SCRANTON, JUNE 18, 1901.

Former Governor Pattison has evolved what he pronounces a sure recipe for good government. It is for the Democrats and dissatisfied Republicans to unite in support of Democratic nominees. Mr. Pattison doubtless has in mind a person who would suit him exactly as a fusion nominee for governor.

Do Something.

IT IS A CURIOUS but interesting fact that for several years past citizens and associations in Luzerne county desiring legislation at Harrisburg have been unable to secure it through the Luzerne representatives and have in many instances sought help from Lackawanna. In worthy instances this help has been willingly bestowed and this willingness should and will continue. But it is time the Republican leaders of the mother county realized that Luzerne is big enough to paddle her own canoe.

If instead of nagging at everybody who gets head up in politics, the Republicans of old Luzerne would choose a leader, give him loyal support and pull together for county and section, it would not be necessary to go begging for favors at the state capital; they could make and enforce their own terms. Their county is an empire in wealth, resources and population and its proper place is not at the tail end but at the head of the procession. Instead of being powerless both to effect reforms within the party and by kicking over the traces, Luzerne might be furnishing governors again, and Supreme court judges and men in the other high places of government.

But this can only be accomplished by constructive effort. Sitting on the fence and making faces at those who pass by never did and never will accomplish more than momentary annoyance. It is not a sign of either goodness or greatness. The men people respect are men who take hold and do things. There are men of this kind—plenty of them—in Luzerne county, but hitherto they have neglected politics. It is time for them to get in the game and put their county politically where it belongs.

The surrender of General Cailles will wind up the skirmish business at Manila. Cailles is the last of the misguided followers of Aguinaldo to make any showing in the way of resistance. There is now no reason why the Filipinos should not settle down and turn their attention to politics and ground floor franchises.

A Celebrated Case.

THE TRIAL at Jersey City of John Barker for the attempted assassination of Rev. Dr. Keller combines all the elements of dramatic interest which can enter into a court case and will undoubtedly be followed by newspaper readers with notable eagerness.

So far as made public, the facts are these: Barker, a man previously of good reputation, claims he was told by his wife, a nervous woman who had not been in good health, that eighteen months prior, Rev. Dr. Keller, a respected and popular clergyman of Arlington, N. J., had committed a criminal assault upon her. She had, it is alleged, feared to make an earlier avowal of the fact and her confession finally came in consequence of words spoken in delirium. Thereupon Barker, without further inquiry, took a pistol, approached Rev. Dr. Keller, and shot him in the face, blinding one eye and nearly causing the clergyman's death.

As can readily be understood, public opinion in Arlington is sharply divided on the subject of the clergyman's innocence or guilt. All kinds of conjectures have found their way into print, the most common one being that Mrs. Barker made her accusation in good faith but under the spell of a hallucination arising from ill health. Whether a wife in normal health could conceal from her husband for eighteen months all knowledge of a crime such as she charges the minister with having committed has elicited a voluminous discussion in the medical and secular press. So, also, has the question whether upon her unsupported confession, taking into account the fact of her invalidism, the husband was justified on human grounds—for certainly there is no justification in law—in constituting himself into an impassioned avenger, offering to his victim neither explanation nor defense.

The discussion has been even wider; it has considered the whole question, admittedly a delicate one, of the temptations to which clergymen more than most men are subjected from women of highly developed emotional natures, who, without realizing it, often forget that the best minister is never more than human, and when young, unmarried and impressionable, is more easily tempted than critics of the rare lapses traceable to the cloth are fair-minded enough to admit.

And so it is that the trial at Jersey City appeals to a wide variety of the fundamental elements of human interest. Its proceedings will engage the attention of all classes of readers.

Colonel R. H. Pratt, superintendent of the Indian industrial school at Carlisle, reports that in the southeastern section of Pennsylvania there are six hundred Indian students now working at trades and on farms. It will be recalled also that Hampton institute, Va., has from the first trained Indian as well as negro students. It is to Carlisle that the government intends sending a number of Porto Rican students.

Vacation Schools and Play.

