

HER POINT OF VIEW

WOMEN often wonder what other women talk about to men. It isn't often, however, that they have the temerity to inquire. Naturally, they don't ask the women, and it is reasonable enough that they hesitate to ask the men what is said to them.

In the first place, a woman doesn't particularly care to deepen the conviction steadily imbedded in a man's intellect that she is excessively curious. Then she shrinks from giving him the impression that she is showing over-interest in him, or that she cares what other women say to him.

It is seldom, therefore, that she has an opportunity to gain intelligence on the matter at first hand. When a woman repeats to a friend her remarks made to a man she is prone to add frills, and the friend knows it. So the other day a woman, who frankly confided to the public the sort of conversation she affects with mankind, was overheard by another woman with a great deal of interest.

The speaker, or rather the "talker," she was that, could not be called "city young." She was by the index of age which always keeps observers guessing, and the man to whom she was addressing her remarks was undoubtedly the object of her intense affection. He wasn't an interesting object to an observer, but he was apparently an Apollo and a dear to her. They weren't married yet, but it was apparent that they expected to be.

They could trade handsome new style furniture for an antique bronze or a real Colonial four-poster bed. They long to see something else in the place of possessions they once thought perfection. The eternal spirit of change influences them powerfully and they are quick to grasp opportunities.

There is a possibility that all these wishes may be adjusted. The Tribune proposes to start a department in a few days which will enable people to get what they want and dispose of what they don't want—of course within reasonable limitations fixed by a reasoning public. If you have a Boston bull terrier which you could part with and very much yearn for a graphophone, through the medium of this department you may effect a happy exchange and yet have your identity strictly unknown except by the persons with whom direct communication is established.

There is a first class carpenter somewhere in the city whose wife wants a folding bed and who will gladly give his services in making spring improvements in your house in return. Another man has an incubator which he would like to "swap" for a camera. To be sure if you should make the exchange you may probably want to dispose of an incubator a year from now, after gaining more or less experience and spring chickens but just at this time both of you will be happy.

Among the exchanges which are frequently offered might be suggested: paper hanging, for cemetery lots, gold watch and bicycle for diamond ring, ice cream store and bakery for small house, carriage for a typewriter, massage services for a dress suit, lessons in French for lessons in stenography, old coins for butterfly collection, pair of horses for seashore lot, encyclopedia for a sewing machine, dentistry for an office desk. A car load of saw dust for a wheel chair, a band for a bicycle, grandfather's clock for a party dress in good condition. (There is pathos and romance in this proposition), a piano for bedroom suite, a gun for boxing lessons, a dog for a cough syrup recipe, dressmaking for whist lessons, etc., etc.

Now if you have anything for exchange from a maltese kitten to a coal mine drop a line to the Exchange editor of The Tribune asking for rates and information and giving your opinion on the subject. "I like violets," she continued, "and I want them in bunches, a heap at a time." Then she rapidly changed the subject. "They've got the nicest kinks to the new shirt waist," she confided, "right here," sliding her plump hands on her hips, "there is a little slit—so—and it lets all the fronts come to the front where you want 'em, and doesn't drag the fullness to the back, where you don't want it. Good idea, isn't it?"

The big man made a great expression on his visage, blinked wisely, but probably felt bewildered in his mind, as he tried to catch up with her mental skips. Just then they reached their corner and alighted, and the people in the car drew long breaths and looked at each other in a friendly way, secretly wondering what next that woman was saying to her victim, who doubtless wasn't aware that he was a victim. MUSICAL GOSSIP.

The concert to be given on April 15 at St. Luke's Parish House by the Studio Club under Miss Freeman's direction, and assisted by Master Earl Gulick, the wonderful boy soprano from New York city, will be one of the most delightful entertainments ever given in Scranton. The Studio club is one of the best of vocal societies, numbering some thirty fine and well trained voices, and they have rehearsed an exceedingly delightful programme for this occasion. Of Master Earl Gulick, H. Evans Williams says: "Earl Gulick has a beautiful voice, far ahead of any boy soprano I ever heard." Emma Thursby writes: "He sings like an angel." Dudley Buck writes of him: "A most remarkable boy voice, with an unusual amount of musical intelligence." Modjeska closed a note to him thus: "To my young friend, Earl Gulick, with the angel voice, with love of Helena Modjeska."

