BINGHAMTON DEFEATED.

High School Won Debate and Recitation Contest in Parlor City.

The Binghamton High School debating team was defeated last night by a trio of bright and brainy students repenting the Scranton High school, in the "Parlor City."

The subject debated was "Resolved. That Pennsylvania Is a Better State to Live in Than New York State," and the Scranton team, which took the negative side, consisted of Edward Frear, Miss Anna M. Boland and David Phillips. The Binghanden school was represented by the following debaters: Harry L. Underwood, Elizabeth Hennnesey and Helen Mc-Namara. The judges, who decided in favor of Scranton, were George B. Davidson, of this city, and Fred Welsh end Major C. H. Hitchcock, of Bing-

Scranton also carried of the honors in the recitation contest, her representative, Miss Mildred Green winning first honors over Miss Ruby Badger The oratorical contest was won by Herman Speh, of Binghamton, though Meyer Kabatchnick, of this city, gave him a hard fight.

After the debate a banquet was tendered the visitors by the senior class of the Binghamton school, who proved themselves to be splendid entertainers. A large contingent from this city went along to cheer up the contestants. The party included the following: Prof. Hughes, Prof. Loomis, Prof. Kemmerling, C. G. Beland, Miss Kate G. O'Mat-ley, Griffith Thomas, Wallace Martin. Ed. Kirkbride and Lyon Weyburn,

THE GYPSY GROVE "MYSTERY."

Coroner's Jury Discovers That the Unknown and Unseen Was Intox-Coroner Roberts conducted an inquest

ast night in the case of the unknown man, who was found dead in the creek near the Gypsy Grove colliery on Tuesday, April 2. Three witnesses were sworn, but none of them could throw any light on the case. There is a possibility, however, that the man was a resident of Throop named Doran. Prior to the interment of the remains, a young man and young woman called at the Jones morgue and expressed the belief that the body was that of their stepfather, who had been absent from home several months. It will be recalled that a silk handker-chief was found on the body bearing an initial "D."

Dorr Bidwell, fireman at No. 1 colliery of the Pennsylvania Coal company, testified to having discovered the body in the water, and also stated that he had seen a month previous what appeared to be a pair of overalls lying in the water at the same place.
In his judgment the man could easily have fallen into the water from the culvert, near where the body was James O. Masters, foreman at the colliery, and C. W. Brockaway, who saw the body lying in the water, believed the man fell from the culvert.

The jury rendered a somewhat re-markable verdict that "the unknown deceased whose body was found an Tuesday, April 2, in the creek running from the Gypsy Grove colliery of the Pennsylvania Coal company at Dunmore, Pa., came to his death by falling from the culvert, while intoxiated, and being unable to assist himself, was drowned in the above- men-tioned stream."

GLENN WAS ACQUITTED.

Commonwealth Failed to Make Out a Case and a Verdict of Not Guilty Was Ordered.

By direction of Judge H. M. McClure. verdict of not guilty was taken yeserday in the case of Nicholas Glenn, the former justice of the peace of Fell ownship, who was charged with drawing fees from the county for a fictitious case which he said he discharged. The prosecutor in the alleged fictitious case, John Doland, was put on the stand and swore that he lodged information before Glenn for the arrest of Frank Shannon, and that the latter had a hearing and was discharged. Upon this not guilty, and ordered the county to pay the costs.

The following cases against magistrates were continued, the district attorney not being prepared to try them: John J. Ruddy, of the Twentieth ward of this city, two charges of misdemeanor in office; M. J. Cannon, of Olyphant, two charges of misdemeanor of office; John Lentes, of the Eleventh ward, two charges of misdemeanor in office; John W. Millet, of the Sixth ward, misdemeanor in office

It is the general opinion about the court house that these cases will never be tried. District Attorney Lewis refuses to talk about them, but does not seem much impressed with the evidence on which Detective T. E. Revnolds has based his cases against the magistrates whose arrests he caused. The two cases already tried have collansed most miserably.

COURT MARTIAL OFFICERS.

Three Battalion Commanders Are Appointed as Such.

Cololent L. A. Watres, of the Thirteenth regiment, yesterday issued an order appointing Lieutenant Colonel F. W. Stillwell, Major B. Rush Field and Major Frank Robling, jr., permanent summary court officers for the First, Second and Third battalions, respectively.

Heretofore various officers have been issigned to conduct court martials. but in the future the three battalion commanders will conduct them exclusively. Colonel Watres will instruct them to be rigid in their dealing with soldiers who fail to give a reasonable excuse for being absent from drill as he is determined to put a stop to the a hotly-contested debate conducted in laxity in this respect which has recently been so prevalent.

SCARCITY OF APPLICANTS

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN DON'T WANT TO BE CALL MEN.

It Will Be Necessary to Go Outside the Department to Secure a Sufficient Number of Men Willing to Accept Positions in Reorganized Fire Department-A Fireman Tells How the "Call" System Worked in Albany Some Years Ago-Other News of the Department.

