THE CHRISTIAN ALLIANCE.

Out-of-Town Speakers Unable to Be Present Yesterday.

The clergymen who were to have spoken yesterday at the Christian Alliance convention did not arrive in the city owing to a combination of unfortunate circumstances and as a consequence the sessions were addressed by the same speaker who spoke on Monday.

Missionary Willis Moysor spoke in the morning on "Hinduism" and referred especially to the mission which has been established at Point Low, California, for the teaching of this religion. Mr. Moysor has but recently returned from California and said that Hinduism is becoming quite the fashionable thing among the "smart" people of the Pacific coast.

He told of seeing cultivated American university graduates, who had been initiated into the mysteries of Hinduism, bowing down in worship before an alleged sacred cow. Miss Seasholtz followed Mr. Moysor and gave a brief account of the degradation of the Hindu women.

In the afternoon the Misses Bird, of Baltimore, gave talks on "Divine Healing," and at night Rev. A. P. McGough of Philadelphia delivered an evangelistic sermon.

Rev. James Leishman, of Binghamton, and Rev. Christopher, a returned missionary from China, are expected to be present today.

A PECULIAR CASE.

J. R. Dainty Charged with Impersonating a Lawyer and with False Pretenses.

A hearing in the case of J. R. Dainty, who is charged with impersonating a lawyer and with obtaining property under false pretenses, was held yesterday morning before Alderman Ruddy. The prosecutor, Charles Standemeyer, was represented by Attorney Frank Donnelly, while Mr. Dainty's interests were looked after by Attorney M. W. Lowry.

The charge made by Standemeyer is a most peculiar one. He came into possession of the Holtham hotel on West Lackawanna avenue some time ago and while he was away in New York an execution was issued against the place on a judgment note for $200 held by E. Robinson's sons.

When Standemeyer returned from New York he claimed that he met Dainty, who pretended to be a lawyer, so he says, and who took him up to Attorney M. W. Lowry's office for a consultation. Standemeyer says that Dainty seemed to be very much at home in Attorney Lowry's office and pulled down several law books to refer to them.

Dainty proposed to him, he claims, that he issue a bill of sale to him (Dainty) in return for the loan of $500. Standemeyer agreed and the bill of sale was issued. He says that Dainty took the bill of sale and gave him $500, but afterwards took the money back, giving some excuse. The place was sold out by Dainty a few days after the issuance of the bill of sale.

Dainty, who was heard yesterday morning, made a general denial of the charges. He denied that he ever told Standemeyer that he was a lawyer and claimed that he never took the $500. He said that under the agreement he had a perfect right to sell out the place if the $500 was not returned within seven days.

On account of the absence of several witnesses, the hearing was postponed until Wednesday, September 11.

OPENING OF THE SCHOOLS

THE ATTENDANCE YESTERDAY WAS RATHER LIGHT.

Superintendent Howell Attributes This to the Early Date Set for Opening—The Attendance at the High School Is About Seventy More Than Last Year—A Training School Class of Forty, All Girls—Some of the New Teachers Who Began Teaching Yesterday.

The public schools of the city were opened yesterday morning for the school year of 1901-02, and the attendance, according to Superintendent Howell, was generally a little lighter than usual.

He attributes this to the fact that the schools are opened this year a week earlier than ever before. A large number of children, who left the city on vacations, have not yet returned, he thinks, and next week will show an increased attendance. He issued orders yesterday to the principals of all schools, directing them to furnish a statement to the Superintendent tomorrow, showing the number of pupils registered in each school.

The attendance yesterday at the High school was the largest in its history. The number of pupils registered, as far as could be learned, was about 550, which is seventy in excess of the number registered last year.

Prof. Joslin, the new principal, made a brief address, outlining the changes in the curriculum and expressing the hope that he would have the hearty cooperation of all the pupils in his efforts to place the Scranton High school in the front rank of similar institutions in this country.

New kindergarten were opened yesterday in the old No. 5 building in the Tenth ward, in No. 2 building in the Twelfth ward, and in No. 9 building in the Seventh ward. There were good-sized classes at each of these places.

The training school, which has been removed from the High school to No. 18 school, on Chestnut street, was opened with a class of forty, or six more than last year's class. The forty in question are all girls, not a single young man being desirous of taking the course this year.

D. W. Phillips, former principal of No. 14 school, and who recently returned after a long sojourn in the far west, took charge of No. 13 school yesterday, replacing Miss J. J. Mima.

Harry Walsh, a graduate of last year's training school class, began teaching at No. 2 school. Miss Helen Mahon takes the place of Miss Edna Kent at No. 16 school, and the place of Miss Maud Revell, at No. 21 school, is filled by Miss Marion Ackley.

THEY WERE NEVER MARRIED.

Former Mrs. Petrick Says There Was No Necessity for Divorce.

Miss Mame Steed, who figured in several sensational episodes in this city some time ago when she was Mrs. H. B. Petrick, was seen yesterday by Alderman Kassar, yesterday to James A. Scattergood, formerly manager of the Broad oyster house on Penn avenue.

In applying for a marriage license, Miss Steed said that though she had been divorced from Petrick, there was no reason for a divorce as she was never married to him. It will be remembered that it was Petrick who secured the divorce.

Mr. and Mrs. Scattergood will spend their honeymoon at the Pan-American exposition, after which they will reside in New York city, where Mr. Scattergood will engage in business, so he says. For some time he has been a resident of Wilkes-Barre and his wife also resided there.

