AFTER THE JUBILEE.

Quiet Scenes That Follow the Days of Felicitating and Jubilating—Visitors Leaving and Decorations Disappearing.

The scenes of yesterday were in strange contrast to the three or four that preceded. The noise of the night before made the stillness of yesterday seem all the more quiet and the town took on the air of the Sabbath. Every-thing was "done played out" and it was a welcome rest when it came. "Well, how do you feel? All right, isn't it?" was the cry on all sides yesterday. Of course every one was tired, but such an acknowledgment would seem like a confession of weakness, and there were few acknowledgments. But actions spoke louder than words and the way that these same ones moved about indicated that they were moved by weary spirits.

The town is beginning to be itself again. The hosts of visitors are almost all gone and the decorations are beginning to disappear. In a few days the city and the people will get down to well settled courses and the march to the century goal will go on.

IN MEMORIAM.

Carbondale's semi-centennial celebration crowds to the past, as all earthly things, and what is left is the remembrance. But it will be one of the most pleasant to those who were happily enough to have witnessed it, especially to the children, who have played the central part of the grand celebration, going beyond all possibility to describe, and they are the generation to perpetuate the high spirit through the future and tell what they have seen and heard during the last days.

When on my return from Germany in 1896 I expressed my intention to make the trial of starting a Lutheran congregation here, a gentleman in Titus, spending his youth here and now a year in the world beyond, told me: "You will find there an extra 'fein'—meaning a haughty people—and until this day I found the judgment correct, even at the brink of danger, by over-enthusiasm during the last joyful days. Only one arrest!"

What a great influence Father Coffey has on his people from his sick bed every one could witness who visited the places where busy Marthas stood ready to distribute what holds body and soul together. At the other churches, from my observation, we have also good reason to give credit to the busy hands who satisfied the hungry and thirsty bodies. Of course, one wanting to be more pious and sober than Christ himself may differ with the writer herein.

It is appreciated, of course, that the decorations, illuminations, etc., were not and could not be as gorgeous as at the World's Fair, but the fact about the unsurpassed Pan-American electrical illumination. But in consideration of the limited means in command of the committee, they excelled all expectations.

And no wonder that the same of the arrangements committee, was successful in this line, as he is a descendant of a people who were the standard of the nation, having earned from God Himself how to arrange decorations, illuminations and "festivities to the glory of the Highest." The loan exhibition cannot be explicated too much. Instead of the limited hours, I wished to have a full day to spend in the cabinet of the dearest and most valuable antique memorials of all sorts, from the first horn of Carbondale, the marriage shoes, the old spinning wheel and rattle, old books, manuscripts, up to the pictures of dear old settlers and their tools and arms to protect their lives and home, to perpetuate their works to their beloved ones. Who may mention all the hundred and one articles but the catalogue? Others may try to give a better account of what they were witnessing the last few days.

A word more. In the art gallery one of the Centennial grounds (1876) one of the "living time," made such an impression on my mind that I never could forget, and it stands before my eyes, especially when we must say farewell to what we want to hold fast. It was the statue of "Saturnus and his child" with a child, the former representing her husband, storming forward to the indefinite future and face back to God and child, holding him back, but all in vain, her tears about the fleeing time!

Inevitably our times, with pleasures and woes, fly away; its wheels we cannot stop. And so our beautiful days of celebration we count as past, never to return. In the Maudslayi palace at the World's Fair were to be seen despairing groups of people in the "Labyrinth," terror-stricken sitting on benches, after having lost all hopes to find an exit out of the Tartarus of which the poet says: "High over them boundless Eternity quivers."

And the scythe of Saturnus all ruthlessly shivers.

The poet must be our teacher for the future and spur us to make a good use of our lifetime.

Without any doubt the children's division of the first day's parade was the most prominent and amiable aspect of all the glorious events we had ever witnessed, and I am inclined to compare this day with that "great day" of which we read in St. John VIII: 37, though it was the first day of our feast.

The influence of the celebration on the children was surely much greater and blissful for their future than if they were only gazing at, as we learn especially from the old Spartans, when the youth were called "heavenly boys" and the youth echoed back "And heroes we shall be." The youth is the future's hope.

