HE SPOKE OF THE FLAG

Eloquent Tribute Paid to American Emblem by Dr. C. M. Giffin Before Great Audience.

It was a congregation of great proportions which thronged the Elm Park Methodist Episcopal church last night and listened with thrills of patriotic fervor to the very eloquent sermon which Dr. C. M. Giffin preached in honor of the special flag service. The altar was hidden behind a colossal mass of palms, ferns, wild and cultivated flowers, on either side of which were seen the folds of American flags.

Dr. Giffin chose his text from Psalm 71: "They sent up their ensigns for signs." "When the ancient Jews in Jerusalem," he said, "saw the standards of Rome waving on the towers of their temple, they saw the flag of the enemy and realized that they were not there for decoration, but for destruction and recognized their language as the language of hatred. "We have reason to be glad that our ensign is still in the air. It has been shot at by many an antagonist, and upheld by many hands, and now still waves unsullied and pure. And yet it is very elastic. It stands for you young Americans have not clearly and concisely understood the reason for this ensign. Do you know that it is nearly the oldest national banner in use among the great powers? The tricolor of France, the yellow and red of Spain, the banner of Italy, the standards of Russia and Germany are all of comparatively recent adoption. The red emblem of England, with its white cross, was only adopted in 1801. And right here I wish to say that I adore England as a magnificent nation, and I do believe in Anglo-American alliance, but never on the basis that we are the weaker nation and have to crawl in under the superior power of Great Britain.

CHARTERS GRANTED TO LOCAL COMPANIES

Scrantonians at the Head of a Concern Which Will Build New Trolley System in and About Scranton and Wilkes-Barre.

Charters for five new trolley companies, to serve Scranton and vicinity, were granted at Harrisburg, Saturday, under the provisions of the Poehl and Emery acts, signed by Governor Stone, Friday night.

The companies receiving the charters were the North End Street Railway company, the West End Street Railway company, the South Side Street Railway company, the South Wilkes-Barre and Avoca Street Railway company, and the Wilkes-Barre, Hudson and Northeastern Railway company.

The five companies are capitalized at $500,000. Practically the same interests are identified with all five companies and some of the more prominent companies prominently figure in the Scranton and Northeastern Railroad company, the Lackawanna and Wyoming Valley Traction company, the Wilkes-Barre Railway company, the Conell Park and Speedway Street Railway company and other proposed lines, generally regarded as connections or feeders for the big rapid-transit trunk line which is to extend from Carbonate to Wilkes-Barre.

How William Connell is president of the five new companies, and a director in each of them. The other directors are Theodore D. Connell, Dr. A. J. Connell, of Scranton; George A. Lee, of Philadelphia; and Senator Benjamin K. Focht, of Lewisburg.

The North End Street Railway company will serve the central city, Providence, Green Ridge, Dunmore and Peetersburg. Its trunk will extend out Franklin avenue to possibly 10th or maybe 11th street, and thence out Wyoming avenue to the northern boundary of the city.

The West End Street Railway company will operate lines on West Scranton, reaching Main avenue by way of the Mulberry street bridge. It will in a measure supersede the Conell Park and Speedway company.

The South Side Street Railway company will go to South Scranton by way of the Linden street bridge. It will in a measure supersede the Conell Park and Speedway company.

The South Wilkes-Barre and Avoca company will have its tracks extending between Avoca and Nanticoke and serve the whole city of Wilkes-Barre, together with its surrounding territory. This line will have fifty-four miles of tracks.

The Wilkes-Barre, Hudson and Northeastern company will run from Nanticoke by way of Kingston and Hudson to Pittston. This line will be sixteen miles in length.

Out of all the scores of applications for charters under the new trolley law, the provision of the new laws which apply particularly in the case of the new Scranton companies are those which deprive an old company of exclusive rights on bridges, and on streets for which they have franchises, but on which they are not operating.

One of the other of the companies allied with the Scranton Railway company and announced himself to be a Mr. Smith.

The central police station was notified, but when the companion of Mr. Smith heard that a patrolman was coming down to the hospital, he seized his son and came by the arm and they left the hospital hurriedly. Smith's wounds were evidently made by a pocket-knife.

CROWDS WERE ENORMOUS.

Buffalo Bill Did a Great Business Here on Saturday.

