NO BAND CONCERTS.

Proposal of Mozart Too High for Cycle Club.

It will be a disappointment to learn that there will be no band concerts this year under the auspices of the Carbondale Cycle club. The club did hope to provide the public with a series of concerts, the same as proved so popular last year, but when the proposal of the Mozart band was received it was found to be so high as to be considered exorbitant by the Cycle club and the idea was abandened. The high figure of the band is due to the fact that the organization now in the union, and these are

William Walker, the president of the board of hospital directors, who leaves shortly to assume the presidency of a large Pittsburg electrical concern, was Monday evening given a testimonial of the high esteem in which he is held by his fellow directors. The gift was a handsome gold-headed cane, the present of the entire board. The presentation took place at Mr. Walker's pleasant home in Mayfield. The following members of the board were present: S. most enjoyable one. S. Jones, M. F. Norton, Julius Moses, Carbondale: Thomas Hunter, Jermyn.

MOTHER GRAY'S SWEET POWDERS for Children. Mother Gray, for years a nurse in the Children's Home in New York, treated children successfully with a remedy, now prepared and placed in the drug stores, called Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for Children. They are harmless us milk, pleasant to take and never fail. A certain cure for feverishness, constipation, headache, teething and stomach disorders and remove worms. At all druggists, 25c. Sam. John White, Forest City. The presentation was made by Mr. Jones, who expressed most feelingly the regret of Mr. Walker's associates at his departure and their good wishes for his continued success. Mr. Walker responded briefly and assured the directors that he would ever cherish the token of their good will and wish them success in the work he so reluctantly leaves. A social hour was then enjoyed.

THE LIGHTING CONTRACT

A Varied Discussion as to the Effect of the Mayor's Veto-Councils Will Probably Meet to Pass the Veto Over the Mayor's Head.

The failure of councils to meet on Monday night to consider Mayor Kilpatrick's veto of the lighting contract has stirred up quite a discussion as to the status of the contract, and to satisfy a number of The Tribune's readers. The Tribune representative vesterday sought the opinions of some of the attorneys of the city. It was suggested that the fact that the councils did not heed the mayor's call for a special meeting on Monday not only made the veto effective, but also debarred councils from again meeting to ike action on the mayor's action. The oncensus of opinion, however, is that councils are yet free to act and can come together at any time hence to consider the veto. The Act of 1889, under which this city operates, specifies that the mayor has fifteen days from the time that a measure is presented to him in which to approve or veto the same. The mayor received the resolution awarding the contract on Wednesday last, and accordingly had fifteen days from that date in which to act on the resolution. He elected to veto the measure, and so informed ouncils in a letter, which also called for a special joint session. Councils did meet Monday night, but this circumtance, the general opinion says, does nilitate against the councilmen meeting at any time that they may elect to consider the veto. There was a question, or doubt, as to whether the fifteen lays prescribed by the act meant fif een days from the time the resolution bassed councils, or fifteen days from he day the mayor received the resolution. If it meant the former, then the limit expired Monday night, and the failure of the councilmen to meet ould be interpreted that they acquiseed in the mayor's veto and that it vas effective. The act says specifically that it is fifteen days from the day the esclution was presented to the mayor, chich would be fifteen days from last Wednesday. In the face of this, it was pointed out to The Tribune that counils are free to act on the veto when t suits their convenience.

Another phase pointed out to The Tribune was the question as to whether or not the resolution should have been sent to the mayor. It is suggested that the resolution awarding the contract was not legislative, merely ministerial, and that in such cases the act specifies that there is no necessity for a resolution of this character going to Above is the gist of the opinions obtained by The Tribune, and which would indicate that the matter of suataining or rejecting the veto still rests.

MAIL CARRIERS' VACATIONS.

The Choice of the Local Postal Forces Holidays. The mail carriers of the Carbondale

MENTION OF MEN BEFORE THE PUBLIC EYE

It must be encouraging to a young man, who is ambitious and just starting on his public career, to know that his advice is appreciated and acted on by his associates who are older in years and experience than he. This is rue of Harry Williams, secretary of the Carbondale poor board.