So long as I am interested in the Loan exhibition, I cannot say much about the "Firemen's exhibition" only that I witnessed the end of it and that I got afraid when I saw them on a high roof and a lot of young ladies on it, believing there was really a fire, out of which the former ones were to save the latter ones. But I found myself mistaken.

Lord bless Carbondale and save it for her centennial celebration.

JERMYN AND MAYFIELD.

Robert Stephens, a well known and much esteemed resident of Jermyrn, died yesterday morning at the home of his son on Fourth street, after a brief illness. Deceased, in accordance with his regular custom, attended services in the M. E. church last Sunday evening, and while in church was taken slightly unwell. After the service upon reaching home he got much worse and a physician was summoned. He gradually grew worse until death relieved his sufferings. Information of the brain was the cause of death. Deceased was born in St. Aenes, Cornwall, seventy-one years ago, and for the past seventeen years has resided in this borough. He is survived by a grown up family of six sons: John and Robert, both of whom are in Australia; Edward, Elijah, Martin and Fred, and two daughters, Mrs. William Culey and Mrs. Henry Martin. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon. There will be a brief service at the home at 2 o'clock and a service in the M. E. church at 2 o'clock. Liberty lodge, No. 188, Knights of Pythias, have issued very pretty invitation cards for their social and entertainment, which will take place in Assembly hall this evening. The entertainment will consist principally of an amusing mock adoption and the knights and their lady friends are looking forward to this evening's social with a great deal of pleasure.

The annual picnic and fish dinner of the Scott and Greenfield farmers, held at Lake Chapman on Wednesday, was a most pleasurable affair. The promoters were somewhat fearful before the day that on account of the great attraction at Carbondale the picnic would be a failure, but it turned out quite contrary. There were at least two hundred and fifty lines around the lake and it was one of the largest gatherings ever seen here. The dinner, which continued the usual course of clams, chicken, blue fish and corn, was served to perfection, and the promoters feel much pleased at the successful event.

Miss Ella A. Kiker, of Grandville, who was recently elected vice-principal of the Mayfield schools, entered upon her new duties on Wednesday. Miss Kiker is a sister of School Director A. W. Kiker, of this place.

Professor D. H. Krise and wife have moved their household effects to the house lately vacated by John Walker and family, who have taken up their residence in Scranton.

Mrs. Luke O'Brien and sons, Vincent and Luke, of Avoca, spent yesterday with friends here.

Miss Mamie Bergan, of Mayfield, is the guest of friends in Scranton.

Mr. and Mrs. William Maynard, of Nanticoke, spent yesterday here with relatives.

Mrs. L. A. Green and two children have returned home from a week's visit with Pittston friends.

The marriage of Miss Nellie Kennedy, of the East Side, and Michael Finnerty, of Scranton, took place on Wednesday afternoon in the Sacred Heart church, Rev. F. P. McNulty officiating. The bride party presented a charming appearance and the ceremony was witnessed by a large number of friends of the contracting parties. The young couple will take up their residence in Scranton.

TAYLOR.

The ceremony which united in marriage Miss Elizabeth Jenkins, of this place, and Robert Lake, of North Scranton, was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Jenkins, on Wednesday evening. Rev. D. C. Edwards, pastor of the Welsh Baptist church, officiated. The bride was neatly attired in a gown of white silk, trimmed with white ribbon. Her attendant was her sister, Miss Mary, who wore white lawn. Both carried bridal roses and looked very attractive. Prof. Harry Evans, of Wales, was the groomsmen. Miss Susie Powell played the wedding march. A reception followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Lake were the recipients of a number of costly and substantial presents.

The funeral of Mrs. Thomas D. Moses will occur from her late home on Ridge street, this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. D. C. Edwards, of the Welsh Baptist church, will officiate. A deaconess, which she was a devoted member, will officiate.

The employees of the Taylor, Pynes, Holden and Archibald collieries of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company here, will receive their semi-monthly pay for the latter part of August tomorrow.

Mrs. Benjamin Fern entertained a number of her friends with an afternoon tea at her home at the Archibald mine yesterday. The guests were: Misses Edith and Mary Van Baskirk, Edith Watkins, Rebecca and Polly Davis, Mrs. George Danse, Mrs. Libbie Jones and Miss Janet Inglis.

