ARE OPPOSED TO A STRIKE

WHAT CANVASS OF REPRESENTATIVE MEN SHOWS.

They Are of Opinion That Present Conditions Do Not Warrant Such a Drastic Measure as a General Strike in the Anthracite Coal Region—Among Mine Workers There Is Also a Belief That a Strike Would Be a Bad Thing at This Time—Their Reasons for This.

A canvass was yesterday made by Tribune reporters of well-known city business men, in an effort to secure expressions from them regarding the present situation. The general sentiment of all seen was decidedly anti-strike, and they seemed a unanimity of opinion that if a strike is declared without more apparent grievances being advanced as a cause for suspension of work, the movement will be a most serious blow to unionism in this section of the country.

Thomas H. Dale, for many years treasurer of the Langloffe, Laffin, Greenwood and Brooks coal companies, which recently sold out to the Delaware and Hudson Railroad company, and a most thoroughly conversant through long experience with all phases of the local mining situation, said yesterday: "If the miners' union declare a strike they will make a terrible mistake. A strike for sentiment is always such as the past has shown."

"The relations our company had with the men were always of an exceedingly friendly nature. When the last strike was called, the men had grievances, real grievances, and we recognized that fact. Now, however, the demands have been adjusted, and we know that the men at our collieries were reasonably satisfied.

"I think that if a strike is declared, under the existing conditions, with recognition as the paramount issue, it will mean the ruin of the Mine Workers' union."

MR. BROOKS' OPINION.

T. R. Brooks, who was secretary of the companies of which Mr. Dale was treasurer, declared to a Tribune man that from personal conversations held with a number of miners he knew that they were opposed to a strike, and if they went out it would be only through a blind obedience to orders. The statement given by Mr. Dale, he said, expressed his own views and he added:

"I have been around the mines all my life. I have worked in them and I know and like the miners as a class. Since this strike talk has been in the air, I have held conversations with several miners, and the general sentiment among them can be best expressed in the words of one man who said: 'Why, we don't want to go out on strike, but if one's ordered we can't do any different than follow our leaders.'"

"In my opinion the continuance of the increase in wages should do away with any trouble. The strike of last fall was terminated by the miners having their demands gratified, and I should judge that it would be up to them to fight, only in case some effort is made by the operators to take back the concessions. The fact that since the last strike so many of the smaller companies have been absorbed by the large ones, and that there are now only about half a dozen individual operators remaining in this region, is also sure to work against the success of any strike that may be called."

WHAT MR. LEVY SAID.

Treasurer Joseph Levy of the Scranton board of trade, said: "In my opinion the miners' leaders will not be justified in calling a strike, unless stronger reasons are advanced for such an action, than have been put forward up to the present. I trust that the leaders will prove the conservative men they have been considered, and that they will rest content with the offer already made by the operators in continuing the present wage scale."

"As far as I am able to learn the general sentiment of the miners themselves is against a strike. In the case of every man, who has a family depending upon him, it is to his own interest to stay at work. A strike called at this time cannot fail to have disastrous effect upon the miners themselves and upon all local business interests."

Louis H. Isaac, of Spruce street, said: "The miners are certainly not justified in striking, unless other and stronger grievances are advanced than have been up to date, considering in particular the continuance of the increase granted last fall. From what I am able to learn the present agitation is the result merely of egotism on the part of the miners' executive officers, as they have already been granted what they struck for before, and it is now only a question of recognition."

"I suggest that the Scranton board of trade would do well to follow the example of the Wilkes-Barre board, and send out resolutions, not, however, to any district officers, but to President Mitchell himself. This communication should be written in the same strain as the Wilkes-Barre one and be circulated to show to the national president the local sentiment. The prevalent spirit among Scranton business men with whom I have spoken is decidedly against a strike."

MR. ATHERTON'S VIEWS.

Secretary D. B. Atherton, of the board of trade, said: "I think that the very greatest of care, intelligence and consideration should be given this question by the officers of the United Mine Workers of America, before they assume the responsibility of declaring a strike throughout the anthracite field. Such a strike coming right on the heels of last fall's six weeks' struggle would be nothing short of a calamity. The industrial and commercial interests of this city have not at all recovered from the effects of a strike and if another was precipitated now it would take years for a complete recovery from its ill effects. In my official capacity as secretary of the most representative commercial body in this section of the state, I have found that as long as this talk of a strike is pending we are practically tied hand and foot as far as the securing of new industries is concerned. We have been in communication with a number of concerns with a view of getting them to locate here, but since last week's convention in Hazleton we have received word that until the strike question is settled all negotiations must end. Of course if a strike were declared it would be months and months before we would be able to get any concern to even consider this city in case it were looking about for a change of location. The technical grounds on which the mine workers have expressed their intention of calling a strike is not at all sufficient importance to warrant a complete cessation of work throughout the anthracite coal fields and the throwing out of employment of over 100,000 men and boys. The members of the board to a man, I believe, are opposed to the declaring of a strike and whatever action is taken tomorrow night will be with the view of discouraging such a declaration."

