CONFERRING OF DEGREES.

Interesting Exercises in St. David's Hall Last Night.

An exemplification of degrees was given in St. David's hall last night by the newly organized team of Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians. Over two hundred members of the order were conducted through the first, second, third and fourth degrees.

This degree work is a new departure in the order, having recently been adopted, and was introduced for the first time in this valley at Archbold three weeks ago. The degree team from Division No. 1 has been deputized to exemplify the work in all the divisions in Scranton from the city line on the north to Old Forge in the south.

The officers of the team are as follows: Patriarch, Thomas P. McHale; bard, Augustus McDade, orator, M. S. Lavelle; grand guide, Michael Jennings; scribe, John Lavelle; guards of honor, Thomas P. Ream; chief guard, M. H. Hooley; John Gallagher, John Shaughnessy, James Drury, Patrick Hogan, Patrick Lynn, Michael May, sentinel, Thomas J. Tierney; sergeant-at-arms, John Donahue.

There is also a choir, under the direction of Miss Johnson, organist of St. Patrick's church, which is composed of the following singers: First tenors, Michael Donegan, Owen Donegan, John Carroll, Matthew Malla, John Carroll; second tenors, Nicholas Burke, William Lavelle, Frank McHugh, Michael Durkin; basses, Michael Madigan, William McAuliffe, Daniel McAuliffe, James Degan, James Hester.

Among the visitors in attendance were County President M. F. Conry and the presidents of all the divisions throughout the city. The degree work was concluded at a late hour, after which refreshments were served by Caterer John McLean. The members seem to be highly pleased with the innovation in the order and predict it will become popular in the various divisions.

RAZORS WERE FLASHED.

A Lively Row in Marshall and Smith's on Sunday.

Harry Newman, a colored man, yesterday caused the arrest of Arthur Morris, another colored man, whom he charged with feloniously wounding him. The warrant was sworn out before Alderman Ruddy, before whom a hearing was held in the afternoon.

Newman was pretty badly used up, that no one could deny. There were several long slashes on his face and he had a nasty cut on his wrist. According to his story he was called up to the second floor of Marshall & Smith's place, on West Lackawanna avenue, on Sunday afternoon by a friend of his named Hall, with whom he had a conversation at the head of the stairs.

He claimed that Morris, who, he says, had a grudge in for him for some time, came along, and without any provocation whatever threw him down stairs, following him on the run and administering the razor cuts on his face.

Morris told an entirely different story. He said that one of the women who habituate the place got into a quarrel with Newman, and struck him over the head with a pin.

His father claimed that Newman accused him (Morris) of knocking him down stairs, and that he slashed him (Morris) with a razor. In proof of this he also presented for the consideration of the alderman a choice collection of razor cuts.

Alderman Ruddy held Morris in $500 bail for his appearance at court. The latter then swore out a warrant for Newman's arrest on the same charge of felonious wounding, and he was also held in $500 bail.

LONGO LIKELY TO BE BROUGHT BACK HERE

District Attorney Lewis Has Taken the Preparatory Steps to Effect His Extradition—Letter Announcing Longo's Arrest.

Tony Longo, alias Antonio Luongo, the slayer of Police Officer James Golden, of Dunmore, will likely be brought back here for trial. District Attorney W. R. Lewis has taken the preparatory steps to effect this extradition.

When arrested in Italy, Longo averred that he was not a citizen of that country, and the Italian authorities, and the American authorities, were proceeding to try him there.

When this fact was communicated to District Attorney Lewis, he set an investigation afoot, and secured through the Italian consul, the fact that Longo was naturalized here, and that he, at one time, circulated a petition to be appointed a police officer of Dunmore.

Yesterday Mr. Lewis sent word to Justice of the Peace Conroy, of Dunmore, to send in a transcript of the case against Longo. This will be submitted to the next grand jury, and if an indictment for murder is found, the effort at extradition will be made.

The letter announcing the apprehension of Longo and preparation for his trial is appended.

