

The World of Sport.

A SERIES of races between the Constitution and the Independence together with the Columbia is assured by an announcement made yesterday by Ralph N. Ellis, Woodbury Kane, and A. Casa Canale, the regatta committee of the Newport Yacht Racing association, that the association would hold three separate races for the cup defender class, as they call the three boats to take place off Newport on July 2, 4 and 6. By the terms of the races it is understood that the boat which each race will be entirely independent of the other and will be for a separate cup or trophy.

The association includes in its membership nearly all of the wealthy cottagers of Newport, including many members of the New York and other yacht clubs. A few years ago the organization raised a large fund, which yields a goodly interest, from which prizes have been bought annually. Under the auspices of the association the memorable and exciting regatta of the 70-footers will be held this summer, but the series between the cup defenders will be by all odds the most important it has yet held in view of the rivalry that there is sure to exist between friends of the eastern boat, the Independence, and those of the Constitution, and in view also of the fact that the series will be practically trial events to see which yacht shall defend the cup.

The race of July 2 will in itself attract the greatest attention of any yacht contest of American yachts for years, in that it will be the first meeting of the new cup defenders, the Independence and the Constitution, and moreover it will give the first opportunity of a comparison of these two new craft with the fleet Columbia, which vanquished Shamrock I two years ago.

The announcement of the series is significant, inasmuch as it will set at rest the seemingly unwarranted discussion that is going on as to the probability of Mr. Lawson and his yacht being ignored by the members of the New York Yacht club. Were there any probability of such a condition of affairs Messrs. Ellis, Kane and Canale, the regatta committee of the association, who are among the most prominent and influential members of the New York Yacht club, never would have arranged a series of races with the particular object of having the Independence and Constitution contend. The announcement simply means that the best boat will be selected to defend the cup and that it will be the loyal support of every yachtsman in the country, whether it be the Independence or the Constitution, or even the Columbia.

Mr. Duncan, manager of the Constitution, and Mr. Lawson, owner of the Independence, have signified their willingness to race for the Newport association cups. The Newport Yacht Racing association will soon announce races for the 70 and 80-foot classes, and a regatta for the middle of July.

At a dinner in his honor a mechanical inventor was asked: "What comes after the bicycle?" His reply was: "Gentlemen, there never will be any successor to the bicycle." When asked to explain so positive a statement he said: "There never can be a less amount of material put together with greater skill that will answer the purpose of human locomotion with greater ease and pleasure, or at a less original cost and less current expense to the user. The bicycle is one of the most consummate achievements of our mechanical development, and one of the most beneficial to civilization. It has no rival, and it can have no successor."

Athletes, both amateur and professional, have grown to such importance that athletic grounds in this city large enough for the most important affairs have been hard to obtain. The Greater New York Irish-American Athletic club is now in possession of grounds where athletic tournaments can be held, no matter how big the crowd or what games or sports are demanded.

Four years ago the club purchased about nine acres at Laurel Hill, Long Island City. The name given to the grounds is Celtic park. The club house, including inclosed piazzas, is 104 feet wide by 120 feet long. The basement is twelve feet high and has bowling alleys and sitting rooms for those desiring to watch the games; a restaurant accommodating a thousand persons, and a kitchen, with all the latest fixtures. On the floor above is the cafe, 40 feet long and 20 feet wide, in the center of the west end of the building, on either side of the cafe, are dressing rooms, reception rooms and private dining rooms. The track is a circular quarter-mile one, and constructed for all kinds of races. There are fields for base ball, cricket, polo, foot ball—in fact, accommodations for all manner of sports. On the east side of the track will be a rifle range 300 feet long, with four ranges, for match shoots.

An athletic field on the Cornell campus is probable. At the recent meeting of the athletic council it was decided to appoint a committee to look into the desirability of grading a field on the campus, and it was voted to allow this committee an amount not to exceed $500 for this purpose. For years Cornellians have regretted the expenditure of money on Percy Field, thinking that all such funds must be an absolute waste, for eventually it was seen that the future field must be on the hill. The improved field contemplated on Percy Field will be finished as the new field will not be ready for some years.

Bowling.

A rather unique match was rolled last night on the Bicycle club alleys, when the strong first team of the association met five members of the club known as the "Tin Cans" and bowled them for a dinner at the Speedway. The game was unique, inasmuch as it certainly required a certain amount of audacity for the newest and youngest aggregation of bowlers to roll the team which just won the championships of a league in which the head bowlers in northeastern Pennsylvania participated.

