Committee Which Returned from Harrisburg Says It Was Unable to Secure a Hearing Before the Senate Committee-President Nicholls Says the Outlook for Mine Bills Is Not Good-Actual Transfer Made to the Allis-Chalmers Company. The Board for Today.

President T. D. Nicholls, of District No. 1, United Mine Workers of America: Henry Collins, of Carbondale, and Kearney, of Archbald, have returned from Harrisburg, and now declare that the situation at the capital regarding the mining legislation in the bands of the senate committee is well-nigh hopeless. The committee is practically in despair, and it is not likely that any further trips to Harrisburg will be made by its members, Meetings of all three district boards of developments. will be held today, at which some ac tion will probably be taken regarding the matter. Said President Nicholls yesterday afternoon to a Tribune man: We were unable to secure a hearing before the committee on our last trip. and, on the whole, the outlook is now very bad. All three weigh bills, which are among the most important meastres under consideration, are still in the hands of the committee, These bills are the general weigh bill, that dealing with the check weighman, and another providing for the eighing of coal before screening it The general bill provides for the weighing of coal at every colliery and paying for it thus, instead of by the car, This would do away with the difficulties arising from the topping question, and aims at an equalization of wages throughout the district. The Erle company pays by the ton at almost pay thus at some of their places. We have done all that is possible in explaining the necessities of this mining legislation, and the committee is undoubtedly aware of its importance to the miners at large. Various technical objections to the weigh bill offered by men from the lower districts were taken into consideration by us, and the measure adjusted accordingly, so that it was uniformly satisfactory to ad parties.

The board of District I meets today local headquarters, and the boards of 7 and 2 will be in session at Hazle-

THE GREAT WALLACE SHOWS. Some of the Difficulties a Circus Must Contend With.

One of the greatest difficulties that the managers of the great modern circuses have to contend with is the dearth of aerobatic equestriennes. Not. one girl out of a thousand who essays the art ever achieves success, and not one out of a hundred of those who succeed ever attain eminence. In all the world there is probably not more than half a dozen who are considered truly great. At the head of this little oterie of celebrities stands beautiful Blanche Reed, this season under engagement to the Great Wallace shows. In point of poise, grace, dash and daring agility her riding simply defles all description. Nothing she does looks difficult, nor appears indeed to require effort. She is secure and as much athome in her unstable position on the heaving, bounding back of a galloping horse as is a society belle on a ballroom floor. Her routine of repertoire of feats and evolutions is so varied that she can completely change her act at every performance for days at a time. In all she does there is naught that is commonplace. She scorns the ordinary and abhors the conventional. In the vernacular she begins where the others and fillings, and in other ways trespass leave off, and ends in an unapproachable achievement of acrobatic agility that is at once paradoxically unattainable and past belief unless seen with one's own eves.

She is with the Great Wallace shows at Scranton on Friday, May 24.

RAPID TRANSIT ROAD.

Brings Injunction Proceedings to Prevent the Railroad Company from Entering Upon a Tract of Land Which His Rocky Glen Water Company Laid Out Last Month for a Reservoir-Railroad Company's Right of Eminent Domain Is Assailed-Rule Granted.

The Rocky Glen Water company, of Moosic, of which Arthur Frothingham is president, and Annette Reynolds, treasurer, secured from Judge Carpenter a rule for a preliminary injunction, yesterday, to restrain the Scanton and Northeastern Railroad company and three of its contractors, John R. Lee. John T. Dolan and Joseph Page, from exercising the right of eminent domain to enter upon lands of the plaintiff.

The bill and accompanying affidavits of the plaintiff were drafted by Attorneys E. C. Newcomb and Willard, Warren & Knapp. Arthur Frothingham, as president of the company, is the principal orator.

The plaintiff company, these documents aver, was incorporated February 11, 1901, for the purpose of supplying water in the borough of Moosic February 20, 1901, it acquired, by deed, from Annette Reynolds, a tract of land in Moosic, and immediately thereafter the hoard of directors dedicated this land to the public use as a reservoir, etc. Engineers made surveys for a dam, brush was cut away and excavations made for pipe lines.

May 14, 1901, without having had the land condemned, the defendants entered upon it with a large force of men and proceeded to fell trees, make cuts upon the tract. VIOLATION OF LAW

All this, the plaintiff alleges, is in violation of law and the rights of the plaintiff. The land is not subject to condemnation, in the first place, it is claimed, because of its having been dedicated to the uses of an incorpor ated public service company, namely, as a reservoir of a public water com-In the second place, it is held, pany. the defendant railroad company has no right of eminent domain, and in at-empting to exercise such a right it transgresses the law and violates the ights of the plaintiff. The railroad company, it is alleged, is not going on in good faith to carry out the purposes, terms and conditions of its charter, but is simply lending itself to a fraudulent scheme to conduct a trolley line from the city of Scranton to the city of Wilkes-Barre, by having connections at both ends with street car lines of railroads, which, under the laws of Pennsylvania, cannot condemn private property, but are confined to the use of public streets in the municipalities through which they run, but to evade this, the said companies in Scranton and Wilkes-Barre have caused the Scranton and Northeastern Railroad company to be incorporated as an ordinary railroad, for the purposes of condemning private property and Wilkes-Barre, and, thus, be enabled to operate a trolley line or street railroad line all the way from Scranton to Wilkes-Barre, although, directly, the law gives them no such right."

ARE AT WORK.

It is further set forth that employes of the defendants, to the number of fifty, are now actually engaged in work upon the plaintiff's property. They were notified to leave by Miss Reynolds, but continue in the alleged trespass. They are digging ditches to change the course of the stream known as Green Run, felling trees and committing various other trespasses.

The plaintiff prays the court to enjoin the defendant company from entering upon the property in question: to decree that the defendant has no right to condemn the land, and to decree further that it has no right of eminent domain.

The rule for a preliminary injunction was made returnable May 25, but it is possible the case will be practically disposed of this morning, when arguments are to be heard on the motion made by the railroad company to have court accept for the water company the indemnifying bond proffered at the time the railroad company entered upon the tract.
