GILBY TRIES HANGING.

MADE THREE ATTEMPTS TO COMMIT SUICIDE LAST NIGHT.

First He Tried Suspenders, Then His Necktie and Then His Shirt—The Last Trial Nearly Suspends Career of the Giant Constable—Removed to Hospital After He Is Revived.

Constable Stephen A. Gilby made three attempts to end his life last night, while a prisoner in the city jail, and was as many times rescued by the watchfulness of William Killen, the custodian of the city jail. He was so nearly successful at the last trial that he had lapsed into unconsciousness, and the services of a physician were necessary. Then he was removed to the hospital.

About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Gilby was arrested by Policeman Frederick Huddy, on Belmont street, while in an advanced state of intoxication. Twice before during the afternoon he had been warned to go home or off the streets, but he was very drunk and was making a big nuisance of himself. After each warning he would start toward home, but did not go far on his journey. On Belmont street he was followed by a large crowd of school children, who alternately cheered him and were cursing, greatly to the youngsters' merriment. The giant constable would feign to draw an imaginary revolver out of his hip pocket and pretend to point it at the little ones, but he was unarmed.

Then Huddy took him in charge and after a good deal of trouble hauled him at the city prison. He was then quite submissive, and just before he was ushered into cell No. 6 he gave Chief McAndrew a pair of handcuffs that seemed almost large enough for an ox yoke. Then everybody went away.

Shortly after 7 o'clock Mr. Killen took a look into the cell and was astounded to see Gilby preparing to put his head into a noose suspended from the top of the cell bars and formed of a pair of suspenders, just the same as Peter McMan had done so fatally on Friday. He rushed into the cell, cut the suspenders down and gave Gilby a good talking to. Then he went into his apartments with the suspenders and told some of the police about it. They thought that Gilby was shamming, so that he might win his release from the cell.

Then Killen and Patrick Fox, mail clerk in the postoffice, tipped to the jail door and peered in to see what Gilby was then doing. They saw him hard at work fixing something to the top of the cell. They waited breathlessly and the next minute saw Gilby put his head into another noose. They rushed in and Steve sank back on his cot. Tied to the top bar was Steve's blue necktie, with a neat noose made in it and shaped by the pressure of the weight of his head into a round ring. In the presence of a number of spectators Killen climbed up to the top of the cell and untied this second noose. If Gilby had been left alone he would probably have accomplished his purpose.

Gilby cried in a maddened way when he saw the crowd surrounding him and begged to be let loose, solemnly promising he would not take another drink in two years. To quiet him all left the jail, pretending to hunt up the mayor so he could be set at liberty. He was left alone so as to see if he would not forget his troubles and fall into a quiet sleep. There a nearly fatal error was committed.

Five minutes had elapsed when Killen went back again to the jail. As he opened the door he saw the city and a half foot of humanity dangling in the air. The time there was no question of his shamming. He had taken off his undershirt, tied the sleeves together over the top of the grating and put his head in the loop. He was hanging limp, nearly motionless, with a white face and arms down by his side, and was motionless. Killen rushed into the cell and tried to release him, but the huge bulk was too much for him to move. He rushed upstairs into the common council room, where that body was holding a session, and implored Councilman Fred Thompson to come quickly. Thompson followed without question and rushed down stairs. Mrs. Killen had seen what was going on and had encountered City Treasurer Connor, to whom she appealed. She was so excited he did not understand her, but followed or a run into the jail. As soon as he entered he saw the suspended man. The jail door was open, left as by Killen in his haste, and Connor opened his pocketbook and ran in. He tried to release Gilby, but backed at the undertaker and pulled on the body with all his strength.

In a second the sleeves were cut loose and the man fell with a crash on the cement floor. Then a lay, limp and still. A reporter was dispatched on the run for a doctor and Dr. Kelley.

The rescuers did not wait for him, however, but set hard at work to revive the almost dead man. Water was poured over him and Thompson, Connor and Killen vigorously chafed his almost naked body. Just before the doctor arrived a long-drawn sigh stifled returning life and under the physician's treatment Gilby returned to consciousness. He was weak as a kitten, showing how near his escape had been from death. The fall he got while being cut down was a severe one. It did not take long after this third attempt to decide that Gilby was not shamming and that he meant to end his life some way if left in jail. So it was decided to remove him to the Emergency hospital. Chief McAndrew and Constable Neary took him there in a cab. At the hospital he was next to the emergency room and was laid out in a sack with his head protruding, so as to render abortive any attempt at self-destruction.