The Young Men's Christian association will hold an important meeting in their rooms, on Main street, on Saturday evening. The White Cross society, a branch of the Young Men's Christian association, which was recently organized, will also meet at the above place. All boys whose ages range from 10 to 14 are cordially invited to join.

The following young people from this town enjoyed a pleasant trip through the interior workings of the Pyne mine on Wednesday. They were: T. Daniels, Mrs. Henry Horvick, Misses Susie Harris, Mary Daniels, Miss Anna Lloyd, of Ohio, and Messrs. E. T. Daniels, Henry Howells and H. J. Daniels.

A pretty wedding ceremony was performed at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage last evening at 6 o'clock, when the pastor, Rev. C. B. Henry united in marriage Miss Daisy Caswell and Mr. Thomas Williams, both residing on Oak street. Miss Beatrice Samuels was bridesmaid and Mr. Ernest Caswell was groomsmen. A reception followed at the bride's home.

THE RESTAURANT RUSH!

"SACRIFICED to the American passion for hurry." That was the verdict given by a writer in Leslie's Weekly on the many victims of the ferry accident at Mount Desert. There was plenty of room on the boat, plenty of time to reach it. But the hurrying crowd jostled and struggled and crushed till they broke down the landing stage and produced a horror of death and destruction which shocked the entire country.

"Sacrificed to the American passion for hurry," is the epitaph which might be legitimately carved on the tombstones of thousands who have passed away as victims of liver disease, heart disease, lung disease, or the disease of some other vital organ, but who were in reality victims of stomach disease, induced by the American habit of hurry at meals.

Look into any favorite restaurant in any city at the lunch hour. Men are crowded about the tables and eating as if for a wager. Behind them and around them other men wait for their seats, wondering impatiently why people are such slow eaters. These are the people who sacrifice themselves to the passion for hurry. They eat heartily, rapidly, indifferent to everything but a speedy return to business, and the result is that the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition become diseased. Since the stomach is the vital center from which the whole body is nourished, it follows that no man can be stronger than his stomach. The "weak" heart which is so fatal to this hurrying generation will be found often to be the result of the weak stomach. The "disordered liver" will be set in order when the diseased stomach is cured. It is the same with other organs. They are all fed from the stomach. When the stomach breaks down they starve, and starvation means at first weakness and ultimately death. This being true, it follows that the cure of diseases remote from the stomach would often follow the cure of diseases of the stomach and the allied organs of digestion and nutrition. And that has been the experience of thousands who have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, only hoping for relief from "stomach trouble," but who have found to their astonishment the liver regulated, "heart trouble" cured, "weak lungs" strengthened and nervous diseases entirely overcome. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures diseases of the stomach and the allied organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures through the stomach diseases remote from the stomach, which have their origin in a diseased condition of that vital organ. If a man cannot eat he cannot live. If he can eat, but cannot properly digest and assimilate his food he does not live but only exists, until some starved organ becomes a prey to disease. By curing diseases of the stomach and digestive and nutritive systems "Golden Medical Discovery" removes the obstacles to the perfect nutrition of the body and all its organs. By increasing the nutrition it increases the supply of blood which is made from food, when properly digested and assimilated, and this blood is the vital principle which nourishes the body and all its parts.

The natural result which follows the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" is a gain of flesh. This is especially marked in what are termed wasting diseases, where the emaciation is pronounced. This gain of flesh is a real gain—not a surface gain of flabby fat which is a burden to carry around, but a gain of firm flesh which counts for health and happiness.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery," and it contains no opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

"I RAPIDLY RECOVERED."

"For seven years I had been troubled with what the doctors called bronchitis," writes Mr. Arthur Maule (general merchant), of Nilestown, Middlesex Co., Ontario. "A year ago, after I had been taken sick with a severe attack, I began taking 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I rapidly recovered from the attack, and felt no more of it that fall. This season I began taking the 'Discovery' in August, and have so far been perfectly well. I can go out in all kinds of weather and not feel the bronchial trouble at all. Let me say to all who are suffering from such complaints to give Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a fair trial, and I am convinced that good results will be obtained."

DOCTORS GAVE NO RELIEF.

