THE POOR BOARD'S WARM SESSION

A Heated Discussion Over the Doctor Question—McMillan and McCabe Indulge in Pointed Repartee.

It was 8:15 o'clock when Chairman Thomas called the poor board to order last night. All the members were in their seats. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted and then Mr. McCabe, of the farm committee, reported that "there will be a pretty good crop of oats, and the best of the potatoes in Greenfield township, at the poor farm."

The following bills were read by Secretary Williams:

State hospital for insane	$245.00
Andrew Kraatz	6.00
Hillside home	172.34
A. W. Kenyon	25.00
Mrs. Michael Dugan	2.00
Consolidated Water company	2.00
D. & H. company	9.75
Dr. J. A. Kelly	10.00
Mrs. William Mainwaring	3.00
James F. Burke	15.00
Dougherty & Martin	28.00
Charles Capanagh	15.00
McDonough Brothers	17.00

McCabe wanted to know what the board intended to do with Dr. Kelly's bill for medical services. He wanted to know if Mr. Burke had been authorized to hire Dr. Kelly. He argued that the bill should be set aside for the present. He said that the director should have gone before the board and got authority to hire a doctor. He didn't think it was right for the director to take the responsibility. He added further that six weeks ago he had asked the attorney's opinion as to such a matter and had been informed that in the attorney's opinion the director had not the authority to hire a doctor without consulting the board while the doctor is on.

Mr. Burke announced that his understanding had been that in case of an emergency the directors were to hire a doctor at their discretion. He stated that the case was one of absolute necessity.

Mr. McMillan took up the matter with Mr. McCabe, and wanted to know what the board would do. Mr. Burke refused to give the medical relief and the woman had died. The board would then be worse off than to pay $10 for a doctor's services when needed. He then quoted a case which had come to his attention. A blind man, with four children, asked to have them vaccinated at the board's expense. He granted the request. He asked Mr. McCabe what would happen if he had not done so, to which Mr. McCabe replied that he supposed they would get the smallpox. "What kind of a box would I be in then?" asked Mr. McMillan.

Mr. Lynch thought the bill could be collected, so should he paid. The chairman, however, set the bill aside, pending the securing of the opinion of the attorney. The rest of the bills were then ordered paid, on motion of Mr. Williams.

The matter of the poor farm water works and plumbing system was then brought up, and resulted in a lengthy discussion. Opinion was divided as to whether the two branches of work should be separate contracts or let as one job. Mr. McMillan alone favored the former, so it was decided to let the entire work to the one bidder.

After considerable discussion as to the details of the specifications prepared by Engineer B. R. Blair, they were finally accepted and the secretary was instructed to advertise for bids, each bid to be accompanied by a certified check of ten per cent, of the amount of the bid, as a guarantee of good faith, and the successful bidder to give a bond of $500 for the faithful performance of the work.

Mr. McCabe said that some of the almshouse inmates are badly in need of medical attention. This provoked a rambling discussion, to the effect that doctor would probably charge for the trip. Mr. Lynch suggested that the inmates be brought to town. Mr. Williams moved that the farm committee be empowered to send a doctor to the farm at a fee not to exceed $3. This provoked a warty discussion between Mr. McMillan and Mr. McCabe. Mr. McMillan claiming that it was not for the farm committee to tend to this work. Mr. McCabe upheld the committee, inasmuch as the farm committee is in full charge of the farm. The motion was put and resulted in a tie, Messrs. Thomas, McCabe and Williams voting yes, and Messrs. McMillan, Lynch and Burke nay, killing the motion.

Mr. Williams then called the board's attention to a Sixth ward case needing medical attention. It is a very deserving case, he said, and McCabe moved that Mr. Williams be given power to direct a doctor to attend the case. After a hot discussion between McMillan and McCabe, which touched upon almost every subject discussable by a poor board, the motion was passed.

McMillan kicked very emphatically against the farm committee having to do with the farm inmates, claiming that they should be looked after by the directors from their several wards. He said the farm committee should have the naming of the doctors who should go to the farm.

Thomas asked that the names of every doctor in the city be put in a hat and that the first one whose name was picked out be elected doctor. McMillan would not agree to this, however, and said that if any of the patients died it would be McCabe's fault because he wanted to hire the doctor. McCabe speculated as to how McMillan could reach such a conclusion, when he, McCabe, had voted to send a doctor to the farm and McMillan had voted against it. At this point, Chairman Thomas put a stop to the discussion.