IT WOULD be a very unwise thing to give up the calling of public attention to the lack of vacation schools and summer playgrounds in Scranton for the classes of children who cannot leave the city in summer and who have no play place but the streets. It is well to bring often the concrete picture of what these do for children elsewhere. Of one opened last Saturday for the summer we read: "The casual passerby, looking into the dusty, uninviting plot, uncheered by a single blade of grass, would probably wonder why permission to enter should be so joyous an event as the eager, beaming faces proved it to be, but the fact that even so unattractive a place is so valued is the strongest proof of its necessity. Without it the children would have no playground but the street, with its dangers and few amusements.

"In less than a minute after the gate swung open every swing and seesaw was occupied, boys were swarming over the parallel bars, and sand beds were being converted into forts and mountains.

"'One of the great advantages of the playground,' said the chairman, 'is its constant inculcation of justice and unselfishness. Last summer the improvement was most marked. Boys who at the beginning were a constant trouble because of their selfish wish to keep possession of things they enjoyed, at its close were self-constituted guardians of the rights of others. The girls give less trouble at any time, and the larger girls are real little matrons in their helpfulness.'"

That is one of many similar scenes in New York; Philadelphia, Chicago, and some smaller cities duplicate them. This year Philadelphia adds to the opportunities a "school out of doors" in the park on certain days in hot weather. The suggestion came from Dr. Edward Brooks, that city's wise and liberal superintendent of schools, and the season of "public school in Fairmount park opened last week, the first district in the city to act upon the permission being 'Little Italy,' the children bringing their own ten cents for car fare. In almost every instance they have earned their dimes, and have been saving them up for this delightful purpose of 'school out of doors.'"

That is worth meditating on.

The possible successors of Senator Platt are becoming as numerous as the prospective tourists to the Pan-American.

Zionism's New Appeal.

DR. HERZL, the head of the Zionist movement for Jewish colonization of Palestine, in the course of his latest impassioned appeal for funds declares that "despite every misrepresentation, the Sultan of Turkey is a friend of the Hebrews. Indeed, I say boldly that the Hebrews of the world have no better friend than the ruler of Palestine. Shall they miss this unprecedented opportunity of laying the ghost of the Hebrew question, and ending the tragedy of 'The Wandering Jew?'"

He goes on to make a special call to "the Hebrews of America." It is but a few days since from London was sent out a statement that English Jewish bankers were to supply "a loan" to the Sultan, in return for which the Jewish colonists were to be permitted to colonize the Holy Land, with "home rule" practically their own. Dr. Herzl's manifesto bears no indication of any such hope or expectation on his part. He says the capital originally fixed by him as needful to be contributed to the Hebrew colonial trust in London was two million pounds, and that "only" a million and a half of this sum is wanting. "The magnates of the race," he writes, "might well give themselves the luxury" of supplying it, "but," he adds' "whether by Hebrews or true Christians the sum must be raised." So that it is to the Christian church that Zionism is now looking. This is certainly a cheering sign of the wearing away of old-time prejudices.

Rev. Dr. Theodore Cuyler has put a swift quietus on the announced plan of some enthusiastic admirers for erecting a bronze statue of him. He writes that he will not, could not conscientiously consent to have so large a sum of money as that would require "to be expended for the purpose of personal honor, rather than of public utility." So those who may in the future, after he has passed away, wish to erect a memorial of him, have notice served by him in advance that it must take the form of something to be of public interest. That is well.

Preparations for the big St. Louis exposition of 1903 are steadily and successfully going on. The exposition, it will be remembered, is the great Middle West and Northwest's special commemoration of their being taken as "territory belonging to the United States" by the imperialist president, Thomas Jefferson—the idol of the "anti-imperialists" of today, who are so unhappy about the Philippines.

Leavenworth, Kansas, has become alarmed over a report that the negroes of that city are arming themselves with revolvers. It is probable that peace will not be restored until a dozen or so black men have been slaughtered as a precautionary measure. That is the way race scares usually go.

General Booth and son Ballington seem to be on the point of calling in arbitrators.

EFFORTS WERE OF NO AVAIL

BOARD OF TRADE COMMITTEE COULDN'T END STRIKE.

