

WEST SCRANTON

ONE GRAVE FOR PISTOL VICTIMS

EDWIN DAVIS AND WIFE BURIED TOGETHER.

Interment was made in the Washburn Street Cemetery yesterday afternoon—Patrolmen Necessary to Handle the Crowd—George Brown, Wife and Family Injured in a Runaway—Loyal Knights and Congregationalists' Excursions. Events of Today and Evening.

The opportunity given yesterday to view the remains of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Davis was taken advantage of by fully five hundred people between the hours of 11 and 2 o'clock, and from the continuous line of women and children who flocked to the house, it was quite evident that many were attracted there through curiosity.

Both bodies rested in modest caskets in the front room, and on either side were placed floral offerings, which attested the sympathy of the immediate relatives and friends.

On the face of the dead woman there appeared a rather faint expression of the horror she must have experienced in her untimely death, while the same stolid, determined look that characterized the young man's features shortly before his death were apparent in his countenance.

Before, during and after the services the crush of humanity around the two white funeral carriages was so dense that it was with much difficulty several patrolmen opened the way for the bodies to be removed from the house. The cortege moved down Sweetland street to Main avenue and thence up Washburn street to the cemetery, where another crowd of spectators had gathered to witness the final scene in the most appalling tragedy that has ever occurred in West Scranton.

The services at the house were in charge of Rev. D. P. Jones, pastor of the Tabernacle Congregational church, and were very brief. Several hymns were rendered by the assembled throng, and after prayer and a few remarks by the clergyman on the uncertainties of life the bodies were borne to their final resting place. The pallbearers and flower bearers were: Charles Major, Lynn Reese, Lewis Bowen, Edward

Brown Family Injured.

George W. Brown, the well-known drayman of Robinson street, together with his wife and three children, had a thrilling experience on Sunday while returning home from a drive over the Ashington turnpike. When near the Susquehanna house at Chinchilla, the wagon pole was broken, and when it struck the horses the animals began a wild flight down the turnpike.

Before the frightened occupants of the wagon could escape the vehicle was overturned and all were thrown into the road. Mrs. Brown was severely injured, and several of her ribs were fractured, while Mr. Brown sustained bodily bruises which nearly incapacitated him from his work since.

Two of the children also sustained painful injuries, but none of the family are seriously injured. The team was captured after running some distance, and after another wagon was secured the family returned home, where Dr. A. A. Lindabury is attending them.

Mrs. Brown is confined to her bed, and it will be for some time to come, as her injuries were very painful. Mr. Brown is being congratulated on his narrow escape.

Two Excursions Yesterday. One of the largest and most enjoyable excursion parties of the season spent yesterday at Harvey's lake, as the guests of Enterprise lodge, No. 21, Loyal Knights of America. The committee in charge of the arrangements made ample provision for the entertainment of their members and friends, and the outing was successful in every particular.

A good-sized crowd also accompanied the Welsh Congregationalists of South Main avenue and North Scranton to Lake Lodore, where an enjoyable day was spent in extended athletic and aquatic amusements. The excursionists from both resorts returned home about 9 o'clock last evening.

Anderson Wouldn't Go Home. William Anderson, of Keyser avenue, became intoxicated Monday night and a friend took the trouble to place him in a Lagrange street car, paid his fare and started him home aright. Shortly after the car started from the corner of Main avenue and Jackson street Anderson jumped from the car and wended his way to the hallway leading up to Red Pettin's hall.

There he fell asleep and it was necessary for several patrolmen to carry him to the station house. At the hearing before the police magistrate yesterday morning Anderson paid a fine of $4.

NORTH SCRANTON.

THE CORONER INDIGNANT.

Says Dr. L'Amoreaux Was a Little Too Presumptive. Coroner Roberts is a trifle indignant at the action of Dr. Samuel L'Amoreaux, of this city, in performing an autopsy upon the body of Leo Langroth, who is believed to have shot himself last Sunday morning.

The coroner said last night that he gave the doctor no authority to perform an autopsy and that he considered his action most presumptive. "The doctor testified at the inquest as to the cause of death," said the coroner last night, "and when the inquest was all over, held an autopsy. That was a most remarkable thing to do. He had no right to touch that body, as soon as he did without my permission, and I shall call upon him today for an explanation."

The defense offered to Coroner Roberts charges is that the coroner failed in his duty and as an act of humanity the local officials, at the behest of the citizens, took it upon themselves to go through the local formalities necessary to permit of the removal of the body.

When the body was discovered at 8 o'clock in the morning a telegram was sent to Superintendent Rime, of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, and he notified Coroner Roberts. Word was sent to Moscow, that the coroner would be right up. When he did not come on the 10 o'clock train, a telephone message was sent direct to him and the word came back that he would be up at once. When the 4:30 p. m. train came and Dr. Roberts was not among its passengers, the grief-stricken father of the dead boy begged that his son's body should be allowed to rest any longer in the sun, and after a futile effort to locate the coroner the justice of the peace proceeded to conduct the inquest. Dr. L'Amoreaux was requested by the justice of the peace to make an examination of the body with a view of giving expert testimony as to the cause of death. This is how Dr. L'Amoreaux came to figure in the affair.

When the body was delivered to the family at 5 o'clock p. m. it had already turned black and was giving forth a strong odor suggestive of decomposition. Coroner Roberts arrived on the scene the day following the finding of the body.
