DISGRACEFUL SCENE ON A TRACTION CAR

insuiting Annoyances of Drunken Rowdies-Result of Game Fights at Monkey Run-The Principals to Be Punished.

The lawless cocking mains which rave been conducted in a flagrant manter in the village of Simpson, or Monwy Run, as it is generally known, at frequent intervals during the past few months was the cause of a disgraceful scene on a traction car late Saturday night.

A delegation of the sports who foster and patronize these matchings of game birds precipitated a fight with the conductor of the car, who came to the defense of several women passengers, one of whom was subjected to the grossest of insults by one of the rowdles. The scrimmage boded disaster to the passengers and, under fear of being waylaid and mobbed, a burry call was sent to the traction company office for police assistance. Constables Moran and Neary accompanied Superintendent Kelly to the scene, but the disturbers had abandoned the place for the cocking main and could not be located. The princi-bals of the affair, who are from Carbondale, are known, however, and warcants for their arrest were sworn out vestorday. It is expected that they will is readily apprehended and, if circumstances favor it, the traction comtruty officials will make an example of the offenders in order to effectually suppress the spirit of disorder which these bird fighting exhibitions have stirred up.

The disturbance of Monday night took place shortly after the car left the transfer point at the new bridge which is being built at the junction of North Church and Belmont street. Among the passengers transferred were the who enacted the disgraceful men scene. There were probably a dozen of them. They were on the way to the fight and had the tighting birds with them in a coarse feed bag. While a number of the men were in a noisy mood they showed no misbehavior until a number of women who were returning from church services boarded the car on route to their homes in the northern part of the city.

One of the party soon became restless and after making several futile attempts to engage one of the ladies in conversation he took further liberties with them. The screams uttered by the young lady who was especially the object of his insulting annoyances seemed only to delight the offender and before the conductor could preyent him he committed an outrageously indecent offense. The conductor, as soon as he could reach him, grappled with the fellow and succeeded in ejecting him from the car. Another of the crowd came to the essistance of his companion and engaged in a sharp struggle with the conductor. The conductor, who was Clarence Brownell, of this city, pluckily struggled with his antagonist, and had pushed him as far as the door when the latter managed to free himself and half jumped and wled through a window at the reap of the car. Both men when put off moral. The play, however, is an imburl at the car, at the same time keep- a prettier, more satisfactory denoucing up a running fire of threats, em- | ment phashed with oaths. The threats which the men uttered, together with their endeavors to locate stones to hurl at the car, caused the woman to be-come panic-stricken. The disturbers, however, did not follow up their threats and when the rest of the party loft the car when it neared Justice of the Peace Nicholas Glenn's hotel the fears of the passengers subsided somewhat. At the end of the run the crew the car, Conductor Brownell and Motorman Cobb, fearing that they would be molested, telephoned to Superintendant Kelly for assistance. The superint nd at located Constables Morno and Neary, who accompanied him to the end of the lines and endeavored to locate the men, but without success. They were probably engrossed in the fight, which was in progress near Glenn's hotel.

Fallbrook road, and which they claim they supposed were wild ducks, will have to take their chances of being indicted by the grand jury. Their hear ing came up yesterday morning before Alderman Jones, why held them in $500 hall each to await the grand jury's action. They furnished the security and were released.

A SUDDEN SUMMONS.

Miss Estella Dibble, of Lincoln Avenue, Expires from Heart Disease.

Miss Estella Dibble expired suddenly Monday night at the home of her nother, Mrs. Harriet Alpaugh, on Linoln avenue. Death was due to orgapic heart trouble, from which she had suffered for months. Deceased was born thirty-two years ago in Wellsbridge, N. Y. In 1887 she came to this city and since that time has won the highest esteem of a large circle of friends.

Miss Dibble is survived by he mother, Mrs. Harriet Alpaugh, and two sisters and two brothers as follows: Mrs. John Hermes and Mrs. Patrick Smith, of this city: Charles Dibble, of Corning, N. Y., and William Dibble, of Minnesota. Another sister died in New York two months ago tomorrow.

