

THE MODERN HARDWARE STORE.

A COLD SNAP

Is what you get when you buy an ALASKA REFRIGERATOR. They are the coldest refrigerators made—they require less ice—they're charcoal filled—they're zinc lined—they keep perishable foods longer than any other refrigerator. You can get them at

Foot & Shear Co. 119 N. Washington Ave

The Peerless Ironing Board

For ironing LADIES' SHIRT WAISTS and children's clothing, every mother knows how difficult it is to properly iron Babies' Caps, Gimpes, Sleeves and Yokes. This Board is labor-saving.

The Baby Bazaar, 510 Spruce Street.

Telephone or mail us a postal to call at our home and quote price on laundering any quality or kind of lace or cash curtains. Results guaranteed.

LACKAWANNA LAUNDRY

Social Gossip

Miss Gertrude Loomis gave a party dance last evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Loomis, 122 North Lincoln avenue. The event was a very successful one in every respect and was enjoyed by the following young people:

Misses Hattie Egan, Ethel Bevan, May James, Jennie Watkins, Eva Kille, Gertrude Loomis, Margaret Lewis and Susie Williams, of Norristown, N. J.; Messrs. Frank Watkins, Wendell Evans, Adolph Bruning, Mandy Devine, Harry York, Harry Phillips, Bert James and John Thomas.

Floyd Schoonover, of Cherry street, Dunmore, was united in marriage last night to Miss Florence Donly, at the home of the bride's mother, on Drinker street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles H. Newing, of the Dunmore Methodist Episcopal church.

After the ceremony a reception was held, large numbers of the friends of the couple being present. Mr. and Mrs. Schoonover left on an extended wedding tour last night, which will embrace the Pan-American exposition and other points of interest.

William Baumgartner entertained a number of his friends last evening at his residence, on Hickory street. It was a pleasant event. At a late hour refreshments were served. Those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. L. Scherer, Mr. and Mrs. A. Neuls, Mr. and Mrs. M. Maullberger, Edward Neuls, A. Frimley, J. Neuls, M. E. Neuls, Mrs. A. Gussie, George Wassner and M. Neuls.

Miss Jessie Wilbur, of Sanderson avenue, gave a card party last evening in honor of Mrs. Nathan Vidov, of New York city, who is the guest of friends here.

PERSONAL.

Dr. J. E. O'Malley and family are viewing the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo.

Dr. J. E. O'Malley, superintendent of our service on the Lackawanna railroad, is in Buffalo.

Mrs. James Flinn, of New York, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Martin Donnelly, of Chestnut street.

Warren Grant, of Madison avenue, a student at Harvard university, is home for the summer vacation.

Mrs. S. Washler, of Peoria, Ill., is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Moses, of Mulberry street.

Dr. J. L. Eck returned yesterday from Eastern, where he attended the commencement exercises of Lafayette college.

Former City Solicitor and Mrs. A. A. Vonding have today for Buffalo, where they will attend the High American exposition.

Hugh Reichen, of Hotel Jersey, and Select Commission John E. Regan, of the sixth ward, left for New York yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Carl Seiler will leave today for Buffalo, where on Friday he will read a paper on "Atrophic Rhinitis," more commonly called dry catarrh, before the eastern section of the American Laryngological society.

Attractive Warm Weather Clothing for Little Ones.

The coolest and most comfortable vests and bands, light in weight, yet having a little wool. The Gaze Night Gown for sultry nights, Little Dresses, Jackets and Coats, in the latest, coolest materials.

Infants' Outfits for June a specialty, Baby Bazaar, 510 Spruce street.

Fine Stationery, Whiting's Make, for social and business uses. Norton's, opposite Hotel Jersey.

Huyler's. Always fresh. Courson.

To Many The business of banking is something of a mystery. We are always pleased to explain to our customers anything they do not clearly understand.

The People's Bank.

Music.

