PERSONAL.

Attorney Charles W. Dawson is at Harrisburg, William A. Green and John A. Cooke, of Green Ridge, have gone to Buffalo, N. Y. Former City Solicitor A. A. Vosburg was engaged in the trial of a case at Tomlinson yesterday.

R. G. Brooks and son, George, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Clark and Charles Cornell went to New York yesterday afternoon.

A. C. Salisbury, of Waterbury, N. Y., former division superintendent of the Lackawanna road, is registered at the Fernon.

Miss Vernece Hathaway has returned to her home in Allentown, N. Y., after a week's visit in this city as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Wells, of Webster avenue.

Joseph E. Evans, of Evans Bros., the West Market street plumbers, left yesterday afternoon for Philadelphia, where he will attend the Master Plumbers' convention. Thomas Garzy, Henry Gintley and James H. Doyle, other representatives of the local union, accompanied him.

POLICE AND ALDERMEN.

S. Tucker, a Penna. academic teacher, was held in $500 bail yesterday morning by Alderman Miller on the charge of purchasing a stolen watch from Edward J. Joseph, a watchmaker, at Cherry street. The warrant for his arrest was issued at the instance of the boy's father. The latter also named the arrest of young Joseph himself on the charge of larceny. The lad, who is said to have a propensity for stealing everything he can lay his hands on, was committed to the county jail in default of bail and will probably be sent to the house of correction.

Joseph Mitchell, who escaped from the county jail some few weeks ago and who was recently recaptured, was arraigned before Alderman Miller yesterday and remanded without bail to await the action of the grand jury.

Anthony Koskowiak, a Polish tailor, was found wandering about Lackawanna avenue yesterday morning by Patrolman Brown. He was muttering incoherently and could not give sane answers to questions asked him. He was taken into custody and was held for examination as to his sanity by Police Magistrate Miller.

A hearing was conducted yesterday afternoon before Alderman Miller in the libel prosecution brought by Richard Little, editor of the Scranton Tribune, against P. W. Nolan, O. J. Nichols, Edmund F. Dempsey, P. F. Burke and T. C. Brown, of the United Mine Workers of America. These men are charged with having inserted in the daily papers an article over their signatures. Mr. Little was represented at the hearing by attorney John J. Murphy, while the defendants' interests were cared for by Attorney George S. Horn. Mr. Little swore that the article in question had been inserted in the Tribune and his business. The alderman considered the evidence offered to be sufficient to hold Nolan, Nichols, Dempsey and Brown for the court, and they were required to furnish $500 bail each. Burke was discharged.

There was a lively fight in Raymond court yesterday afternoon between Dick Bradley, a well known negro, and Stella Johnson, another person of dusky hue, who is his boarding mistress. According to the story told by Alderman Howe, she had an argument with Bradley, who became enraged and pushed her down with a right hand jab on the nose. When she arose to go to him in return he drew a razor, she averts, and made some remarks about "cutting your liver out." She aimed her fist at his nose and started in to finish Mr. Bradley, who reached into another pocket and pulled out a revolver, which he discharged in her face. She thereupon swore out a warrant for his arrest and he was taken into custody by Deputy Constable McDonald. His case was postponed to be given a hearing, and was lodged in the central city station until this morning.

CENTRAL CITY TEAM WON.

Columbus and John Boyle O'Reilly Councils Have Euchre Match.

The John Boyle O'Reilly and Columbus councils of the Young Men's Institute had a euchre contest last night at the former's rooms on Lackawanna avenue, and after a well contested game the central city team won out by a score of 189 to 172.

The members of the victorious council were Messrs. Mullen, Roche, Hayes, Rafter, McEee, Morris, Burke, Gillogly, Connors and Moran. The Scranton players were: Moran, J. Bohan, Moore, Burns, Boland, Donahoe, T. Bohan, Reilly, Ruddy and Cook.

Following the euchre lunch was served and an excellent program consisting of vocal and instrumental music, orations and addresses followed, several members of the two councils participating. President John J. Collins, of the O'Reilly council, acted as the night's chairman.

MADE SUDDEN CHANGES.

Scranton Railway Company Is Now Rushing Repair Work and Making Big Outlays.

Not more than a month ago, the Scranton Railway company ceased all improvements and repairs, reduced its force of trackmen and mechanics, and neglected to take up the work of fitting out the summer cars, which, for eight years past has always been begun in March. It also had its attorneys order its pending damage suits on the trial list and settle them amicably, if possible, as fast as they were reached.

Last week the company put back to work all the men who had been laid off and gave rush orders for repair work. Cars that had been disabled and stowed away in one of the other of the barns were taken to the shops and repaired, and starting though it may be, nearly a score of cars having flat wheels were ordered into the shop to be supplied with new wheels.