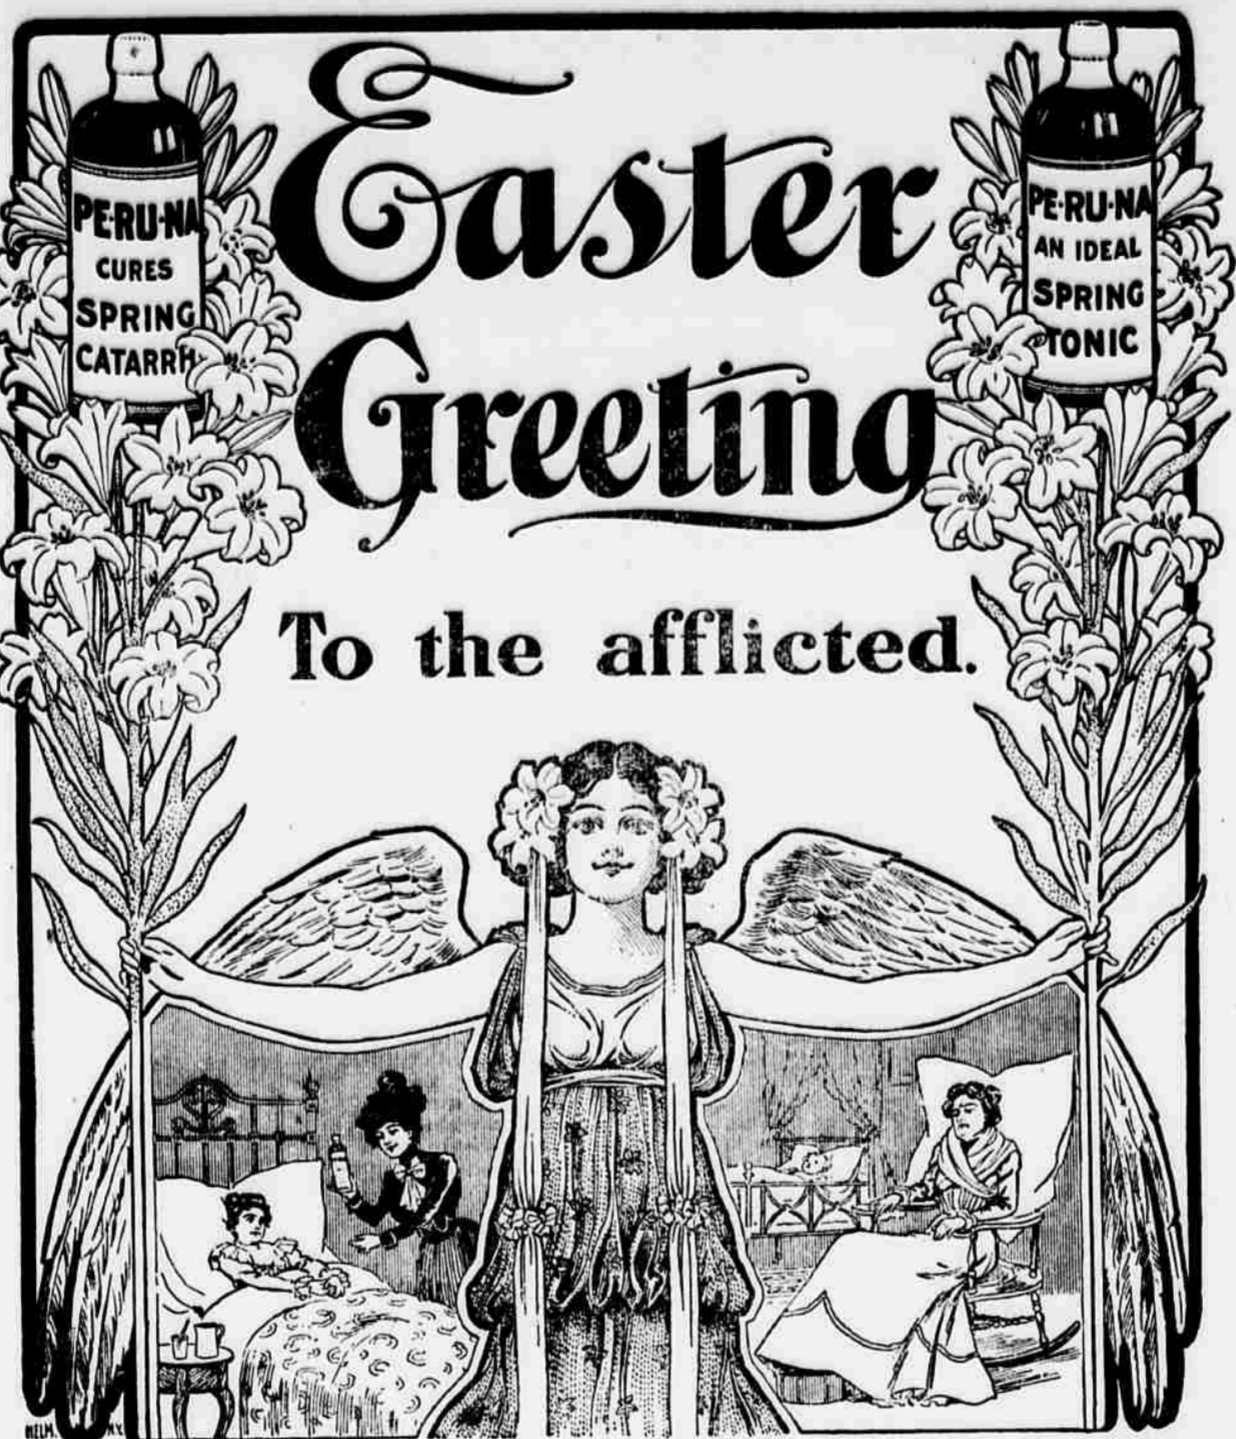

Holders of tickets already purchased from this concert, and others intending to attend it, please notice that the program for selecting reserved seats will be open at Powell's music store on Monday morning, April 15.

Bauer's Thirteenth Regiment band, billed for the Lecroon theater on Thursday evening, has decided to give a children's matinee at 2:30, and in so doing will extend a free invitation to St. Patrick's Orphan Asylum, St. Joseph's Foundling Home, Home for the Friendless and the House of the Good Shepherd. The members of this excellent organization, of which every Scrantonian may feel proud, should be highly commended for their charitable action on this occasion, and the public should show its appreciation by filling the theater to greet Professor B. J. Bauer and his musicians. The programme for the concert will be as follows:

March, "Electric City," E. Knowles (Dedicated to Bauer's Band); Overture, "Post and Passport," Suppe Vocal Solo, "His Poem" (Faust) Gounod Selection, "The Amerer," Herbert Corset Solo, "Whirlwind Polka," Levy Intermission, Ten Minutes. Overture, "Maximilian, Robespierre," Litolff (Descriptive). "A Congo Terpsichorean Event," Voelker Vocal Solo, "Trocadero Song, from Carmen," Bisset Mr. Frank Eaton. "Grand American Fantasie," Herbert

Easter Greeting

To the afflicted.

If every one in the world were healthy and happy what a glad day Easter would be. But the sun rises every Easter morning on a multitude of sick and afflicted. The Easter lilies gladden the hearts of the sick and well alike.

But to the sick something more than the Easter lily is necessary to bring that hope and cheer which every one expects on Easter day. The well need no physician, but the sick need a remedy.

Nearly one-half the people in the United States are suffering from some form or phase of catarrhal ailment. These ailments take different forms at different seasons of the year. In the springtime catarrh assumes a systemic form, producing nervousness, lassitude and general languor.

