The parlors of the Hotel Terrace were transformed into the coolest of 35000 at home last evening, when made the scene of the nuptials of Miss Hilda Bane Snyder, of West Pittston, and Albert Woodhouse Blandin, of Honesdale, both of whom are well known and popular in this city.

The rooms were thronged by relatives and friends at 8 o'clock, when the marriage ceremony took place. Bane's orchestra, seated in the corridor, struck up the deep, solemn strains of the Lohengrin wedding march and the bridal procession entered. First came the ushers who were Mr. Hester, of Pottsville, Dr. Wagner, of Wilkes-Barre, and Harry Hitchner, of Pittston.

Then followed the bridesmaid and maids of honor, the latter attired in green mousseline de soie over white tulle, and all four presenting a beautiful picture. The bridesmaid, Miss Georgia Knight, of West Pittston, was garbed in an exquisitely fitting white gown and carried a large bouquet of white carnations. The bride followed, leaning on the arm of her uncle, William H. Whyte. She wore a dress of white satin, with Brussels lace and pearl trimmings.

During the service, which was conducted by the Rev. Harrington, of the Episcopal church, West Pittston, the orchestra played the bridal chorus from "Elenburg" and the joyous notes of the Mendelssohn wedding march were heard as recessional. Following the wedding a reception was given, at which there were present many guests from Honesdale, Pittston and this city. Dinner was served in the hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Blandin left at midnight on a bridal tour of the coast, and expect to begin housekeeping about May 1 in West Pittston.

Mrs. Blandin is the daughter of Mrs. Edith E. Snyder and is deservedly well liked for her charms alike of person and disposition. Her husband is an energetic commercial traveler and is also distinguished as a local athlete of much repute.

General L. Davis, of 1712 Washburn street, and Miss Emma Shuler, of 1630 Washington avenue, will be married.

Standing of the New Court Is in No Way Jeopardized.

Dispatches from Washington, yesterday, told that Comptroller of the Treasury Tracewell had rendered an opinion to the disbursing officer of the department of justice that no salaries could legally be paid the officers of the new Middle district court until the appointment of these officers is confirmed by the senate.

The statute on which Comptroller Tracewell's decision is based reads as follows:

No money shall be paid from the treasury as a salary to any person appointed during the recess of the senate to fill a vacancy in any existing office of the executive department, until the senate has in session and has by law required to be filled by and with the advice and consent of the senate, until such appointment has been confirmed by the senate.

The officers of the new court were appointed, it appears, while the senate was in session, but before the appointments were messaged from the president adjournment took place.

The most that will come from this decision is a delay in paying the officials until after the senate confirms their appointment next December.

There was some speculation as to whether or not this decision affected the existence of the court, but reference to the Federal Court Reporter puts this speculation at rest.

SPECIAL MEETING OF SAUQUOIT GIRLS TODAY.

Members of the Soft Silk Department Will Meet and Vote Upon Superintendent Davis' Offer After First Confering with Bishop Hoban Regarding Some of the Points Not Yet Settled—Hard Silk Girls Vote Tomorrow—Break in Ranks of the Petersburg Strikers.

The settlement of the strike at the Sauquoit silk mill and the close of the strike at all the factories which will follow a culmination of difficulties at the big mill may safely be said to be not only very possible but almost certain. "Mother" Mary Jones, who throughout the strike has been a prominent figure, expresses herself as confident of a near settlement, and it is understood that at this afternoon's special meeting of the soft silk department of the Sauquoit, the female organizer will make an address, urging the acceptance of the offer made by Superintendent Davis, through the mediation of the Rt. Rev. Bishop M. J. Hoban.

The terms of the proposal were adopted by Superintendent Davis and the other operators, on being submitted by the bishop who drew them up, as a scale fair to both employers and employees. While the contract offered the girls does not embody the increases asked by them originally, still the offer is a very fair one and upon the whole satisfactory.

Bishop Hoban has been out of the city during the past two days, but is expected back from Haddonfield today, and a number of the girls will wait upon him this morning, in relation to a number of matters which must be adjusted before the strike can be called off. Chief among these is the question of measuring silk.

WANT TO NAME THE GIRL.

