Controller Howell last night sent to select council his report of receipts and expenditures of city moneys for the cal year ending on April 1, and also a statement of the city's net indebtedness on that date. Both were referred to the finance committee without comment. The controller's communication and the accompanying financial report are given below

City Controller's Department Scranton, Pa., Aug. 2, 1901. To the Homerable the Select and Common Coun-

Gentlemen: The changes occasioned by the fransition from a city of the third to a city of the second class, together with the delay in passing the appropriation onlinears for the cur-ient fiscal year and the delay in the final accept-ance and approval of the sinking fund report by the sinking fund commission necessarily de-layed the submitting of my fiscal year report to honorable bodies at an earlier day et of March 7, 1991, further directs that the "cport shall be printed.

wish to call the attention of your honorable bodies to the fact that year after year our defi-ciencies are growing larger. As arather a defi-ciency appropriation of $8,700.00 for 1900, we have $16,800.07 for 1901, and after I had called for all deficiency bills from the various depactand submitted them to the councilst at date of Feb. 11, 1901, and amounting to $15,-152.91) additional deficiencies to the amount of 80,794,65 poured into my department on a we end demand to departments, dated May 29, 1901, and they are still coming in.

On May 25, 1881, I sent to your honorable bodies a statement showing that $4,612.33 were available for appropriation from unexpended bal-June 29, 1201, in compliance with a resolution of your henorable bodies I sent in a statement showing $2,002.97 as available for appropriation from soudry accounts of special city. The acanying financial statement of 1900 shows a fer contained in my estimate of revenues for I'ell, submitted I'el. 14, 1991, and appropriated for general city purposes in file of select council No. 3, 1991, we have $5,994.72, to which we add the balance in cits license account, $250, making a grand total of $10,850,00 as available for appropriation. If your hemorable bodies elect to ment 29,500.58 must these deficiencies I recommend that a special fund for the payment of these hills alone be provided, with a present of these hills alone be provided, with a provise that all moneys for maining in the account at the end of the fisca year be transferred to the account for the pay-nent of judgments against the city.

A word as to the finances of the city. The net indebtedness, as shown in the statement. sixt of st. This would leave a margain of $38,-

I refer to the assets of the sinking fund in a general way only, leaving a more extended re-port to the newly appointed sinking fund com-missioners. The cash balance in the several sinking fund accounts at date of April 1, 1901, was $171.581.44, while the other assets (bonds) amounted to $124.000.000. From the interest on the latter and from the levy for sink-ing fund purposes there is derived about $70,000 By referring to the debt statemen it will be seen that up to and including the year 1904 the several sinking funds will be called upon to redeem $100,000. It will readily be seen but the stuking fund is amply able to care for

Referring to sundry claims against the city is where they do not bear infecest. I recommen then appropriation for the payment of the salatone, on the approval of the councils and t city solicitor. This will relieve the city of less cost and interest charges where the debt puts his claim, in default of payment by th city, in judgment.

Requestfully submitted.

"Why, that article in the Republican was all wrong and contained the first news of a switchmen's strike that I had heard. In the first place, contrary to the statement in the paper. the switchmen held no meeting jast night. In the next, we sent no sommittee to New York to see President Truesdale and in case he refused to grant our demands, call the men out before 16 o'clock this afternoon.

"Oh, tomorrow morning at 6 o'clock," the switchman told him, meaning, of course, that the men would then come out for work as usual. #### DEFENDING THE CUP.

Costs Like Sin. Perry, in Frank Leslie's Popular

The exact sum of money paid for he Columbian, in 1899, is not known, but the sum has been estimated at not three suits of salls. And then there now for the present season:-

It will have been noticed that the construction of each cup defender has cost infinitely more than its predecessor. The fact is, the Herrshoffs have several thousands of dollars for each unquestionably cost not a cent less slighest luffing in the wind or different than $200,000 to build. She has a large rolling of the vessel. tender, the steamboat Mount Hope, and a crew of 68 men. She has three or four suits of sails, extra spars and and waking at a fixed time that when the like, and she will go into drydock the Nina was wrecked, when it was evibefore the cup races. Outside of the $200,000 spent on her construction she will probably cost the Belmont syndicate about $80,000. Then there is the cost of her trial horse, the Columbia. She will carry a crew of forty men. each of whom will receive $35 a month in wages. That makes $2,200 a month: $11,000 for the five months she will be in commission. The wages of Captain Barr and the first and second mates will aggregate for those five months, $6,000; the tender will cost $7,000. Eniforms for the men have already resuited in an expenditure of $1,000, and there is the cost of feeding them to be considered. This makes $25,000 and her sails and spars and overhauling and other particulars will easily cost anohter $25,000. It will thus be seen that all in all, $350,000 is a conservative estimate of the cost of defending the cur this year.

FOR SEVEN YEARS ALONE ON THE SEA

The Wonderful Voyage of Captain Frietsch Recently Concluded at New Orleans - NoMore for Him.

New Orleans Letter in the Sun. After seven years' voyaging on near ly every ocean, the only occupant of the little vessel which he himself built, Captain Adolphus Frietsch landed here this week from his last solitary cruise, met his family which had come all the way from Milwaukee to see him, and announce his determination to sell his boat, retire from his solitary sea life, and spend the remainder of his years in Pensacola on the proceeds of his voyages and speculations. Captain Frietsch is a Finn, only 41 cars old, but has been at sea for twenty-four years. Seven years ago when he was living in Milwaukee, engaged in the schooner trade there the viking spirit seized on him and he determined to travel over the world and visit all the seas. He himself built a little vessel, the Nina, with a fortyfoot keel. He left Milwaukee in 1894 for Liverpool, passing through the Great Lakes by way of Buffalo and the Erie canal to New York. His little vessel aroused some interest at the time and thousands came to see her. He set sail from New York for Europe: and for most of the world, that was the last beard of Captain Frietsch and his Nina. That was even years ago The solitary mariner has been "ploughing the ocean waves" ever since. The Nina has long since gone the way of all such tiny vessels and the captain comes to New Orleans in a new vessel. the Anna F., also built by him, and a trifle larger than the Nina, having a 44-foot keel and 12-foot beam. comes here from a cruise along the coasts of South and Central America and the tropics with the little vessel stocked with shells, corals and other marine curiosities, all collected by himself, for whenever he saw coral or shell that pleased his fancy he dived exerboard to collect them.

Seven years in hermitage at the ser Is remarkable, and it seemed strange that Captain Frietsch should have escaped all its dangers-but very narrowly at times, fro when the first vessel the Nina was wrecked off th reef in Kilbrennan Sound the captain just missed going with her to destruction by a few seconds.

To navigate a vessel without a crew is a difficult matter, for there is the question of the watches. Who was going to look after the Nina or the Anna D, when the captain, boatswain, able difficulty Captain Frietsch triumphed by a lesson he learned in the matter of sleep, which he says and one can learn who will make the proper It Ir an Interesting Pastime, but It trial-the ability to sleep for a fixed time, an hour, two hours or three hours as the sleeper might desire This enabled the captain to rest during calms and when there was no danger

A Title Policy is in the nature of a bond under seal, issued by a thoroughlyresponsible financial company, promising to pay any loss by reason of detects or unmarketability of title. It is not a mere opinion: it is a contract deliberately made and imposing great responsibility upon the insurer. The company assumes every risk not expressly excepted. In case of an adverse claim, the holder need only notify the company; his duty is then done; the company must do the rest.
