Connors denied the charge and said in defense that he had bought the fowl of a Lockville farmer named Hiram Brungess. The latter upheld Connors in his testimony, but still Mrs. McDonald claimed the goose as hers. The alderman was in a dilemma only for a short time. He quickly decided to adopt Solomon's plan of settling the dispute. Accordingly the goose was placed in charge of Constable Joseph White, and he was given instructions to take it to Mrs. McDonald's place of residence and release it. If the goose entered the property, that would indicate it was familiar with the place and belonged to Mrs. McDonald. If it failed to recognize the place it was a strange goose and belonged to Mr. Connor. The constable carried out instructions. The goose upon being released hesitated a moment as if puzzled and then started down the street in the direction of Connor's store, and he was given the decision by the alderman.

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, June 14.—An overwhelming proportion of the day's dealings was in Union Pacific and St. Paul and the scrutiny of the day's transactions will reveal that the strength in the market was largely confined to the same stocks. The influence of the strength on the list was considerable during the early part of the day, but it steadily waned. There was some other in later upwards movements, but these also had little effect on the general list.

It was not until Union Pacific itself relapsed in the last hour of the trading that the selling made any notable improvement in prices. At that time there were sharp breaks all around, which carried the average level of prices below last night's and the subsequent rallies were insignificant, the market closing heavy under renewed selling. All the professional elements in the market seemed to join in the speculative movement in St. Paul and Union Pacific. The specific assertion that Union Pacific had acquired 250,000 shares of St. Paul from long standing insiders was stoutly denied by St. Paul interests while Union Pacific interests refused any confirmation. Whatever may be the origin of the report of the nature of the buying of the two stocks, it is clear that they were made use of to cover large speculative profit taking in other parts of the list.

The extreme rise in St. Paul reached 6½ and in Union Pacific, 1¾. Colorado Fuel made another sensational advance of 11 points, with a relapse of 3½ and Tennessee Coal rose 4¼, apparently incompatibly. Rumors continue that these companies are to be taken in by the United States Steel corporation. The rise in the Reading shares had no other explanation than buying for Philadelphia account, and in New York Central it was said that the execution of a buying order for several thousand shares, apparently for investment account, found the supply of stock very scare. The advance of 2¾ in People's Gas was unexplained. Total sales today, 1,105,400 shares.

United States 3s registered declined ¼ per cent, on the last call. The bond market was irregular in sympathy with stocks. Total sales par value, $6,240,000.

AVOCA.

In the Primitive Methodist church tomorrow—Preaching by the pastor at 10.30 o'clock, subject "Brotherly Love"; evening, "The Gospel, the Power of God."

Frederick, the 3-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Berge, is seriously ill of pneumonia.

Yesterday afternoon four drunken thugs set upon an old man and his son for the purpose of robbery. The son was beat unmercifully, and when they had done with him they set upon the old man. E. E. Snyder and T. J. Dunn, hearing the cries, went to the old man's assistance and drove the assailants off. Three of them are strangers, but the fourth is a well-known ruffian, whose incarceration would allay the people's feelings. The town, during the past six months, has been the scene of many drunken night orgies, but yesterday's act has awakened the people to the fact that we have no acting day or night policemen.
