SAYS HE WAS VERY DRUNK

CASE HINGES ON THE TRUTH OF THIS CLAIM.

The Suit of Fowler Against the Meadow Brook Water Company Is to Turn on the Question as to Whether or Not the Plaintiff Was Too Drunk to Have an "Agreeing Mind"-Conductor Cawley Sues Lackawanna Company for $30,000. Other Court Matters.

As foreshadowed in yesterday's Tribune, the case of John F. Fowler against the Meadow Brook Water company is made to hinge on the question of whether or not the plaintiff was drunk when he signed the agreement relinquishing to the company all claim to the tools and machinery which were being used by himself and his partner, John T. Williams, providing they were relieved from their losing contract on the East mountain tunnel.

When the case was resumed yesterday morning, Mr. Fowler took the stand and testified that he was drunk and irresponsible on December 1. when his partner, Mr. Williams, submitted to him the agreement which bears his name, and that if he signed it, he did it unknowingly, for he has no recollection now of having attached his signature. One of his statements was that he was drinking whiskey at this time as freely as the average person drinks water. wire admitted that her husband signed the paper, but claimed he was on the verge of delirium tremens at the time. Dr. J. J. Roberts testified that two days after the date of the agreement he was called to attend Mr. Fowler and found him suffering from excessive alcoholism. Two neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Reese, testified that Mr. Powler was on a protracted debauch

The attorneys on both sides and Judge Carpenter, who is trying the case, agree that there is no similar case in any of the books. There are various cases dealing with some of the features of this one, but none in which the same question is raised.

It is settled have that the act of one partner binds the other, if the act clates to the carrying on of the business of the partnership. It is also un-disputed that if a party signs on agreement or contract while drunk it is voidable on motion of the party that was drunk.

This case, however, does not come wholly within the scope of these findings. On the one hand, it is claimed that the agreement in question was a carrying out of the purposes of the partnership, while the plaintiff avers was not.

Then as to the main question, the competency of the plaintiff to make contract, it is contended on the one side that he was too drunk to have the "agreeing mind," which the law requires, while on the other it is argued that it is not proven he was thus incapacitated and that even if it was proven the court should declare the agreement binding inasmuch as it was advantageous to him.

After the law points had been argued Judge Carpenter adjourned court until comorrow morning that he might have time to look up the law.

Owing to the continued illness of Judge Edwards, no other cases were taken up and it is not likely any others taken up this week, except by Judge Corponer, as Judge Edwards does not expect to be out for some rime to come, and Judge Kelly is not vet feeling well enough to go on the

Conductor Cawley Brings Suit.

Through Attorneys Joseph O'Brien and M. J. Martin, suit was instituted vesterday by Charles Cawley to secure $20,000 damages from the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Raffroad ompany for personal injuries, received in an accident in the Scranton yard.

Cawley was conductor on one of the "hog" engines that was pushing a southern-bound train out of the yard. one sight last winter, Standing on mirallel track was another "hog" cosine. The distance between the two trucks at this particular point was less than is usual, and the consequence was that the left-hand side of the can of the moving engine enught the right hand side of the cab of the standing engine, wrecking both cabs and severely injuring Conductor Caw icy, who was on the left-hand side of the cab of the moving engine.

His face was cut by glass, and as a result of this, his mouth is drawn to the let side of his face. His spine was also injured, it is alleged, and to so, it an extent that he is permanenty incapacitated from following any Inherious occupation.