The following programme will be rendered by the junior pupils of the Scranton College of Music at Governor's hall this evening, under the direction of Evelyn Evans, Vocalist, Miss Margaret Andrews, of Wilkes-Barre; Mr. Arthur Morgan, Scranton;

- Dieter, "Scherzo".....Kimora Ruth Hartman; "Scherzando".....Sovara Master Bettie Bender; Vocal, "The Lord Weighs Vendors".....Handel; "In the Sunshine".....Lange Romayne Gross; "Teasing".....Thome; Violin Duets.....Wohlfahrt; Misses Flossie Stevens and Bira Shields; "Among the Flowers".....Sartoris; Vocal, "Vainka's Song".....Weishart; "Petite Tarentelle".....Heller; Bessie Pierce; "May Has Come".....Bohm; Lillian Burr; Vocal, "Am, Am Ve Brave".....Handel; Mr. Morgan; Gavotte, "Mignone".....Goldner; A. Tierney; (a) Etude No. 17.....Heller; (b) "Elfin Dance".....Johnson; Kathleen Burr; "The Butterfly".....Bohm; Katie Kearney; Violin, "Cannonette".....Danle; "Skating".....Klien; "La Cigale".....Bachman; Vocal—(a) "The Clover".....MacDowell; (b) "Yellow Daisy".....MacDowell; (c) "Blue Bells".....MacDowell; Miss Andrews; "May Has Come".....Merkel; Laura Logan.

The third of the evening recitals of the pupils of the Southworth studios was given at the Powell were rooms last evening before a large and brilliant audience. The programme opened with a violin duet, a gavotte by Seaton Clark, in which twenty-two of Miss Allen's pupils participated in an eminently satisfactory manner. The violin soloist of the evening was Mrs. Amelia Leister, heard in a lovely Mendelssohn composition, Joseph Rheinberger's "Andante pastorale of Singelos," and Miss Irma Walter, who gave a Miss Mazurka. The violin ensemble class, including these artists and six others, played delicately a Gungler mazurka, Technisme and expression were of remarkably fine quality.

Mr. Southworth's pupils taking part were: Miss Edna Sanction, who rendered with fine effect a Bach prelude and "Scherzetto"; Miss Leonora Rice, whose interpretation of Rubenstein's famous "Kamensk Ostrav" was equally satisfactory, and her playing of an "Idyl" by MacDowell, and Grieg's exquisite "Papillon" were exceptional fine; Miss Mamie Fletcher, who gave with much expression a remarkably sweet "Melody" by a selection of composers. All of these ladies have the mastery of the wonderful liquid singing tone that Mr. Southworth has long been noted for ability to impart to his pupils.

Miss Freeman's pupils who took part were: Miss Edna Sanction, Miss Frank, Miss Florence Robertson, Miss Jennie Kaufman, and Messrs. J. H. Williams, C. F. Buchanan, R. W. Hollow, L. H. Kresge and Mr. Tom Kippel. All of these have been heard and welcomed by scattered audiences before and did themselves and their instructor full credit last evening, calling out enthusiastic demonstrations of pleasure from the audience. The vocalists who accompanied the accompaniments in the perfectly sympathetic and wonderfully artistic manner that has made her so great a favorite alike with the singers, violinists and the public.

MANY MEN ENLISTED.

Business Is Brisk at the Local Recruiting Station of the United States Regular Army.

The local recruiting station of the United States army is doing well this month, and more men have been recruited in less than three weeks of June than in all May. Six martially inclined young men have been recruited and are now undergoing their periods of probation at various of the national barracks.

Michael Rocco, of Plymouth, enlisted on June 3, for the infantry, and was sent to the Columbus, Ga., barracks. He has seen service before, having been with the Twenty-eighth infantry in the Philippines. Ebenezer Hughes, of West Scranton, an ex-member of Company D, of the Thirtieth regiment, was sworn in the same day for the cavalry, and the third member of the unit enlisted on June 3 was George Rigel, of Stone avenue, who goes in for the infantry.