That Gilby was crazy drunk there is no doubt. The cell where he tried so hard to commit suicide is next to the one where Peter McMan took his life last Friday afternoon by hanging. It was probably from reading an account of this trial that Gilby was inspired.

Constable Gilby has been much in the public eye since he was made constable. He has been in innumerable scrapes, but has escaped when tried for some of them. On New Year's night he shot Eddie Gorman, an escaping prisoner, and was indicted for it by the grand jury. Judge Archibald discharged the case on his trial. The present grand jury brought in two indictments against him, one for forcible entry and one for larceny. He has been a narrow escape before, but this is the tightest squeeze of all.

BOTH COUNCILS MEET.

Sessions of Common and Select Branches Held Last Evening.

Select council met in regular session last night. All members were present but Mr. Battle, of the Second ward.

The appropriation ordinance passed third and final reading. Mr. Mannion alone voting no.

The police tax ordinance was brought up for third and final reading. Messrs. Davis, Mannion and Fletcher voted yea and Barrett and Thompson nay, killing the ordinance. Mr. Thompson, who introduced the original ordinance, objected because the traction company, under the amendment, would have to pay but twenty-five cents a pole.

Mr. Fletcher offered a resolution that the offer of Andrew Carnegie to build a library building, at a cost of $25,000, be accepted, and that the city clerk send a certified copy of the resolution to the Carnegie foundation, to the effect that the city accepted the offer. The resolution was adopted.

A letter from the insurance underwriters, asking that the wiring in the city building be put in a safe condition, was referred to the building committee.

A communication from City Engineer Kupp stated that the waste water from the Black Diamond breaker, with the refuse from the silk mill, is blocking two conduits near the Ontario and Western crossing, and asked that some action be taken. The matter was referred to the public works committee.

Select council then adjourned.

COMMON COUNCIL.

Common council met in special session last night. The reading of the minutes was deferred.

Three claims for exoneration were referred to the committee for investigation. Walter Thorn is a non-resident. Mrs. Roche, an invalid widow, and Tony Costa, a minor.

The report of the city controller for the nine months ending December 31, was received and ordered filed, as was also the mayor's message, which was read in select council a week ago.

The ordinance for the bond issue for the construction of a municipal water supply was referred back to the committee. There is not sufficient time left to pass it through both branches of the old council, so this action was taken. It will be renewed in the reorganized common council.

The resolution accepting Andrew Carnegie's offer to erect a $25,000 library building was deferred.

The appropriation ordinance was received from select council and discussed at length. Mr. Nealon objected to it on the score that it did not provide for several essential items, and other members wanted more time to consider it and submit a bill to the estimate committee. This practically kills the ordinance in this council, as there will be but one more meeting before the reorganization. Common council adjourned to meet next Monday evening, their regular meeting night.

A Driver's Mishap.

One of the drivers for the Kranz brewery, while in Forest City yesterday afternoon, met with a disastrous mishap. While backing his team into the station he misjudged them and they backed the wagon, loaded with barrels of beer, over a steep embankment. The contents of the wagon were scattered promiscuously over the embankment, spilling much of the beer. The horses were badly cut and the driver, also, received several painful bruises.

Mrs. Blackmore in Jail.

Mrs. Minnie Blackmore, who has figured in police and newspaper circles for several times, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Chief McAndrew for being so drunk she could not care for herself. She was locked up for the night.

A Card Party.

Miss Helen Mehan entertained a number of her friends at a card party, given at her home on Brooklyn street, last evening. The time was very pleasantly spent.

MEETING OF SCHOOL BOARD.

Routine Business Transacted—Contractor Dove's Heating Job Accepted—New Water Company Will Install Fixtures.

The regular meeting of the school board was called to meet at 7 o'clock last evening, an hour earlier than the usual time. It was just 7:12 when the president of the board called the members to order, with Messrs. Hockenberry, Hughes, Swigert and Kerwin present. Treasurer Moon came in a few minutes later.

