ARRESTED THREE ITALIANS.

One for Uttering Threats to Kill, the Others for Interfering with Offi-

Hospital street has for the past two or three weeks been the scene of great distuibance on Sundays by a gang of Italian youths of all ages, who persist in ball playing close to the hospital, much to the annoyance of the patients, as well as residents of the street. Several have reported the matter to the police, with the demand that all seems serent now. the nuisance beabated.

Yesterday afternoon Special Officer Heers saw the usual crowd gathered in close proximity to the hospital, playing base ball to an accompaniment of shouts and yells that could be heard half a mile away. He went over to them and told them the game must All the reply made was a chorus of hoots. A 12-year-old boy stepped up to but and the officer took hold of him and warned him that if he didn't out he would take him to the city The officer had no more than said this when an Italian about 19 years of age picked up a stone and with a picturesque stream of oaths, shouted: You arerst-a dat-a boy, I kill-a you."

The officer let go of the little boy, whom he only intended to scare, and made a grab for the threatener. He secured him after a struggle and started to take him to the city jail, a long ways from the scene of arrest. All the way down the hill be was followed by a mob of infuriated Italof trouble, too, trying to get away, but the officer clung stoutly to him and half-carried, half-dragged his man to the depot, dodging the stones successfully.

At the corner of Sixth avenue and Main street the crowd, augmented by granted. That statement is incorrect the Sunday afternoon strollers, be-came so dense that Beers was brought to a stop. Then one of the Italians, who had been among the noisiest of the lot, a man about 40 years of age, tried to take the prisoner away. . He grabbed Berrs' arm and hung to it. But the city building, a few steps away,

Then he dragged him by main strength into the city building, through the hall and into The two prisoners were searched for weapons, but strange to relate, not a knife even was found. The door of the jail had been left open and a mob of Italians and others went close to the cells and the noise was about to leave for his home in Penn-One Italian who acted suspiciously and was trying to pass something to the prisoners, was grabbed and searched by Chief McAndrew, but he also had forgotten to bring a weamoving pictures that it is only necessary to say that this is Mr. Howe's own original company. The exhibition Programme of the Grand Concert to will be given for the benefit of the Berean Baptist church and will be held in the Grand opera house, under the auspices of the Ladies' Ald society of that church. Included in the programme, which will be entirely new, will be a series of magic pictures by the noted French magician, Robert Houdyn, which are alone worth morthan the price of admission.

WILL ALL GO BACK TODAY.

The Machinists at the Locomotive Shops Start in This Morning.

At the headquarters of the machinsts in the Watt building yesterday aferonon there were not many of the locked-out men. The few who were there, though, were happy in the ex-pectation that all of the forty-two men who for the past ten days have stuck to each other in oneir mutual struggle were to go back to work this morning. The company has granted their demand of extra pay for extra work, and

The forty-two men were discharged on Thursday, April 4, for refusing to work overtime. Two weeks previously they had given notice to Master Mechanic Rennie that they would not work nights unless they received pay at the rate of time and a quarter for it On April 4 a shafting broke. Mr. Rennie asked man after man to stay that night and repair the shaft. Each man asked refused to do so and was discharged. This continued until forty-two men had been laid off, and then Mr. Rennie desisted. The men dis-charged pooled their interests and resolved that none of them would go back unless all were reinstated. On Saturday the discharged men hired the upper floor of the Watt building and opened headquarters, prepared to stick it out. The end of the struggle had come sooner than they really anticipated. Through the efforts of a committee sent to Al. Slack, their debands were recognized as just ones, and they have been granted. Not a lans, who muttered and yelled threats sign of turbulence or misconduct of of vengeance, accompanied by showers any kind has marked the ten days' of stones. The prisoner gave no end waiting for recognition of justice. The only demand these men have made is that they receive extra pay for extra work. The statement has been printed that this was not the only grievance men have and that the lockout would not be settled by its being It was the only question considered.

Building a Trestle.

Hugh W. Powderly is out of town again, this time on a construction tour on the border of Lake Champlain, where he is superintending the building of a plane similar to those on which he spent half a century manipulating the old Gravity road over the Moosic mountains for the Delaware and Hudson company. This company is building a trestle at Lake Champlain, similar to the one at their coal chutes in this city, to load vessels for all points north of Whitehall and Fort Ticonderoga.

Will Lecture at High School. At the last meeting of William H. Davies post, Grand Army of the Re-public, Comrade George S. Kimball gave a praphic description of the battle of Port Hudson. So pleased were the "vets" with it that they have requested Mr. Kimball to repeat it. and it will probably be given in the near future at the High School, forming one of the series of lectures that are being delivered by local speakers.

JERMYN AND MAYFIELD.

A teachers' institute was held Saturday in the Mayfield public school. There were two sessions, afternoon and evening, and both were largely attended. The programmes as published were carried out, and several of the papers read showed careful preparation. One of the most enjoyable things of the afternoon session was the playing of the Aurora waltzes by Miss Annie $39.35; total, $222.85, making a grand Grady, the composer.