Mr. Williams is a young man, considerably younger than is to be found in public bodies, but his experience so far indicates that his years are no drawback to his chances of success. It need hardly be mentioned that there are times when the poor board has flights which make it necessary for a cool and collected head to interpose, and it is here where Mr. Williams shows his ability and wisdom as an adviser. This he does unfailingly, and even though some of the members feel disposed to act to the contrary, they give way to his counsel, thereby at-the affairs of the board. Mr. Williams has many pleasing personal qualities, and conspicuous among is his obliging spirit, to which everybody who is brought in contact with him testify. Mr. Williams is employed in the offices of Superintendent Manville, of the Delaware and Hudson, where he has earned the utmost respect and confidence of his associates.

testing this young man's influence in Another young man who is an imortant factor in the organizations to which he belongs is Bert E. Durfee, who was installed in the office of president of the local camp of the Patriotic Order Sons of America on Monday evening of this week. The camp here achieved great results during the year just ended, and according to District President H. C. Huffman, of Mt. Cobb, who was the installing officer, it led the district. This is a record the Carbondale camp may well feel proud of, for the Scranton camps, which are always vigorous and active, belong to the district. In giving credit for these results, President Durfee can claim a big share. Mr. Durfee was master of forms last year, and this gave him an opportunity to do more active work than if he held a more important office. Even when Mr. Durfee hadn't the opportunity to work in behalf of the camp, he created one, and his incessant labors are to be seen in the summing up of the year's splendid carm-hearted, whole-souled, charitable man, few of whom are to be found in positions that he occupies. The experiences which come to a man occupying a position about a railroad station, where he has to run the gauntlet of an army of all sorts of fault-finders and grumblers, are well calculated to make him irritable and out of patience, but Mr. Griffiths is happily an exception among this class, and one is always sure of a kind word and an agreeable explanation, no matter how hurried he may be by reason of his work. Then about his treatment of belated travelers, who are unacquainted with the town. There are many of these, several every week who reach town on the 2 o'clock train, who are friendless when they reach here, and as they are usually destined for points up country, which cannot be reached until morning, are in a sad plight. No obligation rests on Mr. Griffiths to care for these wayfarers, but to his warm nature it would be akin to a crime to turn them adrift, and believing that "a little help is worth more than a heap of pity," he provides for their comfort and makes them at ease until their train arrives. If one could ee how grateful these strangers are to Mr. Griffiths, he would feel the force of the saying that a little kindness is

Mr. Griffiths is also a capital storyteller, and he keeps so close to nature in his recitals that there's a heap of genuine humor in what he says. Mr. Griffiths, it scarcely needs to be added, stands high in the estimation of his employers by reason of his fidelity and onscientiousness and his friendly attitude towards everybody,

. . . Assistant Postmaster John M. Nealon a another person occupying a public position who has strongly intrenched himself in the good feelings of the perons with whom his duties bring him in daily contact. Mr. Nealon is among the modest and unassuming, his manner is entirely devoid of fritis, and this, coupled with his sincerity of purpose, makes him a favorite wherever he appears. His pleasant face at the general delivery window of the postoffice is an assurance of a warm greeting and the most considerate of attention.

Mr. Nealon understands his work from A to Z, which he does without any brass band accompaniment to proclaim his ability. The mail service of the Carbondale postoffice is of the highest efficiency, and it could not be otherwise with men of Mr. Nealon's calibre associated with the work.

WINAN HULL'S STAY.

Winans Hull, the accused slayer of Edward Schoonover, was in this city about twenty minutes yesterday morning, while waiting for the train that was to take him to Honesdale, where he is to stand trial for the crime of which he is accused. There was quite an assemblage at the Seventh avenue station when Hull alighted, handcuffed and in charge of Sheriff Armbruster, of Honesdale, and Constable Edward Neary, of this city. Hull showed the unconcern that is characteristic of him, and puffed away quite contentedly at the cigar which the sheriff gave him. There was an affecting scene when Hull's father approached him and, in apparent distress, inquired from Winans if he caused Schoonover's death. The son did not reply to his sorrowing parent, but burst into tears. Hull's brother, Will, prior to this, asked Winans if he was guilty promising that if he wasn't his par ents would aid him, but if he was guilty, he would be left to his fate. Winans' answer was that he was innocent, and that he had no knowledge of how Schoonover met his fate.