On June 4, Westley Seneor, of Union City, N. Y., enlisted for the infantry, and on June 10, another ex-member of the eight-hundred infantry appeared at the station. He was William Jones, of Clifford, and was sent to Fort Hancock, N. J., where he will be drilled for the artillery service. Tuesday, Alfred E. Bryden, of 1433 Penn avenue, enlisted with the cavalry and was sent to Fort Columbus.

The local station remains in charge of Lieutenant R. W. Davis and Sergeant Henry Garber. The branch office at Hazleton has been closed and was on June 3 transferred to Carbondale, with Corporal Mortenson in charge.

The up the valley youths are not particularly imbued with the spirit of patriotism, however, as not a man has been yet enlisted. The latest soldier to be made an attaché of the local office is Private George Board, of White Haven, who recently enlisted in Wilkes-Barre. He saw service in Cuba with the Seventh cavalry.

Send an extra copy of The Tribune's Souvenir to your friends.

Liederkrantz Excursion to Buffalo Will take place on Monday, June 24. Tickets for the round trip, $4. Hotel accommodations have been secured for 600 people at Hotel Gibbs, which is situated within five minutes' walk from the exposition grounds. The musical festival will take place Tuesday and Wednesday, June 25 and 26, at the Seventy-fourth regiment armory, where a chorus of 1,000 voices, from over 100 societies from all parts of the United States, will be heard. Friday will be spent at Niagara Falls. By paying $8 tickets are good for ten days. Any one desiring to go, can secure all the necessary information by calling at Liederkrantz hall, Thursday night or Sunday afternoon.

Bauer's Band of 40 Pieces Will give their first concert and hop at the new armory on Saturday evening, June 22. The decorations and illuminations will be on the same as on the opening night. Admission 25 cents.

Mi Favorita Cigars, $3.00. The price quoted on Mi Favorita Cigars in E. G. Courson's advertisement, yesterday's Tribune should have been $3.00 per box, instead of $2.50.

The Best for Gifts, Books. A nice assortment at Norton's, Wyoming avenue, opposite Hotel Jersey.

Steam Heating and Plumbing, P. F. & M. T. Howley, 231 Wyoming ave.

To Many The business of banking is something of a mystery. We are always pleased to explain to our customers anything they do not clearly understand.

The People's Bank.

WEDDINGS OF A JUNE DAY

FAIR BRIDES WERE VERY NUPTEOUS YESTERDAY.

Harry Thomas and Miss Jennie Woolbaugh Married in the Simpson M. E. Church—Frank Henslar and Miss Anna Moll Joined for Life in St. Mary's German Catholic Church—Number of Couples Married in St. Peter's Cathedral—The Wright-Voyle Nuptials.

It has been a long time since there were a greater number of brides on a June day in this city than plighted their troth yesterday.

Thomas-Woolbaugh. Harry Thomas, of the central city, and Miss Jennie Woolbaugh, of Lafayette street, were united in marriage at 9 o'clock yesterday morning at the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church, by the pastor, Rev. H. C. McDermott. The couple were unattended, the bride being given away by her father, Mrs. Frank Jones, president of the organ.

The bride wore a suit of made-to-order, with white chiffon trimmings, and hat to match, and carried a bouquet of orange blossoms. The centre aisle of the church and the pulpit enclosure were tastefully decorated with ferns and evergreens. The ceremony was witnessed by many friends and relatives of the young couple.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Woolbaugh, on Lafayette street, and at 10.05 Mr. and Mrs. Thomas left on a Lackawanna train for New York. Upon their return they will reside in a newly furnished home at the corner of Pine street and Adams avenue.

Henslar-Moll. In St. Mary's German Catholic church, South Scranton, yesterday morning, Miss Anna Moll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Moll, of 614 Willow street, was married to Frank Henslar, of 31 First street, Rev. Peter Christ officiating.

