Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Laubach and Dr. E. J. Donagan, of this city, are in Williamsport, attending the fifty-third convention of the Susquehanna Dental society.

Colonel H. H. C. Dunwoody, of the signal corps of the United States army, stationed in Havana, arrived in the city yesterday. He is visiting his son, Halsey Dunwoody, of the weather bureau.

The Rev. F. P. May, pastor of the Cedar Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, received a telegram Tuesday, announcing the death of his brother, J. J. Doty, at Waverly, N. Y., and went to Waverly on Wednesday to attend the funeral.

THIS AND THAT.

The New York Herald of yesterday said: "H. P. Baldwin, who died on Tuesday evening at his home in Roselle, N. J., from liver trouble, was for nearly half a century the general passenger agent of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. He was the only man who ever held that position in the service of the road. Mr. Baldwin was born in 1829 in Orange, N. J. He was married, had three children, and died at the age of 72 years and 6 months. He was a member of the board of directors of the Jersey Central when its headquarters were at Elizabethport in Somerville, N. J., and very shortly afterwards was promoted to the place of general passenger agent. He held the place through all the changes in the road's ownership and management.

A few weeks ago, Mr. Baldwin, having asked to be relieved because of his failing health, the directors voted that he be retired on half pay, for nearly half a century he was never fired or really retained his position up to his death, while W. C. Hope has been charged with the actual duties. Mr. Baldwin's long service in an important position is a record in the history of the road. He was one of its founders in fact. A widow and four daughters survive him. One of Mr. Baldwin's daughters is Mrs. Isaac Post of this city.

J. Hudson Kaye, of Riverside, near Catawissa, is displaying a fine collection of plants. It is a species from which one hundred and thirty-four single and distinct stems have sprung. This fruit has caused considerable comment among the agricultural class, as it is an extreme rarity. Twenty or thirty stems springing from a single seed is a common occurrence.

THE FAELTEN RECITAL.

It Was Given in the Parish House Last Night.

St. Luke's parish hall was crowded to its utmost last night, on the occasion of the Faeltien piano recital, under the auspices of the Conservatory of Music. Professor Pennington prefaced the programme by a series of explanations. At 4 o'clock today a reception will be given to Mr. Faeltien at the Conservatory.

Mr. Faeltien, whose method is employed in the Scranton Conservatory, is a man with grey in his hair, but the spirit of youth in his face and in his touch. The programme which he selected on this occasion was one whose beauty and excellence must appeal to every music lover. He is a master of technique and expression to a degree not often achieved. His interpretation of the long Sonata, op. 53, of Beethoven, was distinctly artistic. The rather uninteresting first movement was imbued with exceptional brilliance, while in the really lovely adagio all the poetry of the motive was brought out. His interpretation of Schubert was perhaps the most enjoyable feature of the programme. A tenderness of feeling made the Minuet's humming melody rarely impressive, while in the Impromptu was perhaps the best illustration of his wonderful execution.

He played three Chopin numbers with taste and confidence. With a splendid program of selections from Rubenstein, including the great Etude de Concert, Mr. Faeltien received a beautiful bouquet of flowers at the end of the Sonata. Professor Pennington is to be praised for securing such an excellent talent for the benefit of the Conservatory pupils and their friends.

INTERESTING GOLF PLAYING.

Grounds Were Not in Condition for Record Playing.

The golf played at the Country Club links yesterday afternoon proved of a most interesting nature despite the soggy condition of the grounds, which made record playing impossible. There were fifteen entries in the Memorial day handicap match and at its finish A. H. Steers and Raymond Sanderson were tied for first place with net totals of 96.

DAMAGE DONE BY THE FLOOD

MANY PLACES INUNDED BY LACKAWANNA RIVER.

It overflowed its banks early yesterday morning and created much havoc up the valley—Business places at Olyphant and dwellings at Dickson City were flooded. Fields near the Rifle Range under water—Bridge near Driving Park Washed Away.

F. E. Clarke, the local weather man, says that the total rainfall for Wednesday was only 75 of an inch, but was sufficient, at any rate, to make a good sized stream out of the generally peaceful and harmless Lackawanna river. It overflowed its banks on Wednesday night and early yesterday morning all the way from Olyphant down to this city and did a deal of damage.

At the end of Hull avenue, in Olyphant, the river overflowed and inundated the lowlands south of the town. The Olyphant shoe factory, Douglas city's furniture store and J. and J. very stable also suffered greatly, the water getting into the basement of each, forcing the removal of goods. A small foot-bridge at Hull avenue was also swept away. Hoffmeyer's farm is almost entirely under water and hundreds of young plants have been destroyed.

At Dickson City and Pileburg a larger area was inundated. The large factory between the Ontario and Western and Delaware and Hudson railroad tracks was covered with about two feet of water yesterday afternoon, and the lower floors of a number of houses located upon it were flooded to the depth of several inches. The foot-bridge near the rifle range was washed away during the night.

The water got into portions of the basement and first floor of the Bliss silk mill, but did not do any serious damage, as there were no goods where they could be reached by the flood. The fifty girls who work in the mill over night were dismissed about 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning, when it was feared that the flood might assume serious proportions. They were helped out across an improvised bridge from the second floor of the mill to an adjoining culch pile.

A foot-bridge constructed some years ago across the river near the Providence station of the Delaware and Hudson was washed away and a big crowd of gypsies who have been encamped for a week near the old Driving Park were obliged to seek pastures new higher up the bank. Nay Aug avenue, near East Market street, was flooded yesterday morning, but the water drained off before noon.

From Dickson City comes the story of a young Polish boy who was standing on a pile of old timber, near the river bank, when it fell into the water. He was rescued by a rope thrown from a piece of the timber when a man standing on the bank jumped in and grasped the boy. He then clutched the branch of an overhanging tree and pulled himself and the boy into it. They were rescued by a rope thrown from the crowd which quickly gathered.

The river began to recede early yesterday morning, and while it was still rather high last night, nevertheless, all danger was past.

LOCAL CARRIERS WON.

Interesting Ball Game That Was Not Finally Decided Until a Banquet Had Intervened.

The annual ball game between the Scranton and Pittston letter carriers took place yesterday at Athletic park, and as their wont the Pittston team was victorious.

The method, though, by which they accomplished their victory can only be fittingly characterized as a dirty Pittston trick. No agreement had been made as to the details of the playing and the taking advantage of this, the Pittston pitcher throughout the game pitched at the top of his speed and made it well-nigh impossible for the Scranton batsmen to make a hit.

The home team was also handicapped by the presence of its captain, Right Fielder Schantz. It was thought to pull off the game without letting him in, but the wind of it was on deck and insisted on playing. The team wanted him to retire at the end of the second inning, but the Pittston players refused to continue unless he was kept in the game, and, in consequence, he stayed.
