The Children's day services at the Plymouth Congregational church yesterday morning and evening were the best ever held in the church, and attracted large congregations at both services. At 10.30 o'clock the "Charactor Building" services were commenced with an opening song by the pupils of the Sunday school. A Scripture recitation was given by Miss Mattie Hughes which was followed by a prayer by the pastor, Rev. E. A. Boyl.

A number of children were then baptized, and the united school sang a chorus, "Christ, the Sure Foundation." This was followed by an exercise in which children took part. They were Martha James, Jennie Jones, Ruth Reese, Keziah Thomas and Margaret Harris. Five boys also went through an exercise similar to the others. They were Chester Davis, Percy Thomas Chester Stover, Webster Leyshon and Walter Williams, Miss Edith Evans and Chester Davis sang a pleasing duet, "Virtue, Sweet and Sure," and recitations about "Little Workers" were given by Amy Stover, Nellie Warren, Rachel Williams and Mabel Wheeler.

The remainder of the programme consisted of songs by the school, temperance exercises by Dr. T. A. Eynon's class, recitations by Clara Watkins, Martha Hughes, Mary Lee, Alice French, Emily Anderson, Beth Evans and Nora Davis: song by Gertrude Evans, and an address by Rev. E. A. Boyl. A young man, whose identity has not een reverled, strolled down on the Lackawanna river bank, near the westrly end of the Lackawanna avenue bridge, early Saturday morning, and lay down to sleep, near the water's edge. For a long time he remained there unnoticed, but when a crowd of small boys discovered him, they pelted him with sticks and stones. This onslaught did not seem to have any effect on the sleeper, and a report was then circulated that the fellow was dead.

A large crowd was gathered on the oridge, but none ventured down to where the fellow lay, until late in the afternoon, when several railroad men employed on the Ontario and Western ond succeeded in arousing the unknown from his slumer.

An Unusual Event in Holy Rosary Church Yesterday Morning-Rev. James Lynch, Rev. John Heffron and Rev. Stephen O'Boyle Are the New Clergymen-Mid-Summer Services Held in the New Tabernacle Gymnasium Classes Are to Be Opened Tonight-Other Notes.

Three of the five new priests ordained y Bishop Hoban last Thursday, celeerated their first masses at Holy Rostry church yesterday morning. Rev. John Heffron read mass at 8 'clock, Rev. Stephen O'Boyle sang a ligh mass at 9 o'clock, and Rev. James ynch, assisted by Fathers Heffron and Proyle, sang a solemn high mass at 19.30 o'clock. The church was crowded at all three masses, many friends of the new priests from distant places being present. Three priests reading their first masses in the same church on the same day is something never recorded before in this ounty but once, according to local riests who have looked the matter up. This, coupled with the further remarkable fact that all three young men were born and raised in the parish and faimmed together all their lives, made he event one in which the congregation could not help but evince the greatest interest.

At Rev. Father O'Boyle's mass the music was furnished by students and graduates of St. Mary's seminary, Baltimore, who came on here to witness the unusual event in which their schoolmates participated. They were Rev. Michael A. O'Boyle, of Crete, Neb.: Rev. James McCormick, of Pittsburg; Neil Brennon, of Boston; John Gaffney, of Freeland, and Joseph Keiser, of San Francisco, present students of St. Mary's: Rev. Martin Loftus, of Davenport, Ia., and Rev. M. E. Loftus, of Green Ridge, two graduates of St. Mary's. To hear a mass sung by a male choir is unusual in these parts, and to hear it sung so remarkably well made it all the more of a treat. Rev. J. V. Moylan, assistant priest at Holy Rosary church, presided at the organ. A brief sermon was delivered by the rector, Rev. N. J. McManus, on the significance and dignity of holy orders. He also feelingly congratulated the parents and other friends of the young priests on having one of their own honored and blessed by a call from the Almighty to become one of his dis-

The venerable recter, himself, was probably more in a mood for congratuations than any one particular person in the congregation. He has ever evinced a fatherly interest in the three oung men, and that they had brought such a distinction on his congregation endeared them all the more to him.

At the 10.30 o'clock mass the throng as so great in the auditorium that many had to be content to stand in the aisles all during the mass. Rev. Father Lynch was celebrant; Rev. Father O'Boyle, deacon; Rev. Father Heffron, sub-deacon; Rev. W. P. O'Donneil, of Holy Cross, master of ceremonies, John Lynott and John Burke, who were the servitors, and Thomas White and John Lynch, the acolytes, are all seminarians whose homes are in North Scranton. An appropriate sermon was preached by Rev. Father McFeeley, of be Dominicans, who are now conducng a mission at Holy Rosary. The music was furnished by the regular chorr, assisted by the seminarians. The best Catholic church choir in the city is that of the Holy Rosary church, and for weeks past it had been rehearsing a special programme for yesterday's momentous event. The soloists were Mrs. John Lynch, soprano; Miss Margaret Thornton, contralto; Will A. Lynott, tenor, and Will F. Burke, bass, Miss Libbic Neary was the organist. The new priests are to receive their assignments from Bishop Hoban next Thursday.