Enormous crowds attended both performances of the Buffalo Bill show on Saturday and it is no exaggeration to say that thousands of persons were turned away from the show. The street car company reaped a small fortune carrying men, women and children out to the grounds. Both performances were excellent and from the spectators there came much but words of praise for the splendid shows and handsome animals.

Probably one of the most applauded acts of the day was the performance given by the troupe of Eastern tumblers and acrobats, "The Iron Horse," which made a great hit. The troupe who make a great hit. The troupe who make a great hit. The troupe who make a great hit.

The closing feature of the program, the "Stage of Iron Horse," also proved a winner with the great attendance. During the afternoon performance there was a rather amusing incident in connection with the stage which aroused a great deal of laughter from those who saw it. During the most exciting part of the act, when the arena is hidden by dust and smoke, when cannon are firing and rifles cracking, the hospital corps is introduced and carries out the wounded men.

Two litter bearers in black, bearing a limp-looking individual in a Japanese uniform, came rushing along towards the exit, when they loomed up before them the tall form of a genuine specimen of the American countryman, home-spun, black whiskers, and all the other distinguishing marks. Like men on a life and death struggle, the two stalwart soldier boys, swooped on a inch from their path, but butted into the gentleman from the rear, and as he dropped head over heels, passed out of sight. The countryman rose in a dazed sort of way grinned stupidly, and then joined in the general laugh at his expense.

STABBED IN A BRAWL.

Wounded Man Said It Was Done at Buffalo Bill Show.

Early yesterday morning a man was brought into the Lackawanna hospital, suffering severely and with the blood pouring freely from seven more or less deep knife cuts. He refused to give any information about himself, and merely declared that he was stabbed in a brawl at the Buffalo Bill show.

HORSE'S WILD FROLIC.

Animal Driven by Wm. Brace in Runaway Saturday.

What might have been a serious runaway occurred at Green Ridge Saturday forenoon, when a spirited horse, driven by William Brace, took flight near the Delaware and Hudson crossing, on Monsey avenue, and ran up that street.

At the curve near Conrad Schroeder's barn, the driver was thrown from the carriage and the horse continued up the avenue to Green Ridge street, where the carriage collided with an electric light pole with such force that the horse broke loose from it and ran down Green Ridge street to the Delaware and Hudson crossing, jumping the gates, which were down at the time, and continued the run to West Scranton.

When it reached the owner's barn, there was not a strap of harness left on it. Fortunately neither driver nor horse were hurt but the carriage was badly damaged.

ARMORY NOW COMPLETED.

Work of Decorating the Interior is Progressing Rapidly.

The handsome new armory of the Thirtieth regiment is now completed in practically every detail, and the only workmen within the magnificent structure are those preparing for the military ball, with which the armory is to be opened on Friday night next. The flag sidewalks have been laid around the building, and a force of workmen are engaged repairing the roads on Myrtle street and Adams avenue, so appearance and be broken by troops at the great social affair may approach the building with the greatest ease and comfort, no matter what the condition of the weather is on the night of the ball.

The east drill room has already begun to glow with the decorations, which work is being rushed forward day and night. The contract requires that all decorations be in place ready for inspection on Tuesday.

The great structure is laid out in an almost perfect manner for the purpose for which it is to be used. It has a frontage of 160 feet on Adams avenue, and on Myrtle street takes up the entire block back to Jefferson avenue. The style of architecture is massive, yet graceful, embracing the outlines of fortress and castle, and is one well suited to the character of the building. The front is heavy and dignified in appearance and is broken by towers at either end and on each side of the main entrance to the building. The towers are circular and have a battlement effect that adds greatly to the martial appearance of the building.

RELIGIOUS NEWS NOTES.

Rev. G. Baldwin, pastor of the First German Methodist Episcopal church, preached yesterday morning upon the proper observance of the Sabbath.

The service at the Adams avenue chapel last night was devoted to Sunday school work. The Sunday school superintendent, Charles Chandler, presided and brief addresses were made by James Lange, James H. Torrey, George W. Phillips and Rev. James Hughes, the pastor.

There was a special anthem praise service at the Adams avenue chapel last night. The service was conducted by Alfred Bode. He delivered a brief sermon on "The Message of Amos."