The champions, however, won out by only ninety-three pins, taking two out of three games, and, having a total of 2,387. The men lined up as follows: Bicycle club—Moore, Duffield, Mitchell, Wardell and Roper; Tin Cans—Pryor, Walter,

Sively, Fuller and Reynolds. The games resulted as follows:

Bicycle club	815	816	736	2397
Tin Cans	704	761	804	2271

In the tournament just completed the individual bowling was not as high as in the first league matches of the season, but on the whole the rolling was more consistent and steady. The highest score made was 225, scored by Velchell, and this high water mark is nine pins lower than the high score of the last tournament.

Yost made that, as will be remembered, with 234, but then there was also George Phillips' 232 and numerous 228's, all of which surpass Velchell's score. The latter bowler has the distinction of making the most double centuries scored by any individual player in the tournament. The Elk player made three doubles, 225, 219 and an even 200. Green, of the Wilkes-Barre West End Wheelmen, made a brace of doubles, 202 and 200. Duffield, of the Bicycle club, had 206 and 200, Wiegand, of the West Enders, 216 and 215, Hopkins, of the Backus club, two 202 games, and the following players a double century apiece: Taylor, of the Black Diamonds, 208; Yost, of the West Enders, 214; Filley, of the Elks, 211; Becker, of the Backus team, 200; Robling, of the Elks, 213; Mitchell, of the Bicycle club, 214; Wardell, of the Bicycle club, 203; Moore, of the same team, 207; Hosam, of the Elks, 219.

The highest team game rolled was 941, made by the West End Wheelmen on the Elks' alley. 998 was the star performance of the old league with the Commercial as the heroes. A peculiar fact about the bowling in the second tournament is the fact that not a member of the West Enders No. 2 reached the 200 mark.

The Backus club will play off its postponed game with the Wilkes-Barre West End Wheelmen Friday night on the latter's alleys. This will leave the game between the Wilkes-Barre teams the only one yet to be played.

Base Ball.

National League.

At Philadelphia—	R. H. E.
Pittsburgh.....	10 0 10 10-3 5 2
Philadelphia.....	0 0 0 0 0 0 0-2 8 4
Batteries—Phillips and O'Connor; Dugdaley and Douglass. Umpire—Nash.
At New York—	R. H. E.
Chicago.....	0 0 0 0 0 0 0-0 5 0
New York.....	10 0 0 0 0 2 3-11 1
Batteries—Morgan and Chance; Denzer, Pyle and Warner. Umpire—O'Day.
At Brooklyn (11 innings)—	R. H. E.
Cincinnati.....	0 0 0 4 2 0 0 0-7 17 5
Brooklyn.....	0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0-8 11 6
Batteries—Newton and Peitz; Kitzon, Hughes and McGuire. Umpire—Dwyer.
At Boston—	R. H. E.
St. Louis.....	0 0 0 0 0 2 10-3 8 2
Boston.....	0 1 2 0 0 1 0 0-4 10 9
Batteries—Morgan and Nichols; Dimen and Knitzridge. Umpire—Eusler.

American League.

At Baltimore—	R. H. E.
Philadelphia.....	0 0 0 1 0 1 0 0-5 9 7
Baltimore.....	0 2 4 0 1 0 0 0-11 9 2
Batteries—Morgan and Nichols; Dimen and Knitzridge. Umpire—Eusler.
At Boston—	R. H. E.
Washington.....	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-0 2 8
Boston.....	0 0 0 1 0 0 1 0 0-2 8 3
Batteries—Gar and Clark; Young and Criger. Umpire—Haskell.
At Detroit—	R. H. E.
Chicago.....	1 0 1 2 0 0 1 0 0-6 8 2
Detroit.....	0 0 0 0 2 0 0 0-2 8 3
Batteries—Griffith and Sullivan; Stevens and McAllister. Umpire—Sheridan and Manassus.
At Milwaukee—	R. H. E.
Cleveland.....	0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0-1 1 6
Milwaukee.....	2 1 0 2 1 1 0 0-11 11 2
Batteries—Hart and Wood; Reidy and Leahy. Umpire—Connolly.

Eastern League.

