At the close of the day's business at the postoffice Wednesday the retiring postmaster, S. S. Wright, handed the office over to his successor, George C. Burns, who started in his new position this morning, and seems to take to his duties as naturally as a fuck takes to water. Mr. Wright had been a very efficient and obliging official, and we confidently predict that Mr. Burns will prove equally so. The only change made in the clerical force of the office is the appointment of Frederick Brewster as stamp clerk vice Grigg Scott, whose health is not such as to permit his continuance in the place.

of transactions in the two common stocks ran a centered in these stocks. The movement in Atchison was supposed to be due to a new phase of the struggle among the gramer trunk lines to secure for themselves compensatory advantages to offset the Burlington deal. Officials of tages to effset the Burlington deal. Officials of the St. Paul railway were quoted anonymously this morning as breathing forth threatenings of building a new line to the Pacific unless they were accorded a share in the advantages of the supposed Union Pacific absorption. This corrob-orates the current supposition that the great grange trunk lines feel themselves at a tactical disadvantage if they have not an assured Pacific grange trunk lines feel themselves at a tactical disadvantage if they have not an assured Pacific coast outlet as well as an eastern frunk line connection and that all of them will sooner or later take measures to secure these advantages. The movement of prices today was cited as giving evidence that the buying of Atchison was for the benefit of St. Paul and probably also of Rock Island. The feverish and create fluctuations in Union Pacific were amply explained by the new uncertainties surrounding the present ownership of its control. There were various rumors both to the effect that the Vandeblit interests had perfected their control and that the Harriman interest had secured the maintenance of their control. The extreme range in Union Pacific was 6 points and the net loss 1%. Atchison advanced an extreme 11% and closed within a franction of the best. St. Paul, is 1½ higher on the Chesapeake and Ohio 3½ and Norfolk and Western 1½. The stocks included in the Burlington deal, the Eric stocks not evoluded, were all notably heavy. The heavy profit taking and weakness of the United States Steel stocks had a large sentimental influence on the whole market. New York Central was quite severely handled and loses 3½ on the day. Evept for the few special points of strength the market was on the whole reactionary. Total sales today 2,2852,990 shares. Union
