inder instructions received from District Attorney W. R. Lewis, yesterday visited Carbondale and had a long talk with Dr. John Niles, who has come into prominence by reason of his action in sending a body, which he had used for dissecting purposes, off in a barret to Hewitt's fertilizing plant. The doctor showed the detective the letters which he had received from the State Anatomical society, from which he received the body, and referred him to a bond which he filed with the pro thonotary before the receipt of the cadaver. Detective Phillips hunted up this bond, and after seeing it expressed himself as being convinced that the doctor came by the body in a perfectly legitimate way. The body was shipped to Carbondale on Tuesday afternoon, but it has apparently been lost in transit, as it has not been received at Carbondale last night. Dr. Niles said yesterday that he had understood before giving the body to Hewitt's man that the bodies used by the anatomical society of this city were disposed of in a similar manner Yesterday Mr. Clarke was unfavor able in predicting fine weather, and we would have had it, were it not for an unfortunate circumstance which destroyed the value of the carefully ollected data from which he makes his prophecies. A storm suddenly developed between the Ohio valley and the Atlantic ocean and, sweeping over this territory, left in its track the disagreeable chilling rainfall which ontinued throughout the day.

What is considered a real, heavy ain is about two inches in twentyour hours. An inch an hour is considered excessive, and two and a half inches a day is considered abnormal. The heaviest rainfall which has drenched Scrantonians during this merry month of May, occurred on May 3, when $1-100 of an inch were recorded. Rain has fallen on all but eight days of this month so far.
