AN INQUEST HELD.

Coroner Roberts and a Jury Invistigate McCann's Death.

Coroner Dr. John J. Roberts, Scranton, came to this city on the first train on Saturday morning to inquire by hanging himself in a cell in the city jail on Friday afternoon. He went at once to McHale's morgue to view the remains, and then impanelled a jury, composed of the following citizens: W. Evans, G. B. Van Gorder, J. F. Mannion, James Bell, E. J. McHale and William Graham.

The jury viewed the body at the mergua and examined several witnesses, among them John Murray Cobb, for whom the deceased man had worked, and from whom he had stolen the money, and who made the complaint which ied up to McCann's arrest end imprisonment; Constable E. J. who brought McCann from Wilkes-Earre and delivered him at the city fall a few hours before his death; Chief of Police McAndrew, who discovered the hanging body in the cell and who cut him down; William Killeen, custodian of the city jail, who had had two conversations with the prisoner during the afternoon and who said that he was seemingly in good. spirits, and two brothers of the dead examined carefully by the coroner and his jurors, and then the inquisitors went to the city prison, where they viewed the cell and the fragments of the severed suspenders, which were left hanging by the city police authorities for this purpose. Then the jury went to the room of the beard of health and in a short time rendered the following

"Peter McCann came to his death by hanging binneif in the city jail, Carbondale, Murch 15, between the hours of 3 and 1 p. m., while despendent."

The two brothers of McCann mentioned above are Martin McCann, a Greenfield farmer, and James McCann, of Clifford. Besides these, McCann is survived by a sleter, Mrs. Frank White, of New Orange, N. J., and a bulf-sister, Mrs. Michael Hart, of this city. So far as known these are his only relatives, he being mamarried, and his father and mother being dead,

After the inquest the coroner gave the two brothers permission to remove the body and it was taken to the home of his brother Martin, in Greenfield, Saturday afternoon. The funeral services were held there yesterday after-D. D., paster of the Berean Baptist officiating at the obsequies. The remains were interred in Lee's cemetery in Greenfield.

Special Services at the Congregational Church Yesterday. The special music rendered by the choir of the First Congregational church last evening was the best that has been given yet. The anthem, "Hark, Hark My Soul," in which Miss Benson sang the colligato, was a rich treat. Size was well supported by the other portion of the choir. Rev. H. L. Peabody, long mesociated with Rev. P. Pay Mills, the famous evangelist, was the spenter and delivered a very foreible sermon. The paster, Rev. M. C. Elliett, preached on "The Life Indeed the marning service. The Year. William Hollingshed, of Hoboken, N. J., has ascented the call to the Presbyterlan church in Forest tion with this pastorate will also embrace a Sunday afternoon sermon in the Second Presbyterian church of this city. Mr. Hollingshed spoke in this church yesterday afternoon for the third consecutive Sunday, and his remarks were well received by a goodsixed audience. He is an earnest, forceful speaker, and combines deep study with a pleasing delivery. He will be a welcome addition to the city divines and although his work will lie principally in Forest City it is to be hoped that he will make many friends in the Pioneer City.

Funeral of Helen Golden. The remains of little Helen Golden, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert E. Golden, were buried on Saturday afternoon in Maplewood cemetery The funeral services were held at 2.30 o'clock at the parents' residence on Park street, Rev. A. F. Chaffee, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, conducting them. A number of offerings adorned the casket Guy Chapman, Warren Swingle, Eugene Barnes and George Alexander were the pall-bearers.

May Be a Smoker.

Some of the members of the Carbondale Cycle club are contemplating getting up a smoker as a sort of farewell testimonial to Joseph Hoole, one of the ctub's most prominent members, who will leave for Scattle in the near future. The proposed smoker may be held this week. Mr. Hoole is one of the board of governors of the club, a member of the house committee and periodical committee, and has done a great deal to bring the club up to its present high repute and influence, Court Lily Progressing.

The regular meeting of Court Lily, No. 50, Foresters of America, was held on Saturday evening. This lodge is making rapid strides in progressiveness and at the present rate of growth will soon be, if it is not now, one of the largest courts in the county. On Saturday evening eleven new members were initiated, making the membership now 165. Seven propositions from candidates were also received.

Thirteen New Members.