Miss Dibble was a member of the companions of the Forest, and that order, with the Foresters of America, will probably attend the obsequies in a boly. The arrangements for the funeral will not be completed till word is received from the two out-of-town brothers.

CARBONDALE'S BEAUTY SPOT. Parkkeeper Richard Udy Industricusly Preparing for the Opening. The smillng spring gladdens no one more than Parkkeeper Richard Udy, the watchful custodian of Carbondale's beauty spot. Memorial park. The touch of summer which has been felt the past few days has quickened the parkkeeper in his efforts to have the park ready for the early use of the public. Yesterday the grass received the first mowing, and patches of dead blades were removed to hasten another growth. There was some little pruning done here and there about the trees and bushes and vines, and the flower ords were also given necessary attenion. A week ago the walks were spread with red ashes, but during the week, worms, which were awakened by the warmth of the sun's rays, gave ome annoyance, and to offset this fine salt was generously distributed over he ashes. This explains the process which was watched with so much increst by passersby yesterday, and which was a source of much speculation.

Mr. Udy, who maintains so much pride in the appearance of the park, and who is ever alert to acquire any contrivance or appliance which will erve him in this direction, has purhased a new lawn rake.

The appliance is called the Finley lawn rake, and embodies the principal feature of the ordinary lawn mower. The rotary wheel, which on the lawn mower has four blades, has four rakes similarly constructed. After the lawn has been cut the new machine is pushed over the lawn and the revolving rakes gather up the loose grass, paper, sticks, etc., and deposit them into a galvanized iron box that sets in the rear of the appliance. The rake does its work most effectively, and Parkkeeper Udy, especially, regards the machine for the great economy of time and labor that it effects.

The rake is the parkkeeper's private property, having purchased it as soon ts he was able to appreciate its efficiency in the work of maintaining the appearance of the park.

ON A VISIT FROM WALES.

Llewellyn Bevan, of Swansea, Is Renewing Old Acquaintances. Llewellyn Bevan, whom old residents hereabouts will recall as a former well-known resident of Carbondale, is here from his present home in Swansea, South Wales, renewing the acquaintances and friendships of over thirtylive years ago. Mr. Bevan, when he lived here, was mployed in and about the mines of the Delaware and Hudson company. His knowledge of mining secured for him the position of fireboss at the "Cork and Bottle" shaft of the Stevens Coal company at Scranton. When this working was abandoned. Mr. Bevan returned to Swansea, South Wales, where he was condered a similar position in the mammoth Coryea & Co.'s mines, which he accepted and which he has continufic Railroad. The reported resignation of F. Hibbitts, division superintendent of the Erie, was confirmed finally today, when that official relinquished his du-ies and left for Omaha, where he will assume the position of mechanical en-gineer for the Union Pacific railroad. Mr. Hibbitt's headquarters were in this city, and during the year and a half that he passed among the people of Carbondale, he won many warm friendships. His leaving will be regretted, but his friends rejoice in his good fortune in bettering himself. As an official, Mr. Hibbitts made a highly creditable record, and his subordinates, oo, will regret his departure.

Shirt Waist Men in Clover.

The shirt waist man, who, fashion has decreed, will rule this summer, can come out in all the bright colors of his attire on Wednesday evening, May 15, when the Friday night dancing class will give a "shirt waist" social. This function can be accepted as the inauguration of the shirt waist season in this city, for every one who receives an invitation to the affair is expected to appear in this latest fancy of fashion. The Mozart orchestra will proide music for the evening. Invitations have been forwarded to nearby towns, and the expectation is that the affair will be quite a social event.

Blaze in a Foundry.

There was a slight blaze discovered in the foundry of Lindsay & Walsh, on Seventh avenue, early yesterday morning. The cupola had been in operation during the day and the heat that it gave off in cooling ignited the surrounding dry timber of the roof. The Columbias and the Mitchells responded to an alarm from the Sixth evenue and Main street box, but their services were not needed, as the blaze was subdued with a few pails of water. The loss was only trifling.