Made Its Report to the Board and Asked to Be Discharged—"Chaser" to the "Ripper" Is Thought to Be Detrimental to the Best Interests of the City, and a Committee Was Appointed to Ask the Governor to Veto It—Colonel Hitchcock's Report of the Rochester Convention.

At its meeting at noon yesterday, the board of trade heard the report of Colonel L. A. Watres, W. F. Halstead and W. H. Taylor, the special committee appointed to see what could be done in the way of ending the existing strike in this city. The committee reported that it had accomplished nothing. The report follows:

At a meeting of the board of trade held on May 20 the board was reliably informed that owing to the continued agitation and resultant strikes in this vicinity that there was a probability that the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company might move their shops from Scranton, and that it appeared the duty of the board of trade, if possible, to bring the contending parties together and thereby save to Scranton one of its most desired industries; and for this purpose a special committee was appointed by the chair; that special committee has now requested the secretary to report that they have had a number of conferences with both sides interested and that in view of the fact that both sides are determined not to yield upon what each considers the vital point at issue, nothing can be done to adjust the matter in dispute, and they, therefore, respectfully asked to be discharged.

In accordance with the wishes of the committee it was discharged. There was no discussion of the report.

THE "CHASER" DISCUSSED.

W. H. Taylor called the attention of the board to a "chaser" to the "Ripper" bill which has been passed by the state legislature which gives the city councils great scope in the matter of levying taxes. This was a matter of vital importance to the city which he believed called for prompt action by the board. He suggested the appointment of a committee to endeavor to prevent the signing of the bill if it has not already been signed.

There was considerable discussion over the "chaser" to the "Ripper" and it was the general sentiment voiced that now, more than ever before, it behooves the board to do what it can to see that honest, sterling business men are placed in councils who will see to it that the tax levy is not raised to a point that will injure the city. Mr. Taylor's motion prevailed and a committee was appointed consisting of Mr. Taylor, Luther Keller and R. H. Patterson. They will leave for Harrisburg this morning to see the governor.

The report of Colonel F. L. Hitchcock, who was the delegate from the board to the seventh annual convention of the National Legislative league at Rochester, N. Y., on May 8 to 11, was read by Secretary Atherton. After setting forth the nature of the gathering and the business done, he said:

COLONEL HITCHCOCK'S REPORT.

The work of this league is undoubtedly of the greatest value in the held of municipal reform. Its one weak spot in our governmental system. If our city has in time past been afflicted with the disease known as municipal corruption; the papers read at this convention all indicated that "there are others." The disease is well nigh universal. Even so favored a city as Toronto, Canada, under the supposed specially favorable British governmental system, has been saddled with a city debt of over $27,000,000, or a per capita debt of over $160 and with little to show for it. This debt of $160 per capita as compared with our own debt of $8.50 would indicate that Scranton is not the deepest in the gull of financial bitterness; that other cities have and are suffering with ourselves; but it also shows the universal need of municipal reform. Its accomplishment is a matter of careful education and persistent agitation. To this end let us assist and profit by the work of the National Municipal league.

J. L. Crawford, who was proposed at the last meeting, was elected to membership by unanimous consent. The resignation of Charles Henwood, read at the last meeting, was accepted. The application of H. G. Dunham, cashier of the Dime bank, for membership was referred until the next meeting.

The finance committees reported bills amounting to $280.54 for the month, which were ordered paid. A communication from the Merchants' exchange, of Buffalo, N. Y., was read, offering the rooms of the exchange and their conveniences to the members of the board when they visit Buffalo.

Passenger Agent Ten Brock, of the Lackawanna, sent a letter to the board in which he stated that the Lackawanna cannot grant stop-over privileges at Scranton on its Pan-American excursion tickets, as requested by the board. At the close of the meeting lunch was served to those present. The board will not meet during July or August.

COUNCILS HAVE RIGHT.

City Solicitor Holds That License Tax Can Be Used for Any Purpose.

It is understood that City Solicitor Watson will furnish select council with a brief opinion on Thursday night, in reply to a request setting forth that councils have a perfect right to levy and collect a license tax to be used in paying off judgments and other claims outstanding against the city.

