THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, June 11.—The desultory movement of prices in today's stock market demonstrated the professional character into which it has again relapsed. The volume of dealings fell back near to the level which was reached previous to last week's spurt of speculative activity. The diminished interest showed a tendency to become congested in a few stocks. The strength of these had some influence in sustaining the general market, but this waned in the latter part of the day. The opening made a good show of strength under the combined influence of favorable interpretation of the government crop report published after the close yesterday. The spring wheat grangers were consequently strong, while the Texas, Missouri and Kansas lines were held back. A sharp raid carried Texas and Pacific down 2⅞ from the high point, and Missouri Pacific itself fell under last night. The whole market suffered from realizing until the aggressive movement in Missouri Pacific checked this decline. This stock touched 122⅜ on well defined expectations of a coming dividend. The pressure on Texas and Pacific was attributed to a change in the ratio of its proposed exchange with Missouri Pacific stock, which has been supposed hitherto to be two shares for one of Missouri Pacific. The appearance of controlling standard oil interests in the directorate of the American Linseed company was responsible for the strength of those stocks and of National Lead, which, it is said, will benefit from the change. A number of the high priced specialties such as Sugar, Amalgamated Copper and American Tobacco fluctuated feverishly under the influence of what seemed purely speculative operations. Total sales today, 681,600 shares.

The demand for bonds was well distributed and prices advanced. Total sales, par value, $3,975,000. U. S. bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

THE LATE EDWARD KIMBALL.

He Paid Off $15,000,000 of Church Debts in the United States.

Edward Kimball, who had the distinction of having brought Dwight L. Moody into the church and wiped out about $15,000,000 in church debts in the United States and Canada, died a few days ago in the residence of his son, Dr. R. H. Kimball in Oak Park, Chicago. He was born in Rowley, Mass., July 29, 1823. When twenty-three years old he went to Boston and engaged in the carpet business, where he became the head of a large carpet house.

While a resident of Mount Vernon he joined the Mount Vernon Congregational church and taught a class in Sunday school. Dwight L. Moody was one of his pupils. Mr. Kimball went to New York in 1868 and engaged in the wholesale hardware business. He remained there until after the Chicago fire, when he removed to that city.

Abandoning business entirely in 1879, Mr. Kimball devoted his life to church work. Churches in Chicago, San Francisco, Oakland, Portland, Denver, Washington, Boston, Philadelphia, Newark and even in Canada were assisted by his labors, and millions of dollars were raised through his efforts to pay off mortgages and other debts which congregations had contracted.

No denomination or creed was specially favored. His eloquence and energy were always at the service of any church in financial distress.
