STUDIO CLUB CONCERT.

Fine Programme Rendered in St Luke's Parish House.

The Studio club scored its greatest uccess last night in the concert given at St. Luke's parish hall for the Free Kindergarten. The audtiorium was crowded. Thirty or more young women prettily gowned, amid the palms, made an attractive picture on the green-set stage. Miss Cordella Freeman was the director of these, her students, who certainly did her great credit. The thorus was exceedingly well drilled. Several charming selections were rendered, Miss Blackman acting as accompanist. One of these, "Under the Apple Boughs," composed by Miss Freeman, the words written by Miss Susan E. Dickinson, was among the most beautiful. The final number, "In Spring."

was particularly effective. Francis Fisher Powers is a very big. handsome man, with Iron grey hair and a stately manner. It was interesting to note the perfection of his method, as evinced by his own singing. The head tones were superb. The peculiar carrying quality, vibrant and sweet, was prominent in the song, "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes." The splendid chest tones, which have been such a celebrated feature in Mr. Powers' singing in the past, were equally well given on this occasion.

His abilities as a great teacher could be analyzed to some degree in this one evening, and indeed it was a rare privilege to study certain modes of expression which have given him such fame. He was gracious in responding to encores, and his selections were so hanpily made as to give unalloyed satisfaction.

Miss Freeman deserves much credit for the high order of musicales which she places before the public. The entire programme last night was an object lesson in good teaching.

Among the distinct pleasures of the vening were Miss Allen's beautiful violin solos. Her true artistic ability is always entrancing, but last night she surpassed herself in the artistic work which delighted her audience. The following are the members of the

Mrs. George A. Blanchard, Miss Edith Renson, Miss Jennie Butler, Mrs. C. F. Buchman, Miss Lucy Faller, Miss C. Louise Grey, Miss Ellen Gough, Miss Mary Graves, Miss Marie Hill, Mrs. George M. ### D., L. & W. ASSESSMENT.

Properties Which the Company Objects to Paying Taxes Upon. City Solicitor's Opinion.

The board of city assessors last week equested City Solicitor Vosburg for an opinion as to whether certain properties belonging to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company, which have been assessed this year, are exempt from taxation. The opinion, which was a very lengthy one, was yesterday furnished the assessors, but they refused to make it public when asked to do so by a Trib-

The board have a number of affidavits from several of the leading officials of the company, setting forth that a number of properties assessed are absolutely necessary for the carrying on of the business of the company and therefore under the law exempt from taxation. The particular buildings and land which the company objects to paying local taxes upon, and the assessment for each, are as follows:

THE LOBBYISTS DID THE TRICK

COMMON COUNCIL PROVIDES FOR A DETECTIVE.

There Wasn't a Dissenting Vote to the Amendment-New Clerk for Chief Zizelmann, at $600 a Year. Provided for, and $1,500 Added to Judgments Appropriation-Ordinance Regulating Drawing and Issuing of Warrants-Appropriations to Pass Tomorrow Night.

Common council last Thursday night defeated, by a vote of fourteen to five, an amendment to the appropriation ordinance, providing for a city detective at a salary of $1,000. In the four days intervening between last Thursday and last night, certain influences were brought to bear upon the fourteen members, so that at the special meeting held last night, when the amendpent was again offered, it was passed without a single dissenting vote. The amendment was offered by A.

L. Lewis, after council had gone into committee of the whole. It reduced he number of patrolmen by one and ook the extra $100 from the judgments appropriations. Mr. Lewis also offered an amendment providing for a clerk to the chief engineer of the fire department, at a salary of $600 a year, the money to come from the appropriation for twenty-two addllonal permanent men. These men will not take their places until some time this month, so that the April salaries, amounting to $1,100 will be unused

Chief Zizelmann was given the floo and explained that there was a great and pressing need for a clerk in his office. Such a clerk was indispensible, he said. Mr. Calpin vigorously opposed the amendment and declared that the clerk of the director of pub-He safety, who got a raise of $220 last week, should be forced to do the detail work in connection with the bureau of fires. The motion to adopt the amendment was carried, Messrs. Catpin and Nageli being the only ones who voted "no.

NO FIRE MARSHAL.

Mr. Lewis then offered another imendment, taking $1,000 from the appropriation of $6,000 for the purchase of a new steamer to the salary of a fire marshal. Chief Zizelmann again took the floor and pointed out the need of a fire marshal, who, he said, vas also an indispensible necessity. The sum of $5,000 would purchase an engine, he said. Council voted the imendment down.

