The matter was referred to the borough attorney for an opinion. Mr. Mc-Laughlin reported that many streets in the Sixth ward were only partially provided with sidewalks and gutters. and moved that the borough attorney and engineer draw up an ordinance given to more students than in any covering the matter, providing for the laying of walks within sixty days, or the borough would proceed to do so.

The a session was devoted for the n mur to statistical work. Rev. Dr. M. D. Fuller presided. Rev. J. L. Race offered prayer. The members of the conference presented their financial reports, and the meeting adjourned with the benediction by Dr. Sweet. Committees were in session until 4 p. m., when the address of the afternoon was given.

The Pentecostal service is a novel feature of the afternoon sessions, decided upon last year. They were arranged during Bishop Ninde's visit but a few weeks before his death, and are held under the hearty approbation of Bishop Fowler, Rev. Dr. J. B. Wilson, of Providence, R. I., is in charge, and if the promise of today is fulfilled it is evident that the meetings are to be a great success.

It was suggested last year that the people of a community get little benefit from a conference held in its midst. They are asked to entertain the visitors and are cumbered with many cares during their stay, yet the statistical and business sessions offer small interest or value to those not directly interested. Hence it was decided that a real evangelistic service should be held every afternoon, that the ministers in their great annual meeting should leave behind them some agitation of religious effect.

The speaker of the evening was flev. Dr. M. C. B. Mason, of Cincinnati. Dr. Mason is perhaps, with the exception of Booker T. Washington, the most celebrated and cultured man of the colored race. He spoke on "Christian Education, the Solution of the Race Problem in the South." He began by remarking on the wonderful spirit of Christian progress which is displayed in maintaining the support and the uplifting of the blacks. This society has sent out 20,600 young men and womer Christian teachers to go into all the waste and desolate places of the South to give their talents and their lives to raise their fellow-creatures. The youth are being educated in forty-seven schools, where industrial training other set of institutions in the whole

Two medical graduates are to aid in establishing a medical hospital in Africa, under the direction of Bishop Hartzell. Three graduates are teaching carpentry, shoemaking, printing, etc., in Africa. The speaker, in an interview with a Tribune correspondent, when asked regarding his opinion of the book, "The American Negro," recently published, stated that he was utterly at a loss to conjecture Mr. Thomas' point of view. The kindest thing which could be said of the book was that it is a malicious distortion of facts, particularly in its attacks on the educational institutions of the South and the outlook for the colored race.