WHAT RECORDER MOIR SAID.

Recorder James Moir said: "I don't believe there will be a strike and consequently I don't see any reason for alarm. I have too much confidence in the judgment and discretion of President Mitchell and his advisers to believe for a moment that they would plunge this valley into another struggle such as last fall's simply because the coal operators refuse to technically recognize the union. They must realize that such an action would work the ruin of the organization and I feel confident that they will not attempt it."

J. D. Williams, of the firm of J. D. Williams & Bros. wholesale retail coal dealers, said: "While I have not given the question very much consideration, nevertheless I think that to declare a strike on the ground that the union should be technically recognized by the operators would be unwise when one considers that the union to all practical intents and purposes has already been recognized. The increase in wages and the reduction in the price of powder have been given because the operators realize the power and strength of the United Mine Workers. A strike at the present time would be disastrous to the business interests of this city and should therefore be discouraged."

DISASTROUS EFFECTS.

Max Rice, senior member of the firm of Rice, Levy & Co., made the following remarks: "This talk of a strike is already having its disastrous effect upon local business interests, and if a general suspension of labor really takes place it will cause terrible results to local enterprises."

"The sentiment among both wholesale and retail dealers is entirely against a strike. What I would favor is a general mass meeting of citizens from all over this county, who could give this most serious matter serious consideration and take some definite action."

John Cleland, senior partner of Cleland, Simpson & Taylor, of the Globe store, said: "I have not followed the course of events in this matter closely enough to make any full statement. All I can say is that a strike will precipitate a very unfortunate condition of affairs."

J. W. Rittenhouse, the West Scranton grocer, and secretary of the Grocers' association, briefly remarked that he had nothing to say, but he added with a lugubrious smile of the head that there would be a good deal to say in case a strike was called.

Major W. S. Miller, alderman of the Eighth ward, said: "Another coal strike affecting the same number of men as that of last year, will not result so satisfactorily. It is not the operators who feel the strike, but the miners themselves, and the business and interests in the coal regions. The horrors of a strike of this nature should appeal to the men not to be hasty in their decisions."

Alderman Myron Nasson had the following to say in discussing the threatened strike: "The miners will be foolish to strike if, as I understand it, they have no other grievance than the recognition of the union. The operators are reported to be fully prepared to sustain another strike, and will fight the miners to the bitter end, with a view of having the union for now and forever. A strike of the same magnitude of the recent one will have an effect on local business almost too fearful to contemplate."

A MINER'S OPINION.

A well known Dunmore miner, when yesterday interviewed by a Tribune man on the present situation, said: "In my opinion a strike is entirely wrong. It is our duty to vote the power of calling a strike in such a small body of men as President Mitchell and the national board, and give them the right of deciding a question of so much importance to the miners of those districts. I have conversed with many miners on the subject and am quite sure that the majority in and around Scranton do not favor a strike, especially going out for such a simple reason as that given by the Hazard convention. The operators have practically recognized the union by posting their notices. It is bad advice to counsel a strike. Our officers in such an event continue drawing their salary, at many of us will be scarcely able to secure the dire necessities. I think that President Mitchell is deserving of censure for the stand he took at the Hazleton convention, and should be asked to resign the presidency. I am a firm believer in the union, but to be successful a union must be run along conservative lines, and amongst other evils a strike would entail at this time would be the disruption of the organization."

TARDY JUROR CAUSED DELAY

MISSED TRAIN ON WHICH HE INTENDED TO COME.

Because of This the Wolfgang Trespasse Case Did Not Get to the Jury Until Late in the Afternoon—Ejectment Suit Against Ridge Turnpike Company Now on Trial—Verdict for the Plaintiff in Cooper Suit Against the City—Trying to Collect a Coal Bill—Court Notes.

The trespasse case of E. J. Wolfgang against the Scranton Railway company was given to the jury yesterday afternoon. A verdict has not yet been returned. Some delay was occasioned in starting the case by the failure of John Toehs, of Stronon, who missed the morning train which would have landed him in the city in time for the opening of court. It was 10:30 when he arrived.

After the Wolfgang case went to the jury the ejectment case of P. P. Carter, Marvin P. Carter and Amelia M. Kennedy against the Ridge Turnpike company, it is alleged that in 1872 the company laid out its turnpike over a foot of the plaintiff's land near Carter's ax works, and paid for it. The plaintiff now sues to recover the land. They are represented by Attorney S. B. Price and the defendant company by Hon. E. N. Willard and Major Warren.

The case of George Cooper against the city of Scranton was given to the jury by Judge H. M. Edwards yesterday morning and later in the day it returned a verdict in favor of Cooper for $1275. The city will apply for a new trial.