Systemic catarrh deranges the digestion and through deranged digestion it impoverishes or contaminates the blood. Thus we have blood diseases and nervous derangements through systemic catarrh.

Peruna is a specific for these cases. No other remedy yet devised by the medical profession is able to successfully meet so many phases of spring ailments as Peruna. Men and women everywhere are praising Peruna as follows:

- A First Class Tonic. Wm. A. Collier, Assistant Paymaster U. S. N., writes: "I have taken Peruna and recommend it to those needing a first-class tonic."
A Spring Tonic. Mrs. D. W. Timberlake, Lynchburg, Va., says: "There is no better spring tonic than Peruna, and I have used about all of them."
A Good Tonic. Captain Percy W. Moss, Second Arkansas Volunteers, writes from Paragould, Ark.: "I find Peruna a very good spring tonic, and will readily recommend it at any time."
Builds Up the Entire System. Miss Jennie Johnson, 3113 Lake Park avenue, Chicago, Ill., is Vice President of Chicago Teachers' Federation. She writes: "Peruna restores the functions of nature, induces sleep and builds up the entire system."
Makes Steady Nerves. D. L. Wallace, Charter Member International Barbers' Union, 15 West-ern avenue, Minneapolis, Minnesota, writes: "I now feel splendid. My head is clear, my nerves are steady, I enjoy my food and rest well."
The Best of Tonics. Hon. W. C. Chambers, Chief Justice of Samoa, says: "I have tried one bottle of Peruna and I can truthfully say it is one of the best tonics I ever used."
A Grand Tonic. Mrs. Gridley, mother of Captain Gridley, of the "Olympia," writes: "I used Peruna and can truthfully say it is a grand tonic."
For Overwork. Mr. Tefft Johnson, a prominent actor of Washington, D. C., writes from Fourteenth and "I" streets: "In the effort to improve a condition impaired by overwork, I have found nothing that has done as much good as Peruna."
For a Worn-out System. Mrs. Catherine Toft, President "Valkyrie Association," 5649 Cottage Grove avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes: "I often advise Peruna in cases of a worn-out system and a broken down constitution."
