THIS AND THAT.

Chief Bridgeman, the clarinet player of Bauer's orchestra, had a narrow escape this afternoon from being arrested for a burglary. Patrolman Grenon, the latest acquisition to the police force, was responsible for the incident.

It seems the first night that Grenon was on duty, Bridgeman had been playing an engagement up the valley and did not return to the city until after midnight. It has been his custom for the past thirteen years to leave his instruments at Powell's music store, where he is employed.

At it will be remembered that recently Attorney M. J. Martin was recently declared elected to the office of city auditor to fill the vacancy which will occur in case the Muchthroner bill is declared unconstitutional, he had only twenty-one votes, or one short of a majority, recorded in his favor.

ing of the common council minutes does not at all alter the situation.

Harry G. Fuller, formerly of Scranton, grandson of the late E. C. Fuller, has just passed the entrance examinations to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., having received his appointment from the state of Vermont. Naval Cadet Fuller will soon start on his first cruise on board the Indiana. The itinerary of the Indiana is as follows: Leave Annapolis June 10; arrive Newport News June 15; leave June 20, and arrive New London June 27; leave July 1 for cruise in Gardiner's Bay and Block Island Sound and arrive Newport July 15; leave July 15 and arrive at Point Fort Belknap, where transfer of cadets with Chesapeake will take place; leave July 23, arrive New London July 23; leave July 27 and arrive Portland Aug. 3; leave Aug 7 and arrive Halifax Aug. 10; leave Aug. 15 and arrive Newport News Aug. 20; leave Aug. 25 and arrive Annapolis Aug. 28.

Six hundred Lake Erie catfish were placed in Lake Henry at Maplewood on Saturday. The assignment was secured by ex-Sheriff Robinson, who has a cottage at Lake Henry. These fish are unusually toothsome and grow to large size.

The handsome $250 silver trumpet won by the Eagle company at the Phil Sheridan fair has been presented to the company's president, Senator J. C. Vaughan.

Louis Ribbs, of New York, is the guest of his brother, H. Levy, of Madison avenue. Assistant Postmaster D. W. Powell has returned from Philadelphia, where he spent several days.

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Evans, of Delaware street, have returned from a week's visit at Oceanville, Pa.

Mark Haddock, of Oak street, is seriously ill with typhoid fever in the Mary Fisher hospital, Scranton.

Miss Hadenberg has returned from a visit to Atlantic City, Philadelphia and Harrisburg. Colonel J. D. Lacer, of Wilkes-Barre, was in the city Saturday.

Will Come to Scranton. It is believed that the State Conclave of Knights Templar Will Be Held Here Next Year.

The members of Coeur de Lion commandery, No. 17, and Melita commandery, No. 68, Knights Templar, accompanied by Father's Thirteenth regiment band, will leave this afternoon at 10 o'clock on the Jersey Central railroad for Reading to attend the convocation of the Grand commandery of the state to be held in that city tomorrow and Wednesday.

It is expected that at least one hundred members of Coeur de Lion commandery, commanded by Eminent Commander Fred W. Warner, and seventy-five members of Melita commandery, commanded by Eminent Commander Walter L. Henwood, will leave on the train. They will participate in the parade to be conducted tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock and will return to this city late Wednesday night.

Major T. Frank Penman, of this city, will become at this convocation the grand commander, which is the highest office in the state organization. Major Penman was elected grand junior warden at the convocation held in this city in 1896 and every year since then he has advanced one grade, until this year he becomes grand commander.

The positions which he has held in their proper order are as follows: grand junior warden, grand senior warden, grand captain general, grand generalissimo and deputy grand commander, which latter office he now holds.

It is an unwritten law in the state organization that the convocations shall be held in those cities in which the retiring grand commander lives. This means that Scranton will probably have the honor of again entertaining the Knights Templar next spring, as Major Penman will at that time retire.