"I was a sufferer from torpid liver for over a year," writes Mrs. Nora Willis, of Wheatfield, Jasper Co., Ind., "and could not sleep, nor eat but very little, and then it would cause me great distress. I tried several doctors but got no relief. Was advised by a friend to write to Dr. Pierce, which I did, and in a few days I received a letter advising me to take his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and also his 'Pleasant Pellets.' After I had taken only half a bottle I was greatly improved. I only took three bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of the 'Pellets,' and thanks to Dr. Pierce and his wonderful medicine, I am as well as ever in my life, and feel that life is worth living after all."

FEELS YOUNG AGAIN.

"Last spring, early, I wrote you my feelings and condition," says Mr. A. J. Vandewater, of 873 West Division Street, Chicago, Ill., "and you advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I am happy to say I am getting to feel fine. In all I have taken six bottles of the 'Discovery' and four or five vials of the little 'Pellets,' and they have done me worlds of good. These medicines have wrought the great change in me. I was a slow mope of a man that could hardly crawl, tired and sick all the time, unable to work; now I can work, sleep, eat, and feel fine, and that tired feeling is all going away. Dr. Pierce's medicines have almost made a new man of me. I feel young as I did at thirty years."

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS are spent in the effort to regain health by people who could have kept their health at an expense of 21 cents. That is the cost of mailing Dr. Pierce's

DISPUTE ENDED GAME.

Scranton Trolley Man Was Accused of Batting Out of Turn—Charge Against Wilkes-Barreans.

A wonderful ball game was played at Athletic Park yesterday afternoon by the Scranton and Wilkes-Barre street railway company employees, and it was only after two hours' hard playing that the game came to an end, in a very disagreeable wrangle. Both teams left the field, vowing they were the victors, and the Wilkes-Barre men claiming that they had been the victims of a very small piece of business played by the bad, wicked Scrantonians.

It all happened this way. At the closing half of the ninth inning, Scranton came to bat with the score 11-5 against them. Lafferty, the first batter, flew out to second, but Kelly rapped out a hard single. Foley fanned out for the fourth time, and McManama then poured some balm into the gaping wounds of the local players by smashing a beautiful two-base hit to left, scoring Kelly. Young, much to the surprise of everyone, made his third hit of the game, and then occurred the play which made all the trouble.

It was Snyder's turn to bat, but Snyder had struck out in his every previous appearance at bat, and therefore, whether by strange chance or intent, the figure which appeared at the plate was that of chunky, smiling Captain Ryan, who proceeded to drive a pretty single to center, which scored McManama. Neither umpire nor the Wilkes-Barre players noticed that Ryan had batted out of turn, nor did they see anything amiss when Gardner walked to first on four balls.

But when Lafferty stepped up for the second time, then the Wilkes-Barre men detected the rodent, and loudly howled that Ryan had batted out of turn. There was no one present, however, who could substantiate their claims, and moreover the Scranton captain could not be called out after the opposing team had played on the following batsmen. Umpire Manners had been supplied with no list of the players and could not decide the point and the solitary newspaper reporter in the stand, who was appealed to, refused to make any statement, as he was neither umpire nor official scorer.

Captain Swartman acted very aggrieved over what he said was the 8-run men's very shabby trick, and Grier, after announcing that the umpire had forfeited the game to Wilkes-Barre, almost came to blows with Ryan, who accused him of being no street car man and therefore ineligible for the nine. And thus ended the game.

Up to the eighth inning the score was close, but then the Luzerneites scored a bunch of five. Both North-cots and McManama did great work in the box and established strike-out records which would make "Noodles" Hahn, Matthewson, Hughes, Woodell and other of the speedy boys turn all shades of the rainbow with envy.

The Wilkes-Barre fanned eighteen men and McManama sixteen. Ryan made a pretty catch in the ninth inning of Northcott's hard line drive, and Grier, who catches for the Miner-Hillside team of Wilkes-Barre, caught a splendid game, despite the large number of bases pitched, many of which were the result of poor work of the infielders in covering the bases.

Other features there were none, save perhaps some of the weird and wonderful costumes in which some of the players, notably one Foley, took about the grounds. Last night the Wilkes-Barre team was entertained by their Scranton brethren. A large delegation of Wilkes-Barre rooters accompanied the team to their city and formed a large and noisy percentage of the enthusiasts at the park. The score follows:
