WALTER L. MAIN CIRCUS.

It Will Exhibit in This City Next Monday.

The Williamsport Sun of Tuesday contained the following about the Walter L. Main circus, which will exhibit in this city next Monday:

"Walter L. Main's Fashion Plate show arrived here this morning from Elmira, N. Y., where yesterday it gave two performances to big business. A big crowd greeted the circus train on its arrival, and remained there while the show of unloading was going on. The greater part of the crowd followed the elephants, horses and camels to the old fair ground, where the circus was erected. Everything with the Main show is new, except the people, and they are professionals who are giving their patrons new acts in a most artistic manner."

"At 1 o'clock the parade started from the circus grounds. All along the route of the procession the city was crowded with people, who were very much pleased with the parade. The parade was all newly painted and gilded, and were very attractive, and the costumes are magnificent. The animals were viewed with much interest, the several open cages attracting the greatest attention. The steam piano was followed by a half-hundred boys from the time it started from the circus grounds until it returned. Walter Main now has about 200 head of horses, many of which took part in the parade."

"The performance itself is very good. This afternoon the doors opened at 1 o'clock, and after viewing the menagerie for an hour, the crowd moved into the big tent and saw the going of the circus parade. There were two rings and an elevated stage, and many good acts were witnessed. About the greatest was Prof. R. H. Dorkill's sixty-three trained horses. It is a really wonderful act. Madame Marabelle's jumping horses and ponies were another good feature."

GRAND LODGE OFFICERS. Chosen at Yesterday Session of the Iovites, at Taylor—Programme for Today.

Two busy sessions were conducted by the True Iovites yesterday at Taylor, in their grand lodge convention. Officers were elected, the place for the next convention chosen, and the reports of a number of committees heard. The morning session was devoted to the reports of the committees of the committee appointed at the opening session of Tuesday night.

The auditing committee reported favorably upon the condition of the treasurer's books, and like reports were made by the president and secretary. The committee on the president's and secretary's reports were also heard. A resolution thanking the Taylor lodge for its hospitality was unanimously adopted. The afternoon session was called to order about 2:30 o'clock.

President Humphrey D. Owens, of Fair Haven, N. J., was a candidate for reelection, but was defeated by John O. Thomas, of Eliza, N. Y. John P. Evans, of New York, was chosen vice president. The race was brisk for this office, there being four other candidates. John A. Addison, of Plymouth, Richard D. Williams, of Rome, N. Y., William G. Williams, of West Scranton, and Moses Jones, of Middle Grandville, N. Y. John J. Evans, of North Scranton, was re-elected secretary, and a like honor befall Treasurer Roger Evans, of West Scranton.

New Castle, Pa., and Eliza, N. Y., were the place for the next convention, and the former secured it. A per capita tax of forty cents, the same as the last time, was again decided upon. During the remainder of the meeting a sum of money was appropriated for the purchase of a new lodge, and the purchase of a new lodge was decided upon.

The committee on the purchase of a new lodge, consisting of John R. Edwards, esq., W. R. Lewis, esq., and David J. Davis, were appointed to the purchase of a new lodge, and the purchase of a new lodge was decided upon.

BOTH BODIES IN SESSION

CITY LEGISLATURE DEALS WITH MANY MEASURES.

Common Council Votes to Prohibit Director Hitchcock from Breaking Up the Practice of Selling Liquor to Minors—Robinson and Martin Have Taken Oath of Office—Select Council Lets Up on the Electric Light Company in the Matter of Raising Street Lights.

Neither of the two particularly engrossing matters in city legislation—the Wyoming franchise and the raising of the extra commoners—came up at last night's meetings, but the raft of measures of less general importance that did come up made the sessions unusually interesting.

Common council was seized with a sudden paroxysm of morality and patriotism and passed with only one dissenting vote that of Mr. Partridge, a resolution introduced by Mr. Roche, directing the director of public safety to refrain from employing minors or aliens of doubtful character.