In addition to all this the company has given an order to the St. Louis Car company for ten large eight-wheel, folding step, center aisle, summer cars of the most modern style, and is figuring on the immediate erection of a new and large construction and repair shop near the Providence road power house.

When the announcement was made that the company had ceased repair and construction work, an investigation was made and the fact was disclosed that the company was expecting to be bought out by the New York and Westchester Rapid Transit company. Officials of the latter admitted that a deal was on, but said it was not likely to go through because the Scranton Railway company was asking an exorbitant price for its property.

When the latest action of the company portends, is yet to be discovered. None of those herabouts who could be expected to be able to throw some light on it, could be induced to even agree that there was any particular significance attached to the sudden change in the company's policy.

The company is now quietly engaged in buying in its stock. The offer is liberal enough to induce the holders to readily part with their holdings.

INQUEST IN JANSEN CASE

Coroner's Jury Decided That He Was Not Criminally Liable for Death of the Child.

The coroner's jury empaneled to inquire into the death of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jansen's child, Florence, heard the testimony last night of all the witnesses in the case and rendered the following verdict:

"We, the undersigned jurors, believe that from the evidence given in this case, the deceased child, Florence Jansen, came to her death on the morning of Jan. 22, 1901, by self-destruction, caused by a fire which destroyed the building, located at 625 Prospect avenue, Scranton, Pa.

"We further agree that Frank Jansen, father of the deceased, was in no manner criminally responsible for her death.

"Mrs. Jansen was the first witness sworn. She testified that her husband arrived home about 1 o'clock in the morning from a masquerade ball. That when he went to light his pipe a lamp on the table was accidentally tipped over, and that Jansen picked it up and carried it to the window, where he lit a window, when it struck the door or window casing and exploded, causing the fire which consumed in the building, in which the child was asleep.

"Mrs. Belinda McDonald, the mother of the deceased child, contradicted her daughter's statements and testified that Jansen deliberately picked the chimney off the lamp, threw it at his wife and then threw the lamp at her. She further testified that she would swear he deliberately threw the lamp at Mrs. Jansen.

"The other witnesses examined were: Sadie McDonald, sister of Mrs. Jansen, who was also burned and injured during the fire; Fred Boyer, William Fickus and Patrimen Schmidt and Guescheldt, Jansen was also called and told substantially the same story as that related by his wife.

A STRONG DIRECTORATE.

New People's Bank Shareholders Meet and Elect Officers.

The shareholders of the People's bank met yesterday afternoon in the office of Cyrus D. Jones and elected the following directors: Cyrus D. Jones, G. F. Reynolds, C. S. Woolworth, Samuel Samter, W. G. Fulton, Arthur Dunn, Michael J. Healey, Richard O'Brien, M. P. Carter, T. Cramer Von Storch, Thomas Sprague and A. E. Warman. The directors will meet for organization at Mr. Jones' office this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Letters patent have been received from the governor, and the bank is now authorized to begin business. Owing to the delay in furnishing its quarters in the Meads' building it will be May 1 before the bank can be opened.

APPROPRIATION ORDINANCE.

It Will Probably Pass Two Readings Tonight.

It is planned to pass the appropriation ordinance on two readings tonight at special meeting of the select council. It is expected that no amendments will be offered.

Chairman Chittenden, of select council, said yesterday that he thought it would not be advisable to put the ordinance through common council until it is legally determined whether or not that body consists of twenty-one or thirty-eight members, or in other words whether eleven or twenty votes constitute a majority.

ASSESSORS TO BE ELECTED

SUCH IS THE CONTENTION OF FORMER SOLICITOR VOSBURG.

Conflict in the Terms of the Muehlbronner Bill Resulting from the Failure to Correct a Typographical Error Is Causing No End of Discussion in City Hall as to Whether or Not Scranton Is Reading the Law Aright—How the Mistake Came to Be Made.

It is a much mooted question about city hall as to whether or not Scranton has proceeded legally in the way it dealt and contemplates dealing with the board of assessors.

The original draft of the act provided that the treasurer, controller and board of assessors should be appointed by the recorder. When the concessions to Scranton were made and the act was given the form which it now bears, the provisions regarding these offices were changed by making the treasurer and controller elective. By some mistake, in printing, the board of assessors was included with the treasurer and controller in the list of elective officers, but in the "schedule" the provision that the recorder should appoint the assessors was allowed to stand. How this happened is best illustrated by a reproduction of the pertinent portions of the amended bill as they appeared on the senate calendar:

(Strike out words in brackets; insert words in heavy black type.)

ARTICLE XII.

Election and appointment of departmental officers, clerks and employees.