Williamsport is understood to be anxious to have the convocation held within her borders next year, but the local members believe that her representatives will withdraw from the fight when they hear that a strong effort is being made to bring the convocation to this city.

ADMINISTERED CONFIRMATION. Sacrament Conferred at St. Peter's Cathedral by Bishop Hoban.

Nearly 200 boys and girls received the sacrament of confirmation at the hands of Bishop Hoban at St. Peter's cathedral yesterday afternoon. The bishop was assisted in the ceremony by Rev. J. A. O'Keefe, rector of the cathedral; Rev. J. J. Griffin, chancellor of the diocese; and Rev. Father Van Rens, of the cathedral.

The girls were dressed in the customary costumes of white, with white veils and floral wreaths, and made a most pretty picture in the processions attendant upon the ceremony. Preceding the administration of the sacrament, Bishop Hoban in simple terms made a resume of the instructions the children received during their preparation for the sacrament, explaining its significance and impressing upon them by anecdotal and other illustrations the meaning of "strong and perfect Christian." He also had them all renew their baptismal vows.

LACKAWANNA'S NEW ENGINES

HAVE BEEN RECEIVED FROM SCHEENECTADY.

Superintendent Clarke Says the New Engines Will Enable Them to Go for Three Months Without Inconvenience Should the Strike Last That Long—False Alarm Was Turned in from the Car Shops and Was Followed by a Small Riot. Meeting of Car Workers.

General Superintendent T. E. Clarke, of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company, yesterday stated that the company has been putting on a large number of new engines during the last two months and now considers itself fully equipped to stand the strike for at least three months without inconvenience. Mr. Clarke was seen at his residence by a Tribune man last evening, and in discussing conditions along the line said:

"During the last sixty days, and especially the last few weeks, we have secured nearly fifty new engines for freight, passenger and switching services. This places us in excellent shape, as the supply of new engines will stand the strike for many months. They were built at the Schenectady Locomotive works, where we have placed another large order. We do not expect any more engines, however, until October or November.

"We are now in a position to carry all our traffic, including the Pan-American, for at least three months, without the men who are on strike. We have at present sufficient employees for our needs, and when we want more we will get them. Every new man means one place less for the old employees."

When Mr. Clarke was asked whether any definite action had been taken, regarding the removal of the car shops to Binghamton, he gave the first direct information on the matter which has yet come from a Lackawanna official. Said he:

"We have received a very tempting offer from Binghamton, and it is now under consideration. Our people are talking very favorably of it, but no final disposition has been yet made."

A SMALL RIOT. Last evening a small riot occurred in the Lackawanna yard. A false alarm was turned in and 213 sounded. This is the car shop number and the Crystal Hose company and the Hook and Ladder company responded, only to find that there was not the suspicion of a blaze. A large crowd followed the firemen to the scene, and when a number of small boys and excitable men caught sight of the pail shops, in which are quartered the impetuous, patriotic, and impulsive, "hoose," "cries of 'seab' and 'black-leg' were howled at every workman seen about the place, until they were forced to retreat into the shops.

Immediately a fusillade of the place began and it fairly rained stones about the windows and door, until every pane of glass was shattered. No one was injured, however. The alarm was not turned in from any box, nor was a telephone message sent to any of the companies. It is thought that wires were tampered with by the person who sounded the alarm.

Superintendent Clarke last night signified his intention of today commencing the strike out from the order to determine some method of discovering the mischief maker, and it is likely that a reward will be offered for his arrest and conviction.

President Zehnder, of the Scranton Bolt and Nut company, does not verify the statement given out from the machinists' headquarters to the effect that he made a nine-hour day proposition, which was rejected. Mr. Zehnder denies absolutely that he made any such offer.

It is paying today at the Dickson Manufacturing company's Locomotive works on Cliff street, at the Allis-Chalmers company's Penn avenue shop and at the Finch works, and the striking employees of these places will very likely march to them in a body to receive their wages this morning.