The predictions of some of the ob-jectors to the reorganization of the fire department along the lines laid down in the general reorganization ordinance are coming true. It was said by some of these objectors that it would be a difficult matter to procure sufficient bunk and call men at the wage allowed in the ordinance. and the truth of this assertion is rapidly forcing itself upon some of those who contended otherwise. Last Wednesday, when an examination was conducted for the positions to be filled in the central city companies there were only fifteen applicants for the twenty-two places in these companies, and only two of the fifteen would agree to accept positions as bunk or call men. When the result of the examination is announced it will be found, as can be learned by conversation with one of the examiners, that this number will be reduced to ten or less, On Thursday night the board of examiners sat in the Nay Aug engine house to examine candidates for the positions of permanent ment and bunk and call men in the North Scranton companies. Only two or three applicants for bunk and call places put in an appearance. A member of the board said that from the examinations so far conducted, he felt that it would be just barely possible to get from among the company members a sufficient number to make up the quota of twenty-two regular additional paid men, which the ordinance provides for, leaving the call and bunk men out of the question. Of course it may be possible to get men who are not members of the volunteer department to take the places, but if this is done, an entirely different sort of an examination than the one now being used will have to be provided. The applicants who have showing the judge directed a verdict of | so far presented themselves have been asked a series of questions formulated by Assistant Chief D. J. Slowe, covering in a general way the whole field of practical fire fighting. No one who has not had a practical experience in battling with the flames in buildings of various kinds and sizes could possibly answer any of these questions, which were designed expressly for the volunteers, so that, as mentioned before, if a sufficient number of applicants from the volunteer ranks do not materialize, some other kind of a competitive examination will have to be

When the situation was explained to Recorder Moir yesterday, he said the city would have to go outside the companies to secure bunk and call men, if ward in sufficient numbers to fill out his opinion that it would be necessary o keep the volunteer companies in existence until such time as the city would find itself able to maintain a full J. C. Moran some years ago for keel paid department.

One of the best known firemen in the city, who was sitting in the Nay Aug engine house the other night and condemning with all the force in his power the "call" system, which is soon to be ntroduced, expressed himself as being fearful that after its introduction some such occurrence as the one which ook place in Albany, N. Y., a number of years ago, might transpire.

"The call system was in use there," said he, "and had been only fairly successful. The call men felt that they didn't have much to lose if they were discharged, and they weren't over particular about obeying orders. One night, in the middle of January, when the city was in the threes of one of the fiercest blizzards that ever visited that part of the state, a fire broke out n the wholesale district. The thernometer registered nearly twenty degrees below zero and there was a nas-

y, cutting wind blowing. "The apparatus in charge of the imited number of permanent men The kindergarten committee of the which the city boasted of, got out in good time, but not a single call man put in an apeparance. They struck. with one accord, realizing that it would a dollar an hour and very few hours worked, than to work with the temperature so low that the water almost froze as soon as it left the hose. The permanent men themselves were entirely unable to cope with the blaze and it simply burned itself out, but not until a whole block of property had been wiped off the map, with several million dollars' damage. Albany had a full paid department in short order after that, but I hope Scranton will never have such an experience. A fireman has got to take such great risks that to be properly amenable to orders he's got to be where it's a case of lose his bread and butter if he loes not do what he's told."

The new first class engine which is o be purchased if councils in their wisdom see fit to adopt the appropriaion ordinance as reported by the joint estimates committee, will be loated in the Nay Aug engine house. The present Nay Aug steamer will be sent to North Scrunton, to be located at one of the company houses, to be secided upon later. The new hook and ladder truck will also be housed at the Nay Aug quarters, according to present plans. It is proposed to build an addition in the rear of the present building for the stabling of the new apparatus and to rearrange the stalls. The present location of the hook and ladder company, on West Lackawanna avenue, near the Lackawanna railroad crossing, has long been generally deemed most unsatisfactory, on account of its distance from the central part of the city. The old truck will be cut down and sent to either North or West Scranton. The Firemen's Relief association met last night in the council chamber and voted to secure permanent quarters and continue the organization as a sort of Veteran Firemen's association, such is are found in the larger cities, where the paid department has put out of existence the boys who ran with the old machine. All the trophies, mementoes and refics belonging to the different companies are to be gathered and placed on exhibition at the association's headquarters. It is also the intention of the association to continue in control of the pension fund. Paid firemen will, of course, be the only ones eligible to benefits, but the whole associaton will pass upon the relief applications,

There is a deal of unnecessary certainity existing among the volunteer firemen on account of the indefiniteness of the re-organization ordinance, which provides for the disbandment of the volunteer department "as soon as the additional men provided herein are apcinted." They fear that the men may be appointed one day and that without any notice the volunteer force will go out of business the next day,

There should be no reason for anxiety or bother on this score, for Director of Public Safety Hitchcock has unofflcially announced that when a sufficient number of men have passed the examinations and are eligible for appointment he will announce a certain time for the disbandment of the volunteer force and for the assumption by the new men of their duties. This will be done that the men may have due notice for the removal of their property from the various company houses. There will be no disbandment of the department all of a sudden. That much is settled.