Victor Emanuel the Third, through the Grace of God and the Will of the Nation, King of Italy.
This day, 21st of December, 1900, in Potenza, The Department of Indications at the Court of Appeal of Potenza, composed with the Hon. First President, Francesco Dejanetti, president; Second President, Aurelio Aguerio, counsellor; Third Vice, Frederic Biondi.

THE COURT.

Having read the acts and the request of the Attorney General.

Whereas, Antonio Luongo from Philippine happened to kill in Dunmore (U. S. of America) James Golden, a police officer, in a transcript of the inquiring magistrate at the tribunal of Melfi initiated a trial according to the Section 5 of the penal code, against said Luongo, who now is detained in Potenza.

Whereas, It is necessary to have first, all the acts which must have been taken up through the authority of the place where the crime was committed.

Having seen the Section 83 of the code of criminal procedure, pronouncing in the council chamber according to the request of the attorney general.

The court begs the judicial authority of Scranton (Pennsylvania, U. S. of America), in order that it may be pleased to send in the transcript of the acts and the request of this court all general and specific acts concerning the murder committed in Dunmore on the person of Mr. James Golden, police officer.

The public prosecutor at this court is hereby requested to provide for the fulfilment of this decree.

This pronounced in the council chamber on the day, month and year aforesaid.

(Signed) Francesco Dejanetti, president; Second President, Aurelio Aguerio, counsellor; Third Vice, Frederic Biondi, John Scoppa, vice chancellor. A true copy—The Chancellor.

John Scoppa.
A true translation from the Italian language, V. G. Magini.

A local precedent for this is found in the case of the murderers of Paymaster Flanagan, on the mountain back of Mimers Mills. One of the murderers, who was not a citizen, was tried in Italy. The other, "Red-Nose Mike," who had taken out naturalization papers, was brought back here from Italy and tried in the Luzerne courts. Both were hung.

The others, not included in the professional class, were not so fortunate. They would not be a very enjoyable lot if they continued, or attempted to continue to work alongside the men whose places they had been filling, and the moment they learned the strike was off, they were packing up their bundles, preparatory to taking their departure.

The company officials had promised them steady employment and would have allowed them to continue at their jobs at the regulation rate of wages if they so desired. A number of them desire to stay, however, and the company did not insist upon their staying. The consequence was that few, if any, of the imported men who were working during the strike were to be found about the shops yesterday.

The imported men were supplied with transportation to the points whence they came, and during the day and evening slipped quietly out of town.

A few of the strikers who made themselves conspicuous to the company by "pernicious activity" during the strike, were not allowed to return to work. Who these were can not as yet be positively stated. The men filed applications individually.

Those whose places were ready were put to work at once. A number of others were told they would be sent for when they were wanted. Still others received no answer at all to their applications. It is not certain that all these last mentioned are not to be sent for. Time alone will tell who the permanently discharged ones are.

IMPORTED LABORERS.

A large number of Greeks and Italians, imported to do laboring work, are still about the yards, but they are to be shipped away as fast as old employees return. The imported depot work at the most part, are also being sent away.

The boarding and lodging arrangements at the paint shop are still maintained for the accommodation of imported men employed at the car shops, who did not secure boarding houses outside.

It now develops that a large number of the imported men were boarding in hotels and private houses throughout the city. One of the professional strike breakers was stopping at a leading hotel in the central city and came to work every day in a frock coat, striped trousers, patent leather shoes and high silk hat.

Sixty of the "professionals" went from here to help break a strike in the Missouri Pacific railroad shops. Others were sent to other places. Reading, there was a report in circulation that the whole crowd of Drummond men were to go to the Allis-Chalmers shops this morning, but Superintendent McLaren denied this, saying he had had no negotiations whatever with any strike-breakers agency.

The claim is made that the Drummond agency offered to supply the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company with eight hundred first-class machinists. The company, however, contented itself with just enough to keep up the immediately necessary repairs. The reason more of them were not taken was that they command thirty cents an hour, with free board and lodging, and the man who supplies them must be paid a wage for every day each one of them works.

EXCEPTION TAKEN.