The solicitor holds that money derived from the imposition of a license tax can be used in discharging any debt which the city may be responsible for.

NEW OFFICERS CHOSEN.

Meeting Yesterday of the Scranton Baptist Ministerial Conference.

Yesterday morning the Scranton Baptist Ministerial conference held its regular weekly session in the Penn Avenue Baptist church. The president, Rev. S. F. Matthews, was in the chair. Scriptures were read by Rev. W. J. Ford and prayer offered by Rev. M. J. Watkins. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Rev. C. A. Spalding, of Forest City; vice president, Rev. J. C. Schmitt, of the First German church, Scranton; secretary and treasurer, Rev. David Spencer, D. D., of Blakely.

Rev. W. J. Ford, Ph. D., who has served as secretary and treasurer for eight years, absolutely declined re-election. A resolution of thanks to the retiring officers was adopted. The order of the day was taken up when Rev. Albert H. Smith gave a lucid, exhaustive exposition of the book of Philippians. The effort was heartily appreciated and commended by Revs. R. F. Y. Pierce, D. D., R. W. Clymer, J. S. Thomas, M. J. Watkins, D. J. Williams, C. A. Spalding, J. C. Schmitt, M. R. Thompson, David Spencer, D. D., W. J. Ford, Ph. D., Thomas de Gruchy, D. D., and Rev. S. F. Matthews.

As the conference was organized June 16, 1884, this was the seventeenth anniversary meeting. The final meeting for the summer will be held next Monday, when the ministers and their wives are to be the guests of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Pierce, at Nay Aug park.

MR. HANNAH IS WROTH.

Editor of The Tribune—

Sir: Your paper this morning contains the following: "Ever on the alert to procure advertising, Mr. Wanamaker timed his spectacular $2,500,000 Philadelphia street railway franchise offer just so as to make his point without costing him a cent. John is surely a genius."

Taking into account all the surroundings and the circumstances under which this offer was made, and the manner in which it was treated by the vagabond who is now acting as mayor of Philadelphia, this little squib of yours represents the political morals of a poltroon and a blackguard. Your sneaking insinuation that Wanamaker had anything to do with the time when his offer should be made is a deliberate falsehood, and you know it. The circumstances under which such an offer could be made were created by the political polecats at Harrisburg and Philadelphia, and not by Wanamaker, and they made no mistake when they counted on the approval of some of the newspapers in the state. If the people of Philadelphia had spirit enough to deserve better government than the one they now have they would have thrown Ashbridge into the Delaware river.

I will take it as a personal favor if you will stop my paper at once without waiting for the end of a month. I do not want a paper disseminating such morals in my house, or around it. And if you ever find my name on your subscription list again it will be when the moral tone of the paper has been elevated, or when all the other papers in the city have sunk so low that yours will seem clean by comparison. Trusting that I have made myself comprehensible, I remain,

Yours truly,
H. M. Hannah.

Scranton, June 17.

LITERARY NOTES.

A member of the coast and geodetic survey, G. R. Putnam, will tell, in the July Scribner's, of a trip which he took in out-of-the-way portions of the Yukon Delta in Alaska. The illustrations, from his photographs, shows a region of unusual picturesqueness.

The American Boy, issued by the Sprague Publishing company, of Detroit, is the only monthly, so far as we know, devoted solely to the interests of masculine young America. Its issue for June is chock full of interesting and inspiring literature for young lads and men.

Every student of municipal government should make haste to secure a copy of the March issue of Municipal Affairs, published at 52 William street, New York. It contains a new bibliography of the world's literature on municipal problems and city conditions, prepared by Robert C. Brooks, of Cornell university, and embodying entries of over 12,000 books, pamphlets, government reports, documents and magazine articles published in the United States, Great Britain and colonies, France, Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium, Spain, Portugal, Russia, Switzerland and many other countries. Titles are arranged topically, so that one may find in a moment what has been written on any and every municipal subject. Classification is also made according to countries and cities. As a guide to information on city affairs we know of nothing to equal this volume.
