CHANGES IN CITY HALL.

It is Expected That a General Rearrangement of Offices Will Soon Be Made.

At the next meeting of the recorder's cabinet, the question of a general rearrangement of the offices in the municipal building is to be given consideration. This matter has been discussed among the heads of the departments for some time back, but the question of finding room for the recorder's cabinet common council members has not been taken up as an issue.

Several plans are under consideration, but the one which Director of Public Works Roche, who has charge of the public buildings, favors is the moving of the common council chamber to the second floor, the recorder's office to the third floor, and the city clerk's office to the fourth floor, which he believes could be fitted up and finished at no very great expense.

The present council chamber could then be fitted up into an office, either for himself or Director of Public Safety Wormser. Both these officials are at present cramped for room. Director Wormser is located in the small, poky little office on the ground floor, formerly occupied by the assessors, while Director Roche has hastily constructed quarters on the third floor, partitioned off from the large office occupied by the assessors by a rough-hewn and temporary wood partition. Both offices are entirely unworthy of two of the most important departments of the city government.

There is a strong belief that action will be taken looking toward the vacation of the two rooms on the second floor now occupied by the board of control. The school board has no right or claim upon the use of these rooms except a verbal agreement entered into at the time the building was completed. This can be terminated at any time, and it is believed that the time is fast approaching.

If the council chamber is vacated by council and taken by either the department of public works or public safety, the school board room would be the only available place for the recorder's cabinet.

Director Roche believes that an elevator should be installed in the city hall, and he will advocate this too, at the cabinet meeting. In the meantime, the "additionals" will have to make the best of things and get along with the accommodations in the rear of the council chamber.

CAR BUILDERS GIVE UP FIGHT

THE STRIKE WAS DECLARED OFF LAST NIGHT.

At a Meeting in Carpenters' Hall the Men Decided to Give Up the Struggle—The Company Has Made No Concessions Nor Has It Agreed to Take Back Any Men—Buffalo, Kingston and Hoboken Strikers Will Abide by the Decision Arrived at.

The protracted strike of the Lackawanna car builders was declared off last night at a special meeting of the strikers held in Carpenters' hall on Wyoming avenue.

The meeting was called as the result of a conference held on Tuesday between Master Car Builder Canfield and President McAndrew, of the car builders' union. At this conference Mr. Canfield announced that the company was as firm as ever in its position and would make no concessions whatever. He told President McAndrew that he could not promise to take the strikers back if the strike was declared off, but that those who might desire to come back could sign the regulation application blanks, which would be carefully considered by the company.

The sentiment among the men in favor of having the strike declared off became so strong that President McAndrew called last night's special meeting for the purpose of considering the question.

Telegrams were sent on to the presidents of the car builders' unions at Buffalo, Kingston and Hoboken, where strikers have been in progress simultaneously with the local one, and replies were received yesterday announcing that the strikers at each of these places would abide by the decision reached at last night's meeting.

STRIKE DECLARED OFF.

President McAndrew made a brief address at the meeting setting forth the statement made by Mr. Canfield. The motion to declare the strike off was almost unanimously adopted, there being only a few who favored fighting it out.

It seems to be the general belief that only a part of the men will sign applications to be reinstated in their old positions. A number who were gathered in the hall last night after the meeting insisted most forcibly that under no consideration whatever would they agree to sign an application. Executive Committee member Coyne, in a conversation with a Tribune man in regard to the declaring off of the strike, said:

"The principal reason for the calling off of the strike was in order that the strikers might secure employment from some of the other large companies in and about the city. Very few will, in my opinion, return to work for the Lackawanna. Ever since the strike began the strikers have found it impossible to get work from any other railroad or large manufacturing company.

"The officials of these companies, as soon as they learned that a man was a Lackawanna striker, had no further use for him and would not hire him under any consideration. We believe that the giving up of the strike will enable those who are in places, and that is why it was declared off."

WENT OUT MAY 4.

The local car builders went out on strike on May 4 in sympathy with the car builders at Dover, who struck two days before, because the company refused to reinstate a certain man who was discharged. They had been out but a few days when they decided to demand a nine-hour day, and with this as a slogan the car builders at Buffalo, Hoboken and Kingston went out and have been out since.

The number of men in this city who originally struck was 712, and the strikers claim that only 250 of this number have since returned to work. The company officials, on the other hand, maintain that nearly all of the strikers are back at their old jobs.

The approximate number of men who have been out on strike in the other cities mentioned above is as follows: Buffalo, 425; Kingston, 125; Hoboken, 125.

The Dover car builders, who were the original strikers, did not decide to abide by the decision of last night's meeting and their president, C. A. Nelson, who attended the meeting, said that he wasn't at all sure that they favored giving up the struggle. A special meeting of the Dover men has been called for tonight to consider the question.

AN APPEAL IS LIKELY.