Messrs. Phillips and Graf argued that the director had enough to do to look after his regular work and not go out of his way to entrap saloonkeepers. Let him leave that work to the municipal league people who have lots of leisure," said Mr. Phillips. Mr. Graf told of having been a witness at a hearing yesterday afternoon, where a little boy told that he was enticed to buy beer at a saloon by one of the director's detectives. "Is it right to entice children like that?" Mr. Graf inquired.

Mr. Partridge answered him by saying he thought this was quite as righteous as the illegal selling of liquor. "If the saloonkeeper would not sell to minors," said Mr. Partridge, "there would be no occasion for employing children to detect them in their wrongdoing. All that anybody asks is that the saloonkeepers shall be reasonably lawful. They should not expect this council to step in between them and the law. Let them stand on their own legs. If they don't propose to be law-abiding, we ought to do nothing that will hinder our police department from compelling them to be law-abiding." Mr. Partridge's pleasantry, however, fell on deaf ears.

BONDS AND OATHS. The bond of M. J. Martin, who is claiming to be city solicitor, and Mayor William Charles Robinson were before the council last night. The oaths were taken before Miss Mary Reddy, notary public, Conrad Schneider and Joseph O'Brien are bondsmen for Mr. Martin in the sum of $10,000.

A lengthy discussion took place on the ordinance to vacate the portion of the city street between the city and the Delaware and Hudson company to use it for its new freight depot. Mr. Phillips, for the South Side contingent, opposed any such liability towards the Delaware and Hudson company and urged its rejection. The ordinance was rejected.

The ordinance for the new street paving ordinance and it was temporarily withdrawn. The Carbon street paving ordinance passed second reading.

The promoters of the new street paving ordinance last night that they refrained from having their franchise ordinance brought up because of a fear that the Wyoming avenue objectors would succeed in having it indefinitely postponed.

[The army test. Hold this 15 inches away and count the spots.] If your sight is perfect you can read the following paragraph 25 inches away.

Most diseases march in step with the advance of civilization, but trouble with and diseases of the eyes are caused through the length and breadth of our country leaving us and our children with sightless eyeballs.

The Reason? Few are taught how to use the eyes, and secondly uric acid in the blood has a strong affinity for the optic nerve. If your eyesight is failing, if you have specks and blurs before your eyes, you are the victim of kidney disease, and no time should be lost in securing and using Warner's Safe Cure, which will put over-worked and diseased kidneys in good health, and the excess of uric acid will be driven from the system instead of passing into and poisoning it. Failing eyesight in eight cases out of ten is a danger signal which should be heeded.

ASCENSION DAY WAS OBSERVED

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR GATHERED IN ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

A Special Sermon Was Delivered by Rev. Francis R. Bateman, Who Told of the Foundation of the Order in the Middle Ages and of the Principles Inculcated Into Its Members—Some of the Things That Members of the Order Should Avoid.

Ascension day was observed last night in St. Luke's church by the members of the Knights Templar, who attended St. Luke's Episcopal church in a body, attired in full dress uniform, to listen to a special sermon by Rev. Francis R. Bateman, rector of the church.

Rev. Mr. Bateman, a Knight Templar himself, and wore in the pulpit the insignia of the order across his surplice. He chose for his text the second verse of the second chapter of the second epistle of Paul to Timothy: "Thou therefore continue in hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ."

In beginning his remarks he traced the early history of the order from the time of its organization in the ninth century. It was founded, he said, by a Burgundian knight and eight of his friends, and the order, governing it were drawn up and prepared by the great St. Bernard.

Its membership, he said, gradually grew to about 15,000, and for over 140 years its members took an active part in the crusades. The early Knights Templar stood first and primarily for the Christian religion, he said. It was a semi-priestly order, and unquestioning obedience to religious superiors was enjoined upon and rendered by every member.

CARE OF THE AGED. The second great thing which the order stood was the care of the aged, and the third, the defense of manhood. Since, frugality and moderation were the great virtues which they were enjoined to practice.

"What part of this heritage of duty is ours today? Leaving aside the protection of the pilgrims and the care of the aged, is manhood in no need of protection today? Are there not today great industries and great commercial interests heaping upon the backs of women crosses that are too heavy for them to bear? Are there not in this fair land department stores in which the wages of our women clerks are by small that the temptation to make money dishonestly is increased a thousand fold?"