At Philadelphia—	R. H. E.
Philadelphia.....	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-0 2 8
Boston.....	0 0 0 1 0 0 1 0 0-2 8 3
Batteries—Gar and Clark; Young and Criger. Umpire—Haskell.
At Detroit—	R. H. E.
Chicago.....	1 0 1 2 0 0 1 0 0-6 8 2
Detroit.....	0 0 0 0 2 0 0 0-2 8 3
Batteries—Griffith and Sullivan; Stevens and McAllister. Umpire—Sheridan and Manassus.
At Milwaukee—	R. H. E.
Cleveland.....	0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0-1 1 6
Milwaukee.....	2 1 0 2 1 1 0 0-11 11 2
Batteries—Hart and Wood; Reidy and Leahy. Umpire—Connolly.

College Games.

At Philadelphia—	R. H. E.
Philadelphia.....	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-0 2 8
Boston.....	0 0 0 1 0 0 1 0 0-2 8 3
Batteries—Gar and Clark; Young and Criger. Umpire—Haskell.
At Detroit—	R. H. E.
Chicago.....	1 0 1 2 0 0 1 0 0-6 8 2
Detroit.....	0 0 0 0 2 0 0 0-2 8 3
Batteries—Griffith and Sullivan; Stevens and McAllister. Umpire—Sheridan and Manassus.
At Milwaukee—	R. H. E.
Cleveland.....	0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0-1 1 6
Milwaukee.....	2 1 0 2 1 1 0 0-11 11 2
Batteries—Hart and Wood; Reidy and Leahy. Umpire—Connolly.

But little interest is being taken in the local base ball games, and to the mediocre exhibitions put up by the scholastic teams at Athletic park this is to be attributed. In former years the High school and School of the Lauckwanna have turned out teams which were able to cope with any of the schoolboy nines in this region, but this season the material making up each is deplorably weak.

A few good players are on each nine, and there is some small quality games. Everything contributes to the season, throw a damper over the base ball situation. The miserable condition of the grounds, the poorness of the exhibitions, the small boy nuisance all aid in killing the national game in the central city.

"Buck" Freeman, the Wilkes-Barre youth of home-run hitting proclivities, who last season played with the Boston National league team, is one of Jimmy Collins' right-hand men with this committee. He is playing first base and is already hailed as a second Fred Tenney. His fielding in several games has been pronounced little short of marvelous, and his little willow wand has been in evidence every time he has faced an opposing league twirler. His long-distance shots have been frequent, and his old sobriquet of "Home-Run Buck" is proving no meaningless one.

In Ferris, Jimmy Collins has secured one of the most promising players of the season. The little second baseman guards the Boston American league team's second base like a lynx and is also showing up well with the stick. In Monday's game against Washington he had ten outs, five assists and an error, which is the year's record so far.

Charles Dryden, the clever North American base ball writer, continues his war of satire on Andy Freedman, the famous New York magnate. Dryden's latest mode of pestering Andrew is evidenced in the series of photographs of league celebrities being run daily in the North American's sporting column. Each day the same picture of Freedman has appeared for the past two weeks, with a paragraph of keen sarcastic references under it. The New York magnate's likeness is the only one which has yet appeared in the series.

Catcher Toft, last year with Sora-ton and who went from here to Springfield, has been signed by Worcester, of the Eastern league. He will help Jack Clements out with the backstop work.

Basket Ball.

Great interest was shown this winter in basket ball by local lovers of this, one of America's most popular sports. The Defenders, of South Scranton, proved themselves the unquestioned champions of this city, county and, indeed, of Northeastern Pennsylvania.

Last week they wound up the season by defeating Jack Tighe's Gymnasium team and thus winning a $50 prize. There is now a good deal of talk among the members of the team to the effect that a trip to Buffalo this summer would be a decidedly pleasing novelty. At the Pan-American exposition the Athletic carnival will include an open tournament for basket ball teams, and the South Scranton men have about decided to enter the contest. They have met and defeated teams from all the surrounding places and now, like Alexander, yearn for other worlds to conquer.

Captain Martin Snyder and his good men true can play basket ball and play it well, but at Buffalo they will meet the pick of the country and undoubtedly will have to put up the game of their lives.

College Athletics.

The first definite grading of the Harvard crew squad into varsity and second crews was made Monday. While a good deal of shifting about is likely to take place before the race with Yale on the Thames, the final crew is now practically picked. The men naturally did not row very well together, as this was the first time that they have pulled in this order. In the launch was Fred Allen, the Yale coach for this year. He watched the work of the Harvard crew with interest. He was evidently on the lookout to see what kind of an opponent they will have to face this year. The order in which the varsity rowed was as follows: Stroke, Bullard; 7, Ayer; 6, Hancroft; 5, Lawrence; 4, Shuebruk; 3, Emory; 2, Blake; bow, Goodell; coxswain, Jackson.