The church was thronged with friends of the happy young couple. As the bridal party entered the edifice and walked up the aisle to the altar railing, Professor Schueman, the organist, rendered Liszt's wedding march, and as a recessional the wedding march from Mendelssohn was given.

The bride was attended by a maid of honor and two bridesmaids. The former was Miss Elizabeth Henslar, a sister of the groom, and the latter were Elizabeth and Ottilie Moll, sisters of the bride. August Moll, a brother of the bride, was best man. The ushers were William and Joseph Wraych. The bride wore a charming gown of white satin, with applique trimmings. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Her maids were similarly attired in gowns of white silk, with point lace trimmings. They carried bouquets of pink roses.

After the ceremony a reception was tendered at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henslar will reside at 701 Prospect avenue.

Haller-Stone. Miss Mary A. Stone, daughter of L. F. Stone, of 142 South Seventh street, was united in marriage to John J. Haller, of Penn avenue, by Rev. P. J. McManus, at St. Paul's church, Green Ridge, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Marcelle Stone, and the groom by his brother, William Haller. A reception followed at the home of the bride on Seventh street.

The bride was attired in a gown of blue-velvet, coral, and her maid was attired in blue also.

Rompe-Deitzer. The wedding of Miss Bina Deitzer, daughter of Mrs. Robert Deitzer, and Joseph Rompe was solemnized in St. Mary's church yesterday morning at 9 o'clock by Rev. Father Straub. The bride was attired in a gown of white chiffon, trimmed with white applique lace, and was attended by Miss Mamie Rompe and Rose Deitzer. The groom was attended by Henry Rompe and Frank Vetter, of Honesdale.

After the wedding ceremony the nuptial party returned to the home of the bride, 719 Prospect avenue, where a wedding dinner was served. The bridal couple left on the 12.50 train for the Pan-American exposition, where they will remain about ten days. Mr. and Mrs. Rompe will be at home in about two weeks at 341 Alder street.

Courtney-Stanton. A very pretty wedding was solemnized at noon yesterday in Holy Rosary church, Miss Nora Stanton, of Grace street, was the bride, and Thomas Courtney, of North Main avenue, the groom. Rev. J. W. Moylan tied the nuptial knot.

The bride wore a suit of light fawn, trimmed in white. She carried a bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Johanna Courtney, a sister of the groom, wore a very becoming gown of dark fawn, trimmed in white. Patrick Stanton, a brother of the bride, was best man. Immediately after the ceremony they returned to the bride's home, where a wedding dinner was served. Only immediate friends of the contracting parties were in attendance.

Other Nuptial Events. Miss Margaret Walker, of Orchard street, and Timothy Sullivan, of Maple street, were married at 12.30 yesterday in St. Peter's cathedral, by Rev. J. A. O'Reilly. Miss Mary Judge attended the bride, and Patrick Moran was the groomsmen. During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan left the city on a wedding tour.

John O'Hara and Miss Sadie E. Dempsey were married in St. Peter's cathedral at 1.30 yesterday by Rev. J. A. O'Reilly. The bride was attended by Miss Sarah Crane, while Richard Kietly acted as groomsmen. A reception followed at the bride's home.

Michael J. Duffy, of Bellevue, and Miss Margaret Moran, of South Scranton, were wedded in St. Peter's cathedral yesterday afternoon by Rev. J. A. O'Reilly. Edward J. Duffy attended the groom and Miss Nellie Shea acted as bridesmaid.

At 4.20 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Martin McHugh and Miss Mamie Costigan, daughter of Mrs. Mary Costigan, were united in marriage in St. John's church by Rev. E. J. McElroy. The bride and Patrick Moran were the groomsmen. During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan left the city on a wedding tour.

John O'Hara and Miss Sadie E. Dempsey were married in St. Peter's cathedral at 1.30 yesterday by Rev. J. A. O'Reilly. The bride was attended by Miss Sarah Crane, while Richard Kietly acted as groomsmen. A reception followed at the bride's home.