"Is there not danger enough to the women of this country in this respect to cause us to clean up our armor and the city of our every to defend the highways of life against those commercial marauders, for what else are they?"

"I know that in our commanderies today there is not half the devotion and earnestness of purpose that there were in those dark days of the middle ages, when men were not as enlightened as we are today, and I am sorry for it. I am afraid that there is nothing like the earnestness in our vows of the early knights."

"There are two things which this order teaches its members which are valuable things for this modern age of ours. It teaches its members to hold their tongues and it teaches them the inviolability of a man's pledged word."

THINGS TO BE AVOIDED. Rev. Mr. Bateman then cited some of the things which he said he believed were degrading the order. One of these was the scramble for honors and another the rivalry between commanderies in regard to the number of members in each, new members being secured in many instances without a sufficient investigation as to their moral worth.

"I have heard of Knights Templar," said he, "who have been seen to enter saloons in their templar uniform. I am not one of those clergymen who believe the saloon to be an unmitigated curse and who deems the man who enters one to be a lost soul, but I think that the knight who enters one should in the uniform of the order, has forgotten the crucified Saviour and has forgotten what the cross upon that uniform stands for."

He protested against the growing practice of telling mostidious stories at Masonic gatherings and cautioned these present to remember "him who spoke as never man spoke before and whose words were all holy."

In conclusion he said that the Knights Templar have been and are the greatest field of usefulness of any other organization with the exception of the Christian church. All other sect, fraternal and religious organizations had charitably stolen something from the Knights Templar.

The collection taken up at the service through the kindness of Dr. Israel goes to the Associated Charities.

FUNERAL OF PROF. PLUMLEY. Services held in the First Presbyterian Church.

Services over the remains of Professor W. E. Plumley, of the School of the Lackawanna, were held yesterday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church, and were attended by a great concourse of persons, young and old, who loved and respected the deceased teacher. Interment will be made today at Metuchen, N. J., where the remains will be accompanied by several of the church vestrymen. The funeral left the late home on Quincey avenue about 2:45 o'clock. The pall-bearers were selected from former pupils of Professor Plumley, and were: Selden on Friday morning to enable the pupils to take suitable action on the death of principal W. W. Grant. suffered by the young people under the immediate instruction of deceased, and in regard to his ability as an instructor, said:

"Professor Plumley taught not only by precept but example. Precept shows a teacher's ability, but example his sincerity."

He closed by fervently expressing his conviction that the church will greatly miss deceased, his pupils will miss him, and the city will miss his presence. Prayer was asked for deceased's wife and family, in which several members were seriously ill.

Dr. McLeod also referred briefly to the sudden death of Professor Grant, of the High School, and spoke of him as a strong man, who died in harness, with words of good counsel upon his lips.

THIRTY-TWO RESPONDED. New Central City Fire Fighting Force Has Its First Run.

The central city companies of the fire department had their first run last evening. According to the report submitted to Acting Chief Slove, by different captains, the Central City turned out with six call men, one tank man and four permanent men. The New York with four call men, two tank men and five permanent men. The Phoenix chemicals with four permanent men and one call man, and the Hooks with four permanent men and one call man. This is the full complement of these companies at present. It needs a total of thirty-two men to hook up with four permanent men and men receive credit for a full hour, although the fire was extinguished in less than five minutes. The wages to these men for the run amounts to over $9.

The fire was in the basement of Dr. C. H. Fisher's residence in the Handley block on Spruce street. It was caused by a break in a gas pipe. Very little damage resulted.

TOOMEY REINSTATED. Discharged Employee Given His Old Place by Lackawanna.

All rumors of a threatened strike of the Lackawanna switchmen were given their quietus yesterday morning. Freight Yardmaster Patrick Toomey resumed work and it is understood that Michael Hevity will be back in a few days.

These are the two men dismissed about a month ago and whose removal caused a day's suspension of work among the switchmen in the switchmen in the Lackawanna yard until Grand Master Howley, of the Brotherhood of Switchmen, arrived here and ordered all hands back. Since then the switchmen's grievance board and Superintendent Clarke have arrived at a mutual understanding regarding the matter.