Miss Barbara McGinnis was given a verdict for $117.93 against M. J. Norton, who was formerly engaged in the hotel business here. She was employed as a servant by Norton and her bill was for wages. Norton did not appear and was not presented by counsel, and a verdict was returned for the full amount of the plaintiff's claim, with interest.

William Cox, a Montrose lawyerman, was given a verdict of $824.24 against Joseph P. Reddington, who conducts an installment house in this city. Two brothers named Cohen, employed by Reddington, contracted a bill for carriage hire with Cox, and Cox succeeded in getting an order from Reddington as security.

The latter refused to pay the bill, however, alleging that the order was directed to do so by the board. He promised, however, to bring the matter up for consideration at tonight's meeting.

M'MANUS BADLY INJURED

Came in Contact with a Live Wire in Front of Coal Exchange, on Wyoming Avenue.

Michael McManus, of 713 Forest court, an electrician employed by the Scranton Illuminating, Heat and Power company, fell from a step-ladder in front of Dougherty & Thomas' millinery store, in the Coal Exchange building, on Wyoming avenue, yesterday, and received injuries which rendered him unconscious for several hours.

McManus was doing the preliminary wiring for an are light, when he fell. He was standing on a ten-foot ladder and in some manner was thrown or slipped from his hold to the side, walk, landing upon his left arm and shoulder and head. He laid where he fell motionless for some time. The Lackawanna hospital ambulance responded to a call and conveyed him to that institution, where he lay in an unconscious state for several hours.

McManus' arm and shoulder are badly lacerated and swollen, while he bears a slight abrasion over the eye and a discoloration of the optic. Other than these there are no marks to show for McManus' terrible fall. The full extent of his injuries have not as yet been ascertained, but it is not believed he is seriously injured.

There is a difference of opinion as to the exact cause of his fall. At first it was thought that he had received a shock which threw him from the ladder. It may have been that a coil of wire, which he held, came in contact with what is known to the wiremen as a "knock" wire, or he may have lost his balance and slipped from the ladder.

McManus is well known around town and has been an electrician for fourteen or fifteen years. When Hickey was chief of the fire department, he was assistant chief.

STOLE FROM HIS MOTHER.

Martin Crane Was Committed to the County Jail.

Martin Crane, a 16-year-old boy, living with his mother on Locust street, was committed to the county jail by Recorder Moir yesterday in default of $500 bail, on the charge of larceny. Crane four years ago was sent to a reform school at Buffalo, and shortly after being discharged from there was committed to the Glen Mills reformatory, at Philadelphia, for the theft of brass. A few months ago he completed his time there, and with his name on the "honor list" was given his liberty. During the intervening time he has been dependent upon his mother, a widow, refusing to work or in any way support himself.

Monday he slipped in his mother's room while she was sleeping and stole $10 therefrom, and for this crime was arrested Tuesday by Patrolman Schmidt.

SPECIAL MEETING CALLED

Board of Trade Will Tonight Consider How Best to Avert the Threatened Coal Strike.

Five members of Scranton's representative civic body, the board of trade, impressed with the seriousness of the situation confronting the industrial and commercial interests of this valley and especially the city of Scranton, have signed a call for a special meeting to be held tonight for the purpose of taking action on the impending strike.

The meeting will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and will be open to members only. Just what action will be taken is not known, but it is generally understood that resolutions strongly condemning the calling of a strike will be passed and that steps will be taken to call a public meeting of citizens under the auspices of the board to discuss the question.

Secretary Atherton was called up on the telephone yesterday morning by Rev. J. Phillips, of Hazleton, who took such an active part in the last strike that he attempted to bring about arbitration. Father Phillips wanted to know if the president of the Scranton board of trade would agree to accompany the presidents of the Wilkes-Barre and Hazleton boards to New York, there to meet Bishop Potter and Archbishop Corrigan and together with these gentlemen wait upon J. Pierpont Morgan and endeavor to have him use his influence in bringing about a conference between the operators and the miners.

Secretary Atherton informed him that President Lansing was out of the city and that even if he was at home he would not have authority to take such action as suggested except when directed to do so by the board. He promised, however, to bring the matter up for consideration at tonight's meeting.

IT IS NOT SERIOUS.

Nothing to Fear from Substitution of Word "Mayor" for "Recorder."

City Solicitor Vosburg doesn't see anything serious in the accidental substitution of the word "mayor" for the word "recorder" in the section of the "ripper" bill which gives authority for the exercise of the city's corporate powers, mention of which was made in The Tribune's Harrisburg correspondence.

"There is no question, whatever," said he, "but that the court would decide, if anybody were ever so foolish as to bring the matter up, that the intent of the legislature was to have it read 'recorder' instead of 'mayor.' The rule that an act must be read so as to preserve a harmony among its parts is one long ago established by the Supreme court of this state."
