The camp was instituted on December prospective tenant. 12, 1872, with twenty-two charter members, and during the twenty-nine years of its existence has grown steadily until the roster now includes 323 of West and much interest was manifested in Scranton's representative business, professional and patriotic citizens. The Saturday morning from the residence new building has been erected and furnished at a cost of $20,000, borne entirely by the members of the camp. On the ground floor there are two spacious store rooms, 21x70 feet, with modern fronts and all up-to-date appliances. On the second floor is the hall or lecture room, suitable for entertainments, banquets, dances, etc., which is 13x50 feet, and in addition there is a stage ten feet deep in the rear of the hall. In the front of the second floor there is a kitchen, cloak and dressing rooms, etc. The lodge or meeting room is on the third floor, and this is 43x60 feet, with double ante and paraphernalia rooms, storage, toilet and committee rooms suitable for the various organizations which will meet therein. It is fur-

The Colonial club, which is composed of many of the younger members of the camp, materially assisted in the work of furnishing the building, and in entertaining the guests at the open-The building will be formally dedicated on the 29th anniversary of the camp on December 12.

The opening exercises were deferred until the evening owing to the rain or Saturday, and when Chairman Hinman called the assemblage to order all the available seating space was occuused and many were standing. After the singing of America by the audience, the chairman made an informal address of welcome, in which he said that West Scranton had long felt the need of such a building as the camp had erected.

The address of the evening was delivered by A. J. Colborn, past state provident of the order. He outlined the aims and objects of the Patriotic Order of America and followed this with one of his characteristic patriotic addresses, Another pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation to the camp of a pacture, "Washington crossing the Scranton-Morning, Rev. Roderick Da- Delaware," by Camp 528, of Bald Mount.

The presentation speech was made by Oscar Van Buskirk and the picture was accepted on behalf of the camp by Chairman Hinman, Other features were recitations and songs by Levina Beynon, Maud Finney, Carmel Fahey, Sertrude Sullivan, Lillian LaBar and Harley Zintel,