The weavers insist that if they are going to be allowed to have their silk measured they wish a girl chosen from themselves to attend to the measuring, as otherwise they would not consider it in the light of an advantage. The grievances of the weavers will also be brought up at the meeting with Bishop Hoban. The members of this department have only one grievance, and that is the demand for reinstatement of the forelady who accompanied them out on strike, and who has as a result lost her place.

The girls have decided, however, to waive the point brought up at Monday's meeting of the soft silk department, that the operators' offer must be put into writing before any action is taken. The cooler-headed strikers have come to the conclusion that such a course would be as implying distrust in those making the offer.

Tomorrow afternoon the hard silk girls will meet and reconsider the proposal, and meetings of the other locals will be held during the remainder of the week. There has been a break in the ranks of the Petersburg strikers, and while a number of them have accepted the terms offered by Superintendent Bachofen, the remainder are still out. Yesterday afternoon four girls and one boy resumed work, and this morning a number of other workers are expected to report for duty. About twenty, it is thought, will make up this party.

SOME RESOLUTIONS.

A number of the older girls of the Petersburg mill, in a separate meeting, have adopted the following resolutions:

1. To ask the firm to open the mill as soon as possible.
2. To oppose the local union, which through their outside leader acquires the rights and privileges of members.

We believe that by so doing we will be taking the most commendable action.

In the many weeks that nothing has been accomplished, and while the majority are anxious to resume work, they are held back by some persons who have no desire to work and others who are determined to see the matter from a sensible point of view. Still others are prolonging the strike for the financial benefits they receive, thereby taking money from those for which it was intended.

The committee was sent to the firm today and a satisfactory answer is expected.

The Committee.

A committee representing the union called at the Tribune office last night and made a statement that the main body of employees will be ready to accept of any acceptance of Superintendent Bachofen's offer.

SPITZER WAS DISCHARGED.

Could Not Make Out a Case Against Him.

Special Officer Donlan was recently detailed by Recorder Moir and Director of Public Safety Hitchcock to procure evidence which would lead to the conviction of Bottler Adam Spitzer, of Meade avenue, on the charge of violating the law by selling beer at retail at his bottling establishment.

Spitzer was arrested yesterday and was given a hearing last night before Police Magistrate Miller. Several witnesses testified that Spitzer's place was a public nuisance and that crowds of men were to be seen drinking there frequently. They couldn't swear that when they were drinking was beer, but they had every reason to believe that it was, because men were frequently seen coming out of the place very drunk.

Attorney Berthoff, who lives near his place, was especially severe in his condemnation of the place as a public nuisance. Officer Donlan swore that he followed some men in there recently and saw them sitting around drinking beer from bottles.

Mr. Spitzer claimed that the only beer ever drunk in his place was beer with which he treated persons who came in to pay bills. The magistrate dismissed the case.

HIGH ROLLING ON ELK ALLEYS

SIX DOUBLE CENTURIES WERE BOWLED LAST NIGHT.

The Tallending Elks Took Two Out of Three Games from the Strong West End Wheelmen Who, However, Had the Highest Totals. Bicycle Club Took Two Out of Three from West End No. 2, at Wilkes-Barre—Averages of the Teams—Notes of the Games.

The only changes made in the standing of the Northeastern Pennsylvania league clubs by last night's bowling, effected the leads maintained by the West End Wheelmen. The Bicycle club team lowered the colors of the West Enders No. 2, by taking two from them on their own alleys, and thus pulling them down to a tie with the Black Diamonds.

The first team's crack bowlers rolled the Elks, and lost two out of three to the tall enders, thus dropping several points and now lagging almost sixty points behind the Backus team, which they expected to catch by last night's work. The percentage table is as follows:

Bicycle club	10	5	392
Backus club	10	8	550
West End Wheelmen	9	9	599
West End No. 2	11	12	438
Black Diamonds	11	13	418
Elks	6	10	240

On the Elk alleys the highest rolled games on both sides seen this season in the city, were bowled. The visitors fought hard with the Elks, snatching under the stigma of being very bad tall enders, rolled in magnificent form and succeeded in taking two out of the three games, although the Wilkes-Barreans massed the greater total, 2905 pins to 2592.

The Elk team presented a new personnel, neither Roll nor Bart participating. Both Filley and Riehl, who took their places, rolled excellent games. Charles Weichel was the night's star. He bowled two double centuries, his 225 equalling the league record previously held by Roper of the Bicycle club. His splendid average of 201 2-3 was high. Yost, of Wilkes-Barre, led the visitors and was second high man with 190 1-3.