Michael J. Duffy, of Bellevue, and Miss Margaret Moran, of South Scranton, were wedded in St. Peter's cathedral yesterday afternoon by Rev. J. A. O'Reilly. Edward J. Duffy attended the groom and Miss Nellie Shea acted as bridesmaid.

At 4.20 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Martin McHugh and Miss Mamie Costigan, daughter of Mrs. Mary Costigan, were united in marriage in St. John's church by Rev. E. J. McElroy. The bride and Patrick Moran were the groomsmen. During the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan left the city on a wedding tour.

Franklin Fountain Pens. None better made at any price. Norton's, opposite Hotel Jersey.

THEY ARE NOW READY TO TEACH

BIG CLASSES GRADUATED FROM TRAINING SCHOOL.

Thirty-Six Presented with Diplomas Last Night at the High School by Chairman Jennings—Bust of Froebel Presented to the School by William Edgar and Accepted by Captain W. A. May—Discussion Regarding the Abolishment of Examinations—Names of Graduates.

Thirty-three young women and three young men, the latter not all abashed by the propinquity of femininity, were last night graduated from the Scranton Training school, before an audience which completely filled the big high school auditorium and which overflowed out into the spacious vestibule.

The graduates came marching in from the rear as Bauer's orchestra played an overture, and took their places upon the platform on seats draped with white cloth. The colors of the High school. There were no decorations upon the stage except a row of potted palms in the rear. Directly over the front of the platform was suspended a drape bearing the training school motto, "Exceller," formed out of evergreen and studded with electric lights.

Seated upon the stage, besides the graduates, were Superintendent of Schools, Chairman Jennings, of the high and training school committee; Captain W. A. May, Miss E. G. Olmstead and Rev. W. J. Ford. The latter offered an opening prayer and after this the class sang a beautiful vocal gavotte under the leadership of Mrs. Anna Barnes.

QUALIFICATIONS OF A TEACHER. The first speaker was Miss Minnie White, who read an essay upon "The Qualifications of a Teacher." The teacher, she said, must be a thorough scholar and must know more than she teaches. She must keep constant study, she must be able to "drink from a running stream and not from a stagnant pool." She must have a real love for children and not a professed love. "The teacher," said she, "is the most vital part in a school, she is the heart of the things else are only conditions and results."

William Edgar, president of the class, at this point made a brief address, presenting to the school a bust of Froebel, the founder of the modern kindergarten. The bust was accepted by Captain W. A. May, of the board of control, who traced briefly the life work of Froebel, and his influence upon modern education. The system of Froebel, he said, consists in the bringing out of a child all his or her special attributes and then training and developing these. "He lived to ennoble humanity," said he. "He hungered, thirsted, suffered, was wronged and rejected, yet saw fads place among the immortals."

After an interesting essay on "The New Geography" had been read by Miss Mary Greeley the principal feature of the programme was given. It was a discussion on the question, "Shall Examinations Be Abolished," participated in by four members of the class and taking the place of the usual address to the graduates by some educator of note, full of rhetorical ornamentation, which has been part and parcel of every training school commencement in the past, and which the class unanimously decided to dispense with this year, realizing that this is an age of progress.

MISS FELLOWS' ADDRESS. The first speaker for the affirmative was Miss Christine Fellows, the beautiful and talented daughter of Secretary Fellows, of the board of control. Miss Fellows made one of the best addresses of the night, speaking in an easy and natural way, as if she had been on the lecture platform for years. She favored the abolition of examinations and marking of the pupil's daily standing in order that steady application throughout the year could be looked for from every child, instead of spasmodic "crannings" around examination time, which she claimed had the effect of straining the child's mental powers and wrecking his nerves.

Harry Walsh, who also spoke for the affirmative, contended that examinations foster a wrong ambition and beget an unhealthy rivalry, besides endangering the child's moral health. Mr. Walsh was roundly cheered for his address, which was delivered in a happy, oratorical style.

