ceding witness, contradicted Neary as to Herbert's referring to Billiott by

RIPMINGHAM'S STORY

The strongest testimony connecting Billiot with the stabbing was given by James Birmingham. He was one the group on the crossing where the fight was taking place. While it was in progress a man came running out of the Scream house, carrying a knife and passing over the crossing pushed into the crowd. A moment later the fight was over. Before Birmingham could reach the crowd Herbert was stabbed and the crowd was dispersing, Hirmingham says positively this man was Billiott. He knew him, recognized him as he passed by and positively identified him at the hearing before Alderman Jones.

Mrs. Sarah Days corroborated Birmingham as to everything except seeing a knife in Billiott's hand.

She was waiting for her husband near the crossing. Hearing the muste in the Serrano house, she strolled over that way and looked through the open window. Tom Serrano and Billiott were dancing in the front room. When they stopped they went out the back way, came around to the front, and were standing near the sidewalk, when come one came out of the house and told them that a boy had thrown a cotten orange through the window and struck the fiddler Serrano went over to the crossing to chastise the boy, who was pointed out as being the one that did the throwing. Billiott tarried a moment, went towards the back of the house and, upon reappearing, hurried over to the crossing where a fight was now in progress. Serenno and Golden were struggling in close embrace. Golden's ar had been chewed off by Serrano, Herbert stepped in to save Golden and just at this juncture Billiott came up to where the struggle was going on. BILLIOTT PASSED HER.

Mrs. Davis testified that just as Billiott reached the crowd she was starting to cross the two tracks intervening between her and the street When she got across she stopped and looked back at the crowd. The fighting had stopped and the crowd was dispersing. The discovery that Herbert was stabbed stopped the fight. Billiott passed her out on the way to the fight and again when he was coming back, Mes. Davis testified, and when asked if she could positively identify the defendant as the man who had passed her out, she replied: "I have taken my oath. That's the man

I saw. cross-examination she reluctantly admitted she did not know Billiott, and when the question was put to her as to whether or not she had ever seen Billiott before the night of the fight, it had to be repeated three times before she would answer, and when the auswer came it was a hesitating, faint "No."

Golden and Scott were put on the stand, but they did not see the stabbing. The defense will open this time. This is the West Scranton of Hunt girl into a box car near the Mt. Pleasant breaker and committed as saults on her.

Thomas Barry, Edward Padden Ambrose Padden, Martin Horan, Miles Boyd and Patrick McMahon comprise the accused sextette. Barry and Edward Paddden, however, are the only arraigned for assault. The others are held merely as witnesses.

The girl's story is to the effect that she was lounging in front of her father's house, 206 West Luckawanna avenue, on the evening of April 4 last when four young men came along and tried to induce her to accompany them. She refused, whereupon they caught hold of her and forced her to go along. She screamed for help, but no one, it seems, heard her, although Lieutenant Williams and Patrolman Matthews testify they were in that vicinity at the time. They took her up the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western track, forced her to enter a box car and following her in held her a prisoner in a dark corner.

Some one who had seen the girl going up the track in company with a couple of youths told Lieutenant Williams about it and, with Patrolmen Matthews and Evans he followed up, overtook the party in the box car and arrested all seven.

The defendants and the four young men arrested with them, tell the story that they met at the West Lackawanna avenue crossing and started for their home in North Scranton by way of the Lackawanna tracks. It began to rain heavily when they reached the Mt, Pleasant breaker and they stopped under the culm bridge. While there a young man whom they did not know came to the door of a box car standing nearby on a switch and asked for a chew of tobacco. He was given for $2,500 and that when he appealed the chew. Seeing that the car was to have the assessment reduced the open and that it would give protection from the rain the sextette went in. They were not in there long before the youth who had begged the chew and two others who were with ors raised it to $5,000 him slid out and disappeared. Shortly after this the police came and scroped

The stories of the sextette were somewhat at variance as to details Some of them claimed they did not even suspect that there was a girl in the car until the police lanterns disclosed her crouching in a corner One of them, however, told that he snew there was a girl, for soon after entering the car he struck a match to ight a cigarette and as he did a girl's roice was heard commanding him to 'put out that light." He blew out he light but not until he had seen the outline of two or three men in he far corner of the car, none of whom were members of his party. District Attorney W. R. He swore to the court that there was another Joseph Restofer n Old Forge and that it was the other Joseph who was implicated in the azsault. Court suspended sentence, and directed County Detective Phillips to bring in the other Joseph Restofer. The other Joseph was brought in, indicted and yesterday given trial. He was acquitted in short order.

BEFORE JUDGE CARPENTER.

In the case in which Winans Hull, of arbondale, was charged by R. E. Wells with impersonating an officer, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty, but directed the defendant to pay the costs.

The case in which Wells charges Ambrose Pigin with stealing his watch, was in the hands of a jury at adjourning time. On the night that Wells had is exciting run of experiences with Pigin, Lyman Baker, Hull and Carrie Stiles, the party, with the exception of Miss Stiles, went riding in a cab, Wells lost his watch while in the cab. Later it was recovered in Green's pawn shop, and Pigin was identified as be man who had left it there. Pigin admitted this, but denied the charge of having stolen it. He claimed he found the watch.

When Wells had Hull arrested for impersonating an officer, Lyman Baker, who was one of Hull's accomplices. caused Carrie Stiles, the alleged decoy, to have Wells arrested for criminal assault, Wells had Miss Stiles arrested for perjury, and Baker for subornation of perjury. Miss Stiles yesterday pleaded guilty. She said Wells did not at- P. P. Gravie, E. A. Gardner. tempt to assault her; that she accompanied him willingly on the walk ind the others came up and put Wells, D. H. Hartman, C. E. Hutchins, under arrest, she ran away. She further said that she was put up to swear out the warrant against Wells by Lyman Baker. The case against Baker fails by reason of the fact that the defendant is dead, having been drowned in Lake Lodore last week.

Just at the adjournment of court yes erday afternoon, Constable H. H. of Carbondale, served a warrant on Wells, in which he is charged with having furnished liquor to Pigin, who is a minor. Chief of Police McAndrew and Constable E. J. Neary interfered in behalf of Wells and had Judge Edwards direct the constable to release his prisoner, because of his being a witness for the commonwealth and not subject to arrest while at court or on his way to or from court.

Chief McAndrewand Constable Neary soundly Pated Constable Pierce and those for whom he is acting when they overtook him in the corridor with the unfortunate Wells in custody. The officers openly charged that Wells had been made the victim of a sort of badger game and that the newest ar-rest was corrected for the purpose of laying grounds for compromise Agent Robert Wilson, of the Municlpal league, was again saddled with costs in a liquor case, he was prosecuting. It was the case against Henry Walthers, who is a bottler and who sold by the glass to two of the league's detectives. Walthers practically ad-The Edna Hunt case occupied most pritted the charge, but claimed he honof the day in the main court room and estly believed his bottler's license gave was still under way at adjourning him the right to sell by the glass. Ex-Assessor Sues City.

Ex-City Assessor John A. Neuls yes terday brought suit against the city through his attorneys. Vosburg and Dawson, to recover salary for the months of April and May. Mr. Neuls was a member of the board of three city assessors elected in 1899 and was removed by Recorder Moir at the beginning of the present fiscal year by the authority vested in him by the Muchlbronner hill

Neuls had at that time a year of his term yet to serve and he holds that the recorder had no right to remove him Inasmuch as the Muchlpronner bill did not do away with the