At the First Methodist Episcopal hurch yesterday morning, the pastor, the Rev. A. F. Chaffee, received thirteen persons into full membership with the church. Eleven of the number joined by letter from other charches and two by confession of faith, after the usual period of probation.

A NEW LODGE.

Italian Citizens Organize a Court of Foresters of America.

ew court of the order of Forest ers of America has just been organized in this city. The last of the preliminary meetings prior to organization was held with Court Lily of the same order on Saturday evening, and yesterday afternoon the Italian court was formally started with about forty charter members. It was decided to honor the martyred king of Itally in the title work he performs, and the amount of of the new lodge, and it will henceforth bear the name "Count Humbert the First." A committee to secure a ball and make all necessary arrangements for meetings, etc., was appointed and is now actively at work. The work great responsibility, and for the six of the court was carefully gone into and the members initiated by Deputy assisted by Past Chief Ranger George Hobbs, Past Chief Ranger Richard J. Delevan and John McConnell, all of Court Lily, No. 50. The new court starts out under most favorable auspices and it will probably soon become one of the influential organizaions of the city.

fairer sex. One stroller observed in front of the city building yesterday had a curious combination. It was a long piece of grass-green ribbon on the lapel of his coat, held in place by a yellow-headed pin and surmounted by a red carnation. The individual thus arrayed was an olive-hued son of Italy. It was easy to guess that no loyal son of Erin would pose on the street or in private with such an ornate get-up as this was.

Linn's Second Offense.

Albert Linn, a solidly-built machinist of German nativity, faced Mayor Kilpatrick yesterday afterneon for the second time in two weeks, charged with being drunk. The first time Mayor Kilpatrick let him go on his promise to not fall a victim to intoxication again. On Saturday afternoon Chief McAndrew saw Albert on North Main street in an almost helpless state, but the machinist assured the chief he was on his way to catch a train for Scranton, and he was not arrested. The chief followed him, however, to see that he came to no harm, and after the machinist had gotten a few blocks along on his journey, the chief saw that he did not know where he was going and was not capable of caring for himself. So he took him into the city jail for safekeeping. At the hearing yesterday, the mayor eminded Albert of his promise of two weeks ago, and Mr. Linn seknowledged that he had erred. He displayed a pass on the Delaware and Hudson and said he wanted to go to Scranton to look after his motherless children. The mayor inflicted a fine of $2.50, with a warning that next time he would not get off so easily. The man paid the fine and thanked the mayor for being so lenient and said he would not get drunk again.

Officers Installed.

The officers installed at the public installation of Lackawanna encampment. No. 16, Independent Order Odd Fellows, on Friday night, by the grand lodge officers, were as follows: Chief patriarch. Frank Love; high priest, E. H. Stone; senior warden, George Batey; junior warden, Charles Whitelock: inside sentinel, Frank Ludwig; scribe, Harry J. Hall; treasurer, Charles A. Kase; first watch, Frank Wells; second watch, Thomas J. Tuttle; third watch, Joseph Horn; fourth watch, Hugh Atkinson; first guard of tent, Isaac Singer; second guard of tent, Edward Hall; guide, C. H. J.

A Strike at No. 3. A number of the miners employed at No. 3 mine quit work on Saturday morning because, as they say, they were compelled to work in foul chambers and also because of some hitch in regard to their pay. At the time No. 1 shaft was burned out, room was made in No. 3 for a number of the men thrown out of employment and they were sent into the old workings. Seventeen chambers of the old workings were declared by the men to be too foul to work in.

The report of the proceedings of the special meeting of the borough council, which appeared exclusively in Saturday's Tribune, came as a considerable surprise to the people, and has since furnished the topic for local conversation. While the councilmen are coming in for a share of criticism for deciding the matter on the spur of the moment, as it were, there appears to be some slight reason in their argument that the Jermyn company made no proper offer after the Crescent company amended their original offer, increasing the amount they would pay into the borough treasury to $1,400. The Jermyn company officials merely stated they would "do as good as that or better." There was all sorts of rumors affoat vesterday to the effect that the burgess and officials had been served with an injunction restraining them from executing the contract for ten years with the Crescent company. There was, however, no truth in the eport. It is more than probable something of the kind is in contemplation and the citizens of the borough will watch with much interest the fight between the two companies.