The negative side of the question was held after by Miss Mary Freeman and Rosanna Ward. They contended in direct opposition to the affirmative side, that "cranning" was not such an awfully awful thing as it is pictured to be and that examinations are the only real test of a child's scholarship and of his or her honesty.

Miss Lucy Imerson read an essay on "Some Ideas of Children at School Age," in which she recounted a number of the peculiar ideas little children have about the things around them. Following her essay came the final feature of the evening, the presentation of the diplomas by Chairman T. J. Jennings, of the high and training committee.

IN TEN YEARS OLD. Mr. Jennings related the history of the school since its establishment ten years ago and said that the total cost of maintaining it in that time had been but $17,000. He expressed himself as being pleased at the young men who had graduated, and said he would welcome the day when the man teacher would again hold at least equal place with women. He presented the diplomas with a few words of encouragement. The names of the graduates are:

Margaret Veronica Blewitt, Letitia Sara Brown, Mary Thelen Buehler, Olive Maletta Barall, Mary Christine Alva Conroy, and Mrs. Davis, Grace Daniels, Susan Louise Dawson, Mary Ellen Abbot Edgar, Helen Christine Fellows, Mary Belle Freeman, Helen Fowler, Bessie Belle Freeman, Edith E. Gaudin, Gladys E. Gaudin, Mary Margaret Hagerter, Mary Madeline Hefer, Mary Felicitas Heide, Jennie Louise Howell, Lucy Imerson, Helen Marie Keegan.

At high noon, at the home of the bride in Olyphant, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, Rev. E. J. Haughton, of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Dunmore, yesterday officiated in marriage of Miss Cora H. Voyle and Harry Wright, of Easton.

The ceremony was performed amid a wealth of floral decorations. Persian lawn trimmings, which has been part and parcel of every training school commencement in the past, and which the class unanimously decided to dispense with this year, realizing that this is an age of progress.

MISS FELLOWS' ADDRESS. The first speaker for the affirmative was Miss Christine Fellows, the beautiful and talented daughter of Secretary Fellows, of the board of control. Miss Fellows made one of the best addresses of the night, speaking in an easy and natural way, as if she had been on the lecture platform for years.

Harry Walsh, who also spoke for the affirmative, contended that examinations foster a wrong ambition and beget an unhealthy rivalry, besides endangering the child's moral health. Mr. Walsh was roundly cheered for his address, which was delivered in a happy, oratorical style.

The negative side of the question was held after by Miss Mary Freeman and Rosanna Ward. They contended in direct opposition to the affirmative side, that "cranning" was not such an awfully awful thing as it is pictured to be and that examinations are the only real test of a child's scholarship and of his or her honesty.

Miss Lucy Imerson read an essay on "Some Ideas of Children at School Age," in which she recounted a number of the peculiar ideas little children have about the things around them. Following her essay came the final feature of the evening, the presentation of the diplomas by Chairman T. J. Jennings, of the high and training committee.

IN TEN YEARS OLD. Mr. Jennings related the history of the school since its establishment ten years ago and said that the total cost of maintaining it in that time had been but $17,000. He expressed himself as being pleased at the young men who had graduated, and said he would welcome the day when the man teacher would again hold at least equal place with women. He presented the diplomas with a few words of encouragement. The names of the graduates are:

Margaret Veronica Blewitt, Letitia Sara Brown, Mary Thelen Buehler, Olive Maletta Barall, Mary Christine Alva Conroy, and Mrs. Davis, Grace Daniels, Susan Louise Dawson, Mary Ellen Abbot Edgar, Helen Christine Fellows, Mary Belle Freeman, Helen Fowler, Bessie Belle Freeman, Edith E. Gaudin, Gladys E. Gaudin, Mary Margaret Hagerter, Mary Madeline Hefer, Mary Felicitas Heide, Jennie Louise Howell, Lucy Imerson, Helen Marie Keegan.