After the reading of the minutes Mr. John Shannon appeared in the interest of Reynolds Water company and stated that the company had their plant in working order and could furnish the Central High school and Nos. 1 and 2 with water. The company asked for the patronage of the schools as large taxpayers and as the stockholders were residents of the city. He offered some figures for their consideration of whatever other taxpayers are saving by having their water supplied by this company. He was asked to put his proposals in writing. He did so and the proposal made was: For high school, $24 a month; No. 1 school, $21; No. 2 school, $21; or, by the meter, at the rate of 10 cents a thousand gallons. The company will make all connections free of expense to the city and if the service is not satisfactory they will remove the fixtures absolutely without cost. It was moved that the written proposition be accepted, and it was unanimously carried.

The building committee recommended paying Contractor Dove's heating job in connection with installing the heating plant in the High school building. The bill was $115.02, and it was ordered that it be paid in four equal payments. The committee was well satisfied with the work of the contractor and were of the opinion it was well done. They also allowed him $15 for whitewashing the boiler room and fixing it in good shape, although he made no charge for this service. The board also ordered that the balance due Mr. Dove's contract be paid.

Mr. Dove said that the board should stand one-half the cost of an enlarged building-off, as it was absolutely necessary, although not in the contract, and he would pay the extra cost of this was $20. There was no action taken on this matter.

Then Mr. Swigert put a question. He wanted to know if the janitors ran the school board or the school board ran the janitors. He spoke in regard to members of the board ordering certain janitors to clean snow off the sidewalks and the janitors refusing to do so. The member was informed that the janitors were governed by a set of printed rules, and if they did not do their work they should be replaced by janitors who would. The matter was referred to the janitors' committee.

Treasurer Moon reported that Tax Collector Watt had turned in $3,000 of school taxes on March 18, but that nothing had been turned in by other collectors since the last meeting. It was ordered that collectors having appeals for exoneration from taxes be present at the next meeting of the board, so not as to have a congestion of these matters late in the season.

A bill of A. W. Reynolds for supplies to the central school, amounting to $14.12, was ordered paid, while a requisition from the superintendent for supplies was also honored.

Superintendent Garr submitted his monthly report. At 7:55 the board adjourned to meet on Monday, April 1.

Can't Afford to Lose It.

Only a few days ago Andrew Carnegie made an offer of $25,000 for a public library for the city of Carbondale, provided the councils of that city contribute $2,500 annually for its support. The matter of accepting Mr. Carnegie's offer is still under consideration. Carbondale cannot afford to lose it, as it is a golden opportunity and it is to be hoped that her people will take advantage of it—Archibald Chittenden.

TO START IMPROVEMENTS.

As Soon as the Frost Is Out of the Ground City Work Will Begin.

In about two weeks City Engineer Kupp expects to begin the several improvement jobs which have been provided for by councils. The steel work for the bridge over Racket Brook is expected to arrive in about a week, as the engineer has given permission for its shipment. As soon as the frost is out of the ground he will start work on that job. Immediately after the framework is in the work of connecting the pavements on Church and Canton streets will be rushed through. Work will soon be on the weather permits, Mr. Kupp will direct Contractor Kilien to begin operations on the hospital and Fallbrook street sewers, as owing to the citizens' complaints, it is desired to have that job finished as soon as possible. Another job which will require the attention of the street department will be the finishing up of the Ninth avenue work, for which $200 is provided in the appropriation ordinance.

OBITUARY.

M. P. Brennan.
John J. Brennan, of Sand street, has received the news of the death of his brother, Professor M. P. Brennan, of Ponce, Ariz., who died at that place March 14. He was born in this city forty-five years ago and left for the west as soon as he was of age, where he has prospered. He is survived by his widow, one brother, John J. Brennan, and two sisters, Miss Kate Brennan, and Mrs. Henry Kennedy, of Carbondale. The remains were interred in Butte City, Montana.

May Be an Actor.

Patrick Kennedy has received an offer from a reputable theatrical company to join its ranks next season, and he has decided to accept it, having signed a contract. He is a young man of talent, who has appeared at several amateur productions in this city, and has had several offers of traveling companies which have been here.

The Passing Throng.

The Misses AERES McDonough and Katie Padden, of this city, visited friends in Archbald Sunday.