At Honesdale there was a crowd of several hundred persons at the depot Hull was placed in a cab and, with the sheriff and constable on either side, he was driven to the county jail, where he was imprisoned in the cell that was occupied by McCabe, who was hanged fourteen years ago.

The authorities have arranged for a hearing on Thursday morning. Constable Neary will today serve subpoenas on the persons of this city who saw Schoonover's body the day it was

JERMYN AND MAYFIELD.

The Jermyn school board held their adjourned meeting last evening. By an unfortunate oversight the secretary failed to read the application of young lady who had applied for the position of teacher. The oversight was discovered after half of the teachers had been elected and assigned to their rooms. Mr. Crawford then wanted the election of the six teachers reconsidered so that the application of the teacher referred to might have fair chance, but Chairman Hunter said the teachers up to that point had been fairly elected and he could not grant Mr. Crawford's suggestion. The regular order of business was then dispensed with and the application read. The remainder of the teachers were elected and assigned their rooms. Mr. Crawford then moved that the whole election be reconsidered. He said he desired this because of the fact that an injustice had been done the applicant whose application had not been read when the others were. Secretary Depew, who had made the regrettable mistake, seconded the motion because of that fact, but Chairman Hunter refused to entertain it, and after a few minutes' heated discussion the matter dropped. Applications were read from Misses Florence Colwell, Jennie E. Battenberg, Margaret Cosgrove, Archbald; Gertrude Vail, Cora A. Davis, Catherine T. Mullen, Forest Vail, Scott; John T. Jenkins, Misses Myra L. Hills, Vir-ginia L. Cargill, Thompson; Miss Mabel E. Neusbiggle, Wilkes-Barre; Susie N. Cure, Scott; Carrie D. Murray, Margaret Mulherin, Sara Mullen,Grace Vail. The applications were then considered and the election resulted as follows: Room No. 11, Miss Grace Vail; room No. 10, John T. Jenkins; No. 9, Miss Cora Davis, No. 8, Miss Carrie D. Murray; No. 7, Miss Florence Colwell; No. 6, Miss Myra L. Hills; No. 5. Miss Sara Mullen: No. 4. Miss Mar-garet Mulherin; No. 3. Miss Jennie E. Battenberg: No. 2. Miss Gertrude Vail; No. 1, Miss Kate T. Mullen. The matter of fixing the teachers' salaries was deferred until the next meeting. By last night's election all of last year's teachers were re-elected with the exception of Miss Cosgrove, of Archbald, who will be succeeded by Miss Jennie E. Battenberg, of this borough. There has been several changes made in the assignment of rooms. Miss Sara Mullen, who was in room 9 last year, goes to room 5; Miss Mulhearn from room 6 to room 4, while Miss Davis goes to room 9 and Miss Murray to room 8. A bill from Prothonotary Copeland was referred to Borough Solicitor Lynch for advise. The expenses for operating the electric plant for June amounted to $274.55. An opinion was read from the borough attorney in which he stated that he could find no law covering the point as to whether the council should defray expenses incurred by the auditors in rectifying mistakes caused by the school board and that he did not think it obligatory on the part of the council to pay the bill. The bill was returned Auditor Williams. Mr. Van Sickle, of the street committee, reported that he had received a communication from Manager Silliman, of the Scranton Railway company, with reference to moving the tracks near the Moy bridge caused by the erection of the new arch under the road. He said Mr. Silliman agreed to bear an equal division of the cost of the improvement which will necessitate the extension of the stone work. The matter was referred to the street committee. He further said that the committee had decided to construct a culvert at the borough line in Grassy Island and that a 20-inch terra cotta pipe would be used. Regarding the sidewalk matter he said that an ordinance is being prepared and would be in readiness by the next meeting. At the request of Mr. McMeans an order will be drawn in favor of the Grassy Island Hose company for $100 to apply on a new building. An ordinance was passed granting Contractor Flannaghan an extension of time, till Oct. 1, in which to complete the extension to the First sewer district. The electric light collector reported that the receipts, in excess of expenses at the electric plant in April, amounted to $51.40, and in May to $23.63, William Pugh, an aged resident of this place, died at his home on Lacka
