TRYING TO COMPROMISE Mitchell-Little Libel Case Is Still in

Process of Settlement-Must Accept Mitchell's Terms.

The criminal libel case of President John Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, against Editor Richard Little, of the Scrantonian, was on yesterday's list, but did not come up. District Attorney Lewis stated that he passed it by, temporarily, upon being notified by the counsel for the principals that the case was in process of settlement. Mr. Mitchell and his attorneys,

"Brien & Martin, had two consultations yesterday regarding the terms of settlement to be submitted for Editor Little's acceptance or rejection. It is understood these terms were drafted last night at a meeting in the St. Charles, and that they will be communicated to Editor Little today.

To escape prosecution, it is said, the Scrantonian will have to retract not only the charges made against Mr. Mitchell, but also those against the other Mine Workers' officials, and, in addition, withdraw the conspiracy ases brought against National Organizer Fred Dilcher and Martin D Flaherty, ex-president of the Central

MEETING OF BOARD OF TRADE.

Probably Last Session Until September Takes Place Monday.

The regular June meeting of the Board of Trade will be held at noon Monday, and it is expected that the meeting will prove an exceedingly interesting one. This will probably be the last meeting of the board until September, and therefore a full attendance is expected. It is expected that the special committee appointed to investigate the strike situation will make its report. The committee is known to have been at work quietly and energetically and a report from its members may have important bearing on local conditions.