It was a great night for high individual scores, no less than six double centuries being rolled, each side gathering in three. All but one of the Wilkes-Barreans ran his totals over five hundred. The detailed scores follow:

WEICHEL	210	104	225-405
Filley	211	107	177-351
Haslam	189	129	132-457
Robling	169	149	136-459
Riehl	148	191	177-509
Totals	931	788	810-2592

Yost	140	127	413
Yost	123	185	214-571
Davis	171	172	162-505
Weigand	154	216	176-546
Green	175	200	118-453
Totals	827	911	827-2602

The Bicycle club rolled in very fair fashion at Wilkes-Barre, and handily took two out of the three games, winning out by a total of 2,384 to 2,177 pins. In the last game the league leaders became a trifle careless and were downed by a score of 756 to 748.

There was no very high bowling. Captain Wardell, of the Bicycle club, being high man with 186. He also made the night's high average, 186 2-3. The scores were as follows:

BUCKLEY CLUB	174	126	143-401
Mitchell	159	166	132-411
Taylor	176	141	120-457
Roper	169	164	117-460
Wardell	161	154	186-500

MISS NEWCOMB'S RECITAL.

Music Lovers Enjoyed a Treat in the Parish House Last Night.

A large and fashionable audience filled St. Luke's Parish hall last night on the occasion of Miss Ethel Newcomb's first appearance in recital since her long absence abroad, and naturally much eagerness was manifested in the evidences of her progress in her chosen art.

Miss Newcomb looks scarcely any older than the slim, fair, little maiden who went away several years ago, and rumors of whose success in the far Austrian city have reached us from time to time. She is still slight and fair and retaining of old, and the fact that she has been a favorite pupil of the great Viennese master, Leschetizsky, has in no sense changed her quiet and unassuming demeanor. She was welcomed last night not alone for her own sake, but because her talented aunt has been the pride and delight of her aunt, Miss Seymour.

Miss Newcomb gave a programme varied enough to suit even the taste not assumed by its owner to be strictly classical. There were those who went away last night feeling a sense of special self-congratulation that for the first time they could really say they enjoyed a piano-recital where classical music prevailed. So much for her art and the lofty ideals she presents.

Miss Newcomb could make no questionable assertion if she announced herself as an interpreter of Chopin. It was expected that she would play Leschetizsky well—and she certainly did play the intermezzo with a wonderful breadth of feeling which left her hearers breathless with the scope it gave, but in the three rather characteristic examples of Chopin, it might not have been hoped that even her superior training could give her such temperamental richness and exactness necessary to the Chopin spirit. She played the Nocturne in B major with the little sad undercurrent over which rang the insistent song of hope, with the touch and the understanding of one who had entered softly into the heart-guarded secrets of the master of all harmony.

While Schumann seemed in spirit and thought to be close in accord with the expression of her art, she gave a most adequate interpretation of Chopin not only in the entrancing little "Etude," but the noble and inspiring Scherzo.

The programme was all too brief and the audience would gladly have listened longer to her music. Miss Newcomb has doubtless a great career which her Scranton friends will watch with vivid interest.

POSTOFFICE ROBBED.

Burglars Obtained $400 Worth of Postage Stamps at Factoryville Monday Night.

Thieves gained an entrance yesterday morning to the postoffice at Factoryville, by prying open the front door of the building, and succeeded in blowing the door of the safe into atoms. About 2 o'clock in the morning an explosion was heard by some nearby residents, who arose in time to see three strange-looking men leaving the vicinity.

Three strange men were seen loitering about the town the evening before. No money was left in the safe the night before, as it is the custom of Postmaster Walter to bank the money each day. About $400 worth of stamps were the compensation of the burglars for their trouble, who evidently must have had some knowledge that a large requisition of stamps had been received, and it was those that they wanted. A sum of money representing the postoffice receipts was luckily not in the safe at the time. At 10 o'clock master Walter, Nitro-glycerine in the explosive which the burglars are thought to have used. Inspector Hugh Gorman and Deputy Marshal Clark Lowry are working on the case.

Postmaster Walter offered a reward of two hundred dollars for the arrest and conviction of the thieves.
