

WEST SCRANTON

SPEAK-EASY WAS RAIDED

THOMAS HASTINGS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY.

At a Hearing Before Police Magistrate Davis He Was Fined $50—Funeral of the Late William B. Morley from His Late Residence—Marriage of Miss Agnes Williams and Orle Evans—Young Son of Mr. Mrs. Teitz Injured—Other Personal Notes.

Some time ago Director of Public Safety Wormser gave an order to the superintendent of police that all unlicensed places where liquor is sold must be closed up. In pursuance of that order the lieutenants were notified to keep their eyes open along that line, and as a result Lieutenant Williams, of this side, has been nobly doing his duty. Yesterday the lieutenant and his officers raided the speakeasy of Thomas Hastings, who lives and conducts his unlawful business at 326 Meridian street. When the police officers appeared on the scene they found the place in full blast, and the owner in great surprise and consternation that he was in the grasp of the law.

He was arrested, and he and his goods taken to the West Side station house, where later in the evening he was tried before Police Magistrate Davis, convicted, and sentenced to pay a fine of $50, or be the guest of the sheriff at the county jail for thirty days. At this writing his friends were hustling for the desired $50.

United in Matrimony.

Wednesday morning, at the bride's home, Miss Agnes Williams, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Williams, of 941 North Summer avenue, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Orle Evans, also of West Scranton. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives, and the Rev. Beeson, of the Providence Welsh Congregational church, said the words that made the happy couple one.

The bride's sister, Miss Nellie Williams, was maid of honor, and H. L. Williams acted as best man. The happy event took place at 6 o'clock, and at 7 o'clock a bountiful wedding breakfast was served. One hour later Mr. and Mrs. Evans took the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western train for Atlantic City, where they will spend several weeks.

spend several weeks. They will return to this city, and will reside with the bride's parents for a short time. Mr. Evans is a valued employee of the J. L. Connell company, and the former Miss Williams was for a long time an attaché of Jonas Long's Sons' store. A host of friends wish them success through life.

Man of Many Names

Stephen McCloskey, who changes his name, however, about as often as a man changes his clothes, was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Heiser & Warnke, on the charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses. McCloskey was recently released from the county jail, where he was on a similar charge.

In the various cases in which he has been caught he has given the names, McCloskey, Mickovich, Stanley Smith and Stephen McLaugh. On July 23 he went into the store of Heiser & Warnke, at Main avenue and Jackson street, and told them that he was employed by the Mr. Pleasant Coal company, and had twenty dollars due him. He said he needed some goods, and if they would fill his order he would give them an order on the company. The firm did as he requested and in return gave them an order signed Stephen McLaugh, minor, No. 296. McCloskey took the goods and left, and when the firm went to the Coal company's office they found that he had been employed there some months before under the name of Smith, minor, No. 33, but had drawn his pay and quit a long time before.

When the fraud was discovered a warrant of Alderman Davis was placed in the hands of Constable Thomas Jones, who landed his man yesterday afternoon. In the evening he was tried before Police Magistrate Davis and put under $300 bail, which he was unable to procure, so the alderman committed him to the jail to await trial.

Married in St. Patrick's.

In St. Patrick's church yesterday Miss Theresa Slattery and Michael Sweeney were married by Rev. P. E. Lavelle. The bridal party entered the church at 12 o'clock, where they were met at the altar railing by the officiating clergyman.

The bride was handsomely attired in a gown of white organdie trimmed in lace. She wore a hat to match. The bridesmaid, Miss Mame Loftus, of Pittston, wore a gown of white organdie and lace trimmings. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Edward Kenny, on Fifth avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney left on a wedding tour which will include Buffalo and New York.

Police News.

John Richards, of Hampton street, who threatened to make Emmet Deegan a fit subject for the undertaker, because he paid attentions to Richards' wife, was released yesterday on $200 bail until the next term of court. A farmer, who had cultivated, instead of farm products, a large appetite for wine, beer and liquor was arrested yesterday afternoon for being helplessly drunk. He will enjoy hospitably Castle Williams until sobered enough to appear before Police Magistrate Davis.

Putty Blower vs. Small Boy.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Teitz, of Washburn street, met with a painful accident last Sunday, while descending the stairs at his home. The little fellow was coming down the stairway with a putty blower in his mouth, when he tripped on some obstacle and was precipitated to the floor below with much force. Someone hearing him fall, ran to his assistance and found blood flowing very freely from his mouth.

Dr. L. H. Gibbs was hastily summoned and found that the putty blower, which he held in his mouth when he fell, had been forced into the delicate mucous membrane lining of the mouth, cutting it quite severely. No serious results are anticipated.

Successful Lawn Social.

One of the most successful lawn socials of the season was held last evening at the home of Miss Helen M. Fowler, corner of Lincoln avenue and Jackson street. The affair was in charge of class No. 19 of the First Baptist church, and the proceeds are to go towards furnishing their class room.

From early in the evening till late at night larger crowds than the young women could handle came to regale themselves with cream, candies, cake and soft drinks. The success of the affair exceeded expectations.

Just Escaped Death.

Mrs. O'Rourke, of North Garfield avenue, met with an experience on Wednesday noon that she will probably never forget. She was enjoying the noonday meal with her family, when a small particle of meat became lodged in her throat. She suffered intense pain for several minutes.

Dr. D. J. Jenkins was called and arrived just in time to save her life, as she was in a precarious condition.

Funerals of Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon the last rites were paid to all that was mortal of the late William B. Morley. Rev. D. P. Hopkins, pastor of the First Welsh Baptist church, had charge of the services at the house, and spoke words of comfort, consolation and hope to the weeping ones gathered around the casket of the one so dear. The floral tributes were many and handsome, and showed the respect and love in which the deceased was held by his former comrades.

The pall-bearers were Harry Baston, Meredith Jones, John Robinson, of the Foresters, and Peter Patrick, Harry J. Davis, John Phillips, of the Odd Fellows. Large detachments of the Foresters and Odd Fellows accompanied the remains to their last resting place in the Washburn street cemetery.