At high noon, at the home of the bride in Olyphant, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, Rev. E. J. Haughton, of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Dunmore, yesterday officiated in marriage of Miss Cora H. Voyle and Harry Wright, of Easton.

The ceremony was performed amid a wealth of floral decorations. Persian lawn trimmings, which has been part and parcel of every training school commencement in the past, and which the class unanimously decided to dispense with this year, realizing that this is an age of progress.

MISS FELLOWS' ADDRESS. The first speaker for the affirmative was Miss Christine Fellows, the beautiful and talented daughter of Secretary Fellows, of the board of control. Miss Fellows made one of the best addresses of the night, speaking in an easy and natural way, as if she had been on the lecture platform for years.

Harry Walsh, who also spoke for the affirmative, contended that examinations foster a wrong ambition and beget an unhealthy rivalry, besides endangering the child's moral health. Mr. Walsh was roundly cheered for his address, which was delivered in a happy, oratorical style.

The negative side of the question was held after by Miss Mary Freeman and Rosanna Ward. They contended in direct opposition to the affirmative side, that "cranning" was not such an awfully awful thing as it is pictured to be and that examinations are the only real test of a child's scholarship and of his or her honesty.

Miss Lucy Imerson read an essay on "Some Ideas of Children at School Age," in which she recounted a number of the peculiar ideas little children have about the things around them. Following her essay came the final feature of the evening, the presentation of the diplomas by Chairman T. J. Jennings, of the high and training committee.

IN TEN YEARS OLD. Mr. Jennings related the history of the school since its establishment ten years ago and said that the total cost of maintaining it in that time had been but $17,000. He expressed himself as being pleased at the young men who had graduated, and said he would welcome the day when the man teacher would again hold at least equal place with women. He presented the diplomas with a few words of encouragement. The names of the graduates are:

THEY ARE NOW READY TO TEACH

BIG CLASSES GRADUATED FROM TRAINING SCHOOL.

Thirty-Six Presented with Diplomas Last Night at the High School by Chairman Jennings—Bust of Froebel Presented to the School by William Edgar and Accepted by Captain W. A. May—Discussion Regarding the Abolishment of Examinations—Names of Graduates.

Thirty-three young women and three young men, the latter not all abashed by the propinquity of femininity, were last night graduated from the Scranton Training school, before an audience which completely filled the big high school auditorium and which overflowed out into the spacious vestibule.

The graduates came marching in from the rear as Bauer's orchestra played an overture, and took their places upon the platform on seats draped with white cloth. The colors of the High school. There were no decorations upon the stage except a row of potted palms in the rear. Directly over the front of the platform was suspended a drape bearing the training school motto, "Exceller," formed out of evergreen and studded with electric lights.

Seated upon the stage, besides the graduates, were Superintendent of Schools, Chairman Jennings, of the high and training school committee; Captain W. A. May, Miss E. G. Olmstead and Rev. W. J. Ford. The latter offered an opening prayer and after this the class sang a beautiful vocal gavotte under the leadership of Mrs. Anna Barnes.

QUALIFICATIONS OF A TEACHER. The first speaker was Miss Minnie White, who read an essay upon "The Qualifications of a Teacher." The teacher, she said, must be a thorough scholar and must know more than she teaches. She must keep constant study, she must be able to "drink from a running stream and not from a stagnant pool." She must have a real love for children and not a professed love. "The teacher," said she, "is the most vital part in a school, she is the heart of the things else are only conditions and results."

William Edgar, president of the class, at this point made a brief address, presenting to the school a bust of Froebel, the founder of the modern kindergarten. The bust was accepted by Captain W. A. May, of the board of control, who traced briefly the life work of Froebel, and his influence upon modern education. The system of Froebel, he said, consists in the bringing out of a child all his or her special attributes and then training and developing these. "He lived to ennoble humanity," said he. "He hungered, thirsted, suffered, was wronged and rejected, yet saw fads place among the immortals."