The McClave-Brooks company paid their men Saturday, as have also other of the concerns whose men are seeking the nine-hour day. A large number of them have already received their pay applied for union cards and, armed with these, already have left, or will in the near future leave Scranton to seek employment elsewhere. Others have secured work in the city, these being notably car builders, and are getting along comfortably as painters, carpenters, etc.

CAR BUILDERS MET. The car builders met yesterday morning in Economy hall and transacted an amount of routine business. No fresh importations of men by the Lackawanna have been heard of, but Saturday night between twenty and twenty-five of the hands brought up from Philadelphia received their wages for the few days' work done and left the city. The machinists have decided to repeat the entertainment which they recently gave at the Lyceum, and contemplate taking it to Buffalo, New York, and other places.

They believe that by so doing they can realize a considerable sum to be utilized during the strike. The performance will embody the same programme given with such success before, but will be of a much more complete nature, as the business part of the last meeting will be, of course, entirely dispensed with.

At the meeting of Electric City Lodge, Friday night, two apprentice boys were allowed full strike benefits by the lodge. They had both been discharged by the company, on account of having piloted through the Lackawanna yard two of the imported men who expressed their desire to leave the premises when they heard a strike was in progress.

The exclusive interview with Master Builder Canfield, which appeared in Saturday's Tribune, in which he made his statement regarding the number of men at work along the line, was claimed with derision by the strikers, who claim that the men went out in a body at all the points where the master builder says only a limited number struck.

Superintendent Clarke last night added the weight of his testimony to that of Mr. Canfield. He said: "We are working full force at some of the places and partial force at the others. In Buffalo we have one hundred and fifty men at work in the machine shops."

WITNESSES FROM SCRANTON.

Attended Session of United States Court in New York.

A large number of witnesses from Scranton have been in attendance in the United States Circuit court in New York city during the past eight or ten days for the purpose of testifying in behalf of the Lackawanna road in the suit brought against the road by Estor E. Devons, a child of about ten years of age. A verdict was rendered at the conclusion of the trial for $10,000 in favor of the plaintiff, who formerly resided with his mother at Stroudsburg. The cause of action arose on the night of November 22, 1892, near the Bridgeville station on the Lackawanna road. At that time the work was being killed, his wife was badly injured, and the child was permanently disabled, physically and mentally. The accident occurred at Hope crossing, where the railroad crosses the highway at a grade level. The crossing has been for years a menace to the surrounding community, a large number of fatal casualties having occurred there during the past fifteen or twenty years by reason, it is claimed, of the various obstructions between the highway and the tracks. There are no gates or flagman at the crossing.

The case was tried by Tyndall & Barton, of New York city, for the plaintiff, and Hamilton Odell for the defendant. Nearly fifty witnesses were brought in to show the progress of the trial. Among those from Scranton were William H. Seeley, Fred Werner, W. Meserole, Milton Yetter, Jackson L. Stoll and Sandy Stillwell.

IT'S ALL UP WITH THEM.

Jack Tierney Goes Into the Reform Business and Tackles an "Evil" That's Worth While.

Day by day, the reform movement is growing. At the outset, there has been a little fear that many months must come and go before public sentiment would be with the crusaders. The leading newspapers quickly realized that the movement was a movement that was going to move, and lost no time in giving it support. In the wake of the press came the pulpit, and, as must necessarily be when the press and pulpit join, the public quickly began to get in behind. Now it is to be chronicled the crowning consummation of an acquisition. Jack Tierney has turned reformer and joined in the crusade against the evil that more than all others has been assailed by the league—the illegal sale of liquor.

It was expected all along that Jack would come day or other be in line, but no one who knew him looked for his entrance until there was a foe afraid worthy of his steel.