Case of City of Scranton Against E. B. Sturges May Be Taken to a Higher Court.

There is a disposition about city hall to take an appeal from the decision of a judge in the case of the city of Scranton against E. B. Sturges, and City Solicitor George M. Watson says if council ask his advice he will counsel an appeal.

The case is one in which Mr. Sturges is seeking to establish a contention that the city had not paid for the paving on North Washington avenue in front of properties he owns individually and others held in common with others. He claims the paving was not properly done, and that the clause in the contract of sale which was wholly ignored by the paving company and also by councils, when it came to releasing the company's bond.

When the case came to trial the defense was made that the statute of limitations did not interpose a bar to the city's claim, and that the city was obliged to show the certain fixed amount Mr. Sturges was owing, and that the contract was invalid because it sought to charge the properties with a greater burden than the statute allows, in that it calls for paving in the case of the paving in repair, when the law stipulates that the cost of original construction is as much as can be assessed against abutting property holders.

The city held that the statute of limitations did not interpose a bar to collection because some payments were made by the defendant within the six-year period.

As to the city's obligation to prove a fixed and certain amount owing from Mr. Sturges, the city held it did not have to do this, but that all that was necessary was to show the amount assessed. The burden of showing that the debt was less than the amount assessed rested with the defense, the city contended. Just as in the case of a suit on a judgment note, where the plaintiff can rest after presenting the note and the defense is called to show what payments, if any, were made.

The city admits that an abutting property can not be taxed with anything more than the cost of the original construction, but contends that the contract is not invalidated by the fact that repairs were also contracted for, because it is possible to prove literally what the repairs were worth and show as a single item the amount assessed, the cost of the original construction can be ascertained.

Attorney C. Conery, who was associated with the plaintiff as representative of certain of the holders of the paving bonds, is now disposed to carry the case to an appellate court. The probabilities are that it will be appealed.

The Pennsylvania State College.

The Commencement Exercises at The Pennsylvania State College last June are reported to have been of unusual interest and were attended by large numbers of guests from all parts of the State. The graduating class numbered fifty-one, three of whom were young women. Of this number six were graduated from the Course in Civil Engineering, fifteen from the Course in Electrical Engineering, twelve from the Course in Mechanical Engineering, four from the Course in Mining Engineering, six from the Course in Chemistry, and the rest from the General Courses.

It is a striking fact that these graduates, almost without exception, are to go at once into service with various concerns throughout the country, and that in Mechanical Engineering alone, the Department had at least six additional applications for positions for which it could not supply men—and this is not an exceptional year in that respect.

Sixty-two of the sixty-seven Council members of Pennsylvania have representatives among the students at the State College this year. Allegheny, in the west, has forty students and Lancaster, in the east, nineteen. The rest are spread almost indiscriminately over the State. The progress of the college, in this respect, is a striking evidence of the manner in which its work is meeting the demands of the great industrial interests of Pennsylvania, at the same time that it is sending out liberally educated men, with their hands open to the door of opportunity to young men and young women to obtain a college education in keeping with the best modern standards.

Letters from the People.

Request of a Veteran.

Editor of the Scranton Tribune:—

See your editorial of this date under the head of "An Unpatriotic Board of Control" was duly appreciated by the veterans. Yet we believe that a majority of the board are loyal and patriotic citizens. We have always found the board of control willing to grant any request that we have made along the lines of patriotism, and we would now request the board to revoke the order compelling schools to open on Memorial day. We would prefer that the patriotic exercises in all schools should take place on Friday afternoon preceding Memorial day, as they have in Nov. 22 and 28, when a veteran will be present and talk to the children. On Memorial day we would have every teacher visit some cemetery with her young class and salute the children in the beautiful service for our soldier dead, thereby teaching them love and reverence for the flag and loyalty to our country, that they may be better prepared to perpetuate the work when we shall have passed away.

The veterans for themselves do not crave any undue praise. They plead for the future of our beloved country, and it cannot be questioned but that the proper education along patriotic lines, instilling into the minds of the youth of our land a higher and purer spirit of loyalty, is one of the safeguards of our nation. It is our duty and our obligation, and the proper exercises of the rights and privileges of American citizenship. And now, Mr. Editor, I thank you and also thank the board of control in advance, for we believe that they will cheerfully grant our request. I am, Very truly yours,

Asa B. Stevens,
Scranton, Aug. 14, 1901.

Land and Titles

When a man buys a lot he buys not the land, but the title to the land. The conditions under which he holds possession are determined by his title. By his purchase he may obtain possession of a piece of land, but if he has not obtained the title law ousts him and he has no remedy. A trifling defect in a transfer made a generation ago may cause the loss of a man's entire fortune. The policy of a title insurance company affords the cheapest, quickest, safest and simplest method of ascertaining the conditions of a title.
