Review.
New York, Feb. 21.—The sharp turn in the steel stocks which gained force rapidly toward the close of the market in the steel market redounded the market from uninteresting dullness today. National Steel and Tin Plate showed the most pronounced strength in this recovery. The former raised 3/8 over last night and the latter 1/4 from the early low point. The outstanding short interest which had grown quite large in the stocks of the steel companies had a large part in this quick rally. The report that the so-called Moore properties of the steel group were standing out for a large share in the securities of the new company was an influence in the rise, the speculation of the market being that they were likely to get what they claimed. But the other steel stocks were not much behind in the movement, Federal Steel rallying 1/4 from the low point, steel and wire 1/4, Tennessee Coal & Iron 1/4, the movements accurately forecasted by actual developments in the steel market negotiations can only be told when the results are given to the public. Details were closely watched up to the time of the closing of the market but it is the general supposition that the reorganization plan of the steel companies as far as it has official announcement will be given out before trading is resumed on Monday. Actual information on these details is so vague that the shorts in the steel stocks were overcome with timidity and hastened to close their contracts before the three holidays. The same influence was at work in other parts of the list. The early weakness of the market had changed to recovery when support was afforded in the steel stocks. The weakness was quite acute at one time, the steel stocks leading the decline as they had the recovery. Many of the prominent railroad stocks were down between 1 and 2 points, the Grangers, Grangers, Southern and some of the cables being conspicuous. Burlington, Kansas and Texas preferred, Erie second preferred and Rock Island were notably weak. These stocks were all up as it is to have official announcement will be given out before trading is resumed on Monday. Actual information on these details is so vague that the shorts in the steel stocks were overcome with timidity and hastened to close their contracts before the three holidays.
