DECORATING THE GRAVES

Arrangements Are Being Made by the G. A. R. for the Observance of Memorial Day.

The special committee of members of the Grand Army of the Republic having in charge the Memorial Day services, met last night in the post rooms and completed preparations for the observance of the day. Services will be held in ten cemeteries.

They are the Washburn street, Cathedral, the Dunmore Protestant, the Dunmore Catholic, the Forest Hill, the Petersburg Protestant and Catholic the Pittston avenue and St. Mary's and the Marcy cemetery at Moose There is an additional list of grave to be attended to this year, because of the disbandment of Post No. 540 at Moosic. There are one hundred and three dead soldiers of the Rebellion in the cemeteries in that vicinity.

The comrades at each cemetery will be assisted by a detail of members of the Sons of Veteraus. The decorating and special services will be held beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning. and in the afternoon there will be the parade, after which a joint memorial service will be conducted in the post rooms, for the dead of the past year in Ezra Griffin and Colonel Monies posts. In the evening the annual entertainment of Griffin post will be held at the rooms.

Invitations to participate in the pateenth regiment, the Camp No. 8, Sons of Veterans, the American Guard, of No. 27 school, the Spanish-American War Veterans, the Mexican War Veterans, of which Dr. Heath is the sole local survivor, and the heads of the various departments of county and city. The county commissioners and judges are all invited to be present, are also the superintendents of as are also the superior desident county and city schools, President Gibbons, of the board of control; Presidents Chittenden and Calpin, of select nd common councils; Recorder Moir, Controller Howell, Director of Public Safety Hitchcock, Superintendent of Police Robling and the city police, and several others.

Man Who Risked His Life to Save Michael Cummish Exonerated by Thoughtful Coroner's Jury.

Coroner Roberts conducted an in quest yesterday afternoon at Connolly & Jordan's undertaking establishment on the South Side in the case of the late Michael Cummish, who was drowned in No. 5 reservoir on Wednesday evening. The only witness to he drowning was Michael Higgins. who was with Cummish when he jumped into the water. He told substantially the same story of the drowning as printed in The Tribune on Thursday.

In reference to the letter Cummish had received from his wife in the old ountry, Higgins testified that it contained nothing but an acknowledgenent of money she has received from her husband, and reference to their on's coming to this country. Cummish had complained of feeling unwell he night before the drowning occurred, but gave no indication that he intended ending his life. They walked together, Higgins said owards the reservoir and Cummish vent down to the water's edge, and, throwing some small change he had in his pocket on the embankment, said good bye and jumped into the water. liggins tried to rescue him, but failed. After hearing Higgins' statement the jury rendered the following verdict:

"We, the undersigned jurors, do find that the deceased, Michael Cummish, ame to his death by drowning in No. reservoir of the Scranton Gas and Water company in Moosic borough, Lackawanna county. Pa., on the evening of Wednesday, May 15, 1901, and according to the evidence given we further find that the act of drowning was committed while the deceased was suffering from temporary aberration of the mind. "We also find that no blame is attached to Michael Higgins, who acompanied him, he having made every effort possible to rescue him."

BRILLIANT ENTERTAINMENT.

Given by Woman's Home Missionary Society of First Church.

The Woman's Home Missionary s lety of the First Presbyterian church relebrated its thirtieth anniversary with a delightful programme at the residence of Mrs. D. E. Taylor, on Clay avenue, last night. The affair was chiefly under the direction of Mrs. A. W. Dickson and was most pleasingly carried out. A feature of the evening was the singing by Mrs. H. H. Brady and J. T. Watkins.

The programme was introduced in a happy manner by F. E. Platt. Mrs. . S. Weston gave an interesting history of the society and Mrs. C. W. Kirkpatrick, who was one of the original managers thirty years ago, read interesting selections from the minutes of other days, C. C. Weston, who is a new-comer to this city, gave a novel musical melange, consisting of clever imitations of many musical instruments. Refreshments of an elaborate character were served. Mrs. A. M. Decker and Mrs. Richard Matthews presided at the table in the dining room. Miss Alice Matthews and James Dickson served frappe. Altogether it was one of the most entirely pleasing affairs ver recorded in the long history of the First church.

UNIQUE AS A LITIGANT

IS THE UNORDINARY HEAD OF THE MUNICIPAL LEAGUE.

E. B. Sturges Refuses to Win a Suit on a Technicality and Proposes When He Does Win It on Its Merits to Decline to Profit by His Victory-Verdict Reached in the Case of Fowler Against the Meadow Brook Water Company, but Not Yet Reported.

As will be readily believed, E. B. Sturges, the head of the Municipal league, is an unordinary man in many

It is unnecessary to cite instances of the past that go to prove this. The general public will accept the bave statement. His latest unordinary action, however, is verging on the unique It probably is unique. He is defend-ant in a case that he is extremely anxious to win, yet refuses to win it on a technicality, and declares on the side that if he does win he will not allow himself to profit by the

The case is that of the city of Scranton against E. B. Sturges. It is an action to recover the cost of paving In front of Mr. Sturges' property on North Washington avenue, between Gibson street and Electric avenue. He opposed the payment on the ground that the paying company had not fulfilled its contract and succeeded in having the liens stricken off by showing them to be defective in that his property was all covered by one assessment, though it was in different tracts and not contiguous. The city now sues in assumpsit and he is de fending on the ground that the pay ing was not properly done.

WORK DONE IN 1891.