Section 1 The city recorder shall nominate and by and with the assent of the following officers who shall hold office during the term for which the city recorder was elected (or appointed) and until their successors shall be respectively appointed and qualified:

I The Director of the Department of Public Safety

II The Director of the Department of Public Works

III The Collector of Delinquent Taxes

IV The City Solicitor

V The Director of the Department of Charities and Corrections

VI The Members of the Sinking Fund Commission

(VII The City Treasurer)

(VIII The City Controller)

(IX) VII The Board of Assessors the City Treasurer and City Controller shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the city at the regular municipal elections at the end of the term of the present incumbent of these offices for the term of three years and until the election of their successors.

WHAT SCHEDULE PROVIDES.

In the schedule of the same print of the bill appears a clause authorizing the recorder to appoint the directors, collector, solicitor, sinking fund commissioners and board of assessors. Closely following this is a clause reading: "Controllers and treasurers shall fill out the terms for which they were elected or appointed, and their successors are elected, and at the expiration thereof their successors shall be appointed as herein provided."

By this it will be seen that it was the intention of the framers of the law to make the directors, collector, treasurer and board of assessors elective, not only for the first two years, but ever thereafter.

The conflict between the body of the act and the schedule and the apparent typographical mistake in the assessor clause in the body of the article was pointed out by the assessor by Messrs. Rinsland and Jones, of this city, while the act was in committee for printing, and Senator Muehlbronner promised to have it corrected.

The correction, however, was not made, and when the bill appeared in pamphlet form after its passage in the shape in which it is to go into the statute books, and with the signature of the Governor and attest of the secretary of the commonwealth attached, the first section of Article XII appeared in the following bungled shape:

Section 1 The city recorder shall nominate and by and with the assent of the following officers who shall hold office during the term for which the city recorder was elected and until their successors shall be respectively appointed and qualified:

I The director of the department of public safety

II The director of the department of public works

III The collector of delinquent taxes

IV The city solicitor

V The director of the department of charities and corrections

VI The members of the sinking fund commission

VI The board of assessors, the city treasurer and city controller shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the city at the regular municipal elections at the end of the term of the present incumbent of these offices for the term of three years, and until the election of their successors.

2 The etc., etc., etc., etc.

The "schedule" provision relating to the appointment of assessors by the recorder remained the same as it was in the copy of the act before the same was re-printed after passage.

CONTENTION MADE.

The contention is made that in paragraph VII of article XII the words, "the board of assessors" should make a complete paragraph and that the clause starting out, "The city treasurer, and city controller shall be chosen, etc.," should comprise a new paragraph and be labeled section 2.

Former City Solicitor A. A. Vosburg, who headed the Scranton delegation which secured a re-casting of the Scranton, or what is more familiarly known as "the Scranton concessions," was seen yesterday regarding this difficulty.

He stated that at the preliminary conference between Mr. Bigelow, Mr. Elphinstone and himself, when the amendments to the act were being considered, the question arose as to how the city treasurer, the city assessors and the city controller should be elected.

They were unable to agree at that time with respect to the treasurer and

FIRST SESSION OF PRESBYTERY

SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING WAS OPENED LAST NIGHT.

Large Number of Delegates Gathered in First Presbyterian Church and Listened to an Eloquent Sermon by the Retiring Moderator, Rev. G. W. Funk—Rev. Dr. J. S. Stewart Elected Moderator for Next Six Months—Sessions to Be Continued Today.

The semi-annual meeting of the Lackawanna Presbytery was opened last night in the First Presbyterian church, and will be continued during the best part of the week. The attendance was especially large for an opening session and the interest displayed was marked.

The meeting was called to order by the retiring moderator, Rev. G. W. Funk, of Lackawanna, who, after prayer had benediction, preached a most interesting and eloquent sermon, recounting the changed conditions wrought in the family life and the religious life during the past century.

He told of the circumscribed family life in the early days of the Nineteenth century, when the interests of men and women were centered almost exclusively upon their homes. "This life," said he, "produced hardy, vigorous men and pious, lovable women." The progress of the last century, he said, has so reduced the home influence that it is now hard to find people of the present day who have lost the happiness of the people of a hundred years ago, "because they are not contented."

"The church a hundred years ago," he said, "was as self centered as the home. There were no missionary societies, no Christian Endeavor societies and no similar organizations to bind the interests of the individual churches together. The principal result of the progress in this direction is to be found in the broad tolerance which now exists between the various denominations."

SPIRIT OF UNREST.

"The last one hundred years has seen a revolution of everything religious except the confession of faith. This unquiet spirit of unrest which has picked flaws in the Bible has passed over the creed. The committee of the general assembly, to which was referred the question of the revision of the creed, has the great task on hand. None of the members seem to be agreed, one with the other.

"To my mind, the only question which has to be answered is this: Does the creed in its present form accurately summarize the truths of God? We know that the truths of God can never be changed by time, but is this true of the language in which these truths are expressed? I think not. We all know that a set phrase which may mean one thing at a certain time, may mean something entirely different to another generation."

