THE SCRANTON TRIBUNE-TUESDAY, JUNE 11, 1901.

BLACKSMITHS DID NOT RE-TURN TO WORK.

Master Car Builder Canfield Says the Men Who Struck Are No Longer in Their Employ and Therefore They Have No Communication to before the weigh bills can be brought Receive From Them-Grand Master Hawley in the City-Miners ing was out of committee for a brief Pleased Over the Signing of the Garner Bill.

The blacksmith shops of the American Locomotive company on Cliff street were not opened yesterday, as only a few of the men who had been represented by the committee which waited upon Superintendent Delaney reported for work. The latter yesterday afternoon stated that six men had reported at the shops, but that no vork could be secured for them, as there were no blacksmiths' laborers to assist them.

The machine shops were opened yes terday, however, with about twenty apprentice boys at work, and three machinists. A mass meeting of the Lackawanna machinists, blacksmiths, boiler makers, etc., was held yesterday afternoon and the men made acquainted with the fact that Superintendent Clarke and the other Lackawanna authorities had refused to meet the strikers to talk over the situation. Master Car Builder Canfield was seen at his office yesterday by a Tribune man and asked whether it was true that he had refused to meet a committee of the strikers and discuss the situation. He answered There is no one for us to meet. All of the company's employes are perfeetly satisfied with existing conditions and other than the men on our pay rolls we recognize no one us being a company man. The strikers have sev ered their connection with us and there is nothing for me to meet a commlitee of them about." Mr. Canfield added that there are now one hundred and lifty-eight men working in the local shops and that at the shops all along the line very satisfactory conditions prevail. 'The total number of men we have at work." declared, "is one thousand one hundred and sixty seven, compared to one thousand six nundred and forty-one before the strike. The day after the cessation of labor was ordered we only had six hundred men. The fact that the strike is not crippling us to any extent is pretty evident, considering that we managed to handle a general business in May, greater than that of any May in the history of the road." Mr. Canfield left the city for New York last night.

Switchmens Grand Master in City. Grand Master Frank T. Hawley, of the Switchmen's union of North America, was in the city yesterday, on a brief visit to members of his family. who reside here. He left again last night.

He was seen during the afternoon by a Tribune man, and declared that everything was calm and serene in his union.

"We have just finished our convention at Milwaukee," he said, "and the session proved a highly satisfactory found that the membershi

MAJAJE.

Mysterious White Queen-A Woman of Caucasian Type Who Ruled an African Tribe-The Real Sovereign as Described by General Joubert From the Vague Reports of Whose Existence Came Haggard's Novel, "She."

Fom the New York Evening Post. For more than half a century the rainmaker for all the native tribes south of the Zambesi river, in South ran upstairs to the rooms from which Africa, was Majaje, the white queen they first saw smoke pouring, and of the Makatese tribe, which lived in carried out both boys. Santo, only two the woodbush in the northern part of years of age, died. Philip was badly the Transvaal. The Zulus, the Hottenburned, and may also die. tots, the Kaffers, the Basutos and scores of other tribes recognized her U. P. SENIORS CELEBRATE. as the great minmaker, and whitnever there was a licuth in their provinces they sent their emissaries to her with requests for rain.

The tales which white men heard acerning her led them to believe that Majaje was a myth, and Rider Haggard elaborated the report in his novel "She," which had for its leading character a mysterious white woman who ruled over a race of blacks somewhere in Central Africa. Haggard wrote his novel in the eighties, while he was in South Africa, and long before it was established that the white queen was not a myth. The fact that such a woman really lived was proved by three white men who talked with her, and graduates. one of those men, the late Piet Joubert, commandant general of the Boer army, was authority for this account of the woman.

Henning Pretorius, one of the Trans. caal's first commandant generals, and probably the most fearless Boer that ever lived, returned from one of his frequent journeys into unknown regions of the Transvaal in the latter part of 1889 and reported to his government that be had succeeded in seeing Majaje. In a voluminius report which he made of his journey he stated that the woman was quien of a section of the Makatese tribe and that her capital was surrounded by an alimpenetrable forest of small thorn trees. On the outskirts of this forest he was met by a large number of well armed tribesmen, who asked him and his companions to depart from the neighborhood immediately

Motion to Be Renewed.

Judge Kelly yesterday refused to or der the release from jail of Izib Iluli. but directed his attorney, John J. Murphy, to renew his motion later before the court en banc. Ituli was convicted of perjury and sentenced to six months' imprisonment. He was also directed by the court to pay $10 a month for the support of his wife, in a desertion case, and stand committed until the order of court was complied with. Ituli has now served six months in jail. Mr. Murphy contended that the two sentences should run concurrently and that Ituli might now be discharged upon representation to the court that he was unable to comply with the order directing him to pay $10 a month for his wife's support. Ituli is the Syrian whom Father Simon says he Judge Edwards yesterday handed down an order refusing the rule for a new trial in the case of G. A. Rule to Quash Indictments.

Rules to quash the indictments in the Old Forge councilmanic cases were granted yesterday. They are made returnable June 19. In the bribery cases against Messrs, Blancardi, Kilcoyne, Munroe, Gallagher and Stephens, the same ground as that advanced in the Finn case, namely, that the indictments were founded on evidence adduced in nother case.

In the misdemeanor in office cases against Councilmen Morgan and Naylor, the allegation is that the averments in the indictment are too vague und indefinite.

Blames It On Heart Disease.

Attorney John H. Bonner yesterday ecured from Judge Edwards a writ of habeas corpus, with a view of effecting the release of John Dugas, charged with the killing of Mike Rusniacka at Austin Heights, one week ago yesterday. The hearing is fixed for Friday morning The defendant admits that he had a quarrel with the deceased, during which some blows were exchanged, but claims that death was not due to these blows, but to heart disease.