The statement that the Allis-Chalmers men are a unit in their determination to stay out till they win a victory is taken exception to by Superintendent McLaren. He says that thirteen old men who went on strike returned to work yesterday, and that he learned from various sources that many more contemplate returning today or tomorrow. He also says that as many as thirty men who reluctantly went on strike left their addresses with him when they went away to seek employment in other places. He says that he sent for them at the first sign of a break in the strike. Superintendent McLaren expects these men back in their places before many days go by.

IMPORTED MEN ARE EXPORTED

LACKAWANNA STRIKERS GET THEIR OLD PLACES.

Professional Strike Breakers and the Others Brought Here to Man the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Machine Shops Make Their Exit When the Strike is Declared Off-Situation at Allis-Chalmers Shops—Strike Breaks at Wilkes-Barre, but Ashley Stands Out.

Practically all of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and Lackawanna Iron and Steel companies' machinists returned to work yesterday, the respective superintendents putting the old men back in their places as fast as they appeared.

Thirteen of the strikers of the Allis-Chalmers shops, on Penn avenue, returned to work, and Superintendent McLaren says the prospects are that a number of others will return today.

The Wilkes-Barre shop of the Allis-Chalmers company resumed operations yesterday morning with its full force. There was an expectation that some friction would come of throwing the returned strikers and imported men together at the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western shops, but the expectation was all away.

The imported men numbered about 325, and 140 of these were professional strike breakers, supplied from the Drummond agency in New York. They were paid thirty cents an hour and given free lodgings and meals. Some of them worked day and night, with only a few hours' rest, and earned as high as $5 a day. As long as the big wages continued they were content, but the moment the strike was declared off and the regular scale of wages substituted, off they went for fresh pastures, where the grass was good, green and long.

STRUGGLE FOR THE BODY OF COMPTON

Divorced Wife and His Alleged Son Are Arranged Against the Father and Brother of the Deceased.

Cornelius Compton, aged 44 years, of Ninth street, died yesterday afternoon on the operating table at the Moses Taylor hospital and now his father and brother, on one side, and his divorced wife and his alleged son, on the other, are contending for possession of his body.

As soon as he died at the hospital yesterday afternoon, the young man who claims to be Compton's son, went to Undertaker Price and told him to remove the body to his undertaking establishment to await his orders. He said that his name is Claude Edwards and that he lived with his mother, Laura Edwards, of 113 South Hyde Park avenue, who was divorced from Compton about five years ago.

Undertaker Price took the remains to his establishment, on North Washington avenue, and was much surprised early in the evening at a visit from the dead man's father and brother, Jacob and Jehiel Compton, respectively, both of Hallstead, who demanded that they be given the body.

They stated that Compton's wife and the young man who claims to be his son had not lived with him for five years and that accordingly they had no legal or moral right to his body. The undertaker was in a quandary, but finally decided to do so by Edwards or by court.

John Edwards consulted Attorney Young F. Seragg before taking possession of the body and can be expected to fight any attempt on the part of the other side to secure it. The two Comptons, father and son, after conferring with Mr. Price, decided to see Attorney E. C. Newcomb and had a long conference with him late last night. It is understood that legal proceedings will be begun early this morning to secure possession of the body.

"This young man who claims to be my brother's son has no right to his body," said Jacob Compton last night to a Tribune man. "Both he and his mother have neglected him for five years, and he has so little respect for him that he doesn't even use his name, but calls himself Edwards. He won't get the body if I can prevent it."

FOUNDY RESUMES.

The foundry, operated in connection with the car building department of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company, resumed operations yesterday morning with its old force. There were forty-three moulders, seven coremakers, nineteen laborers, three blacksmiths and one apprentice at work. The moulders declared to Master Smith of the Millfield that they did not go on strike, but were forced to idleness by the strike of the laborers. A notice was posted Saturday night at the foundry that work would be resumed Monday morning. The result was that all hands returned. A number of new men were engaged as laborers, but they were all residents of Scranton.

