Formaldehyde Found in Milk

State Inspector Stevens Explodes a Bombshell of Fear Among Local Milk Dealers—Three Arrested and Held in Jail to Answer Charge of Selling Milk Which Contained Preservatives—The Dealers Disclaim All Knowledge of the Presence of the Chemicals.
Stanley J. Stevens, of Harrisburg, an inspector attached to the office of the state food and dairy commissioner, produced a sort of a lyddite shell explosion among the milk dealers of the town yesterday afternoon when he arrested three of them, Mulholland Bros. of Park Place, Frank C. Munn, of the Palace creamery, and Henry Wademan, of Greenfield township, who distribute milk over a route in this city.
The trio were charged with selling milk that contained a chemical preservative in violation of the state pure food law. Formaldehyde is the chemical which was found in the milk. Its presence was located by Professor Albert H. Welles, of the faculty of the Scranton High school, the instructor in physics and chemistry at that institution. Professor Welles is the chemist for the food and dairy commission for this district, and it was from analyses of the samples of the milk submitted by Inspector Stevens that the presence of the deleterious and harmful preservative was detected.
Mr. Welles was present at the hearings, which took place yesterday afternoon before Alderman Morrison, and submitted his findings, which formed the basis of the charges against the accused milkmen. The three defendants pleaded guilty when arrested. They disclaimed all knowledge of the presence of the formaldehyde, and asserted that if the chemical was detected in any of their products it was not due to their agency, but must have been placed in the milk by the parties who supplied them.
Alderman Morrison believed a case had been established against the defendants and directed them to furnish bonds in the sum of $200 each for their appearance at court, which they did.
The episode, or investigation, which had its climax in yesterday's proceedings, was commenced on August 2, when State Inspector Stevens came to town and somewhat surprised Secretary George Evans, of the board of health, that he was here for the purpose of procuring samples of milk from all of the dealers of the town, to have them analyzed.
Mr. Stevens, Secretary Evans and Sanitary Policeman Moffitt visited all of the milk depots in town and procured samples, also from the dealers who supply customers throughout the city, but who are not located here. The samples were sealed and marked, and taken away by the inspector, who presented them to Professor Welles for analysis. There are sixteen samples in all, two being procured from Mulholland Bros. and Frank C. Munn.
The result of the analysis showed the presence of formaldehyde, and when Inspector Stevens was acquainted with this, he placed the information before Alderman Morrison, and directed warrants to be sworn out for the parties referred to.
In the samples of the other dealers, thirteen in number, the analyses did not reveal the presence of any chemicals. The purpose of the use of formaldehyde is to preserve the milk without the use of ice, thus avoiding this item of expense and averting the risk of the milk souring. Formaldehyde is an acceptable substitute for ice, from the mercenary dairyman's standpoint, but it has a harmful effect on the digestion of the luckless children, infants particularly, who have to drink the milk wherein it is made to do service. It retards the digestion of milk, which, being delayed in the stomach, causes gastric uneasiness and is prone to upset and disarrange the delicate organs of digestion, thus giving rise to infantile complaints. Formaldehyde is what is employed by the board of health in fumigating houses during and after the presence of contagious diseases.
The action of the state inspector was means "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." A woman in womanly ill-health cannot be said to live; she only exists. She has slavery instead of liberty. From day to day she drags about with her chains of disease. Each month she is imprisoned for days in a darkened chamber. At her best she just manages to keep about; her back aching, her nerves trembling, her head dizzy and reeling. And there are days when so intense is her suffering that the cry of Mariana leaps to her lips: "Oh God! I am weary, and I would that I were dead."

HEALTH to a woman

Just how true to the life is this glimpse of suffering may be gathered from the case of

JUST ONE WOMAN.

"Your medicine almost raised me from the dead," writes Mrs. Edwin H. Gardner, of Egypt, Plymouth County, Mass., Box 12. "I had pain all over me and such a dragged feeling it seemed I could not do my house work. I had to sit down to wash the dishes, even, and also to do some of my other work, too. In the year 1907 I got sick and took care to live and prayed many times that God would take me. Then I thought of my little boy and my husband, and thought it would be dreadful to go and leave them behind; so one day I was looking over my papers and found a little book in which I used to keep my husband's accounts. I read it and thought I would write to Dr. Pierce. I sat down, as sad as ever, and wrote a few lines to him, and in a few days received an answer. I decided to try his medicine, and to-day I am a well woman. I have no headache, no pain at all. I used always to have headaches previous to the monthly period, and such pain that I would roll on the floor in agony. This sometimes would occur every two weeks, and I would be very weak afterward. I was in pain all over. My feet would slip from under me when I would try to go across the room, and I could not walk any distance without being in pain. Words cannot express what I suffered in two months. After I had taken one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I began to feel better. I took three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and three vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and was completely cured."

