LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Statement from the Machinists.

Editor of The Tribure Sir: Electric City lodge, No. 220, International Association of Machinists, at its meeting coulds decided to request you to bring before the pub-lic through your columns the foll wing: The International Association of Machinists i endeavoring to inaugurate nine hours as a working day all over the country where ten hour row constitutes a day's work. The pace was se for the movement by an agreement which on association recured with the National Meta Trades association (of manufacturers), May 19 1900, under the terms of which the members of our order employed by firms belonging to the National Metal Trades association should be granted a nine and one-half hour day six month from the date of the agreement, or Nov. 1s, 1900 and a nine hour day one year from the date of the agreement, or May 29, 1901. There are about one hundred and thirty-five firms belonging to this association, according to information we have at hand, among them being such firms as the Edward P. Altis company of Milwaukee. Wis., who according to information we have taken pains to secure, alone employ about 1,590 machinists. It can readily be seen that the movement is of some unguitude. Please notice also that this was an agreement between their speciation and our association.

Almost as soon as this agreement was entered into the otlar members of our association cm ployed by railroads and manufacturers who do not belong to the National Metal Trades associa tion began to consider the nine hour day also. Our local lodge here took the matter up, and as a first step took advantage of the celebration of their ninth anniversary, Dec. 28, 1990, to invite the officers of their companies to be present a an informal discussion of the nine hour day We had the pleasure of having with us, as result, the superintendent of the Dickson Loco-motive works, the president of the Scranton Bolt and Nut works, the man who is now assistant superintendent of motive power and machine y the Delaware, Luckawanna and Western rail-oad, but their master mechanic at Scranton; doo the chief clerk of the Delaware, Luckawanna and Western railroad, and we received a very courteous response from T. S. Lloyd, superio tendent of motive power and machinery of the Delaware. Lackawanna and Western railroad tating that he regretted being compelled t absent in New York, but otherwise he would se glad to meet and discuss in an informal way the matters up for consideration. Some of us tell much gratified at this, beging it meant great progress toward that mutual understanding which exists to a far too limited extent between employer and employe. We there aught to the attention of our guests the nine hour day movement and its prospective culmina tion, in order that they might have opportunity for consideration and preparation, Encouraged by the reception our advances met with, we concluded to formally present our petition for the rine bour day in the same way. We know and so do our employers know the lificulty in securing satisfactory results with "grievance committees" left to their own re-sources to reach a conclusion under more or lesmbarnssing circumstances in the presence of, in their opinion, an exceedingly critical supermtendent or foreman.

Please consider that there are six unions of various kinds of metal working mechanics who will be affected by the move. If the whistle blows an hour earlier for the machinists it will for the black-miths and the boilermakers and the rest. Well now try to figure out if you can ow long it would take for an agreement to be reached by a different committee for each shop in the city, from each of these six unions calling on their employes. We thought best to meet and combine on a uniform petition, eliminating all netty grievances, which are so liable to cause mittees undertake the task, and present our patition in the name of the employes in Scranton and the machinists of the Delaware, Lackawahna and Western system to the officers of the various companies or their representatives whose attendmee we hoped to seeme at the Lyceum theater foesday, April 39, 1901. In addition to the address containing the peti tion we have prepared a programme which it is hoped every one who sees it will conclude is a eredit to us and that the effort and training accessary to produce it cannot help but benefit them a far better opportunity for accomplishing make the injunction permanent. something really to their advantage and advanceeal, that labor organizations are supposed to pend all their surplus time and energy on.

As to what extent we can expect our emplo is to encourage us, and how far they are really willing to "co-operate" for our mutual advan-tage we expect the choicest seats in the Lyccum theater, which we have allotted to ninety-two of our employers and foremen to a considerable extent, to eloquently proclaim to the representa-tive of your paper, whom we hope to have there, We do not wish to do any of them an hi wrong impression as to our aims and the methods by which we hope to accomplish them in spite of the information accompanying the initation and other information we have furinform themselves, and not by their actions cause some of us to conclude that we have nothing better to hope for that the old methods of foreing ourselves on their attention.

MRS. EDITH GARNEY GOULD SEEKS DIVORCE.

Application Is Filed When Her Husband-of-a-Day Is Caught by the Police in a Lodging House with Another Woman-Romantic Marriage and Horsewhipping of an Editor Recalled by the Divorce Proceedings - Holland-Hayes Injunction Case.

