ALLEGED FAKIR ARRESTED.

Fellow Selling Jewelry Taken Into Custody.

Superintendent of Police Robling and Detective Day arrested a young man in the Scranton house early yesterday morning, who is believed to be a very clever swindler if nothing worse. He answers to the rather high-falutin name of Whitelaw De Conness, and has been selling jewelry to a number of persons around town for over a week past. He sold one man a pawn ticket for a watch which had been pawned for $8.50. The man paid him $5 for the ticket, and after redeeming the watch discovered that it was made of gold plated silver. De Conness thus Superintendent Rob-ling believes that these are "fake" tickets and that De Conness has been selling imitation diamonds for real ones on the strength of them. He is until the New York police investigate.

"I took to my heels, with them after me, and distanced them, but in going through the woods stumbled and struck my arm heavily against a tree stump. Fortunately they did not follow me that far.'

Corless had John McMahon, of the "Notch," arrested before Alderman Saltry on the charge of being one of the men who waylaid him.

NATIONAL EISTEDDFOD.

English Choir Wins the Chief Choral Competition.

Following are some excerpts from the Liverpool Mercury's extended report of the Welsh National Eisteddfod held at Merthyr Tydyil:

The first successful competitor whose identity as revealed was Miss Adelina George, of Treegar, who won the prize in a planeforte solo degar, who won the prize in a panishric contest, the subject being E. German's "Colum-bine au de Ballet" and C. Chaminade's "Valse Brillante," op. 80, No. 3. There were 62 com-petitors, and Dr. Joseph Parry and Dr. Coward were the judges. To Miss Magdalen Mergan, Cein, fell the prize for the translation into Welsh of a portion of the chapter on "Work" in Ruskin's "Crown of White Olive." This was limited to persons under 17 years of age, and the adjudicator was Dean Howell. A prize of 10gs. was divided equally in the case of a competition writing a treatize in the vernacular on "" He and Work of Henry Richard, M. P.," tween the Rev. D. Griffth, Carnarvon, and Mr. Evan Williams, Carnarvon. There were six entries, and the essays were examined by th for juniors under 15 years of age, the judges were Dr. Parry and Mr. C. Francis Lloyd, and the tespieces a Barearolle of F. Ondricek and a Morning Song of Edward Edgar. The players were Incomber, and the chosen one was Master Morgan condon. Speaking of the boy, Mr. Lloyd said that he played with the confidence of conscious ability, and would be more heard of. Recognizing the talent of another competitor, Sarah And Williams, of Llanelly, Mrs. Peole presented her with a sovereign. Seventy-four entries wer made in the baritone solo contest, and the sub pert was C. Wilson's recttative and air "Love Absolute." The judges, Mr. D. Jenkins, Mus. Bac., and Mr. Dan Price, assigned the prize to Mr. David Evans, London, a decision which was universally endorsed. Soprano vocalists next entered the lists, the having been elected to appear in public from amongst 58. Chaminude's brilliant "La Lete" was sung as the trial song, and the adjudicators were, as before, Mr. Jenkins and Mr. Price, who unhesitatingly conferred the award on Mis-Edith Drew, London. The second in the competition, Miss Carrie Price, Dowlais, received a guinea from a lady in the audience. The madri-gal in Sullivan's "Rose of Persia" and the Bene-dictus in Weber's Mass in G were sung as tests in the quartette competition, and the judges-Dr. Parry, Mr. Jenkins and Mr. Lloyd-awarded the prize to Mr. Blodwen Powell's party, Merthyr. Only three performers sought to win the prize offered for the best execution on the pesial harp of Handel's "Harmonious Blacksmith" and John Thomas' "Spinning Wheel." It was gained by Mr. Thomas Bryant, Efailisaf. The entries in the chief charla competition were: The Newport Choral society, conductor Mr. Fred Jones; the Holyhead Harmonic society, Mr. W. S. Owen; the Rhymny and Pontiottyn United Choir, Mr. John Price; the Swansea Eben-energer Choral society, Mr. J. D. Thomas; the Mountain Ash Choral union, Mr. T. G. Glyndwr Pickards, the Rheadth Philippen. Richards; the Rhendda Philharmonic society, Mr. David T. Prosser; the North Staffordshire Choral society, Mr. J. Whewall; the Mid-Rhondda United Choir, Mr. Ted Hughes; and the Pontypridd United Choir, Mr. William Thompson.

A condition laid before the choirs was that they should prepare Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" in its entirety, the adjudicators choosing two or three choruses to be sung in the Pavillon, and in this case "All Ye That Cry," "The Armor of Light" and "Let All Men Praise the Lord" were rendered. Each choir numbered from 170 to 200 voices. The adjudicators were Dr. Parry, Dr. Coward, Mr. D. Jenkins, Mr. C. F. Lloyd and Mr. D. Price.

SOME RECENT RECRUITS.

Scranton Is a Good Field for Harvesting Fighters-Enlistments During August.

Many Scranton men have enlisted for the United States army service at the local recruiting station, during the month of August, and the officers at the station express themselves as being highly satisfied with the number which is monthly leaving this city for the barracks.

There has been a change at the station, and Lieutenant R. E. Davis has been succeded by First Lieutenant H. W. Scholl, of the artillery corps. Lieutenant R. E. Davis has been assigned to West Point academy as a tactical officer. Lieutenant Scholl is loubling up his duties at present, as Reading district and alternates between there and here. Lieutenant Al-Ian Smith, of the Fifth infantry, will relieve him here, August 25,

Lieutenant Scholl is, like the officers who preceded him here, a West Pointer, graduating from the academy in During his senior year he play-1899. ed on the 'varsity foot ball eleven at Since then, he has been sta-He declares that Havana is quiet and orderly, and the people inoffensive in year at the range. their attitude towards the soldiery Drunkenness, he states, is an unusual vice among the Cubans, and this ac counts, in a measure, for the compara tive orderliness of the city, which, he claims, is far from beinb the hot-bed of iniquity it is sometimes represented Lieutenant Scholl said yesterday that Scranton has proved a splendid point the successors of said officers and place for a recruiting station, and from was far superior to Reading. army. Herbert R. Ellis was sent to Washington to join the Eleventh cavalry, and John Donat went to the Columbus barracks to be whipped into proper military shape. John Cobb, who served with the Twenty-eighth infantry in the Philippines, was sent to Fort Howard, Ind., to serve in the coast artiflery, and Michael Meholick went to Columbus.

Jenkins James, who served in the Philippines with the Forty-seventh infantry, a regiment in which there were numerous Scranton men, was also sent to Columbus, in the same party in which was Howell Thomas, an ex-member of the Thirteenth.

The application is now being con sidered by Lieutenant Schotl of Paul Worlinsky, an old soldier, who wishes to enlist again. He saw three years' service with the Twenty-second infantry, three years with the Ninth inthe Thirty-seventh volunteers.

The attaches of the station have weeks for Michael Nevils, who deserted shortly after enlisting. He signed his papers and passed the exfor duty. If found he will be sent to taken there, Governor's Island, for a disposition of his case.

Word has been received at the station that Thomas F. Missett, of Irving avenue, who enlisted here June 21, had deserted from the barracks at Columbus. He is an old infantry and artilleryman and no reason is known for his action.