Common Councilman M. J. Norton, of the Twenty-first ward, says that it select council adopts an amendment to the "chaser" ordinance, as there is talk of doing, repealing that section of the re-organization ordinance providing for a permanent man for the Keyser Valley Hose company, the measure will not pass common council in that form. He says that he has the thirteen Democratic votes pledged to provide for this man and that select council has got to agree to his appointment or the 'chaser'' will never pass.

of the county at bay for several weeks. The Hollands were aware of this. and they retreated. They then had recourse to the law. An injunction was secured restraining her from continuing the alleged encroachments. It is to be argued next Wednesday.

Later in the day the Hollands were crested at the instance of Mrs. Hayes on a warrant from Alderman Howe's office, charging them with interfering with her workmen and threatening to shoot her. They were held in $300 ball for court.

BOY FATALLY INJURED. Wagon on Which Carl Savage Was

Riding Tipped Over. Carl Savage, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Savage, of Brick avenue, was seriously, if not fatally, injured last evening, while riding in a stone wagon driven by Andrew Camp-bell, and owned by A. J. Rogan.

Campbell, who was driving along on Yard street, with Savage by his side, drove near an embankment and attempted to drive down it. The embankment was too steep, however, for the wagon to go down in safety and near the middle of the hill the wagon upset, toppling over on young Savage and seriously injuring him. He was removed to a house nearby, where Dr. J. J. Sullivan was called, who has but slight hopes of the boy's recovery.

result of his fall from a car. McHale was on one of the Lacka wanna's fast freight trains, and it was about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the accident happened. While near Tobyhanna the train gave a sudden lurch and the brakeman lost his balance and fell to the ground. He was brought to the city and taken to the Moses Taylor hospital, where it was at first feared that he had sustained in ternal injuries.

Testimony Was Listened to by Judge H. M. Edwards-Mrs. Francis S. Silsbee Asks the Court to Separate Her from the Man to Whom She Was Married Forty-Six Years Ago. Mrs. Morris Tells of Her Husband's Brutality-Other Cases-A Divorce Case Begun.

Judge H. M. Edwards, sitting in chambers, yesterday heard testimony in a number of divorce cases, with M.

J. McAndrew as stenographer. The first case heard was that of Mrs. Frances S. Silsbee, who seeks a separation from her husband, Philander S. Slisbee, after a wedded life of fortysix years. The couple were married in Dunmore in 1855, and lived in that borough for a long period, twelve years ago moving to Madison township, where Mrs. Silsbee still resides. Silsbee was a railroader and spent weekdays in Scranton, going home on Sat-

Mrs. Silsbee's testimony was corroborated by her daughter, Mrs. Isabelle Ives, and her son-in-law, Milton Ives.

There is a lawsuit now pending in court, in which Mr. Silsbee seeks to obtain his share of certain property and $5,000 in the bank, all in his wife's name. She refuses to turn it over to him, Silsbee now lives on North Wash-

MORRIS WAS BRUTAL.

Testimony was also heard in the case of Lydia Morris against William Morris, both of Olyphant. They were married on April 6, 1878, by Rev. Benjamin Thomas, then of West Scranton. Mrs. Morris claims that her husband was in the habit of beating and kicking her most unmercifully, and that on one occasion, after a beating, she was under a doctor's care for three weeks. He frequently turned her out of the house. she says, compelling her to seek shelter with the neighbors. Her testimony was corroborated by her children, John and Maggie, and by a neighbor, Mrs. James McCann. Mrs. Morris left her husband on February 12 last.

Martin Bliss, who is seeking a divorce rom his wie, Edna E. Bliss, testified that they were married on October 10, 1878, and resided for a number of years in Mt. Pleasant, afterwards coming to this city, where they resided on Eighth street. She left him in 1894, and was gone for ten weeks. He persuaded her to return, and she did so, but only to leave his domicile once more on July 9.

She took up the business of canvass ing from house to house selling various articles and ir engaged in this at present. Jacob Ropier and his wife, Laura R. Ropier, former neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Bliss, testified that Mrs. Bliss had visited them since she left her husband and stated that she would never live with him again. Her reasons for arriving at this determination were that she didn't want to do housework any more, as she considered canvassing a much pleasanter occupation.

WIFE UNFAITHFUL. Salvin Phillips, an Italian, who is seeking a legal separation from his wife, Olympia Phillips, testified that he was married to her on March 23. 1899. They settled in Dunmore, but after two months of wedded life she left him and went to live in a disreputable resort in Raymond court. He induced her to come back again, and she did so, but remained only for a short time, leaving in a few weeks for her old haunts. He caused her arrest on the charge of adultery and at the December term of quarter sessions she was found guilty of the offense and sentenced to thirty days in the county