Application was made to court yeserday by Mrs. Edith Garney Gould, or divorce from Howard Gould, the ector, to whom she was married in Wilkes-Barre, November 8 last, and which marriage induced the sensaional article in the Scrantonian, for which M. J. O'Toole was horsewhipped by the abused bride,

The Gould marriage was a romantic, if not sensational affair. The groom was playing a minor part in a repertoire company, which was then holding forth at the Academy of Music. He met his wife-to-be during the week of the day on which they were married. They went to Wilkes-Barre, became man and wife, and twenty-four hours later, separated. It is said the separation was the result of the bride becoming disgusted at her husband making a demand upon her for money.

Helland-Hayes Injunction Case.

Judge J. Wheaton Carpenter yestermy heard testimony in the injunction ase of Michael Holland against Mrs. Mary Hayes and children. Arguments will be Leard this morning at 10 o'clock.

The parties own and for many years have occupied adjoining properties, on Stone avenue. A few years ago Mrs. Hayes had her lot re-surveyed by A. B. Dunning and following the lines laid down by him she found that the dividing fence was over on her lot two feet. She proceeded to tear it down and after razing it to the ground, had her barn on the rear of the lot moved over to occupy a part of the newlyacquired two feet of land.

Week before last, Mrs. Haves put a gang of carpenters at work extending the porch of her house over and two feet beyond the old fence line. The Hollands protested and, it is alleged, made threats of violence. Mrs. Hayes, in turn, protected the carpenters while the work proceeded. The Hollands came into court and secured a preliminary injunction restraining further Testimony was yester operations. those of our members who take part and afford day heard for and against a rule to Thoughtless Mr. Milcovitz.

Judge John P. Kelly will, this morns ng hear testimony in habeas corpus proceedings instituted by Attorney P. F. Loughran, to secure the release of Joseph Milcovitz, who is confined in the county joil on the charge of "esaping from jail." Feb. 26, last, Milcovitz was sent up rom police court for thirty days for lrunkenness. The day before his term was up he and five others were at work in the jail yard, doing some grading, under the supervision of Keeper H. F. Ferber. The rear gate was left open to permit them to wheel dirt out to the vacant lots in the rear of the jail.

Milcovitz and another man, a con vict named Nicholls, who was serving six months for larceny, made a sudden bolt and got away. Milcovitz was captured the next day in West Scranton and after a hearing before Alderman Millar, was committed to await ball for "escaping from jail." Attorney Loughran contends that Milcovitz's offense is not "contrary to the act of April 15, 1901," under which he was committed, in that he was not a convict in the meaning of the act, and further that he did not break any confines.

Attorneys Vosburg & Dawson, rep esenting George F. and Curtis R. mith, executors of the estate of Elias A. Smith, deceased, filed exceptions esterday to the report of the viewers of the proposed new road in Newton ownship

They allege that the description of he termini is indefinite; that there no necessity for the road; that the damages allowed them are inadequate: that the grade is heavier in places than the law permits, and that the viowers awarded damages to an estate instead of to the heirs.

Opposition to the proposition of the Central Rapid Transit company to make Wyoming avenue, in the central city, the main artery of their contemplated system, has become so vigorous that the officers of the company are seriously considering the advisabillity or asking to substitute Wash ington avenue for Wyoming between Lackawanna avenue and Vine street,

Gossip of the Guard.

A meeting was held in the armory open the armory has been decided Thursday inght of the captains of the Thirteenth's companies and the allotment of company rooms in the new armory took place. It was decided to ment's members free but this was give first choice to the senior captain, and thus it was that Captain John Kambeck, of Company B, was allowed to pick his men's quarters from the eight rooms. He promptly chose room No. 1, which is located on the second floor of the building at Myrtle street and Adams avenue, and is the most desirable of all the apartments. Captain W. A. Raub, of Company L, who had second choice, took room No. 8, which is located at the other end of the floor. Company D took room 4, H No. 5, C No. 7, F No. 2, A No. 3, and K No. 6.

The special committee appointed to take charge of the furnishing of the armory will meet this morning and consider the bids on furniture which must all be in at this session. The committeemen have all been working like heroes during the past week on the matter and are deserving of a good deal of credit for the time and attention they have devoted to their task. The members are Colonel H. M. Boies, Colonel C. C. Mattes, Colonel Herman Osthaus. Colonel L. A. Watres, Captain John Kambeck and Captain Frank Vandling.