An Associate Press dispatch from Wilkes-Barre says that the striking machinists employed at the Allis-Chalmers work and the shops of the Lehigh Valley railroad at Coxtown, Wilkes-Barre and Sayre, made applications yesterday for reinstatement, the leaders having come to the conclusion that it would be useless to carry on the strike any longer. At the Allis-Chalmers works all the old hands were taken back. At Coxtown, about forty of the old employees were given work.

There are quite a number of non-union men employed at the shops now and the strikers will have to go elsewhere for employment. The 800 machinists employed at the Ashley shops of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, who went out on May 29, have not yet made a move to return to work, but they may in a day or two. When they do, the company will not receive them in a body, but as individuals.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad company declined to receive its men back in a body, but the officials stated they would receive applications for work from individuals, and if they were experienced men and there were places for them, they would give them employment.

There will be a meeting of Electric City lodge of Machinists, at Hulbert's hall, this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

If this was the last day, these would win:

1. Meyer Lewis, Scranton	553
2. Henry Schwenker, South Scranton	362
3. Miss Wilhelmina Griffin, Providence	302
4. William Miles, Hyde Park	280
5. Garfield Anderson, Carbondale	205
6. Ray Buckingham, Elmhurst	121
7. Miss Norma Meredith, Hyde Park	104
8. Miss Vida Fedrick, Clark's Summit	95

How many of these will be in Table No. 1 on the closing day?

9. August Brunner, jr., Carbondale	88
10. Frank Kemmerer, Factoryville	63
11. David O. Emery, Wimmers, Pa.	45
12. Arthur C. Griffin, Montrose	38
13. W. H. Harris, Hyde Park	23
14. Miss Minnie Wallis, Carbondale	20
15. E. J. Sheridan, Hawley	6
16. Miss Jennie Ward, Olyphant	6
17. Robert Campbell, Green Ridge	3

Yesterday was too hot for big returns in The Tribune Educational Contest, but Miss Vida Fedrick, of Clark's Summit, succeeded in getting within nine points of seventh place, a position which she held during the greater part of June. All through July and up to last Saturday Miss Fedrick did not meet with much encouragement and was in ninth place, at the head of the second table, but now seems to be meeting with greater success and as she is an energetic worker, her prospects are good for getting much higher in the list.

Miss Norma Meredith also brought in some points yesterday and appears nearer to Ray Buckingham, who still holds sixth place.

Aside from Henry Schwenker, who brought in one point, those at the very head of the list are apparently taking a rest, feeling secure in their advanced positions. It is difficult to forecast what the result will be six weeks hence, when the contest closes. It may be something of a realization of the old fable of the hare and the tortoise, as the contestants farther down are working steadily along and it is very likely that some of them will be at or very near the top on the evening of August 31.

TREASURER OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT

An Effort Was Made to Elect One at Last Night's Meeting of the Board of Control.

An effort was made last night to have the school board elect a treasurer, but it was not successful. Just before that body adjourned, Dr. John O'Malley arose and offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the solicitor of the board of control be requested to furnish an opinion as to the right of this body to elect its own treasurer and present incumbent, recently appointed by the city recorder, to act in the capacity of treasurer of the school district without the endorsement or authority of the board of control.

This resolution was adopted, and President Gibbons then suggested that it might be better for the board to at once elect Mr. Robinson treasurer for the balance of the year. The latter now has the custody of a large amount of the money of the district, and if there was an objection that he was not the legal custodian of the funds of the district and cannot be legally held, the board ought to act at once.

He suggested that they proceed to elect Mr. Robinson as a matter of protection to the finances of the district. Dennis Roche, the member from the Seventh, objected to acting at once and suggested that the matter be referred to the attorney of the board in connection with the finance committee.

It is probable that the committee will report in favor of electing a treasurer.

Bonds and mortgages have always been considered among the safest investments. The one drawback which they have always had is the mortgagee's desire to sell, he must wait until the title has been examined, and then possibly lose his purchasers because of some defect or irregularity in the title, which the purchaser's attorney may discover. The mortgagee's policy of this company may be assigned with a bond and mortgage by the simple endorsement of the mortgagee. There is no expense; it is as simple as endorsing a check or note.