The work was done by the now defunct Scranton Trinidad Asphalt Paying company in 1891. It was paid for in city bonds, but the city was to be held liable for only such assessments as were actually collected. The real HIGGINS NOT TO BLAME. as were actually collected. The real pany, although there is a possibility the company can recover this particular assessment from the city by alleging negligence in collection.

The contract provided that the pay ing should be first class as to workmanship and material: that the pave should be kept in repair for five years. and that at the end of the guarantee period the pave should be in as good condition as when first laid, with a full two-inch cushion and no breaks

Mr. Sturges as the chief owner of the lots on which the Columbus colliery and the Suburban electric light works are located and the Johnson's lake grounds, just opposite, was called upon to sign for $4,000 worth of pave. in addition to several thousand dollars worth farther out, on the avenue. and, as he felt that this was very much in the nature of a public contribution, he expected to get at least reasonably fair treatment from the city councils, the public's representa-

But, according to his story, he was very shabbily treated, and, as might be expected he waxed wroth alled attention to certain apparent defects in the material, but no attention was paid to his plaint. Three months before the guarantee period had expired, he, with nearly all the other property holders on the portion of the avenue covered by the contract, petitioned councils not to release the guarantee bond of the company until such time as the pave was put in repair The cushion was almost completely worn out along the whole length of the avenue, and so filled was it with ruts, holes and breaks that it was practically worse than no pave at all. Yet the council's released the company's bond and allowed it to escape its contract obligation.

Thereupon Mr. Sturges declared that he would pay no more assessments until the pave was put in repair. This declaration was evidently regarded as an empty threat, but seven years have passed and Mr. Sturges has not paid cent on the balance he was owing. He paid nearly $6,000 in principal and interest on property held in his own name, and $3,600 more on properties in which he had a controlling interest, but this was during the first four year that the pave was laid. The fifth and succeeding annual installments he never paid.

WON'T PAY COMPANY.

Now, however, Mr. Sturges is willing to pay what it is claimed he owes, but not to the Trinidad Asphait Pay company's bond holders. The pave has been repaired by the city under the recent ten-year contract with the Barber Asphalt company, and the city is to get Mr. Sturges' money.

He wants to win the suit now at bar as a vindication of his position and is determined to win, no matter what trouble and expense it may involve. He could have won it, or at least have had it thrown over for a time, by taking advantage of a technicality yesterday, but his attorneys rereived instructions to let it proceed to test of its merits and the technicality was allowed to go by the board Little progress was made with the case yesterday. The attorneys for the plaintiff are submitting evidence of the amount of the claim. It is possible the case will go over into next week. The plaintiff is represented by City Solicitor George M. Watson and Cornelius Comegys, attorney for the asphalt company. Mr. Sturges' counsel are T. F. Wells, ex-City Solicitor James H. Torrey and James Gardner

DATE FOR BALL FIXED.

It Will Be Held on June 14-Many Details Agreed Upon at Last Night's Meeting.

That rapid progress is being made in the arrangement for the coming military ball of the Thirteenth regiment was evidenced at the meeting of the executive committee which was held last evening in the office of Captain D. B. Atherton, board of trade rooms, Those present at the meeting were: '. S. Weston, Henry Belin, jr., Colonel E. H. Ripple, A. G. Hunt, Henry Kingsbury, Stanley Allen, Captain Frank Vandling, W. H. Taylor, Captain W. A. May, W. G. Parke, W. G. O'Malley, Conrad Schroeder, Edward

Lieutenant Walter Gunster. In the absence of Major Oakford, olonel Ripple presided as chairman of the meeting. Perhaps the most important work done by the committee last night was the naming of the exact date of the ball, which is to take place on Friday evening, June 14,

Robinson, Captain D. B. Atherton and

Captain Atherton, in the absence of he invitation committee, made a report of the great success attending the ommittee's efforts to secure a promfrom Vice-President Roosevelt and Lieutenant General Miles to attend the ball. Although the unfortunate illness of Mrs. McKinley may probably prevent the president from coming to Scranton, it is still confidently hoped that the presidential party will be induced to stop off here for a few hours on June 14 while journeying from Buffalo to New York.

After a discussion of the best means r preventing the counterfeiting of tickets, the printing committee was ordered to immediately proceed to issue the required number according to the plan adopted. The tickets will be on sale early next week.

Mr. A. G. Hunt reported for the floor ommittee. There will be forty dances: eleven waltzes, three lancers and tweny-six two steps. It is not certain that Alexander's band can be secured for the date mentioned. If not, the Third Brigade band, of Pottsville will be employed instead. The chairman of the committee was ordered to request the nanagement of the Steel Tired Wheel company to shut down their steam hammer on the night of the ball, so that the noise might not may the occa-

Owing to the fact that Colonel Watres would probably be engaged during the entire evening looking after the amfact of the distinguished be floor committee named instead Adjutant Atherton to lead the grand march. Adjutant Atherton pointed out that such action might be a serious breach of military etiquette, and the matter was finally referred to the regimental staff to ascertain what the proprieties in such matters were.

Conrad Schroeder, chairman of the box construction committee, displayed design for the boxes, which was dopted. It calls for the construction of the boxes in amphitheater form, hus insuring an unobstructed view

Mr. Stanley Allen, chairman of the printing committee displayed a beautiful dance order design, which was accepted. It is composed of kid finshed board, having on its front page the intertwined national and state colors above a steel engraving of the new armory.

An entire company of the regiment under arms, will be detailed to do dury in and about the armory on the night f the ball.
