MRS. WILLETS TRAGIC DEATH

She Was Formerly Miss Lusk, of Montrose—Dimock D. Searle Passes Away.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Montrose, June 23.—All Montrose sits today in mourning and a death-like pall hangs over the community, because of the sudden and tragic death of one of its town's fairest daughters, a bride of but a few months, who was carried to her distant home on Friday, and news of which reached here yesterday morning.

Miss Elizabeth Lusk, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Lusk, was united in marriage to Stanley Willets at the home of her parents in this place, in November last, and thereupon left for her new home at Chambly Canton, Quebec, where she began what gave bright promise of a long and happy wedded life.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lusk were out of town when the news was received, and it was given to their son-in-law, Seattle McCollum, esq., and later Mr. and Mrs. Lusk were reached by telephone and apprised of the awful intelligence.

The remains, accompanied by the sorrow-stricken husband, will be brought to Montrose on the morning of tomorrow morning and reaching here on Tuesday morning. Mr. Lusk and Mr. Seattle McCollum left last night to meet Mr. Willets and the body. The funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

While turning the above word comes to mind of the sudden death of Dimock D. Searle, which occurred at Wilkes-Barre this morning. Mr. Searle was for years a prominent business man of this place, but for some years has been an operator on Wall street, representing his interests in New York and elsewhere in Montrose. He was about 50 years of age and was unmarried.

Two sisters, Mrs. Kate McCartney and Mrs. Hettie Miller, of Wilkes-Barre, survive him. He was a cousin of Judge D. W. Searle, Jr., Searle and Mrs. J. B. McCollum, of this place, and Clerk of the Middle District Court E. K. W. Searle, of Scranton. Mr. Searle came here several weeks ago and went to Wilkes-Barre for a brief stay, only a few days ago. The body remains here and will be brought to this place, but the funeral arrangements are not announced.

MINOR MENTION. During a severe shower, about 1 o'clock Saturday morning, lightning struck the clock tower on court house, but aside from tearing off a small ornament at one corner, near the base of the tower, no damage was done.

Miss Frances K. Ammerman and Miss Doris Townsend spent Sunday with friends in Franklin.

I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and got them in Matthews Brothers' drug store. They began to help me within a week, and from that time I grew better rapidly until cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sale agents for the United States.

Remember the name, Doan's, and take no substitute.

Minnie Warren, in her lap and held her. I have a ring which the queen gave me, and she gave my husband, the general, a beautiful souvenir of a tablet of mother-of-pearl, with forget-me-nots, and the letters "W" and "R" with a crown in the center. It contains the history of the royal family.

"I have visited Europe nine times and been around the world twice. She is very proud of her husband, who, being a crown in command, is in Italy, his home, by the priests. He has also a good dramatic training and musical education, having studied with Ristori. The count had a long dramatic career in Europe before he came to America, appearing many times in Paris, England, Germany and Egypt. He is a well-groomed little man, delightfully entertaining, and speaks several languages fluently. When he came to this country, however, he did not know a word of English, in spite of the fact that he had done a big business in London in giving pantomimes and musical entertainments.

He was married to the widow of the late General Tom Thumb in 1885 in Holy Trinity church, New York. The wedding was a very big affair, and attended by the public under the management of Colonel J. H. Wood, and her first visit to this city was in 1888, when she gave an entertainment in old Washington hall.

It was very different in those days," she said, in describing it to the reporter. "All of our entertainments were different. I held a reception and sang songs when I first came here. Now everything is vaudeville." At the beginning of the war she went south, being in Montgomery, Ala., when the war broke out. In Feb. 19, 1862, she was married to Charles S. Stratton (General Tom Thumb) at Grace church, New York, the wedding being one of the notable events of that time. Her husband had formerly been under "Tom Thumb's" management, and it was while he was with Stratton that she met him at his home at Bridgeport, Conn. She was 20 and her husband 24 years old when they were married. They remained with Stratton for fifteen years, and it was largely owing to Stratton's excellent genius for advertising, together with Tom Thumb's cleverness as an entertainer, that their success was so great. Tom Thumb used to claim that he had kissed more women than other men living, which claim was undoubtedly true, as that was long before Hobson's record in osculatory gymnastics. Every woman who bought his little book, the general rewarded with a kiss, and it is a matter of note that the books were sold by him and his wife with Minnie Warren and her husband, Commodore Nutt, traveled in their own dramatic company, meeting with unparalleled success. The little people have made many fortunes, and have also lost many. In fact, Mrs. Tom Thumb is the possessor many beautiful jewels, though she does not carry them all with her. Their country home is filled with curios and mementoes of past triumphs from all over the world. No one would miss seeing this interesting trio who are playing this week at the Cook Opera house. The smallest of the three is a grandfather (Baron Magri) having married a large woman, who with her family is now in Italy.

THE KIND THAT CARRIES CONVICTION TO EVERY SCRANTON READER.

Conviction must follow such emphatic proof as is given here. The testimony of Scranton residents should satisfy the most skeptical. Here is a Scranton case. Read it and see if doubt can exist in the face of this evidence:

Boys Run Electric Plant. St. Louis Youngsters Compete with a Great Lighting Corporation.

A St. Louis correspondent of the New York Times says: "The remarkable electric lighting plant in Missouri, and probably in the United States, is situated in St. Louis. The building in which the plant is installed is of brick and wood, having a total surface for which light is now used. The name of this remarkable company is the American Electric Power company, and is situated in the rear of Edward Field's residence at 18th Street and Boulevard. The proprietor of the lighting plant is Edward Field Golda, jr. The members of his company are his friends and playmates, all under ten years of age.

One organized these youngsters started in to study electrical engineering, and applied themselves diligently that now they run the entire plant without supervision from older heads. It was necessary for them to have some business for their plant, and after hard begging permission was obtained by the company to wire the golda home and make connections for electric light. The house was already connected for lighting purposes by one of the large lighting companies, but the fact that they were in oppo-

Attention to a great lighting corporation with millions of dollars of capital did not deter them from going after the business. They had the "right" man and the right lighting plant, the residence by the new company was one of great importance to the youthful electricians.

A Gallant Judge. In a case before a Paris court, in which a popular actress had to appear as a witness, the judge seems to have shown considerable diffidence about asking the lady, as he was in duty bound to do, what was her age. Evidently he considered that such a question, put to such a witness, would be a direct insult to her.

The way in which he got out of the difficulty was ingenious, although decidedly irregular. He said to her: "You are a very young woman."

"How old are you, madam?" he said.

"After a little hesitation the lady owned to being 29 years of age.

"And now that you have told the court your age," continued the gallant judge, "you swear to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth."—Kansas City Globe.
