

WEST SCRANTON

CONWAY IS UNDER ARREST

THE CHARGE AGAINST HIM IS HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

Identified by Andrew Bella as one of the Men Who Assaulted Him and Attempted to Rob Him—Frank Degal Also Charged with the Theft of Carpenter's Tools—Wheelmen at Lake Winola—Sloan-Central Excursion—Other Notes and Personal.

John Conway, of Fellows street, is detained at the Jackson street station house on a charge of highway robbery, preferred by Andrew Bella, of 42 Water street, Olyphant. The latter claims that Conway and a companion held him up at 1 o'clock yesterday morning on Scranton street, near the gas house, and after trying to relieve him of his money, knocked him down and fled.

Bella's servants attracted the attention of Lieutenant Williams and Patrolman Thomas Jones, and as they started to the point where the screams came from, they observed Conway and his companion coming towards them.

As soon as the two men caught a glimpse of the officers they started to run away. Conway was followed by Williams, and the other fellow by Jones, but the latter succeeded in making good his escape.

Bella was held as a witness, and at the hearing identified Conway as one of his assailants. He was held in $300 bail for his appearance at court.

An Enjoyable Excursion.

Upwards of 1,600 people attended the Sloan-Central Mine Accidental Fund excursion to Lake Lodore on Saturday, which proved to be the most enjoyable outing ever held by the fund. Thirteen carloads were taken up on the first train, and on all the regular trains during the day additional crowds augmented the throng at the grove and lake side.

Lodore is now one of the most attractive summer resorts in Northeastern Pennsylvania for one-day outings, and the improvements that have been made on the grounds during the past year are remarkable. The grove is thickly dotted with tall shade trees, and walks have been laid out all over the grounds.

The platform and station is ample for handling large crowds. There is plenty of pure spring water on the grounds, tables and benches have been provided for excursionists, and there are several well-bull refreshment booths, together with one of the best dancing pavilions in the state.

Two napha launches ply on the lake, and there is an ample supply of row boats. Plenty of fishing shrouds and the bathing facilities are sufficient for all who enjoy that sport. The base ball grounds are laid out between the grove and the lake and within easy walking distance. The boat landing is within a stone's throw of the dancing pavilion and easy of access.

On Saturday the West Side Browns and the Alerts played an exciting game of base ball, which was won by the Browns by a score of 10 to 4. Harding, the Alerts' pitcher, struck out six of the Browns' and pitched a good game, but received poor support, which was responsible for the loss of the game. The teams lined up as follows:

Prof. David Owens umpired the game and gave general satisfaction. There were a number of other contests during the day, which were enjoyed by the excursionists. The ride home from the lake is delightful, especially between Lodore and Carbondale.

Manager Jordan, of the Lake Lodore Land and Improvement company, says that every date has been taken for the season except the day after the Fourth of July.

Child's Frightful Fall.

Nellie, the 1-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Harris, of South Main avenue, fell from a second-story window on Saturday and received internal injuries, which may prove fatal. The child fell a distance of twenty-five feet and struck on a pile of boards.

The family resides over D. D. Evans & Co.'s store, and while the mother was preparing dinner the little girl was seated on a table near the window. The child crawled to the window while Mrs. Harris was in another part of the room, and her attention was drawn to the child too late to catch her from falling.

The child was picked up in an unconscious condition, and Dr. M. J. Williams was summoned, who did everything possible to alleviate the child's suffering. Fears are entertained for her recovery.

Another Robbing Case.

Frank Degal, a young man residing on Van Buren avenue, was arrested at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning by Patrolman Hart. Degal was driving a horse, while in an intoxicated condition, and had just emerged from an alleyway, near Hampton street and Main avenue, when arrested.

Upon investigation, the patrolman found in the wagon a number of saws, chisels, planes, etc., used by carpenters, and as Degal could not give any reasonable excuse for having such articles at that hour, he was taken to the station house.

At the hearing yesterday morning he admitted that the tools belonged to Charles Leach, of Chinchilla. A charge of robbery was entered up against Degal, and he was held in $500 bail for his appearance at court. Frank Heffron qualified as his bondsman.

