LETTERS FROM FORMER RESIDENTS

Assurances from Men Prominent in Civic and Religious Life That They Will Be on Hand to Felicitate in the Birthday Anniversary of Their Native City-Their Letters. Other Semi-Centennial News.

The assurances received daily from distinguished sons of Carbondale that they will be present to join in the fecilitations and jubiations of semi-centennial days confirm the belief that the reunion of residents will be marked by the highest enjoyment. Secretary Jadwin, of the reunion committee, has received most interesting letters from former residents, in all of which the intention is expressed of being on hand on the occasion of the natal day celebrations.

Commissioner General of Immigration Powderly writes as follows:

"Washington, Aug. 7. "I have been away from home a great deal and on returning find your invitation to participate as a speaker in the semi-centennial celebration of the incorporation of the city of Carbondale on the second of next month. I beg to assure you that it will give me pleasure to be with you on that date and contribute my humble effort to make the celebration a success. With many thanks for your kind remembrance, T. V. Powderly,"

It was in Carbondale that the vener able Galusha A. Grow made his maiden address from the political hustings, and it was hoped that he would grace the occasion and make an address. The latter he will not be able to do, though it is possible that he will come. In his letter to Secretary Jadwin, he says:

Your letter writing me to speak at a semi-centennial celebration of the incorporation of the city of Carbondale, September 2, is received. I cannot now make any engagements for public speaking this fall. A throat trouble of long standing is almost entirely removed and with proper care, I hope to secure such result: but I shall refrain from all public speaking for the present. With best wishes for your celebration, I am most truly yours, "Galusha A. Grow." Judge R. W. Archbald, of the United States court, another of Carbondale's sons, speaks as follows in his letter: "Be assured that if it is possible ! will attend the entire celebration, or some part of it, although I cannot at this writing indicate just when, wholly prevented from doing so. "Yours very truly. "R. W. Archbald." It was feared that Bishop-elect Garvey, of Pittston, would be interfered with in attending the Jubilee of his native city, because of duties connected with his consecration, but after a sec-

Superintendent Manville Forwards $150 Check from President Olyphant for Centennial Fund.

The executive committee of the Semi-Centennial association much pleased yesterday to receive from Superintendent Manville a check for $150, the contribution of the Delaware and Hudson company to the cenennial fund, as directed by President Dlyphant.

The letter containing the substantial offering was received by Hon. James J. O'Neill, chairman of the executive committee, from Superintend- fect. ent Manville, who deserves to share in the credit of securing such a liberal donation from the company, the matter having been left to his offices.

Tomorrw's Game at Lodore.

It is seldom that so much interest has been aroused by any anticipated event as that which has been created by the proposed game of ball at Lake Lodore tomorrow, between the Cres-cents and Tigers, of Honesdale. The howl that went up by the country folk over the mountain, because of the recent defeat of the "pets" of the Maple city is still in the ears of every base ball enthusiast in this city, and it would affect Manager Fox very much in the estimation of the people of this place if by some unforseen accident he should lose tomorrow's game. Martin visited the place in 1866. All that remained of it on the spot was a tablet which recorded the building of the synagogue in 1183 and its rebuilding in 1488. An entrance tablet marked in gilt with the words "Israel's Possession" had been removed to a mosque, and thither some of the coloists had followed it is worshippers. The Jews at that time numbered between 300 and 400; but stubborn as is the race it had succumbed to a greater stubbornness. Though Dr. Martin says that the face of a young man with whom he conversed was the face of a Jew he talked no language but Chinese, and neither did any of the others Hebrew was absolutely unknown to them. Regarding th disappearance of the temple it was explained that the people were all very poor and that they had sold it piecemeal to supply them with food. Dr. Williams, the historian of China nakes a note of a visit of a delegation from the colony to Peking at a somewhat later date on a search for help He says that it failed of its object and adds concerning the Kaitung Jews as a whole:

It is probable that in a few years their unity will be so destroyed in the removal of their synagonue that they will be quite mingled with their countrymen. One or two are now Buddhist priests, others are literary graduates, and all of them are ignorant of their peculiar rites and festivals.

The continued existence of the colony speaks well for Chinese toleration, but Kaifung is not friendly to the foreign-

Once upon a time F. Hopkinson Smith, the ort critic and lecturer, happened to reach a city the Northwest on a bitterly cold day to fill are, and Mr. Smith, without stopping to refresh was to entertain a select party of women. After he had changed his traveling dress he found that his teeth were still fairly chattering with cold and he felt that he must be warmed un before beginning his effort to interest his sufficie. Across the ball was a ladies' dressing ont, in which were a number of women laying off their wraps. He approached the door at haming his hortess, asked if also were presen-"No," said a young woman, coming forward, but I am her daughter. What can I do for on, Mr. Smiths"

"I am very cold," was Mr. Smith's toply " tunt some whisky."

Usd a bombshell exploded in the room tha estit could hardly have been more startling or the heatess was the very head and front of the local Woman's Christian Temperature Unite rganization. The young woman was evidently targeted, but she talked to the situation. "I see," she said, "you are ill, Mr. Smith, You shall have the whishy;" She crossed the room to a medicine close, test out a small phial, filled a teaspoon from
