PARADE OF THE SCHOOL CHILDREN

The Indications That It Will Be the Feature of the Semi-Centennial Demonstrations - Additional Subscriptions-More Jubilee News.

The parade of the children of the city's schools will be the paramount feature of the demonstrations of the sem-centennal.

The marchers, robed in red, white and blue, will be massed so as to form the national emblem. The teachers have made splendid progress in forwarding this feature of the celebration and the parents will have reason to be proud as they watch them move over the city's streets. The line of march will not be long. Parents who have hesitated to allow their children to join the procession need have no fear on that score.

The floats will be artistic objects of admiration.

Additional Subscriptions.

Subscriptions continue to be made to the general fund. They are needed, and further contributions will be appreciated.

A Masquerade of Death.

H^E wore the mask of Death. Thus the poet paints him: "High on a night-black horse in night-black arms, with white breast-bone and barren ribs of Death, and crowned with fleshless laughter." The terror of this dumb and deathly knight reigned everywhere. He was esteemed invulnerable and invincible. Yet Gareth, knight of the Round Table, in his first quest met and

The plan is to have the cars run from Scranton through to Church street switch, in this city. Two hours will be allowed for a single trip. This is considered as ample time to cover the journey, and will prevent a "lay ever" of several minutes in this city. The round trip, as figured in the schedule, will consume four hours. The company proposes to run the new cars, the large ones, and with their facilities for speed, it is calculated that the sixteen or more miles between here and Scranton can be covered in somewhat less than two hours, but this many hours are allotted the crews to overcome possible delays.

Cars from Carbondale to points north will be between the Eighth avenue switch and Forest City, There will be no change in the schedule by reason of the new plan of running. The older cars will be kept in service on the division, as it were, from the Eighth avenue switch. There are several reasons for this, foremost of which are that these will be of ample size to accommodate the number of passengers carried between these points and that the new large cars would be handicapped by lack of power, the loss of energy being so great at such a distance from the power house. What is technically named a "hooster," such as is in use on the overthrew him. He split the skull upon the black knight's helm. He clove through crest and casque. Then, lo! To his astonished gaze there was disclosed, not the terror from which men shrink, but a beardless, boyish face. A weakling boy had terrorized the whole land by the power of external show. All his strength lay in the repulsive armor in which he played a masquerade of Death.

There are diseases which masquerade as death. They affright the world because those who have feared to fight them, or have fought them and been overthrown, declare them to be invulnerable and invincible. When disease attacks the lungs; when the tearing, strangling cough terminates in a spurt of red blood; then the local practitioner usually says: "There's no use in fighting. This disease cannot be overcome. It is only a question of time when Death triumphs."

Is that the final verdict? No. Time and again when the local physician has pronounced the condition as hopeless, this very form of disease has been vanquished by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It makes the "weak" lungs strong. It stops the hemorrhage, cures the stubborn cough and restores the emaciated frame to manly strength and vigor.

Nature has but one way of creating or sustaining physical strength, and that is through the assimilation of the nutriment provided by properly digested food. The very basis of the popular treatment for weak lungs rests on the fact that health and strength must come through food. Cod liver oil and its emulsions are foods solely and entirely. The very use of these foods recognizes the weakness of the stomach, the failure of the digestive powers, and the lack of adequate nutrition, because they are fed in an attempt to bring the food supply down to the level of the weak stomach. It is the attempt to strengthen weak organs without strengthening the weak stomach, and it generally fails. The great necessity in the treatment of weak lungs, is the recognition of the fact that you can't give permanent strength to the lungs by smuggling their nutrition past the weak stomach. The stomach itself must be strengthened so that Nature. by legitimate processes and with natural foods, may build up the wasted tissues of the emaciated and enfeebled body. That is exactly the work performed by "Golden Medical Discovery." It cures diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the assimilation of the nutrition derived from food on which alone the health and strength of the body depend. It increases the supply of blood, which is made from food when properly digested. So the weak organs are supplied with the blood which is their life-blood abundant in quantity and rich in the vitalizing red corpuscles of health.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it contains no opium, cocaine, nor other narcotic.

Persons suffering from disease in chronic form are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential.