The question of electing a tax collector was brought up, but as the tax duplicate has not been completed, was laid over till the next meeting.

On motion of Lynch, the board adjourned.

THE GERMANIA'S OUTING.

Jolly Excursion to Lake Poyntelle Tomorrow.

The Germania society of this city, which comprises as jolly a set as could be gotten together, will hold an outing at Lake Poyntelle tomorrow.

This outing is an annual affair. Heretofore the members sought the shores of Lake Newton to enjoy themselves, but this year Lake Poyntelle was the choice, and at this spot over 2,000 feet above the sea level, the light-hearted members of the society will pass the day in various amusements.

A special train over the Ontario and Western, leaving here at 9 o'clock in the morning, will convey the excursionists. The return trip will be made in time to land the party home about 6 o'clock.

A RIOTOUS TIME.

Patrolman Carden and Special Policeman Willis Have an Exciting Time with a Crowd of Boisterous Young Men in the Dunduff Section of Town.

There was a riotous time in the Dunduff section of the town between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday morning. It was caused by a party of boisterous young men who took umbrage at the action of Patrolman Carden to suppress the disorder they were causing, and it ended in the arrest of three of the party and their being fined by Mayor Kilpatrick. Before the men were locked up, they made matters lively for the patrolman and Special Policeman Harry Willis, who came to his assistance.

The alleged facts of the happening are that the party of five young men were more or less intoxicated. They were stationed at the Dunduff street crossing and were loudly boisterous. Patrolman Carden admonished them to be quiet, but one of the number, Michael Howard, of Dunduff street, was so noisy that he was ordered home. Special Officer Willis was called by Patrolman Carden, and with Howard in tow they marched toward the latter's home. It was the policeman's intention to guide Howard to his home, in order to keep him out of trouble, but Howard was not disposed to yield and grabbing a stone he threatened to throw it toward the policeman. He carried out his threat, but darted up the street and across a lot and through an alleyway. Willis was in close pursuit and was caught on the foot by a stone, thrown presumably by strike Carden. The patrolman overlooked Howard and started off again, but this time for the police station. Howard's companions wanted him released, and the refusal precipitated a fight between the policeman and the quartette of young men. In the midst of the scuffle, one of the young men got hold of a piece of iron, a shoe brake, which he threatened to use. The policeman feared he would draw their revolvers. This subdued the young men's warlike spirits and they desisted. The patrolman and his companion policeman renewed the journey to the police station, and in passing the house of one of the party who ran ahead and took refuge there, an earthen pitcher came sailing after them. It was intended for "that d—d Carden," and voice shouted after them, but it just missed the patrolman.

In front of the city hall two of the party, Edward Dougherty and George Mannion were awaiting the policeman. The patrolman and his companion policeman renewed the journey to the police station, and in passing the house of one of the party who ran ahead and took refuge there, an earthen pitcher came sailing after them. It was intended for "that d—d Carden," and voice shouted after them, but it just missed the patrolman.

TAKEN WITH HEMORRHAGE

John J. Monahan, Proprietor of Hotel Harrison, Violently Stricken While Attending to Work About the Hotel—He Rallied, but for a Time the Result Was Doubtful.

John J. Monahan, proprietor of Hotel Harrison, was taken with a hemorrhage of the stomach about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and suffered such a loss of blood, which rendered him so weakened a condition for a time his life hung in the balance. About an hour after the attack, a reaction took place and Mr. Monahan gradually rallied and was restored to consciousness. About an hour later he had another attack, which was not so severe, but which made him weaker. Late Dr. O'Neil was called. The physician, both declared that Mr. Monahan's condition is exceedingly grave.