A preliminary injunction was granted by Judge J. W. Carpenter. The bill was filed for Wells by Attorney L. P. Wedeman.

FEDERAL COURT NOTES.

MEETINGS TODAY.

A meeting of the Knights of Columbus will be held this evening to arrange for a reception to Cardinal Macmillan.

It is reported that all members of the Women's guild will attend a monthly meeting at 8 o'clock this afternoon, as business of importance will be transacted.

There will be a meeting of the Men's Guild of St. Luke's parish in their rooms this evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Checkers were sent yesterday to all the contestants who were entitled to ten per cent. according to the Tribune's offer, amounting in all to $101.17.

The Tribune fully appreciates the hard work which has been done in its behalf, during the past sixteen weeks by these young men and women, and wishes to extend thanks and earnest wishes for the future welfare of all.

It is pleasing to think that the contest has resulted in their securing advanced education that they might not otherwise have been able to obtain without the work of years instead of weeks.

Recipients are being sent to the new subscribers as rapidly as possible and it is hoped to have them all out today. Any that fail to receive their papers are requested to put their complaints in writing, giving length of subscription and name of contestant to which it was given, so that it can be readily traced.

Mahoney, the commander of this district. Applicants for enlistment must be citizens of the United States, or those who have legally declared their intention of becoming such, 21 and not over 35 years of age, 5 feet 4 inches and not over 6 feet 1 inch in height, perfectly sound, and of good development; unwarped, of good character, and not addicted to the use of liquor, and able to read and write English.

The pay of marines is from $13 to $43 per month, according to rank of service; clothing, rations, quarters and medical attendance furnished, in addition, by the government.

Marines who have become infirm after twenty years' service, or who have been discharged from service received or sickness brought on in the service, are entitled to the benefits of the United States Naval Home at Philadelphia, Pa., or a pension amounting to one-half the pay of rank at time of discharge. After ten years' service they may be retired from active service with three-fourths of full pay and allowances at date of retirement.

The term of service is for four years, two of which are supposed to be served on board, seeking ships of war, or in Cuba, Puerto Rico, Manila or Guam, giving opportunities to visit all parts of the world, and the other two years are served in barracks at the different naval stations in the United States. The law provides for the promotion of worthy non-commissioned officers to second lieutenants.

CONTESTANTS ARE MAKING SELECTIONS

Miss Griffin Will Go to Swarthmore, Anderson to Lafayette, and Lewis to Strasburg.

As soon as the results of The Tribune's Educational Contest were announced on Monday morning, the successful contestants began to make their selections from the list of rewards. Those were the great surprises, for those who have been watching the results from day to day, the most remarkable of which was the avalanche of points turned in by Miss Wilhelm Griffin on the closing day. She more than doubled her score of Saturday morning, making her victory an absolute certainty. Garfield Anderson, of Carbonade, also surprised his friends by passing Meyer Lewis, who had held first place for three months; and the third surprise was that Mr. Lewis did not meet the expectations of those who were watching his apparent safe hold at the top of the list. His ability to retain his position was a foregone conclusion, and the contest was supposed to have resulted into a struggle among the others for second place.

It was not until Monday evening that word was received by telephone from Miss Griffin as to her choice, but there would be very little doubt as to what she would select, as the $100 scholarship in Swarthmore college was what she had hoped to secure all along. Miss Griffin called at the office of The Tribune yesterday afternoon and was given a check for $100, which she took to Dr. W. W. Birdsell, president of Swarthmore college, entitling her to the scholarship as advertised.

Dr. W. W. Birdsell, President Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pa.

HAVE BEGUN THEIR LABORS

BOARD OF ASSESSORS STARTED OUT YESTERDAY.

They Expect to Be Able to Complete the Rough Work of Making Next Year's Assessment by December 1, and Say They Will Be Ready for Appeals on January 1—Compactly Built-Up Property, Both Business and Residence, to Be Classified as First Class.

The task of making the assessment for the next fiscal year was begun yesterday morning by the members of the board of assessors. Better progress was made than even the assessors themselves had expected and it is probable that the assessment will be completed before the required time.

Acting under the advice of Recorder Connell, the assessors decided over a week ago to make the assessment in a body and they all started out yesterday morning for the First ward armed with this year's blotter and the city engineer's map.

The streets were taken block by block and every property on each block was valued before coming to the next. The valuation decided upon by the majority of the members of the board was declared to be the proper one. In each instance and was entered on the book.

Assessor Seaman said last night to a Tribune man that if as much work is done every day as was done yesterday there would be no trouble in finishing the rough work of making the assessment by December 1, or one month earlier than the time limit fixed by law.

"We made excellent progress yesterday," said he, "and will get through with the First ward before the end of the week. If we do not have any severe weather we should be ready for the hearing of appeals on January 1."

The assessors have decided to follow the example of the Allegheny assessors and classify all compactly built-up property as first class, which pays full rates.

"What will the assessors consider to be compactly built-up property?" Mr. Seaman was asked by the Tribune man. "All business blocks and all residence blocks which are thickly settled," was the reply.

Mr. Seaman explained at some length that the main residential streets of the central city, North, West and South Scranton and Green Ridge would be included within the property classified as first class.

Where a street is only sparsely settled or,