McNally Again Arrested.

Patrick McNally, of Hand place, who was winged by Patrolman Kiah Peters some time ago, while trying to escape arrest, was caught in the police drag net again Saturday night and locked up.

He was towed in by Patrolman Hart, being unable to navigate successfully along at Hampton street and South Main avenue.

Police Magistrate Davies entered up a charge of 45 in the police log book against Paddy, which he paid before securing his release.

Wheelmen at Winola.

A large delegation of the Electric City Wheelmen pushed their wheels to Lake Winola yesterday, where they spent the day at the Winola house. The roads were in poor shape, the boys say, and the going was hard and tiresome in the heat of the day. Some drove over and back.

Among those who made the trip were: Conrad Lutz, Billy Seagraves, Rhys Harris, Dunk Hall, Elmer Crane, John Thomas, Jasper Jones, Will Fowler, Ben Allen, Ed. Moore, Thomas Stephens, Matthew Amerman, Luther Thomas, Gus Eynon, Bert James, Will Morgan, Fred Peters, Harry Davis and Sam York.

ing got their wickedness at the theatre. Most of them were social outcasts before they became actresses. The stage did not degrade them. They degraded the stage. Moreover, the daughters of actors, born to and reared in the glare of the footlights, hardly ever contribute to the scandals which to indiscriminate readers of the news of the day, seem to characterize pretty nearly all players. The exploits in infamy are chiefly those of women whose reputation was bad before they ever entered a theatre by the stage door. The flagrant misbehavior is commonly among the singers and dancers employed ineffectively, or at least ineffectually, in comic operas and extravaganza, where we can hardly expect to see public viciousness accompanied by private virtues. The casts of such pieces are largely registers of social evil. In justice to those who live circumspectly, there should be plain speech about those who do not.

But run your eye down a list of star actors and actresses, or the cast list in dramatic playbills, and you will find only a small ratio of names that are synonyms for profligacy. The time when individual disgrace was accounted a valuable asset in the show business is past and gone. Almost all the eminent personages of the American stage are of good reputation, and most are also of good character. The moral average of the dramatic profession is as high as that of the legal or the medical. The steady gain in this regard has had much to do with the advancement in the art of acting. The recruits during the past decade have been preponderatingly young men and girls of good rearing and education. Culture has become common back of the theatrical curtain. Ladies and gentlemen are in such a heavy majority there, that the less seemingly minority is generally dominated by the prevailing politeness.

The Theatre Not Demoralizing to Those Connected With It. I assert that the stage is not, in any general way, demoralizing to those connected with it, says Franklin Fyles in Everybody's Magazine. Few of the disreputable women engaged in act-

The Holiday Trade Rush

Is now in full swing, and we're as busy as can be in all departments where holiday outing supplies may be had. Shirt Waists and Wash Suits are phenomenally active and there's a reason for it. We've got the patterns, qualities and styles that knowing buyers want. The Hosiery, Glove and Notions Departments are also taxed to their utmost, while those in search of fashionable headgear at the lowest possible cost, are reaping a harvest in our Millinery Department. It's the same way with the men, among the Gents' Furnishing Goods, for this is an age when right styles and extra values are appreciated.

But Perhaps the Most Interesting Item Of Store News Today Lies Among the New Creations in Ladies' Neckwear A Window Full of Latest Novelties Awaits Your Inspection Today and Tomorrow

While a few extremes for lovers of pronounced styles may be seen in the department besides all the popular ideas that have hit the people's fancy. Full lines of Fancy Ties in Lawns, Batistes, Mulls, P. K. Linen and Wash Silks, especially designed for the holiday trade, and at prices within the reach of people of moderate means. Pique stocks and the "New Amazon" Collars, with just enough mannishness about them to be interesting. But mere talk on Ladies' Neckwear is just so many words wasted. Every day brings new ideas from the many artists who give up their entire time to the creation of novelties and their work must be seen to be appreciated.