. . . . A subject which is arousing a good deal of comment among the soldier boys is the matter of lockers for the company rooms. Opinion is divided among the regimental authorities as to what particular kind of lockers to secure and while there are a number who alvocate the closed, glass front lockers, there are those who prefer the open, iron work kind now in ser-

The ball will be arranged only a few days after the big ball in order that the same decorations may be used, and the armory present as handsome an appearance as on the occasion when the highest military and civil lights of Pennsylvania grace its floor. 0 0 0 0

The Thirteenth regiment was repre sented on the gridiron last season by a foot ball team and now as the amateur base ball teams of the vicinity are begining to feel their muscles and yearn for opponents, the members of the different companies wonder why the regiment cannot put a team on tends that there must be something the diamond. There are numerous excellent players in the regiment and a nine could be put onto the local diamond which would play a snappy and fast article of the national game.

Regimental Quartermaster Sergeant W. S. Gould announces himself as candidate for the position of first lieutenant in Company K, of the Thir to succeed Lieutenant Isaac Brown, deceased. Sergeant Gould has been conected with the guard during the last fifteen years and is a careful and painstaking soldier. He was ser geant of Company C for a time and later made sergeant major. He has also served as the representative of the non-commissioned staff on the rifle team. He is the only wan who has yet announced himself as a candidate for the lieutenancy. No election has been so far ordered, although the vacancy has existed for several weeks.

The date of the ball which will open the new armory has now been definitefixed. It will be held Thursday night, June 6. Already local officers are preparing for the event which will of the fullest dress description. Nothing has been as yet done in the matter of personal visits by the special committee appointed to wait upon Vice President Roosevelt, General Nelson A Miles and other celebrities and extend them verbal invitation to attend the ball. OF CONTRACTS

CITY SOLICITOR HAS RENDERED HIS OPINION.

He Holds That Councils Have No Power or Authority in the Matter and Says This Is Vested by the Intent of the Ripper Bill in the City Recorder, the Head of the Proper Department and the Bureau Superintendent Interested - Way He Reaches This Conclusion.

City Solicitor George M. Watson, in an opinion transmitted yesterday afternoon to Director of Public Works John E. Roche, in response to a request from that official, holds that under the ripper act the city recorder and the head of the proper department have the right and authority to award centracts for work to be done for and material to be furnished to the

The city solicitor's opinion is a most interesting document, inasmuch as the interpretation he puts upon the law is one which has not previously been even considered. After citing that portion of the act which goes on to say that contracts "shall be let as heretofore in cities of the second class and all bids shall be received and opened publicly by the official or committee intrusted with the awarding of the contract," also that portion which says that "no contract shall be entered into or executed directly by the councils or any committee thereof," he goes on to say: "It appears that the legislative intent was to relieve councils from any resposibility in participation in any contract made on the part of the city The statute takes from them the power to enter into a contract either directly or by committee, and I do not understand that they have any authority to procure bidders or open such bids of persons as may answer the advertisement and desire to enter into a contract.

FORBIDS COUNCILS.

"The last part of the first paragraph of Section 1 of Article xv mentions 'committee or official intrusted with the awarding of the contract, The next paragraph forbids councils from entering into a contract directly or by committee, so we must assume that the committee meant in the last part of the first paragraph could not have been created by councils.

"The legislature intended to relieve councils from all responsibility in relation to contracts and to repose that responsibility in the head of the department under whose direction the work would be done, the city recorder who is responsible for the good conluct of the direction of the department and the controller whose duty it is to see that no one presents sucessfully any unjust claim against the

"These people have given sufficent bonds to protect the city against any unfair and unjust claim and the legislature did well when they made them responsible for the good conduct and faithful performance of contracts.

"I am of the opinion that contracts for work or material should be advertised for by the head of the department and the city recorder; that the bids should be opened and conrector of the department and the superintendent of the bureau or subdivision of the department, and twarded by them so that the best information may be obtained before the xecution of the contract.'

HE HAS NO DOUBTS.

It will be noticed that there is no doubt in the city solicitor's mind that the "entering into" a contract means the "awarding of one." He takes this for granted when he says that councils have nothing to do with contracts He makes no reference whatever to he contention made by Director Rocke that under the old act of 1874 it would be necessary for councils by ordinance to designate who should award contracts. While he has not set forth his views on this point in the opinion.

they are, nevertheless, known, The very last section of the ripper bill provides that "all other laws for the government of cities of the second class, unless preserved by the terms of this act, as well as all laws inconsistent with or supplied by this act, are hereby repealed." City Solicitor Watson helds that the words "as heretofore" in the ripper bill are not sufficient to preserve the terms of the old act, which provides that councils shall pass an ordinance prescribing rules and regulations for the awarding of contracts. He conmore specific; that the section of the act desired to be preserved and the date of its passage should have been included in the ripper in order to make it apply.