ANOTHER VICTIM.

Third Child of Philip Gogots Succumbs to Diphtheria—The House Fumigated.

There was another death yesterday in the home of Philip Gogots, at Simpson, where the cases of "black" diphtheria were discovered on Sunday night.
This child is the third victim of the scourge. One died Sunday and another on Monday. There is another child sick, the only one surviving, and while the disease is well advanced, there is not the apprehension felt as to the three who succumbed.
The quarantine ordered by the Fell township school board is rigidly enforced. The house and its contents have been fumigated and the occupants will be confined there until the limit. The physicians from this city, four in number, who saw the children in their suffering, declare that they were the worst cases that have come under their observation.

WHAT SHALL I DO?

How many a woman has cried out, "What shall I do to get relief from this intolerable agony?" The best answer to that question comes from some one who realizes that Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription was made to cure certain diseases and not certain women.

WHAT SHALL I DO?

In plain words, "Favorite Prescription" regulates the periods, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It takes no account of women, except as the victims of the disease, because every woman is exactly alike with respect to organic structure. If "Favorite Prescription" cures ulceration in one woman, it will cure it in any woman. That was the logic of Mrs. Adams' husband:

WHAT SHALL I DO?

It is not the easy cases only that are cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Speaking in general, after everything else has failed and doctors have said "the case is hopeless," "Favorite Prescription" is used as a last resort. It always helps. It almost always heals. Here is another case where the doctor had but "little hope," and "Favorite Prescription" had help and healing.

WHAT SHALL I DO?

The evidence that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well is overwhelming. More than that: it makes old women new. Women who have been prematurely aged by pain are restored to youthfulness. The eye brightens, the cheek rounds and reddens, the form fills out. The woman not only feels like a new woman, but she looks like a new woman.

WHAT SHALL I DO?

organically, but in a certain delicacy of organism and sensitiveness, which need to be considered in her treatment.

WHAT SHALL I DO?

To her and to all women suffering from disease in its chronic forms, Dr. Pierce gives the invitation to consult him by letter free. This free consultation by letter places at the disposal of weak and sick women the medical advice and fatherly counsel of one of the foremost specialists in Edmunds and P. H. Collins. Bills from J. G. Avery, $4.20, and Electric Light company, $1, were read and ordered paid. Treasurer Blake informed the meeting of the receipt of a warrant from the department of public instruction for $102.28, being a portion of the state appropriation. The secretary was instructed to give the tax duplicate books to the tax collector. The janitor's salary was fixed at $40 per month. The salary of Principal Barrett was raised to $90 per month for three years. The salaries of the other teachers were as follows: Miss Grace Vail, $40; J. P. Jenkins, Miss Cora Davis, $30; Misses Mary, Mrs. Florence Caldwell, Myra Hill, Sara Mullin, $22; Margaret Mulhern, Jennie Hattenberg, Gertrude Vail, $20; Kate Mullen, $10. It was decided by resolution to reopen the schools on Tuesday, Sept. 3. On motion of Mr. Moreton, the secretary was instructed to advertise for bids for the hauling of coal and ashes for the coming winter. The board afterwards adjourned.

WHAT SHALL I DO?

Miss Abram, of Third street, left yesterday for New York city.

WHAT SHALL I DO?

Rev. F. W. Gendall, of Peckville, was a visitor in town yesterday.

WHAT SHALL I DO?

Misses Emily Fessenden and Lily Jackson, of Cemetery street, have gone to enjoy the sea breezes at Ocean Grove.

WHAT SHALL I DO?

The Mayfield school board held a special meeting Monday evening. A committee consisting of Directors Beckwith and Brady were appointed to look up the bondsmen of Treasurer Brady and see that the tax collector's bond is on file. The object of the meeting was to take action on the tax duplicate, but owing to the tax collector's bond not being filed no further business was transacted.