Mr. Coleman offered an amendment inserting an item of $186.92 for the payng of the city's share of the construction of a pavement in front of the Handley estate on Penn avenue. This item was stricken out at the last meet. ing and council last night refused to re-insert it. Mr. Calpin offered an amendment transferring $1,000 from the item for a fire engine and the $500 remaining in the appropriation for permanent men to the judgments appropriation, and it was unanimously idopted.

By an oversight, there was no enactng clause in the ordinance when introduced, and one was inserted, at the suggestion of Assistant City Clerk Morris, who was acting as clerk in the absence of Clerk Lavelle. An amendment offered by Mr. Roche was also adopted, directing the city controller to transfer all balances subject to be merged and not otherwise provided for to the judgments appropriation.

LICENSE TAX ORDINANCE.

Mr. Coleman called up the ordinance providing for the Imposition of a 11cense tax upon hucksters, etc., and it was passed on third and final reading only Mr. Rush being recorded against

Mr. Calpin introduced, "by request, he said, an ordinance regulating the method of paying claims against the city in the future. It provides that the head of each department shall, on the first day of every month, send to the city recorder a list of all matters of indebtedness contracted during the previous month together with ized bills and labor and time sheets. The recorder is to prepare a schedule in duplicate of all the bills and the amounts and send the same to the ity controller who is to determine whether there is sufficient money pay them and if so, is to say which shall be approved. The list of bills approved he is to send to the city recorder who is to deliver it to the city clerk, whose duty it shall be to draw the warrants and present them for the signature of the recorder. When they are signed they are to be issued by the city clerk.

The "joker" in this ordinance is that does away with the auditing committee. It was drawn up by City Solicitor Watson and is known to meet the approval of the recorder, Galvin offered resolutions directing the city engineer to prepare plans for the grading of Moosic street between Prospect and Irving avenues and providing for the location of a fire alarm box at the corner of Orchard street and Irving avenue.

Council adjourned to meet tomorrow night, when the ordinance will be passed on third and final reading and sent over to select for concurrence in the amendments.

TO ASK FOR A PARDON.

Effort Being Made to Get Battle Out of Jail-Offense to Which He Pleaded Guilty.

Application will be made to the board of pardons by Attorney James J. O'Malley. May 15, for a commutation of the sentence of Patrick Battle, of West Market street, the young man who was sentenced in June, 1898, to six years' imprisonment for manslaughter,

Battle and his brother-in-law, Samuel

Thorne, went into the "White House." corner of Center street and Penn aveme, Saturday night, April 2, 1898. While they were seated at a table drinking, a woman frequenter of the place enticed Thorne to go away with her. Battle urged his friend not to accompany her, but the woman was the more persuasive and Thorne departed. left shortly afterward and went about town for an hour, visiting different saloons. At 9 o'clock, when he returned to the "White House," he was very much intoxicated, and seeing that the woman had returned without his friend Thorne, he demanded to know of her what had become of him. She flew into a rage, and calling to the bartender, charged him to throw Battle out, because he had insulted her. The bartender gave Battle a severe drubbing and kicked him into the street. In the scuffle, Battle's head was bumped violently against the floor, and by the time he gathered himself up in Center street he was mentally very much perturbed. Without realizing what he was doing, ne picked up a cobble, re-entered the barroom and, standing near the door, threw the misslle in the direction of the bar. It struck Paul Stravaniski, an innocent fellow, who was standing at the bar drinking. Stravaniski's skull was fractured by the blow and he died, two weeks later, at the Lackawanna hospital. Battle was arrested immediately, and brought to trial in June. He had no lawyer or friends with which to retain one, and court assigned James J. O'Malley and Clarence Balentine to defend him. He had no defense prepared, a continuance could not be secured, and on the advice of his attorneys he plead guilty of the second count of the in-lictment, manslaughter. The petition for his pardon will set forth that he has now served three years for the offense and that, under If the circumstances, it should be adjudged that he has fully explated his rime. The fact that his reputation was good, and that he was not wholly responsible for his conduct when the crime was committed will be urged as the principal reasons why the board should pardon him.

The petition is signed by hundreds of Battle's neighbors and prominent citizens from various parts of the county. who knew him to be a well-behaved
