the reports show a feeling of weak-ness creeping in. In fact the Order The Grange is the oldest of the as a whole steadily declined in numral organizations for farmers, Though the notion or organizing the farmers was undoubtedly be ached early in the history of the country, the norm idea that actually grew into the Grange is about a third of a century old and should be credited to O. H. Kelley, a Hoston young man who nottled on Minnesota farm in 1849. He wrote considerably for the agricultural and this experience helpel to bring him to the conclusion that the great need of agriculture was the education . of the agriculturia. He soon came to feel that existing agencies for this purmee-farm papers and take -were in-