Mr. Monahan was stricken while standing behind the hotel desk, making repairs to one of the curtains. His daughter, Miss Catherine, was beside him. One of the patrons of the hotel, John Gallagher, fruit house agent from Scranton, approached the desk and asked for a cigar. Mr. Monahan did not heed his request, but asked Mr. Gallagher to help him. Mr. Monahan began to weaken, and the color of his face changed to a death-like pallor. He was about to topple, when Mr. Gallagher supported him. He asked to be taken upstairs to his room, and calling Salmekner John Monahan from next door, Mr. Gallagher, with the latter's assistance, helped the stricken man to the upper floor. Mr. Monahan lay on the bed, but when he arose to a sitting attitude a moment later a stream of blood fairly shot from his mouth and continued to flow until Mr. Monahan was exhausted. Dr. Kelly was hastily called and administered strong stimulants, which revived the heart action and Mr. Monahan was able to recognize those about him and converse about his attack.

Mr. Monahan has been in good health, although yesterday he complained of a feeling that caused him to fear an attack of pneumonia.

MENTION OF MEN BEFORE THE PUBLIC EYE

President Patrick Hughes, of the Carbondale board of education, entered into the office of the Carbondale board of education, and was elected an exceptional record as secretary of the board, and those who know the man believe that he will fulfill what he said, when on the night of his election he declared that he accepted the office without any strings, and that he would be president in fact, as well as in name. This is one of Mr. Hughes' most prominent and marked characteristics, his frankness and his firmness of purpose. While he is frank, he is not offensively so, but when he expresses his opinion as to how this, that or the other thing be done, he usually clings to that opinion and exercises his will to its carrying out. If his move be in accordance with the wishes of the majority. About Mr. Hughes' work as secretary, when he took over the books were in a chaotic condition and it required a good deal of application and diligence to bring them about to his method, but he accomplished this, and on the night of the reorganization of the board they were in readiness to be turned over to his successor. This mere fact would, perhaps, not call for any special notice, were it not that it was the first time in over twenty years that such a fact could be recorded. This was not overlooked, either by the majority or by Mr. Hockenberry, who felt constrained to sincerely compliment Mr. Hughes, and in a public manner, on his career in the secretary's office.

Mr. Hughes, as a citizen, is of that type that is progressive and forward, and always all the way ahead of the times. He means the advancement of the city's interests. He belongs to that class in American life that diffuses so much pleasure and sunshine in their daily doings—the jolly drummer—and it goes without saying that his company is always enjoyable.

These are the days that bring gladness to Richard Udy, the active and industrious keeper of Memorial park, for Nature, in the dress in which he best adorns her, is out in all her glory. Mr. Udy has an innate love for flowers and beautiful wrought landscape, and his well-developed sense of the beautiful in nature causes him to toil diligently and constantly among the yards and gardens that are committed to his care. Memorial park is a good example of his artistic taste and skill and toil, and there was another mix-up, but less fierce, which ended yesterday in the three being incarcerated. Yesterday morning the mayor fined Howard, Mannion and Dougherty each $5. Warrants will likely be sworn out for the arrest of the two who got away.

Patrolman Carden's helmet was battered out of shape, and its stoutness is what preserved him from injury.

Carbondale has reason to value its fire department and to lavish praise on the young men who volunteer in the service that means the salvation of lives and the protection of the homes and business of the community. The fact that the city has also good reason to believe that in Chief John J. McNulty the department has a head that is competent to direct it and who is always on the alert to improve the means of coping with the destructive fire evil.

The chief, while he has business interests that make demands on his time, is never too occupied or absorbed with them to subordinate the interests of the department or cause them to suffer in any way. The fire department of this fact. The most recent addition of the chief's is a Miller smoke helmet, an appliance that is in use in all of the large cities, and which has proven its effectiveness. The helmet sits over the head and face of a fireman, and allows him to work in the midst of a suffocating smoke.

Chief McNulty is styled "Happy" McNulty by his intimate friends, and the title is no misnomer, for he certainly comes under the head of what in common parlance is a "good fellow."

PECKVILLE.

A lucky happening took place at the new shaft that is being sunk by the Mount Jessup company yesterday. To mount the rock and refuse out of the shaft a large bucket is used. The hoisting is done by a small portable engine. A bucket of rock had just been hoisted out of the shaft, and as it was being swung around, the rope broke, letting the heavily loaded bucket fall into the car. Had the rope broken when it was being hoisted a number of men who were at work at the bottom of the shaft, would have been crushed to death.

The employees of the Dolph and Sterick Creek collieries will be paid today. Street Commissioner Lewis is doing a good job cleaning the ditches on Main street.