The moderator referred briefly to some of the serious problems which are confronting the church at the opening of the new century, and which must be met with the spirit of true Christianity. Some of these questions were the desecration of the Sabbath, the reckless and scurrilous of modern yellow journalism and the growing practice of inebriety among women.

After the moderator's sermon the election of a new moderator took place. There were several candidates, among whom had candidates for the place, whom they desired to have chosen, but as opposition to the election of the first man nominated is contrary to the rules of Presbytery etiquette everyone strove to be recognized by the chairman when he called for nominations. There were four or five on their feet at the same time, but the moderator decided that Dr. McLeod was the first one.

VIEWING THE EXCHANGE.

Hundreds Yesterday Visited and Inspected the Quarters of the Lackawanna Telephone Company.

The quarters of the Lackawanna Telephone company, on the fourth floor of the Republican building, were crowded out yesterday by women and children, who responded to the invitations sent out by the new "helo people" to drop in and view their arrangements. The rooms were a mass of flowers and plants, palms, ferns, azaleas, roses and carnations combining to make the rooms and fill them with fragrance.

All visitors were first ushered into the directors' room and then General Manager Wayland's office, E. E. Pryor doing the receiving and guiding the sightseers through the quarters of the book-keeping department and superintendent's office, when some one else assumed the duties of cicerone and explained the mysteries of the great switch-board to those who sought to be initiated into its ways and wherewithals. In two adjoining rooms are the entire inside apparatus of the system. In one of them the relay rack and cross-connecting boards, the other the operators' room. The former apartment contains a mass of mechanism of an intricate nature, connected with the outside wires.

The system is known as the central energy system and does away entirely with the batteries at the subscribers' houses, each phone being connected directly with the central office. By the company's modus operandi, it is not necessary to ring a bell, but the mere raising of the receiver lights a small incandescent bulb in front of the operator. By an ingenious device which answers to the flashing of the little lights, a system of large electric bulbs in the upper part of the board acquaints the chief operator with the fact every time a call is sent in. A retiring room, comfortably furnished, is in the rear of the operators' room and is fitted with every convenience for the employees' comfort.

The company now has two thousand one hundred and fifty-two subscribers on its books and will have their lists distributed within a few days. Realizing that the last of the year presented the accommodation of many guests yesterday, Manager Wayland has decided to continue the reception today and tomorrow afternoons and nights. The lady visitors are presented with tiny souvenir receivers.

THE TROUT SEASON OPENED.

Many Local Fishermen Left for the Pocono.

The trout season opened yesterday and this fact was apparent to any observer at the railway stations as all the anglers in the city were being carried by groups of men equipped with the rod, line, reel and all the other impediments of the angler.

Mr. Pocono streams bear a deserved reputation for the depth of trout which dwell in the depths, and the fishing in local streams is being done by the Pocono as their mecca. On the 8 o'clock train yesterday morning about a dozen followers of Isaac Walton left the city over the Lackawanna.

Among those who went a-bushin' during the day were: Glen Marsh, Dr. Winebrake and Cyrus Evans.

TO SIT IN NEW JERSEY.

Judge Archbald Called to Preside in Court in Trenton.

Federal Judge B. W. Archbald was yesterday called to Trenton, N. J., to preside in the Trenton state circuit court, in place of Judge Kirkpatrick, who is ill.

"This will be the first time for Judge Archbald to sit as a United States judge. He was not expecting to be called upon to exercise his new official duties in the Middle district court which was organized in May."

A SPEAKERSY CRUSADE.

It Is Being Planned and Will Soon Materialize.

The complaints against speakersy are being taken up by the city assessor, who believe that when they pay $1,000 a year for a license they should be protected from the competition of unlicensed dealers, have been so numerous of late that a crusade against the holders of the writ is being planned. The evidence is being secured quietly and before the week is up upwards of a dozen arrests may be looked for.

STOLEN TRANSCRIPTS.

Ex-County Detective T. E. Reynolds Found Them on Door Step of His Office Early One Morning.

The three hundred and eighty-four transcripts which mysteriously disappeared from the county commissioners' office have been returned. They were returned yesterday by ex-County Detective T. E. Reynolds. Mr. Reynolds tells the county commissioners that, early one morning last week, he found them on the doorstep of his office. The county commissioners made a note of Mr. Reynolds' statement.

These are the transcripts in the alleged fictitious cases on which a number of aldermen and justices of the peace are charged with having collected illegal fees. Mr. Reynolds was engaged by the county commissioners to investigate these alleged fictitious cases and secure evidence upon which to prosecute the suspected magistrates. When the trial of Alderman Lentes was on, the transcript on which the prosecution was based could not be found, and it was then discovered that all the transcripts in the supposed fictitious cases were missing.