The University of Pennsylvania's spring football practice began on Franklin field Monday. Only about a dozen men reported for the first practice. The practice consisted of punting, catching and passing the ball. There was no line-up and probably will not be during the two weeks that the practice is to continue. Coach Woodruff stated after the practice that his principal aim in calling the men to gather was to find out the material which he may depend upon for next year. He also announced that there would be a preliminary practice this fall of at least two weeks. It has not been decided where it will be taken, but it will probably be on Franklin field, as the faculty is opposed to the men going away from the city.

Graves, the crack quarter-back, has not left the university as was reported some time ago. He is not out for the spring practice, as he is training for the cricket team, but he will be on hand next fall. The small number of candidates who have so far reported is due to the fact that the majority of the men are working on other terms.

Cornell's crew started in a hard week's work Monday afternoon. Coach Courtney was unable to take his squad to the lake and confined all practice to the inlet. Petty, the old varsity man, was indisposed, and his position at No. 7 was filled by Edmonstone. Rhodes was put in at No. 3 and the complete order of the varsity shell was as follows: Rhodes; Edmonstone; No. 7; Vanderhoef; 6; Osborn; 5; Teagle; 4; Rhodes; 3; Powley; 2; Hazlewood; bow; Long, coxswain. The second varsity crew, which will row on May 30, elected W. O. Beyer, of Buffalo, captain. This is one of the most finished oarsmen in the squad. This crew is now able to hold the first varsity in long and short distances.

At the close of the Pennsylvania's crew practice Monday afternoon Coach Ellis Ward announced a shake-up in all of them, except the freshmen. The purpose of the move is to secure a second crew to row in the regatta at Lake Cayuga against the second crews of Cornell and Columbia. Four of the members of the Henley crew are eligible for the races on Memorial day, and these have been placed in the second boat, together with four members of the old Poughkeepsie boat. In accordance with the shake-up the second crew now rows as follows: Stroke, Hildebrand; No. 7, W. Gardiner; No. 6, Gillespy; No. 5, Kuhnmueller; No. 4, Eisenbrey; bow, Zane; coxswain, Tupper. A similar change has been made in the third crew, which is made up of a combination of the former third and Poughkeepsie crews. The rowing order of the crew is as follows: Stroke, No. 7, Kier; No. 6, Wheeler; No. 5, Schreiber; No. 4, Kelley; No. 3, Eckfeldt; No. 2, Goodman; bow, Kelar; coxswain, Davis.

The foot ball schedule of Lehigh university for the coming season has been arranged as follows: Sept. 28, University of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia; Oct. 5, University of Buffalo, at Philadelphia; Oct. 12, Princeton, at Princeton; Oct. 19, Annapolis, at Annapolis; Oct. 26, Bucknell, at Lehigh field; Nov. 2, Lafayette, at Easton; Nov. 9, Cornell, at Ithaca; Nov. 16, Haverford, on Lehigh field; Nov. 23, State college, at Williamsport; Nov. 29, Lafayette, on Lehigh field; Nov. 26, Georgetown, at Washington.

The Martin-Childs colored championship fight, scheduled to take place in Grand Rapids, Mich., last night, has been declared off. Governor Bliss' order to the sheriff to prevent the fight proved a knockout. Martin and Childs left for New York last evening. The Olympic Athletic club is the loser by a considerable amount.

Jimmy Michael and Archie McEachern are doing great stunts in their training at Woodside. The riders have fine pacing machines and are following pace well within record time. Both men are managing their own affairs. While McEachern never had a manager, the "midnight wonder" tells some interesting stories about the men who made an easy living posing as the managers of cycle racers. Michael says he is through with them for good.

James J. Jeffries intends to run a hotel at Buffalo during the exposition, and is now looking for a suitable location.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

James J. Jeffries intends to run a hotel at Buffalo during the exposition, and is now looking for a suitable location.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by him in the great stake events last year shall be surpassed this season, and he has given orders to his trainer not to hurry Ethelbert along for any of the handicaps.

This will probably be Ethelbert's last season on the turf. At the close of racing at Westchester in the fall he will be retired to the stud in Kentucky. Perry Belmont, Ethelbert's owner, is most anxious that the showing made by