Sturges and Wilson and those other, every-day sort of reformers might not even enthusiastic engagement in stacking up against the speakeasies, Sunday saloons, gambling houses and the like, but ordinary lines like these didn't measure up to Jack's dimensions as a reformer. As he aptly expressed it himself, he has set dancing his feet from a fish boat in front of a Penn avenue market last night: "Push, I'll throw that size back in the pond."

The big, millionaire New York, Newark and Philadelphia brewer, who Jack has picked out as his victims. Ever keenly alert for the minutest infraction of the law, Jack saw—while other seekers for rampant evils saw not—that these out-of-town breweries were selling their wares here, and that he was going to get them. "I'll just take a fly at those fellows," said Jack, and the next wink Jack was rousant and in full charge after his prey.

Just by way of practice he tackled St. Stroudsburg brewery first. Warrants were issued at his instance for Conrad Heilig and Charles Stoummer, the company's local distributors; and today they are expected to be taken into custody. When he has done with those he will be ready for the bigger game and before he subsides it can be safely wagered that there won't be enough to this particular evil left to make excuse for a clause in a temperance convention set of resolutions.

COURT HOUSE IS CROWDED.

Perplexing Question as to How to Provide for New Officials.

Somewhat perplexing to the county commissioners is the question as to how to provide quarters for the two new officials who are soon to come to the court house.

The orphans' court judge must be provided with chambers on the first or second floors and there being no room available on the second floor, a place will have to be found for him on the first floor.

The county controller cannot avail himself of the quarters of the orphans' court, even though it should be decided they are superseded by him, as they are always a year behind in their audit and will have to work for another year before they can clear up the auditing to the day the controller takes office.

Consequently, the controller, too, must be supplied with an office, and although it is not absolutely essential that he should be on the first floor, it would be inconvenient to have him on the third floor, and the commissioners feel they should find a place for him on the first floor.

To add to the perplexity, the new system of government under which the county will soon be working makes the register of wills, the clerk of the orphans' court and delegates to him charge of the marriage license decket. This means that the register will need larger quarters.

One plan being considered is to make the grand jury room, the orphans' court, and cut up the present arbitration room into two offices. This would give the required number of rooms, and all that would remain to be done would be to rearrange the offices.

SECOND WEEK SUMMED UP

WHAT THE LEADERS DID IN THE CONTEST LAST WEEK.

Meyer Lewis Brought in the Largest Number of Points, with William Miles Second, and Garfield Anderson Third—Three New Enrollments Saturday—A New Leader in the List This Morning—A Good Time to Begin.

Standing of the Leading Contestants

| 11. R. Leo Huber, Scranton... | 3 |

The third week of The Tribune's Educational Contest begins this morning, with much more interest manifested, and with a larger number of contestants than at the beginning of the second week. There were 255 points brought in during last week, divided as follows: Lewis, 88; Miles, 45; Anderson, 36; Schwenker, 32; Harris, 23; Miss Meredith, 14; Brunner, 12; Kemmerer, 12; Emery, 7, and Miss Pedrick, 5. It was the first week for the majority of the contestants and by next Saturday night it is expected that a considerable change will appear in the list of leaders will take place.

On Saturday David O. Emery, of Wimmers, made his first return, bringing in 7 points, and he takes ninth place away from Miss Pedrick. The positions of the rest of the contestants remain unaltered from the standing of Saturday morning.

New applicants for enrollment and the books of subscription blanks on Saturday were: James McHale, Archibald; Miss Evangeline Case, Thompson; and Thomas Roberts, of Moscow. It will be noticed that all of these beginners are from outside the city.

This is a most favorable time for any one to enter. The present leaders have only been at work a few days and may be easily caught and passed. For example, a contestant who begins today, by securing seven subscribers at one year each, would be at the very head of the list. Better begin now.

For a full description of the contest read the advertisement appearing to-day on the fourth page. For further information, or if desirous of obtaining a book of subscription blanks, address "Editor Educational Contest, Scranton Tribune, Scranton, Pa."