After an interesting essay on "The New Geography" had been read by Miss Mary Greeley the principal feature of the programme was given. It was a discussion on the question, "Shall Examinations Be Abolished," participated in by four members of the class and taking the place of the usual address to the graduates by some educator of note, full of rhetorical ornamentation, which has been part and parcel of every training school commencement in the past, and which the class unanimously decided to dispense with this year, realizing that this is an age of progress.

MISS FELLOWS' ADDRESS. The first speaker for the affirmative was Miss Christine Fellows, the beautiful and talented daughter of Secretary Fellows, of the board of control. Miss Fellows made one of the best addresses of the night, speaking in an easy and natural way, as if she had been on the lecture platform for years.

Harry Walsh, who also spoke for the affirmative, contended that examinations foster a wrong ambition and beget an unhealthy rivalry, besides endangering the child's moral health. Mr. Walsh was roundly cheered for his address, which was delivered in a happy, oratorical style.

The negative side of the question was held after by Miss Mary Freeman and Rosanna Ward. They contended in direct opposition to the affirmative side, that "cranning" was not such an awfully awful thing as it is pictured to be and that examinations are the only real test of a child's scholarship and of his or her honesty.

Miss Lucy Imerson read an essay on "Some Ideas of Children at School Age," in which she recounted a number of the peculiar ideas little children have about the things around them. Following her essay came the final feature of the evening, the presentation of the diplomas by Chairman T. J. Jennings, of the high and training committee.

IN TEN YEARS OLD. Mr. Jennings related the history of the school since its establishment ten years ago and said that the total cost of maintaining it in that time had been but $17,000. He expressed himself as being pleased at the young men who had graduated, and said he would welcome the day when the man teacher would again hold at least equal place with women. He presented the diplomas with a few words of encouragement. The names of the graduates are:

Margaret Veronica Blewitt, Letitia Sara Brown, Mary Thelen Buehler, Olive Maletta Barall, Mary Christine Alva Conroy, and Mrs. Davis, Grace Daniels, Susan Louise Dawson, Mary Ellen Abbot Edgar, Helen Christine Fellows, Mary Belle Freeman, Helen Fowler, Bessie Belle Freeman, Edith E. Gaudin, Gladys E. Gaudin, Mary Margaret Hagerter, Mary Madeline Hefer, Mary Felicitas Heide, Jennie Louise Howell, Lucy Imerson, Helen Marie Keegan.

At high noon, at the home of the bride in Olyphant, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, Rev. E. J. Haughton, of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Dunmore, yesterday officiated in marriage of Miss Cora H. Voyle and Harry Wright, of Easton.

The ceremony was performed amid a wealth of floral decorations. Persian lawn trimmings, which has been part and parcel of every training school commencement in the past, and which the class unanimously decided to dispense with this year, realizing that this is an age of progress.

MISS FELLOWS' ADDRESS. The first speaker for the affirmative was Miss Christine Fellows, the beautiful and talented daughter of Secretary Fellows, of the board of control. Miss Fellows made one of the best addresses of the night, speaking in an easy and natural way, as if she had been on the lecture platform for years.

Harry Walsh, who also spoke for the affirmative, contended that examinations foster a wrong ambition and beget an unhealthy rivalry, besides endangering the child's moral health. Mr. Walsh was roundly cheered for his address, which was delivered in a happy, oratorical style.

The negative side of the question was held after by Miss Mary Freeman and Rosanna Ward. They contended in direct opposition to the affirmative side, that "cranning" was not such an awfully awful thing as it is pictured to be and that examinations are the only real test of a child's scholarship and of his or her honesty.

Miss Lucy Imerson read an essay on "Some Ideas of Children at School Age," in which she recounted a number of the peculiar ideas little children have about the things around them. Following her essay came the final feature of the evening, the presentation of the diplomas by Chairman T. J. Jennings, of the high and training committee.

IN TEN YEARS OLD. Mr. Jennings related the history of the school since its establishment ten years ago and said that the total cost of maintaining it in that time had been but $17